They were among the 22 fatalities recorded by The Canadian Press. All told, there were 10 lives lost by drownings, eight in traffic accidents and four from various other causes.

Quebec had eight fatalities — all drownings; Ontario, nine; and the Maritimes five.

Hormidas Asselin, 42, and his wife, Rose, 34, parents of 10 children, were among four persons who were drowned at Bryson, Que., last Saturday night when an automobile crashed through the barrier of a dead-end street and plunged into the Ottawa river.

Charles Lance, 66, and his wife, Delima, 59, parents of Mrs. Asselin, were the others. All were of Campbell's Bay, near Bryson.

A similar fate was met Sunday by three men in a taxi which went out of control and plunged from the highway into La Boulee river at St. Faustin, Que. Drowned were: taxi-driver Paul Dube-Lapointe, 31, of Lac Superieur, Roger Bourguinon, 20, of Lac Carre; and Arthur Dufour, 21, of St. Faustin.

Drowns In Severn

At Chicoutimi, Que., Arthur Blanchette, 47-year-old father of five children, was found Friday drowned in a sewer in which he was working.

Ontario's nine fatalities included the death by asphyxiation in a tourist cabin on the outskirts of Delhi of Willie Debrun, 21, and George Clement, 25, farm workers who recently came to Canada from Belgium. Their bodies were found Sunday, and coroner R. F. McCallum said they died from the fumes of a gas heater.

Edward Rodgerson, 9, was drowned in the Trent river at Trenton Saturday when he fell from a foot bridge. Gordon Petty 35, was killed at Pickering when a shelf of gravel collapsed on him while he was digging in a pit.

Traffic Accidents

Traffic accidents claimed the lives of Helen Mae Krueger, 22, at Lambeth, near London; Michael Oros, 52-year-old transient near St. Catharines; and Teddy Hansen, 3, at Hamilton.

Patrick John Anderson, 29, and Fred Bard, 30, were killed by a car while changing a tire in Guelph, Ont. Bard was thrown against the front fender of his own car, tearing it off, while Anderson was hurled 54 feet, police said.

Edward Clarke, 15, was drowned at Annandale, P.E.I., 40 miles from Charlottetown, Saturday when his boat capsized during a hunting trip.

Raymond M. Parlee, 26, of Sussex, N. B., was killed in a two-car crash at Midland, N. B. James J. Horvath, 23, died in Sydney, N. S., hospital Saturday from injuries received in an industrial accident.

Separate traffic accidents Saturday claimed the lives of Stephen G. Paul, 29-year-old Indian of the Eel Ground Reserve, and Wilfred Ramsay, Jr., 16, of Chatham Head, near Newcastle, N.B.

Luxury Woollens Mostly for U.S.

LONDON (CP).—Busy fingers knitting scarves and baby clothes are helping to mend Britain's dollar gap.

But the handicraft of Women's Home Industries hasn't yet found a market in Canada. Instead it's going to the United States where specialty shops are snapping up the hand-knit luxury woollens.

At present some 4,500 housewives spend their spare time knitting for the three-year-old organization. Now another 1,000 expert knitters are being sought.

WHI was formed at a time when British financial history was at its lowest ebb. It grew out of a suggestion that British handicrafts be put to work to earn dollars.

Non-profit making, the organization has accepted work from all persons — tapestries from Queen Mary, quilting from miners' wives. The only requirement is that workmanship must be of the highest standard.

Chairman of WHI is Lady Reading, who during the war mobilized the voluntary services of more than 1,000,000 women to assist with civil defence and with the clothing, feeding and shelter of air-raid victims.

Hungarian Tops In Dress Design

VANCOUVER (CP).—Madame Panni, who left her dress factory and salon when she left Russian-dominated Hungary five years ago, has become British Columbia's top fashion designer.

It took her only three months and 15 minutes to reach that goal —three months establishing herself in Vancouver and 15 minutes to make the dress which won her the top award at the British Columbia competition of fashion design.

The contest was sponsored by Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority and 700 fashion-wise spectators were on hand.

Madame Panni said

"All I had on was a simple outfit and a pair of riding boots when I had to skip out of Budapest in 1945.

"The urge to design cannot be stamped out easily and in Budapest there was no room for my career either under German — or later—Russian Red regime."

She travelled on foot into Austria where she spent four years in the United States zone, working for the military government for a while.

There she also worked for theatres designing costumes. But the atmosphere in four-power occupied Austria wasn't satisfactory, and she grasped the chance to move to Canada.

"Here I am and here I stay," she said. "It's good to be a Canadian."

THE FIRST COUPLE MARRIED in the village church at Cordova Mines, now the Free Methodist Church, is shown as they cut the wedding cake. The groom is Mr. Lorne Nobes and the bride was formerly Maureen Hamilton.

Nobes-Hamilton Wedding First in 50-year-old Church

First wedding in the small church built in Cordova Mines village in 1900, now under the Free Methodist denomination, was performed Saturday afternoon as Maureen Isabel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carman Hamilton, Cordova Mines, became the bride of Norne Nobes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Nobes of R. R. 1, Marmora.

It was a great occasion and hundreds came from the surrounding district to extend their good wsihes to the couple. After the ceremony the bride and groom and their attendants were all placed in a farm wagon pulled by two jet black horses decorated with colourful ribbons. The wagon and cars that followed carried more than 160 guests to the reception at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton where they partook of a delicious buffet luncheon.

The marriage was solemnized by the Rev. A. J. Thaxter and the church was decorated with ferns and potted plants for the occasion. Mrs. R. E. Dargan of Peterborough was at the organ and the Rev. R. E. Dargan sang as the signing of the register, "Because."

Escorted to the alter by her father, the bride was attired in a copper gabardine suit with brown hat and accessories and colonial nosegay of bronze, yel- and white mums. Maid of honor was the grom's sister, Miss Verna Nobes, wearing a blue suit with black accessories and corsage of pink roses, and Miss Della Hamilton was her sister's bridesmaid, wearing a grey suit with navy accessories and corsage of yellow 'mums.

The bride's cousin, Ray Edwards attended the groom and ushers were Collingwood Hamilton and Donald Nobes, brothers of the bride and groom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hamilton wore a wine dotted crepe dress with wine accessories and had a corsage of yellow 'mums. The groom's mother wore a black and white ensemble and had white carnations. Both assisted the bridal party to receive afterward. Frends of the bride who served the refreshments were Misses Doris Edwards, Delores Chard, Brenda Moffat, Joan Anderson, Shirley Nobes, Gena Kennedy and Rita Houghton.

As her travelling outfit, the bride selected a blue gabardine suit and grey accessories and she had a corsage of Talisman roses for going-away. After a short honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Nobes will live in Cordova Mines.

Proves Tiny Baby Grows Normally

TORONTO (CP).—Do babies abnormally small at birth later live a normal adult life?

Mrs. Edwin Diplock, 36, is one proof that they can. She weighed only one pound eight ounces at birth, and now stands 5 feet 2 inches. She has had five children, all weighing over six pounds at birth.

Mrs. Diplock was born in North Sydney, N. S., and was nursed by her mother. She was anaemic until she was 13.

At birth, she said, "my arm was so small the doctor could put the ring from his finger up to my elbow. I was put in a shoe box, wrapped in cotton wool and olive oil, and kept in an oven four months."

A twin brother, also underweight, died a few minutes after birth. Nurses said they had a hard time keeping Mrs. Diplock alive.

Now she has five healthy children of her own. The eldest, Marie, now 16, was the smallest at birth, weighing 6¾ pounds. The youngest, Ernest, weighed 9¾ pounds when born.

Rumors Still Put Dalkeith Top Man in Margaret's Life

LONDON —(AP)— Gossip persists in making the red-headed Earl of Dalkeith the most likely suitor for the hand of Princess Margaret.

Margaret shares her acquaintance among a platoon of youthful peers but the red letter dates go to Dalkeith. He is still her most constant escort at theatres, restaurants, night clubs, and dances.

The 20-year-old princess has repeatedly been a weekend guest at one or another of the three country estates kept by the Earl's father, the Duke of Buccleuch. An engagement has been flatly forecast by The London Evening Star. The 27-year-old Earl in turn has certainly had Royal inspection. The King and Queen invited him to Windsor Castle last summer for the top event of the social season, the Royal House Party for the Ascot races.

On that occasion the Earl rode in the same carriage with Margaret on the Royal Drive to Ascot, an official public appearance of considerable significance.

Eventually the Earl of Dalkeith will be one of Britain's wealthiest men, as the heir to the Eighth Duke of Buccleuth, now 56 years of age. The family owns rich property in London and many acres of farm and forests throughout eight counties.

Manages Estates

The family castles are rich in art treasures, especially paintings, china and antique furnishings. Some of these have been lent to the government to decorate British embassies.

Dalkeith is confining his business career to the management of the estates which will some day be his. Just now he's busy supervising the investment of about $900,000 in the estates to build new buildings and replant the big fir forests cut down during the war to manufacture Mosquito bombers, torpedo boats and other weapons.

He attended Eton and Oxford, worked briefly in an airplane factory, then went into the navy where he became a destroyer lieutenant.

Studied Forestry

After the war he studied forestry abroad and came home to tutor in estate management under the Duke's experts.

Now his rangy six-foot figure can frequently be seen among the Scottish hills touring his estates. Sometimes he goes afoot, sometimes on horseback. He drives a small, gas-saving car on occasional shopping trips to Selkirk.

When he wants to nip cross-country in a hurry he trots out a speedy sports roadster.

Happy Marriage Not Menaced By Minor Spats

WINNIPEG —(CP)— Marriages are not headed for the rocks just because the husband and wife do not see eye-to-eye on everything.

Dr. Gerda Allison, mother and doctor, says it is perfectly natural, and also desirable, for husband and wife not to agree on everything. The prime requisite of the happy marriage is agreement on the ultimate goal.

She said each person has to take some individuality into marriage and retain it.

Dr. Allison was one of three speakers who addressed the Westminster Church Marriage Clinic. The others were Dr. Murray Campbell and Dr. Dorothea Wardrop.

Dr. Campbell said the truly happy couple must have a number of things in common.

In addition to a real affection, emotional maturity, intellectual union and a union of body and soul, he said the happy couple should have common background, church, grammar, table manners and similar elements including a mutual hobby.

Complete frankness and an understanding of your mate is vital he added.

Equal Paternership

Both doctors stressed equal partnership status for husband and wife. "Dignified Victorian acquiescence is no longer fashionable," Dr. Allison said. Also, as far as the wife is concerned, she deplored "slavish submission."

Marriage was not the end of the story. "It is just the beginning," a "dynamic state" calling for continual adjustments. The key to happy marriage is "tolerance, understanding and good humor . . . and an informed and realistic attitude toward sex."

Dr. Wardrop said "sex education should be according to the development of a child and should start with children, not at the pre-marital stage."

Mrs. W. Charlton Lays W.I. Wreath

LAKEFIELD, November 13 — (ENS)—Mrs. W. J. Charlton placed the wreath from the Lakefield Women's Institute on the Lakefield cenotaph during the Remembrance Day service, Saturday. She was appointed to do this at the November meeting of the Institute held at the home of Mrs. Irwin.

A letter was received from the Blind Institute thanking the women for their volunteered help on tag day when $60 was raised.

Other business decided on at the meeting: a bingo to be held at the Legion Hall, November 23; a draw for a prize quilt at the same time; the December meeting to be in the home of Mrs. George Davey, because of the illness of Mrs. McKercher.

Mrs. White told of the business concluded at the recent Institute convention, held in Toronto.

Lunch was served by the hostess and her committee: Mrs. J. Murphy, Mrs. R. Wasson, Mrs. White and Mrs. W. J. Charlton. President Mrs. Roy Bullock was in the chair.

Silver Cross Mothers Act At Remembrance Day Tea

Members of the 57th Regiment Chapter, IODE, again marked Remembrance Day with a lovely afternoon tea. On Saturday they entertained about 175 ladies in the YWCA Green Room, their regent Mrs. M. E. Clarke receiving, assisted by vice regent and regent of the Municipal Chapter, Mrs. W. G. Hall.

Three mothers of gallant boys who gave their lives in the cause of a freedom that permits this type of gracious living were presiding at the tea table, Mrs. A. B. Burrows, Mrs. Wm. Davies and Mrs. J. A. H. Campbell with Mrs. G H. Cutmore assisting in absence of a fourth Silver Cross Mother.

The table was effectively centred with a mass arrangement of large bronze and yellow 'mums, highlighted with yellow tapers, and covered with a hand-made ecru lace cloth.

Raffle prizes of the day were a large size chicken, ready for roasting, and a pair of pillow cases and tickets were also being sold on a hand-made scatter rug which will be drawn for at the Christmas meeting of the chapter. Mrs. Alex Sinclair, 530 Rogers St., was winner of the chicken and Miss M. Farthing, 175 Dublin St., won the pillow cases. Mrs. R. Pa[illegible]e and Mrs. F. Frape were in charge of the ticket sales.

The bazaar table displayed a variety of articles from Paris-made silk corsages to aprons and included some natty knitted wear for baby. Mrs. C. H. Stuart was the convener and was assisted in selling by Mrs. C. Wheatley and Mrs. G. Groombridge. Their receipts totalled well over $75.

Mrs. George Melton convened a fine home cooking table and her sales assistants were Mrs. A. G. Stock and Mrs. B. McLeod.

Mrs. Lloyd Gilders' was in charge of the tea room arrangements and had as hostesses Mrs. W. Hughes, Mrs. R. E. Clarke, Mrs. J. Black and Mrs. M. T. Breckenridge.

Serving were Mrs. P. Latchford, Mrs. Borland, Mrs. E. Boyer, Mrs. G. H. Moore, Mrs. D. Miller, Mrs. H. Dodds, Miss M. Rush, Mrs. L. Brooks and Mrs. J. McLeod. The plates were replenished by Mrs. E. Graham, Mrs. H. Burrows, Mrs. F. Haggart and Mrs. T. Griffin and Mrs. C. E. Newman was refilling the tea pots. Mrs. U. E. Waterman did the table setting.

Mrs. M. J. Swanston and Mrs. R. Ford attended the treasurer's table. More than 50 guests paid cash as they entered, the others having purchased tickets prior to the tea.

Miss Marilyn Pomeroy and Mrs. T. Williams played piano selections throughout the tea hours.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Filling Green Pea Ring With Creamed Mushrooms

TASTY, NOURISHING and filling is this ring of peas filled with creamed mushrooms.

Here is an especially good dish with two special merits: It puts needed nourishment into the youngsters in the form of butter, eggs and milk, and it can be made of leftover cooked peas. It is just one of the many delicious and attractive ways of using health-giving dairy foods that can be found in "300 Healthful Dairy Dishes," eighteenth title in the 24 cookbook series currently being made available to readers of the Examiner.

Green Pea Ring

2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup flour
1½ cups milk
1 cup pureed cooked green peas
2 eggs, separated
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 recipe Creamed Mushrooms

Melt butter and blend in flour; add milk and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and stir in pureed peas, beaten egg yolks, salt and pepper. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold lightly but thoroughly into mixture. Turn into buttered (6-cup) ring mold and bake in moderate oven (325° F.) for 45 to 50 minutes. Loosen sides and turn out on large platter. Pour creamed mushrooms in center and serve immediately. Serves 5 or 6.

Creamed Mushrooms

1 pound fresh mushrooms
1½ cups milk
½ teaspoon grated onion
¾ teaspoon salt
Dash white pepper
2 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour

Wash and slice mushrooms and cook in 1 cup of the milk with onion, salt, pepper and butter for 10 to 15 minutes or until tender. Blend flour with remaining milk until smooth and add to boiling mixture, stirring constantly. Cook until thickened. Serve in centre of hot pea ring. Serves 4 to 6.

MUSHROOMS A LA KING—Add ½ cup sliced stuffed olives and 1 hard-cooked egg, diced to Creamed Mushrooms.

Like all the other books in the series, the Dairy Book is full of unusual and tasty recipes and the beautiful photographic illustrations give added ideas and suggestions for attractive ways of serving commonplace foods. What's Right

A friend makes a point of asking you advice about a matter.

WRONG: Word your advice so strongly that if it is ignored the friend will know you think he is an utter idiot.

RIGHT: Say what you believe but do so tactfully, so that the person may either take your advice or not without feeling any embarassment if he should decide not to.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Husband Won't Let Wife Give Aid to Destitute Mother

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a woman of 37 with two children, 12 and 13 years of age. My marriage is fairly happy—or would be, except for the problem of my mother. She is 60 years old, a widow, and beginning to fail in health. When I was married she was financially independent, but, due to foolish investments and general mismanagement, she has lost every penny. My husband is very well off, but he absolutely refuses to help my mother. I have charge accounts everywhere of my own, so the most I can give my mother is a few dollars a month and her clothes. I can't endure seeing my mother in need while I live in a beautiful home. Once I tried bringing my mother to my home, but we were all miserable because my husband treated her so insultingly. I have wondered if it is my duty to try to get a job of some kind, although I am completely without training, in order to give money to my mother. This would wreck my married life because my husband would never forgive me. He would divorce me and take the children. But what else can I do?

A HEARTBROKEN WIFE

ANSWER: The only solution that I see to your problem is for you to put your mother in some semicharitable institution where the cost of her maintenance would be so small that your husband would be willing to pay it to save further family arguments. Perhaps your mother will object to this arrangement, but it will hurt her pride less to be in a home for old ladies than it will to be in your home knowing that her presence there is resented.

Taking Job Impractical

Your plan of going out into the world to work in order to support your mother is a beautiful gesture of filial devotion. It does honor to your heart, but your head must tell you that it is impractical. You are utterly untrained for any career and you could not in all probability get a job at all. On the other hand, you have your duty to your children, which is greater than that to your mother. You will wreck their lives if you break up their home and deprive them of a mother's love and guidance. Your mother's life is nearly over. Theirs is just beginning and they need you now in their formative years more than they will ever need you again. So your duty is clear. It is to carry on, no matter at what cost to yourself.

But what a cruel thing it is in a husband, what an unjust and dastardly thing it is in him to refuse to let his wife help her old mother, and how little he must value his wife's love and respect when he does the thing to her that makes her see him as a selfish, grinding tyrant with no thought for her happiness and no pity for helpless age.

Let us hope that something will soften your husband's hard heart and turn him from the error of his ways.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My sweetheart told me two days before the ceremony that we would have to wait a little while; that she couldn't marry me just then. Now she tells me that I must wait a year and then perhaps she will give me "no" for an answer. She gave no reason for this delay, and I have tried in vain to get to the bottom of the whole thing. It isn't her parents' objection. It isn't money. So what on earth could it be? She will not tell me, but told me to shut up and quit harping on the subject. Isn't it natural for a man to want to know why his sweetheart can't marry him? Should I submit in silence on the subject, or should I demand the explanation I feel is due?

ANSWER: I should think you would feel that you had taken a headspin from the clouds and crashed, when your sweetheart let you get almost to the steps of the altar before she told you that she had put off the wedding day. It shows she has little regard for your feelings or self-respect.

If you do not know why the girl has put off the marriage for a year I can tell you. It is because she doesn't love you and she dreads being married to you. My surmise is that there is some other man whom she prefers and she will only take you if she finds out that she can't get him. Girls who are in love are crazy for their wedding day to come, and they don't defer it without some mighty good reason. Never marry a girl whom you have to persuade to marry you. She will make a cold and indifferent wife. Affection is likely to simmer down after marriage, anyway, so you should start out with it at the boiling point.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am head over heels in love with a movie star whom I have never seen except on the screen. I know how silly this is and I am exasperated with myself as I have always been heretofore a sane, level-headed sort of person. What to do?

FOOLISH MAID

ANSWER: You have plenty of company in your folly, my dear. There are millions of your sisters and our cousins and your aunts who have crushes on movie stars.

And as long as women take out their romance in merely dreaming about their picture lovers no harm is done. It is when they begin pursuing them in the flesh and writing them silly letters that get themselves into trouble.

Don't worry about this. Your infatuation will pass. After all you can't be permanently in love with a shadow.

Pears On Market For Last Canning Effort

By MARY MOORE

If you still have any enthusiasm left for canning, pears are still coming strong.

One of the head mechanics of a canning company was telling me that after the "breather" their maintenance men had had after the early pear pack, they did not mind the burst of work ahead of them, servicing canning machines for the late pear pack.

This gentleman had given me a lift downtown when he was on his way out of town to inspect some pear canning machinery.

Nevertheless, I was surprised and happy to find a whole hamper of pears inside my side door when I returned that day—kindness of same gentleman.

I have given some of them away; I have canned some; I have spiced some; I have eaten some; I have made some into a compote for dinner tomorrow night, and now at 8:40 p.m. I am writting to you about them. Oh, I forgot to say that Marianne and Pete took fifteen of them to a YPU meeting to use to play "the apple game." Please do not ask me how you work that.

Want to be in on the pear palaver? ✧ ✧ ✧

Pear Betty

Ten pears, pared, halved and cored (if canned pears are used in winter time, omit cooking time and add less sugar), ⅞ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon each nutmeg and ginger, juice of 1 large lemon, 2 cups soft breadcrumbs, 2 tablespoons melted butter.

Parboil the prepared pears in a little water for 10 minutes. Drain, and slice halves in three or four lengths. Sift together the sugar and spices and add them and lemon juice to pears. To the breadcrumbs add the melted butter. Place a layer of the buttered crumbs in bottom of buttered baking dish. Cover with layer of pear mixture, repeating these layers until all crumbs and pears are used, having crumbs on top. Bake at 325 for about 45 minutes. Serve with unsweetened whipped cream or pouring cream, or better still with Philadephia cream cheese.

Spiced Pears

Seckel pears are usually used for this. Pare, but leave stems on Seckel pears. Drop into syrup prepared by boiling together 3 pounds sugar, 1 pint vinegar, 2 tablespoons cloves, 2 sticks of cinnamon and ½ cup water. Add only one layer of pears at a time, and simmer in syrup until they are tender and clear. Then put into sterile pint jars and fill with syrup and seal. Proceed with next jar full until all pears are spiced.

Pear and Apricot Jam

I recommend this highly because the appricots impart a desirable tartness to the pears. It is an economical jam.

Peel and core pears until you have 5 pounds. Put through food chopper with 1 pound of dried apricots which have been washed and dried. Add to them 1 cup water and bring to boiling point, then add 4 lbs. sugar, stirring. Cook over very low heat until fruit is clear and syrup thick. Pour into sterile jam jars and seal. The addition of about ½ cup sliced maraschino cherries fifteen minutes before jam is finished gives a pretty coloring.

I have recipes for other pear preserves and conserves for readers who ask for them.

NOTICE AND SYNOPSIS OF TWO PROPOSED MONEY BY-LAWS TO BE SUBMITTED TO THE VOTE OF THE RATEPAYERS AT THE ANNUAL CIVIC ELECTION ON MONDAY, DECEMBER 4TH, 1950.

THE COUNCIL of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough proposes to pass:

1. A Money By-law Number 4908, entitled "A BY-LAW AUTHORIZING THE BORROWING OF $585,000.00 UPON DEBENTURES FOR PERMANENT IMPROVEMENTS, NAMELY THE CONSTRUCTION OF A NEW COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE."

2. A Money By-law Number 4915, entitled "A BY-LAW AUTHORIZING THE BORROWING OF $300,000.00 UPON DEBENTURES FOR THE PETERBOROUGH CIVIC HOSPITAL."

The Money By-law regarding the Debentures for the New Collegiate Institute recites as follows:

The Board of Education by resolution passed July 4th, 1950 requested the Council to pass a By-law for borrowing $585,000.00 to finance the Construction of a New Collegiate Institute on Lot Numbers 19 and 20, Plan 20Q, and the purchase of Furniture and Equipment.

The Council complied with the request in accordance with the High Schools Act, and it is now necessary to pass a By-law authorizing the Borrowing of the said Moneys.

The Debentures to be issued will be for a sum not to exceed $585,000.00, and the Principal will be repaid over a period of Twenty (20) Years in equal annual instalments, the Interest on the Debentures falling due in the first Ten (10) Years being at the rate of Three per cent per annum and the Interest on the Debentures payable in the Eleventh Year and subsequent years being at the rate of 3¼ per cent per annum.

The amount to be raised annually to meet the payment of Principal and Interest for these Debentures will be as nearly as possible equal and in each of the Twenty Years will be $29,989.37 approximately.

The total rateable Assessment for Collegiate Institute purposes is $36,967,845.00, and the existing Debenture debt of the City, not including local improvement debts, is $5,612,087.49.

The Money By-law regarding the Debentures for the Peterborough Civic Hospital recites in part as follows:

By the Peterborough Civic Hospital Act, 1945, the Corporation of the City of Peterborough was authorized to Erect and Furnish the Peterborough Civic Hospital, and it was expected and estimated that $200,000.00 would be obtained toward the cost of a New Hospital by the Sale of the Old Hospital Buildings and Property, but these Buildings and Property have not been sold and therefore this money is not available.

And whereas there is required the further sum of $100,000.00 to Construct and provide Sidewalks, Roads, Sewers and Landscaping on the grounds adjacent to the Peterborough Civic Hospital, the cost of which are estimated at $15,000.00, $35,000.00, $25,000.00 and $25,000.00 respectively.

Therefore it is expedient to Borrow for these purposes the sum of $300,000.00 upon Debentures, the Principal of which will be repaid over a period of Twenty (20) Years in equal annual instalments, the Interest on the Debentures falling due in the first Ten (10) Years being at the rate of Three per cent per annum, and the Interest on the Debentures payable the Eleventh and subsequent years being at the rate of 3¼ per cent per annum.

The amount to be raised annually to meet the payment of Principal and Interest for these Debentures will be as nearly as possible equal and in each of the Twenty Years will be $20,468.88 approximately.

The total rateable Assessment for Peterborough Civic Hospital purposes is $36,967,845.00 and the existing Debenture debt of the City, not including local improvement debts is $5,612,087.49.

Canadian Nun Beatified By Vatican

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 13 (CP) —The Pope was carried shoulder-high into St. Peter's Sunday night to venerate Marguerite Bourgeoys, the French-born Canadian nun beatified earlier in the day.

Among those attending the ceremony were 11 cardinals, including James Cardinal McGuigan, archbishop of Toronto; 60 bishops, including 20 from Canada and many other high prelates of the Roman Catholic Church. A crowd estimated at 30,000 cheered the Pope as he entered St. Peter's.

In the ceremony, the Pope solemnly honored the first Canadian to be raised to the ranks of the blessed. Beatification is one stage on the way to becoming a saint.

Among 1,200 pilgrims from Canada who had travelled here for the beatification, were two representatives of the Quebec government—Onesime Gagnon, provincial treasurer, and Camille Pouliot, minister of game and fisheries.

Also present was a group of nuns from the congregation of the Sisters of Our Lady of Montreal, founded 300 years ago by Marguerite Bourgeoys.

The Pope and the huge congregation knelt while Msgr. Paul Emile Leger, archbishop of Montreal, gave the eucharistic benediction from the high altar of St. Peter's.

Sponsors of the cause for the beatifications of Mother Marguerite presented the Pope at the end of the ceremony with a picture of the Canadian nun portraying the vision of the Madonna which led her to quit France for a dangerous missionary life in pioneer Canada.

Hitchhiker Injured In Truck-Car Smash

HAMILTON, Nov. 13—(CP)—A 16-year-old hitchhiker was admitted to hospital here today in only fair condition suffering from severe lacerations on his forehead and his right hand.

Wayne Hinsley, of Brantford, said he suffered the injuries when the car in which he was given a lift was involved in a truck-car accident today on No. 2 Highway east of Wolf's Island.

Hospital authorities said Hinsley has been lapsing into unconsciousness because of the loss of blood. Angus Blench, of Toronto, picked the boy up to give him a lift to Hamilton. The boy was hitchhiking to his home in Brantford.

Legislature Sittings Delay Federal-Provincial Meeting

OTTAWA, Nov. 12 (CP)—Special sessions of the Quebec and Manitoba legislatures have caused a 10-day postponement of a federal-provincial meeting scheduled to continue discussions on ways to give Canada complete constitutional independence.

A committee made up of Justice Minister Garson and the attorney-general of the 10 provinces was due to meet here Monday, but the meeting was postponed until Nov. 23 because the representatives of Quebec and Manitoba could not attend.

The Quebec Legislature was called to pass legislation providing for loans to Rimouski and Cabano, two communities ravaged by serious fires last spring. The Manitoba Legislature was summoned to deal with relief and other problems arising out of last spring's disastrous Red River floods.

Date for the committee meeting was set for Nov. 13 when the federal-provincial constitutional conference met in Quebec in September. The conference asked the committee to prepare a report for submission to the federal and provincial governments when they renew their constitutional discussions following the general federal-provincial conference opening here Dec. 4.

Mary O'Connell Widely Mourned

Many were the colleagues, pupils, friends and Sisters of St. Joseph's Community who called recently at the Duffus funeral home to say their last farewell to Mary A. (Polly) O'Connell, who through her very useful life had won the respect and esteem of so many, not only in Peterborough but wherever she went.

She was an ideal Christian teacher who loved her pupils wherever she taught and so they loved her. She loved the great commandment that Christ gave his Apostles to love one another.

A long cortege followed her remains to the Immaculate Conception Church in Ashburnham, where solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. T. J. O'Sullivan assisted by Rev. Roy McEachern as deacon and Rev. J. A. Greenan as sub-deacon.

The whole service including the singing of the choir made a deep impression on everyone.

Rev. Monsignor Butler, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, after praying for the repose of her soul on Sunday spoke from the pulpit in very appropriate terms of all she had done for the youth of Peterborough during her teaching career. He said her good deeds would never be forgotten.

The pallbearers (most of whom were her former pupils), were: Haig Kelly, Bob White, Harry Hamley, Joe O'Keefe, Kevin Hurley and Arnold O'Hearn.

The honorary pallbearers were: Principal C. S. Browne of PCVS, F. H. Jobbitt, chairman of the Board of Education, Dr. J. M. O'Brien, Dr. R. K. Magee, V. J. McElderry, KC, Basil D. Hall, KC, H. A. Toole of PCVS, A. Shearer of PCVS, Vincent Sullivan, Dr. R. A. Sheehy, J. E. Callaghan, J. W. Madden, Joseph Paquette, John Casey, Wm. M. Grady, Wm. E. Thompson.

She leaves to mourn her loss two sisters, Sr. St. Catherinet of St. Joseph's Community, Marguerite of Toronto and Peterborough, and James S. of Peterborough.

Burial was in the family plot in St. Peter's Cemetery beside her mother. The graveside prayers were offered by Rev. J. A. Greenan.

Gives Up Scramble For Almighty Dollar

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13 (AP) —A 41-year-old business man today said he has given up the "mad scramble for the almighty dollar" to enter the Episcopal ministry.

J. Philip Bartlett, a seminary student at the University of Southern California, said he sold a thriving farming machinery business in San Diego because "the external pressure of the business world was not worth it."

By everyday standards he was well off, Bartlett related, but he felt there was something lacking in his life.

"I was forced to follow certain ethics which were not Christian," he explained. "They were not ethics that would put a man in jail, but modern business is cut-throat and dog-eat-dog for the small business man who is trying to survive."

Mink Does Share For Flood Funds

VANCOUVER. — (CP) — One live mink was worth $400 to a fund to aid Manitoba fur ranchers wiped out by last spring's great Red River floods.

The little animal was auctioned off at the annual dinner here of the lower mainland Fur Breeders Association of British Columbia.

The amount will be sent to aid fellow fur ranchers in Manitoba.

New Russ Fleet Said Outmoded By Allied Heads

LONDON, Nov. 13 (AP) — An unofficial British survey of the world's armed forces said Sunday Russia is rapidly building up a strong navy based on ideas other countries fear to be outmoded.

The survey, Brassey's 1950 Annual, said other navies generally are awaiting a satisfactory answer to the destructive potential of the atom bomb, the guided missile and the fast submarine.

The Annual, which has been published here for 64 years, said Russia had completed two 35,000-ton battleships this year and has more under construction. It said the ships mount nine 16-inch guns and can make 29 knots.

The survey said the Soviet Union also had commissioned one or two aircraft carriers this year. It gave Russia's present submarine strength as 360 and said she planned to expand her underwater fleet to 1,000 by the end of 1951.

Faulty Conception

"There is an impresison of unreality about this Russian naval expansion, if only because it seems to be based on a faulty conception of modern naval requirements," Brassey's said.

Similar reports of Russia's big naval building program have been printed in the authoritative Jane's Fighting Ships and in Swedish newspapers.

Although the Russians have not given out any details, they have boasted they are building a fleet to rival those of the United States and Britain.

Brassey's also estimated the Russians had 3,000,000 men under arms and would have trained manpower reserves of 12,000,000 to 13,000,000 by 1954.

It credited the Russians with a first line air force of 18,000 military planes and annual production of 12,000, "thanks mainly to the help of German technicians and the capture of German material."

Forbid West Germans Make Security Arms

BONN, Germany, Nov. 13 (AP) —The allies have forbidden the West Germans to make for themselves the small arms for their special 30,000 security police.

And the Germans say they cannot afford the dollars to buy the weapons from the United States.

This impasse has apparently halted the arming of the force, authorized by the September foreign ministers' conference to guard against Communist attempts to overthrow the Bonn regime.

Maj.-Gen. George P. Hays, Deputy U.S. High Commissioner, said today that because the three allies could not agree on a proposal that the Germans make the arms themselves, the Germans were told it would not be allowed.

Conciliation Asked For Transport Strike

WINDSOR, Nov. 13 — (CP) — Harold O. Scott, president of the Windsor local of the Street Railwaymen's Union, has asked for "immediate" appointment of a chairman for the conciliation board which will deal with the contract dispute between the union and the Sandwich, Windsor and Amherstburg Railway.

In a letter to Ontario Labor Minister Daley, Mr. Scott said it was "increasingly alarming that no definite action has been taken up to this date."

The company and union have failed since August to reach agreement on a new contract to replace one which expired Oct. 31.

Fail To Save Life Of 18-Month Baby

KITCHENER, Nov. 13—(CP)—A fast, police-escorted trip from nearby Bridgeport to Toronto late Saturday afternoon failed to save the life of 1½-year-old Wayne Richard Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Walker.

Suffering from a chronic kidney ailment which took an acute turn Saturday, the lad was rushed to the Sick Children's Hospital for treatment with the wonder drug, Acth, in a car driven by his uncle, R. B. Metler, of Kingsdale. Provincial Police provided an escort for most of the way, but the lad was dead on arrival at hospital. The trip took a little more than an hour and a quarter.

Four Shots Fired As Suspect Captured

WINDSOR, Nov. 13—(CP)—A chase through downtown Windsor streets last night in which four shots were fired in the air by police resulted in the arrest of a man wanted for investigation of a break-in last summer.

The suspect is Irwin Mann, 27, who broke away from two constables who were questioning him on the street. Mann led them on a chase for several blocks, down alleys and between houses and wasn't captured until he ran out of breath.

31 Get Diplomas At Exercises In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 13 (ENS) — Commencement exercises were held at Campbellford High School Friday evening when a large number of students, parents, teachers and friends filled the auditorium.

G. Stephens, secretary of the Seymour Agricultural Society, presented prizes won at the fall fair to students in the Art, Home Economics and Shop Work classes.

M. McKeown presented awards for the local track meet, and S. Breckon, B.A., principal of Norwood High School, presented the Ferguson Shield to the Campbellford students for having the highest number of points in the inter-school meet held last month.

The programme continued with the cadet awards presented by E. E. Darling, Northumberland County Musical Festival medals presented by Miss M. I. Stephens and intermediate school certificates presented by A. Armour.

A number of vocal solos and vocal duets kept the audience entertained throughout the programme.

Guest speaker of the evening was G. W. Keith, of Lindsay, acting principal at the Campbellford High School for the previous school term. He spoke on "Building Canada", and referred to many instances in which individuals had placed the welfare of their country ahead of their own personal desires. He rediculed those who lacked the foresight and understanding to do their part in supplying the needs of the teaching staff to carry out a proper educational programme for our young people of today.

Education Curtailed

He cited various instances where the proper education of students was seriously curtailed due to lack of funds which the community had, but which in many cases, were spent on less important projects. Mr. Keith believed that many members of various school staffs had the same attitude as he had, "Give us the tools, and we will finish the job."

E. McKeel, chairman of the board, presented the High School Board scholarships and also the J. E. Birks' Memorial Scholarship, and the Northumberland County Dominion - Provincial Scholarship.

Mr. A. K. Loucks presented secondary school graduation diplomas to J. Benor, J. Bright, F. Brown, B. Darrah, R. Goacher, A. Hay, G. Heath, R. Huycke, M. Kelly, H. MacDonald, R. Massie, G. McCulloch, J. Mull, R. Nicholls, D. Oddie, S. Petherick, J. Simpson and D. Vice. Honour graduation diplomas were presented to A. Arthur, R. Bennett, J. Doherty, B. Ellis, P. Goodfellow, M. Haig, B. Loucks, K. Moore, J. Pierce, H. Stinson, K. Sutton and A. Taylor. Miss Aldyth Arthur captured nine first class honours in the nine subjects she took last year and is at present attending U. of T. She gave the class valedictory address after which the exercises were brought to a close.

Deloro, Marmora Celebrate RememranceDay

MARMORA, Nov. 13 (ENS).—Remembrance Day services under auspices of Marmora Branch 237, Canadian Legion, were held both at Marmora and Deloro on Saturday morning.

At Marmora, Legionnaires assembled at the Legion Hall and under command of the President, Clayton Bedore, paraded to the Memorial Hall to be joined there by members of the Ladies Auxiliary. A short service consisting of two readings and prayers by Rev. George D. Young and the two minutes' silence with Last Post and Reveille being sounded by W. H. Deering was followed intently by a large number of residents.

Wreaths Placed

Wreaths were placed beneath the memorial tablets by the following: Mrs. J. M. Brownlie for the Province of Ontario; Mrs. Frank Leal for the Ladies- Auxiliary and president Bedore for the Canadian Legion.

At Deloro for the second successive year, employees of the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company Limited assembled at Deloro Hall in observance of the hour. Ex-servicemen paraded under Lieut. Percy Gray and with the public being represented the hall was well filled. Rural Dean J. M. Brownlie, chaplain of Marmora Branch of the Canadian Legion conducted a brief service of prayer and scripture reading which closed with the National Anthem. Wreaths were deposited by R. G. Walsh, general manager for the company and by Reeve C. H. Buskard for the village of Deloro.

Last Post and Reveille were sounded by G. Brooks preceding and succeeding the two minutes' silence.

Attend Service

On Sunday evening Marmora Branch 237 and its Ladies' Auxiliary paraded to St. Paul's Anglican Church for the annual Remembrance Day service. Major Percy Gray was in charge of the parade and Rural Dean J. M. Brownlie, padre of the branch, was in charge of the service. In the absence of the organist, Mrs. L. R. Rundle, Mrs. John Hickey was organist for the service.

The two lessons were read by the lay reader, W. J. Cottrell. Following the processional hymn, "I Know That My Redeemer Lives," the Last Post and Reveille were sounded by George Brooks and after the offertory, the National Anthem was sung. The chaplain's message dealt with aspects of the two world wars as noted by our fighting forces and the stand that must be made continuously by our race for the preservation of democracy.

Paper Holds Back Story To Save Youngster's Life

SANTA FE, N.M., Nov. 13. — (AP)—Six years ago the Santa Fe New Mexican sat on the atomic bomb story at nearby Los Alamos until the army gave the go-ahead.

Saturday the newspaper held up another story because a little girl's life was at stake. The act brought a "well-done" from J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Editor Will Harrison was told by the FBI that officers feared for Linda Stamm's life if her abductor learned the police had been notified.

"I hurried back to the office and gathered every one who had heard the word 'kidnap' behind a locked door," Harrison relates. "They vowed to keep quiet, to stay away from the contact spot named in the ransom note, and promised solemnly to stay sober until the secret was out."

The New Mexican arranged to hold the story until Monday night after the last contact tryst mentioned in the ransom note.

And then the story broke wide open—two days before expected—with capture of Dr. Nancy Campbell and finding of the child. The newspaper rushed out an extra and passed on to the FBI data it had dug up on the case.

"It's good to have a head-start on a story," Harrison commented, "but this one we'd rather have handled cold."

New York Printers Accept Contract

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(AP).—Printers employed on 10 major daily newspapers in New York City approved Sunday a two-year contract providing a $7-a-week wage and welfare "package."

The printers, members of local 6 of the International Typographical Union (AFL), previously had rejected the proposed contract.

Seven other craft unions in the newspaper industry had signed up on similar terms previous to Sunday.

At the printers' meeting Sunday Woodruff Randolph, International president of the union, recommended approval of the contract, and told the members:

"No further improvement may be made at this time without winning a strike during which you would be 'on your own' so far as other unions are concerned."

The new contract gives the printers a wage increase of $3.50 a week now, and $2 more a week a year hence. The union also won an employer contribution of $1.50 a week for each employee to a pension fund. This is the first time the printers were given an employer-financed pension fund.

Another provision in the contract is that if the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics cost-of-living index goes up more than four points above the figure for Sept. 15, 1950, the publishers will pay $1 more a week for each two-point rise.

Vancouver Painter Back To Dublin

VANCOUVER —(CP)— Artist Cliff Robinson doesn't mind being poor—so long as it's in Dublin.

So, the 33-year-old artist recently packed up his easel, brushes and 400-odd paintings and headed for his native Ireland. He says poverty goes hand-in-hand with an artist's life. But, "it should be easier to be poor in Dublin."

Robinson was employed as a travelling instructor with the extension department of the University of British Columbia. He quit because the job didn't "pay enough to hold a competent person for any great length of time."

He'll be doing much the same in Dublin. But he expects to gain new ideas from "the new Irish renaissance."

Boy 12 World Wheat Champ

TORONTO, Nov. 14—(CP)—Twelve-year-old Ricky Sharpe of Munson, Alta., today won one of agriculture's most honored awards—the Royal Winter Fair's world wheat championship. It is the first time in the history of the fair, founded in 1922, that a junior has won this championship. Ricky, member of the Drumheller Junior Grain Club, last year won the Junior Wheat Title and the Reserve Grand Championship. The 1949 world wheat crown went to Mrs. Amy Kelsey of Erickson, B.C., who placed sixth this year.

The young champion was not at the fair but officials sent a telegram asking him to appear here Saturday to receive the Canadian National Railways trophy from Lord Digby, head of the Royal Agricultural Society of Britain.

Bright Youngster

P. J. Rock of Drumheller, livestock exhibitor here, said Ricky "has the size and bounce of a rabbit and is as sharp as a cricket." He grew his world champion sample of Thatcher wheat on a 3½-acre plot on his father's farm, eight miles from Drumheller.

Mr. Rock said Ricky's father had also been a member of the Drumheller Grain Club when he was a boy and the family had for years been intensely interested in producing top-quality seed grain.

The other world championship title awarded today went to John Eliuk of Hairy Hill, Alta., for his exhibit of Victory oats. Mr. Eliuk also won the oats championship last year.

The reserve grand championship for wheat also was won by a member of an Alberta junior grain club. Howard Roppel of Rockyford won the runner-up award for his sample of Marquis wheat. Matt B. Schnerr of Sangudo, Alta., was the reserve oat winner.

Charge Mail Truck Driver With Theft of $10,000

KITCHENER, Nov. 14—(CP)—Accused of concocting a false holdup story to cover up a $10,000 theft from the mails, 32-year-old Robert Hyatt today was remanded to Nov. 17 on $10,000 bail. Besides being charged with theft from the mails, the suburban Kingsdale trucker also faces a count of public mischief.

Police claim he told the story of being held up and robbed after removing the money from a bag of registered mail while working under contract for a Kitchener post office.

The $10,000 in old banknotes, was destined for destruction at the Royal Mint, Ottawa. The money was discovered in a field, where Hyatt led Police Chief John Patrick early today.

Hyatt was found slumped over the wheel in a deserted part of Kitchener by a policeman who noticed that the truck hadn't moved for a couple of hours.

After treatment for head cuts at Kitchener-Waterloo hospital, he told police he had been slugged by a red-faced man who jumped into the cab of the truck when it stopped for a red light.

32 Mail Bags

Police said there were 32 mail bags in the truck, but they thought it odd that the supposed hold-up man would know exactly which one contained the money.

Old banknotes are often sent to Ottawa by registered mail to be destroyed to make way for new currency. However, deliveries of parcels containing the banknotes are staggered to avoid possibility of hold-upmen learning the route.

Santa Fe Doctor Had Many Debts

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M., Nov. 14—(AP)—Police are turning up a trail of unpaid bills, growing debts and threatened eviction in investigating recent activities of Dr. Nancy Campbell, charged with kidnapping a little girl last weekend.

Investigators are delving into two other matters, police said:

1. Evidence that the prominent 43-year-old women's physician had been "doling out money to a number of individuals."

2. Discovery of $800 in travellers cheques found in her car which are part of $1,000 reported stolen earlier this year from the Santa Fe office of Dr. Eric P. Hausner.

Dr. Campbell is in hospital awaiting arraignment in a week or two. A $25,000 bond was signed for her yesterday.

The popular doctor, dressed like a man, was arrested in Santa Fe Saturday night as she picked up a box containing $20,000 ransom. In her car nearby was blond Linda Stamm, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Stamm. Aside from being drugged she was apparently none the worse after spending Friday night in a doorless, windowless shack in nine-degree weather.

China, Tibet Reach Terms India Reports War Over

KALIMPONG, India, Nov. 14—(Reuters)—The struggle between the Tibetans and Chinese Communists advancing into Tibet is "all over," an Indian government spokesman said, since "Lhasa and Peiping have been able to reach agreement over relations between Tibet and China."

A tentative agreement provides for Tibetan recognition of Chinese suzerainty, with China assuming responsibility for Tibet's external relations and communications, the spokesman added.

China will maintain a token force in Tibet but will not interfere with the Dalai Lama and the Panchen Lama, the heads of Tibetan theocracy.

She will build and maintain, at her own expense a network of roads throughout Tibet.

Announcement of peace terms came only a day after Tibet's appeal to the United Nations for aid in resisting Chinese aggression had been received at Lake Success.

The Indian government spokesman confirmed that Tibetan "people's troops" and a small Chinese "token force" had arrived in the Tibetan capital of Lhasa.

The spokesman added that there had been no clashes between Tibetan government troops and Chinese forces "for the past many days."

Observers here suggested that the Tibetan case to the United Nations "will most probably be shelved in view of the direct settlement between Peiping and Lhasa."

Tibet, remote land of monasteries, has been ruled for centuries by the Lamas and is so inaccessible that few foreigners have penetrated its secrets.

MINDEMOYA, Ont., Nov. 4—(CP)—Three American hunters are in Mindemoya hospital suffering from serious burns, the result of the explosion of their gasoline camp stove in their hunting cabin on Silver Lake, west of Silverwater, late Monday night.

The three are Thomas Francis, of Willoughby, O., Jack Melville, of Perry, O., and Fred Merrick, of Mentor O. They were brought to hospital here last night.

Four other members of the hunting party, all from Ohio, suffered burns as well, but they were of a minor nature and they were not detained in hospital.

Bill Gregus Deferred From Army Till Dec. 1

HAMILTON, Nov. 14—(CP)—Halfback Bill Gregus, of Hamilton Tiger-Cats, ordered to report to a draft board in Toledo, O., for army duty, has been granted another deferment until Dec. 1, club officials announced today.

This word was received just 30 minutes before the plunging star was to leave here and with club officials resigned to the fact that he would not be available for the second game of the Big Four union playoffs against Toronto Argonauts Wednesday.

Foil Attempt To Blow Up New Armory

Half-Burned Fuse Dynamite Found At Sault Construction

SAULT STE. MARIE, Nov. 14—(CP)—City Police disclosed today they are investigating a possible attempt to blow up the new armories under construction here. Defence Minister Claxton laid the cornerstone of the new building Sunday.

Police said that more than a week ago workmen found a canister containing inflammable powder and hooked up to a 20-foot length fuse which was half burned. Early Sunday, they added, two sticks of dynamite were found near the powder storage warehouse, about 100 yards from the new building.

Police linked the winds to "a sabotage scheme likely perpetrated by a crank."

RCMP joined the investigation today.

Police chief I. L. Robertson said today that on Sunday morning during the cornerstone ceremony all available members of the city police department were posted to duty in the area as a special precaution.

"We took special care to cover the movements of Defence Minister Claxton," he said.

Officers said the cannister of inflammable powder had been sent to Toronto for analysis.

The Armory is on Pine St. in the east end of the city, a considerable distance from industrial plants and the ship canal.

The finding of the canister was not reported to police for some days. Guards were placed at the powder storage warehouse and the whole construction was checked after the dynamite was found.

Police said their investigations showed that the incidents were not the work of "either kids or amateurs." They declined to say whether there was any indication of sabotage. Both city officers and RCMP were reluctant to provide details.

Has Own Ideas

STRATFORD, Nov. 14 — (CP)—A few score Stratford people didn't get their milk on schedule Monday because a new horse was on the route. The horse and milkman started out together from the Dairy. The milkman left the wagon to make deliveries and went his usual way. The horse went its usual way. It took two hours and about eight miles of truck patrol around city streets before they got together again.

Cold Reported Paralyzing War In Korea

By The Associated Press.

SEOUL, Korea, Nov. 14 (AP).—A frozen silence settled today over Korean battlefields.

Temperatures of six above zero virtually paralyzed the northwestern front, where an estimated 90,000 Chinese Communists faced the concentrated United States 1st Corps. It was even colder in the northeast.

Ice-tipped winds swept down from mountain peaks on the quilted Chinese and on shivering Americans, many still in summer uniforms. The U.S. Eighth Army was rushing Arctic clothing to the chilled troops.

Parka-clad marines pushed through frozen hills in the centre of the line toward Changjin reservoir and its great hydro-electrict development.

Farther east, two regiments of the U.S. 7th division marched toward the Manchurian border, 30 miles away.

Make It Difficult

Winds of 40 miles an hour made it difficult for fighting men of the 7th division to breathe. Their hands and feet were numbed by the cold.

A thermometer carried by a tiny wind-tossed plane above them registered 21 below zero. AP correspondent Tom Stone said an overcast all but hid the 17th regiment and the 31st "Polar Bear" regiment.

Sleds and oxcarts carried heavy weapons and equipment through the mountain roads north of Pungsan.

Red mortars opened up on the troops three hours after they started the march toward Kapsan, 15 miles northwest. Other 7th division patrols reached the Pujan reservoir, 35 miles southwest of Pungsan, without seeing the enemy.

Beat Off Attack

On the snow-covered hills of the east coast, the South Korean Capital Division beat off a tankled North Korean attack with the help of the eight-inch guns of the U.S. cruiser Rochester and the rockets of U.S. Marine planes.

A U.S. 10th corps spokesman said the battle left the South Koreans secure in their positions on the Orangchon river, 90 miles south of the Soviet border.

Forty miles to the west, another unit of the capital division plodded through six inches of snow

Filthy Quarters In Korea Remind Veterans of Italy

PUSAN, Korea, Nov. 14 (CP)—The Canadian advance party of the special brigade is bunked down in this dirty corner of the world.

The 350 men have taken over a couple of old school buildings on the side of a hill overlooking this city, about the size of Saint John, N.B.

The barracks are as far as possible away from the filth of the streets and open sewers. One of the first jobs was to clean the buildings thoroughly before installing the kitchen, showers and so on.

At the top of a steep hill, past an old stone gate, sits the former school building. When the Canadians moved in, there were cots and that was all. There were no lights, drinking water or heat of any kind. There were holes in the floor and panes missing from the windows.

The latrine was a primitive, open building near the barracks. The stench from it was indescribable. The medical officer blew his top when he took a look, ordered an immediate overhaul.

Still, the Canadians say they've got better than they had bargained for. They had thought they would be sleeping on a dirt floor, hadn't counted on wooden floors and cots. And most of them had seen as bad in Italy.

Pte. Ed. Prichard of Montreal said: "The last war was a mutton war. This is a weiner war."

During the last week on the ship, the troops got weiners several times. That was their first meal ashore, too.

The Americans fed the Canadians until they got their own kitchen set up. The first meal was ready and waiting when the men reached their barracks. The menu: weiners, tomato sauce, carrots, string beans, fruit cocktail, cherries, brown or white bread, chili sauce, vinegar, peanut butter. That night the men got ham, soy beans, asparagus, macaroni and cheese, peaches.

Many Pray In Quebec After Crash

Province Shocked At Disaster, Many Friends Lost

MONTREAL, Nov. 14—(CP)—Candles burned today in scores of Quebec churches, in big cities and tiny villages, as anxious relatives and friends said prayers for the safety of nearly 50 Roman Catholic pilgrims from the province who were aboard a Canadian airliner which crashed in the French Alps Monday.

Throughout the province there was a sense of shock as details piled up concerning what may prove to be the worst air crash involving Canadians in history.

The DC-4 airliner, called the "Canadian Pilgrim," was carrying 51 passengers and seven crew members from Rome to Paris on the first leg of their homeward trip from Holy Year celebrations in Vatican City. Many of the passengers had an audience with the Pope before they took off Monday.

Prime Minister St. Laurent, in Montreal to make a speech tonight, set the note of anxiety for residents of Quebec. The Prime Minister, a devout Roman Catholic, a native of Quebec City and a graduate of Laval University there, kept in close touch Monday night with the Canadian Press for details. He expressed the fear that some of his friends might have been aboard the plane.

Most of the passengers came from Quebec City or neighboring towns and villages.

The pilgrims came from such little villages as St. Gregoire de Montmorency and St. Philippe de Neri, and from big cities like

Chemical Plant Has Explosion

LINDEN, N.J., Nov. 14 (AP)—A tongue of blue flames shot 100 feet into the air as an explosion shook the huge E. I. Du Pont De Nemours plant here Monday night, but only minor injuries were reported.

The blast shook houses and broke windows in Elizabeth, five miles away. It was heard as far as Brooklyn, 10 miles across New York Bay from here.

A plant foreman said an ammonia tank blew up on the second floor of one of the buildings of the sprawling heavy chemical plant. The explosion buckled the walls and crumbled plaster.

Although a full night shift of several hundred workmen was in the area, only a few minor cuts and bruises resulted.

Want Investigation Into City Finances

SUDBURY, Nov. 14 (CP)—City council Monday night voted for provincial investigation into the financial affairs of all city boards, commissions and administrative bodies, although Alderman E. A. Whissell pointed out that two petitions from ratepayers were already in the hands of the Minister of Municipal Affairs and that such an investigation would take place anyway.

The motion to request the investigation was introduced by Mayor W. S. Beaton. It referred directly to the disappearance of $1,198 from the City Treasurer's office in September, and asked the investigation in view of the fact that police, auditors and insurance adjustor's investigations had not disclosed the whereabouts of the money.

During the hour-long discussion argument raged over the mayor's previous charges that the investigation proposal was "politics."

"What I can't understand is the attitude of His Worship who was so opposed to this proposal, and who now presents this motion," Ald. W. B. Martin said. "It's just as political now as it ever was."

Rescue Party Finds Plane Wreckage But No Survivors

Believe Aircraft Struck Mountain Peak In Blinding Snowstorm, Transport Completely Disintegrated

GRENOBLE, France, Nov. 14—(CP)—An Alpine rescue party which climbed some 8,000 feet up Mont L'Obiou to the wrecked airliner "Canadian Pilgrim" found no survivors among the 58 persons aboard, it was announced officially tonight.

A terse radio message received from the party battling rain and sleet on the Alpine peak said: "No survivors."

Rescue operations were then called off for the day in the face of worsening weather conditions.

The first rescuer to reach the scene reported "nothing left but pieces of bodies."

The rescuer, a French Army Alpine troop general, Valette Dosia, reported by radio that the plane broke into pieces and that bits of bodies and parts of metal were scattered over a 500-yard area.

Plane Strikes Mountain At Top Speed

He said the plane had dug into the rocky face of the mountain at full power.

The bodies were covered by a light blanket of snow.

Rescue organizers here began preparing to remove the bodies from their lofty resting place at the first light tomorrow.

The big plane, carrying French-Canadian Holy Year Pilgrims home from Rome, crashed into the side of the French Alps mountain in a blinding snowstorm Monday night. It was the first disaster involving Holy Year Pilgrims.

Rescue teams, who had toiled upward throughout the night battling snowdrifts along the way, sighted the wreckage this morning through a hole in the clouds that cap the 8,500-foot peak. They were standing at a spot called "The Cross of the Pigne" when the clouds lifted.

Guides Report Aircraft Completely Destroyed

A radio message received from the guides said: "The airplane seems to be completely destroyed.

'The wreckage of the fuselage is scattered in a mass of fallen earth at the foot of the north wall of Mont L'Obiou at a spot looking over the Isere river."

A gendarme said the plane had apparently hit the top of the mountain and distintegrated in the air. There was no chance of any survivors, he said. Human remains were scattered all over the northern slope.

The plane was on its way to Montreal from Rome via Paris when it struck. It was carrying 13 Roman Catholic priests, 12 of them Canadians. Nearly all of the 38 laymen among the passengers were from Quebec province. The entire crew of seven were Canadians.

Photographs of the Pope, who had blessed the pilgrims shortly before they took off from Rome after weekend beatification ceremonies of a Canadian nun, were found scattered in a forest several miles from the crash scene—apparently carried by mountain gales.

Discover Scraps of One Pilgrim's Diary

Scraps of a diary written by one of the pilgrims told of the audience with the Pope and of reciting the Rosary imploring the mercy of Heaven before boarding the plane.

A trail of yellow in the snow, probably oil, marked the slithering fall of the shattered plane after it first struck the mountain.

"We saw the wreck as the fog lifted for a brief moment," one of the rescue party reported.

In case there should be any survivors, stretcher bearers from Grenoble, 30 miles from the foot of the mountain, stood by. Five ambulances were also brought from neighboring villages.

Roger Guillevin, of the French Tourist Agency which handled the pilgrims' trip to Rome, said, in Paris that the Canadian pilgrims still remaining in Rome "now insist on going home by boat."

The Canadian plane, christened "The Canadian Pilgrim" when it was blessed in Montreal last spring, had safely made 30 round trips between Rome and Montreal.

Mountain Guides Find Scattered Wreckage

The wreckage, with the bodies scattered about on the mountainside, was found by mountain guides at 1 p.m. (8 a.m. EST), 14 hours after the plane disappeared in a flash of fire 30 miles south of this town in southeastern France last night.

The wreckage was about 85 miles from the spot where an Indian Constellation crashed less than two weeks ago with 48 East Indian seamen and crew. None of the bodies of the 48 lost in the Constellation crash has been removed because of the hazardous terrain.

In the case of the Canadian airliner, guides expressed belief the bodies could be brought down to the valley.

The passengers, 13 of them Roman Catholic clergymen, had been received by the Pope a few hours before the plane left Rome. The Pope, when informed of the disaster, isolated himself in the Vatican Chapel to pray for the victims. Tears were streaming down the Pontiffs' face when he left his court officials.

Most of the pilgrims were from Montreal, Quebec City, and villages fringing the St. Lawrence River. One was an American.

The DC-4 was chartered from the Cartierville, Que., firm to fly the pilgrims between Montreal and Rome.

6 Championships Given At Royal

TORONTO, Nov. 14 (CP) — The wraps are off today on the 22nd Royal Winter Fair with its 26 acres of everything a Canadian farmer grows or raises.

A mixture of post-graduate agriculture course, old home week, Roman holiday and world fair, the "Royal" is set to have about 400,000 persons click its turnstiles before the cows go home Nov. 22.

It was preparation day Monday, but seed show judges didn't let any grass grow. They announced four of the six world championships the fair awards—a day before it officially opened.

Albert Kessel of Rosetown, Sask., brought additional fame to his 480-acre farm—which he calls Vimy Ridge in memory of the battle in the First World War in which he served—60 miles southwest of Saskatoon.

The 1949 rye champion was second best in this division this year, but he won the world's barley crown with a sample of Hannchen, a two-rowed barley, and also a grand championship in flax—this is not a world title—on a Redwing sample.

He was succeeded as rye champion by Chris Morck of Dicksen, Alta., a newcomer to championship competition, who exhibited a sample of prolific spring rye.

The world championship in corn was awarded for a second straight year to E. W. Doubet of Hanna City, Ill., and Arthur Budarick of Palmer Rapids, Ont., kept the potato crown in Ontario by succeeding Theodore Despatie of Hanmer as 1950's best spud producer.

Car Hits Truck

A $100 collision resulted Monday on Highway 7, two miles north-west of the city, when a car driven by B. J. Corcoran, RR 2, Scarborough, ran obliquely into a dump truck.

The dump truck driven by D. LaFonte, Auburn St., was hauling earth used in repairing the shoulder of the highway. The truck driver pulled to the centre of the road preparatory to backing into the shoulder.

Corcoran, who was following close behind, thought the truck was going to turn into the gasoline station on the left-hand side of the highway. Instead the truck moved right and the front bumper caught Corcoran's car as it tried to pass, damaging it to the extent of $75.

Provincial Constable J. R. Pollard investigated.

U.N. To Forget Tibet Appeal

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Nov. 14—(AP)—Tibet's appeal for United Nations assistance to repel Chinese Communist invaders appears headed for the "file and forget" cabinet. No U.N. member seems willing to shoulder the responsibility of sponsoring Tibet's plea in the Security Council. Since the remote Himalayan theocracy is not a member, it cannot present the plea directly. The two governments most directly concerned—India and Nationalist China—both take the attitude that Tibet is a part of China and therefore the conflict is a civil war not subject to U.N. jurisdiction.

Although both countries are highly opposed to the Communists' use of force against the 3,000,000 people in the mountain land, they feel that the legal niceties prevent interference.

Too Busy

The United States has not yet studied the communication from Tibet's finance minister, Tsepon Shakabpa, to Secretary-General Trygve Lie, but its representatives give the impression that it is much too engrossed in the Korean campaign to take on the main burden of a new war.

Elsewhere in the UN, the question of Chinese representation in the world body is likely to be brought in the general assembly this week.

The president, Nasrollah Entezam of Iran, is expected to act under a Canadian resolution passed by the assembly's session. The Canadian resolution provided for a special committee of seven members to consider the question of Chinese representation and to report to the general assembly with its recommendations.

Under the Canadian resolution the committee would be nominated by the president and confirmed by the general assembly.

The Canadian resolution was adopted after the assembly had defeated an Indian resolution calling for the seating of the Communist China delegation immediately.

Venezuela Closes Borders As President Assassinated

CARACAS, Venezuela, Nov. 14—(AP)—Venezuela closed her borders today and suspended civil liberties following the assassination Monday of her acting president, Lt.-Col. Carlos Delgado Chalbaud. A dusk-to-dawn curfew was clamped on the oil-rich country's 4,000,000 population after the government announced that Delgado, head of a three-man military Junta which seized control of Venezuela in 1948, had died of gunshot wounds.

(The Venezuelan Embassy in Bogota announced Monday night that Delgado has been surrounded by a score of men while driving from his home to the presidential house, and taken to a building on the eastern outskirts of Caracas, where six bullets were pumped into his body.

(An embassy spokesman said Rafael Simon Urbina had led the attack, and had been arrested with five or six other men. The spokesman said a state of siege had been imposed in Venezuela and that foreigners had been warned not to mix in the situation.

Curfew restrictions prevented the filing of news dispatches from Caracas Monday night.

Have No Details

The first announcement of the slaying, broadcast to the country by Defence Minister Marcos Perez Jimenez, one of the two surviving members of the Junta, gave no details of the attack.

Delgado led the bloodless coup of Nov. 24, 1948, which toppled the leftist regime of Romulo Gallegos, whose action Democratica party had swept the polls 11 months earlier. Delgado, Perez Jiminez and Lt. Col. Luis Felipe Llovera Paz became the ruling junta.

The Venezuelan legation in Havana Monday night made public a cable containing the text of Perez Jiminez' announcement. The defence minister pledged that order would be maintained and the killers would be punished.

Ban On Egg Imports Lifted By Ottawa

OTTAWA Nov. 14 (CP) — The agriculture department Monday announced immediate lifting of the ban against importation of eggs, poultry carcasses or parts of carcasses.

The ban will continue to apply against importation of live poultry.

The ban against the importation of live poultry, eggs and raw poultry carcasses was imposed last July 11 following a serious outbreak of Newcastle disease among poultry flocks in British Columbia. Many flocks were destroyed in an effort to halt the spread of the disease.

Since then, the situation has improved sufficiently to permit imports of poultry eggs and carcasses.

Quebec and Montreal. There were nearly a dozen priests aboard and one was a noted scholar and former Dean of the Faculty of Canonical Law at Laval University, Quebec.

Provincial Treasurer Onesime Gagnon missed the plane at Rome by five minutes. "My God, my God! I knew many of them on that plane!" chied his cabinet colleague, Game and Fisheries Minister Camille Pouliot, when informed in Rome of the disaster.

The two ministers represented the Quebec government at last week's beatification of Marguerite Bourgeoys, famed Canadian founder of the centuries-old religious order of the Congregation of Notre Dame.

Officials of Curtiss Reid Airtours, Ltd., of Cartierville, Que., owners of the "Canadian Pilgrim," worked far into the night compiling a list of passengers aboard the plane, which had made 30 round-trip flights to Rome with pilgrims since last April.

Roman Catholic church dignitaries and congregations throughout the province expressed shock at the reports of the crash, and special prayers and masses were planned throughout the province.

Rescue Party Finds Plane Wreckage

The pilgrims had gone to Rome for the beatification ceremony last Sunday of Marguerite Bourgeoys, who founded the Order of the Sisters of Our Lady in the Canadian wilderness 300 years ago. The ceremony, last beatification of the Holy Year, attracted 1,200 Canadian Roman Catholics, including several bishops and scores of priests.

Prominent Clergymen Aboard Aircraft

Ranking clergyman aboard the plane was Msgr. J. Alderville Bureau, formear Dean of the Faculty of Canonical Law at Laval University, Quebec.

Another prominent Quebec citizen listed was Ulysse Demers, Professor of Pharmacy at Laval.

The pilot was listed as Orville Alfred Ohmstead, 28, of Montreal. His co-pilot was Robert James Henderson of Willowdale, Ont.

Also listed on a manifest for the "Canadian Pilgrim" was Romano Mocchuitti, described as a member of the Apostolic delegation at Ottawa. Ottawa sources, however, said he was not on the staff. The Apostolic delegate himself, Msgr. Ildebrando Antonuitti, was reported safe in Rome.

Five Minutes Too Late For Plane

Onsime Gagnon, Quebec Provincial Treasurer, missed the flight when he arrived at the airport five minutes late. His Cabinet colleague, Fisheries Minister Camille Pouliot, when awakened in his Rome hotel room, said: "My God, my God. I knew many of them on that plane."

The big Skymaster took off from Rome's Ciampino airport for Paris on the first leg of their home-bound flight at 2:15 p.m. (8:15 a.m. EST) Monday. It was due at Orly airport, Paris, at 7:25 p.m. Orly received no word from it.

Witnesses at St. Etienne, north of Mont L'Obious, and Corps, said they heard two explosions and saw flames leap up from the mountainside at about 5.30 p.m. They calculated the plane hit south of the village of La Croix de Pigne, a region beset by fogs and rain in summer and heavy snow in winter.

From Paris, it was reported, the Canadian pilgrims were originally to have flown home in a Trans-World Airlines plane rather than the private charter plane which crashed, a tourist agency spokesman said today.

Roger Guillevin, of the French Tourist Agency which arranged the pilgrimage, said the Canadian government would not allow them to use the TWA plane.

"We wanted the party to fly TWA," Guillevin said. "But the Canadian government would not give permission for an airplane of this company to land in Montreal. They said we must use a Canadian plane."

Ottawa government aviation officials said today it was possible that a Trans-World Airlines plane was refused permission to bring the Holy Year pilgrims to Montreal.

If that was so, a spokesman said, it was because of an international understanding that permission for non-scheduled flights go first to airlines of the two countries between which the flight is to be made—in this case, Canada and Italy.

Kiddies' Night Staged For 100

Well past their bedtimes, 100 boys and girls headed for home Monday night, sleepy-eyed but happy. It was the climax to several hours of fun and organized entertainment—the annual Lions Club Kiddies' night.

Once a year the Lions forget their service club business and their usual "stag" entertainment and put on a spread for the children. Bachelors are expected to bring a relative's or neighbor's child.

There was all the ice cream and candy that good judgment (on the part of the elders) would allow. And when the happy chore of eating was over the kiddies found that a full program of rollicking fun had been organized by Donald Lawless, chairman of the Boys' and Girls' committee.

Ted Bradshaw, the Peterborough magician, assisted by his wife, made some of the youthful eyes fairly pop as he pulled squirming rabbits and colored hankies out of a tall silk hat. There was the odd youthful sceptic, too, but everbody—including the subdued fathers—enjoyed the show.

Alex Sinclair, recreation director, was in charge of competitive games. Sooner or later everybody had a prize. Each boy and girl went home from the Kawartha Golf and Country Club with a large shopping bag chock full of scribblers, pencils, rulers, and—best of all—comic books.

Yes, it was lots of fun, but the fathers are just as glad that Kiddies' Night is all over for another year.

Man Convicted Of Killing Dog

COBOURG, Nov. 14 (ENS)—Gerald Collins, 25-year-old Campbellford man, pleaded guilty yesterday in police court to a charge of unlawfully killing a dog owned by John Burnam of Campbellford on June 18. Police Chief George Hardy of that town said his investigation indicated that the dog had been tortured, butchered and then thrown in the river where it was found some days later.

"It was one of the kindest dogs you would ever want; everybody's pet," said Chief Hardy. "The dog was seen near the Collins home the day it disappeared. It was found in the river on June 21 with a four inch cut across its nose and its throat slashed. My investigation showed that the accused had enticed the animal into his place, tortured it, then butchered it and threw it in the river," said the chief.

'Is there anything you want to say? the magistrate asked Collins.

"The dog was always in the house. The dog was in the woodshed that day and I happened to slep on him and he bit me on the wrist so I took a knife and killed him," said Collins.

Magistrate Baxter remanded Collins for sentence.

Collins is also charged with housebreaking in Campbellford, assaulting Joseph Brethour, age 52 of that town, occasioning actual bodily harm; theft of a bicycle from Brethour and common assault against Mrs. Brethour and her 15-year-old daughter. It is said that Collins came to the Brethour house August 6 and caused a disturbance. He was picked up recently in Montreal.

Honey Business

In a letter printed elsewhere on this page, Mr. T. H. Shield, general manager of the Ontario Honey Producers Co-operative, outlines the present position of beekeepers in the Canadian economy and suggests reasons for having a marketing scheme to bolster the industry. It was our report and subsequent editorial comment on Mr. Shields remarks on the subject to the Central Ontario Beekeepers' Association meeting in Peterborough which touched off a controversy on the matter. We are glad to have Mr. Shields' clarification of his remarks and to know that Ontario beekeepers, unlike those in Saskatchewan who already have a marketing scheme, do not wish to interfere directly with the 'importation' of honey from other provinces. However, if such a honey marketing control as Mr. Shield suggests does come into existence in Ontario, it must, to be effective, regulate the wholesale price of honey coming in from other provinces. If the wholesale price of Ontario honey is fixed higher than the price from other provinces, retailers would buy Manitoba or Quebec honey entirely and put the Ontario beekeeper out of business. Therefore, any Ontario marketing scheme must be made to apply to other province's honey. Our chief concern in this matter is that provincial authorities may, through such devices, be building tariff walls around the various provinces, disregarding the fact that Canada is one country, not ten.

• • •

Ontario beekeepers are obviously looking for ways and means of improving their position and increasing their profits. In the last two years they have fallen on relatively hard times. In these years honey production and prices have not increased as in other products. According to figures supplied by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, the 1939 total honey production in Canada was 34,376,100 pounds. It rose to 39,376,100 pounds in 1943 and then fell off to a low of 23,975,000 in 1946. Production rose again in 1947 to 37,078,000 pounds and to a high of 45,145,000 in 1948. It fell off again last year to 33,204,000, and prospects for this year are even worse.

• • •

Prices have something to do with the amount produced. If prices are high one year the likelihood is that there will be an attempt to increase production the next, in anticipation of getting the same high price. For instance, in 1947 the average price of a pound of bulk honey paid the beekepers was 25 cents. So next year there was a bumper crop, but the price fell off to 21 cents. Last year there was a very heavy drop—to 16 cents a bulk pound. It is this which is worrying the beekeepers. We cannot agree with Mr. Shield, however, when he says: "In the period 1947-49 the price of honey has declined to such an extent that the return received by the beekeeper was in most cases lower than they received just prior to World War Two." Beekeepers got only 8.6 cents a pound for their bulk honey in 1939. The price rose constantly thereafter (in later war years under wartime prices control), to 18 cents a bulk pound in 1946. Then came the bonanza for honey-producers, for in 1947 the price jumped as we have noted, to 25 cents. It must be this high price which the beekeepers have their eyes on.

• • •

Mr. Shield regrets, as we do, the decrease in production. However, that decrease is not entirely due to the lower prices paid for honey. It is due quite markedly to higher prices which farmers can get for their other products. It is also due to this fact; Ontario farmers have reduced the acreage of alfalfa and clover, which are the chief nectar-producing plants. It is considered that the decline in production in Ontario, the chief honey producer, is the direct result of this trend. However, western farmers have increased their acreage of alfalfa and clover. Thus more honey is being produced in the West. It is this threat of strong competition from Western honey which may be disturbing Ontario beekeepers.

• • •

High as our respect is for beekeepers and their product, we dislike artificial tinkering with prices and production levels. Our economy is in theory based on free enterprise and regulated by the law of supply and demand. We distrust in principle price-fixing and marketing controls, even though prices are fixed and marketing schemes are operative in many products of Canadian industry and agriculture. Will a honey marketing scheme in Ontario induce farmers to sow more alfalfa and clover? Will it increase production and preserve bees for the job of pollination? If honey prices are set at, say 25 cents a pound to the producer (a probable retail price of 30-35), will the consumers stop buying honey and thus kill the industry, despite marketing control efforts to revive it? The 1947 price of 25 cents was 300 per cent. higher than the 1939 price. Even last year, which honey-producers found so black, they were getting twice as much a pound as they did in 1939. Most food prices have not doubled or tripled, as honey has done, since 1939. Honey producers have a problem on their hands but we are not convinced that a marketing scheme is the best way to meet it.

Keeping It Out Of The Paper

The lamentable story of the kidnapping of a Santa Fe child had two happy aspects. First, the child was retrieved alive and the kidnapper nabbed; secondly, the New Mexican, Santa Fe's newspaper, showed that it could keep a good story under cover in the interests of the safety of the child.

The New Mexican knew about the ransom note, and the place appointed for the rendezvous. But to have blurted out this information, or to have had a covey of reporters and photographers lying in wait would have foiled the police plans and endangered the child's life. So the editor of the newspaper did as follows: "I hurried back to the office and gathered every one who had heard the word 'kidnap' behind a locked door. They vowed to keep quiet, to stay away from the contact spot named in the ransom note, and promised solemnly to stay sober until the secret was out".

What a very thorough, even drastic, extraction of promises it was. Every newspaper worth its ears hears much more than it prints, but most do not have to go to such lengths to keep a story under cover. For instance, we on this paper have right now several secrets under our belts—nothing as important as a kidnapper's rendezvous, of course, but nevertheless vital. We know exactly the spot where three deer can be had for the shooting. There is an elk there, too. We were told in strict confidence. Everybody in the newsroom knows about it. But do we have to swear everybody to secrecy and sobriety? Not at all. The word goes out: Keep it quiet. And it is kept quiet. As simple as that. Not one of our reporters has gone up to take pot shots for steaks.

Something New In Movies

The movie industry of Hollywood recently asked a man celebrated for his ability to gauge public opinion to explain the falling-off in movie attendance which has been observable during the past five years. His report was that most people stopped going to the movies regularly after they reached the age of thirty, and that this was because the movies as they are made at present do not appeal to adult minds. The reason why the movies are so juvenile in story and treatment, he said, was that the Production Code drawn up many years ago by the Hays Office would not permit them to be anything else.

Hollywood, in its trouble, might be wise to take a long look at two films which have come from English studios during the past year; they are Quartette and Trio, both made from stories by Somerset Maugham; the first includes film versions of four of his short stories, and second three of the same. Both films have been widely successful, for obvious reasons: the stories are good, the acting is good, and the stories have not been stretched beyond their natural length.

It may come as a surprise to some people to learn that a story has a "natural" length, but it is so. If a story is compressed to less than this length it is unsatisfactory; if it is dragged out beyond its natural length it becomes dull. Hollywood drags out too many of its stories to lengths which they cannot successfully sustain.

Another point to be observed is that in the Maugham films the intention of the author has been honoured; his story has been made into a film as nearly as possible the way he wrote it. This should be a lesson to Hollywood, which does not trust authors, and seems to think that the more writers it has at work on a film the better the story will be. It seems logical, however, to suppose that when a master story-teller like Maugham has given us a story, nobody around a film studio is going to be able to improve on it.

Perhaps shorter and better films is the answer to the Hollywood problem.

The Eskimo language is said to contain no words suitable for insult. The ideal world language, obviously.

How Strong Are U.S. Communists?

By KENNETH HARRIS

IF you asked an intelligent American for "the facts" about Communism in the U.S.A., he would probably laugh and say that it was exactly because nobody knows the facts and there has been the current anti-Red hysteria.

◇ ◇ ◇

SOME facts however do exist. In the first place the American public knows the numbers and distribution of the Communist Party. Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, told a Congressional Committee last February that there are 54,174 members of the Communist Party in the United States. Their distribution, he said, was as follows: New York State 25,000 (10,000 people attended a Communist rally in New York City earlier in the year); California 6,977; Illinois 3,361; Pennsylvania 2,879; Ohio 2,834; Michigan 1,250; Massachusetts 1,022; Nevada 23; Wyoming 10; Tennessee 27; Alabama 141, New Hampshire 43.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE great bulk of the Communists are thus in New York City around Los Angeles and Chicago. Add a few for the industrial cities in Ohio and Pennsylvania, between the East Coast and the Middle West, and there are practically none unaccounted for. Mr. Hoover reported that 48 per cent. of America's Communists were employed in basic industry.

◇ ◇ ◇

MR. Hoover also provided some other facts about the Communists. He said that party cards were now no longer issued, that Communists had secret printing works in different parts of the country, that they identified each other by secret signs and spoke in special language which seemed innocent to the bystander but had a double meaning. Mr. Hoover did not, of course, provide evidence to support all he said, but it is assumed that he would have said nothing which was not supported by the F.B.I.'s famous secret files. His most striking statement was that for every member of the party there are ten other non-members "Ready, able and willing to do the party's bidding", a potential fifth column of half a million.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE Communists have been operating not only through the Communist Party, but through various "fronts" which they have dominated and directed, often without this being suspected by many non-Communist members of the organizations. In 1947 the Attorney-General published a list of "subversive" groups. There were 300 organizations on his original list—including, for instance, the Gerhardt Eisler Defence Committee, Friends of the Soviet Union, the National Committee to win the Peace, Daughters of the American Depression, and, later, the American Slav Congress. The list was cut down to 90 before it was published in late 1947. It has been further reduced, and is now between 30 and 40.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE trial of eleven New York Communists for conspiracy, Judith Coplon's trial for espionage, Alger Hiss's trial for perjury—the Amerasia case (the editors of the "Amerasia" magazine were found in possession of confidential Government documents), the Lattimore Case (Professor Owen Lattimore, Far Eastern agent who had at one time been adviser to the State Department was accused by Senator McCarthy of being a Communist—a charge which he publicly refuted)—these and other cases have given many Americans the idea that Communists have been successful in penetrating the whole Federal Government.

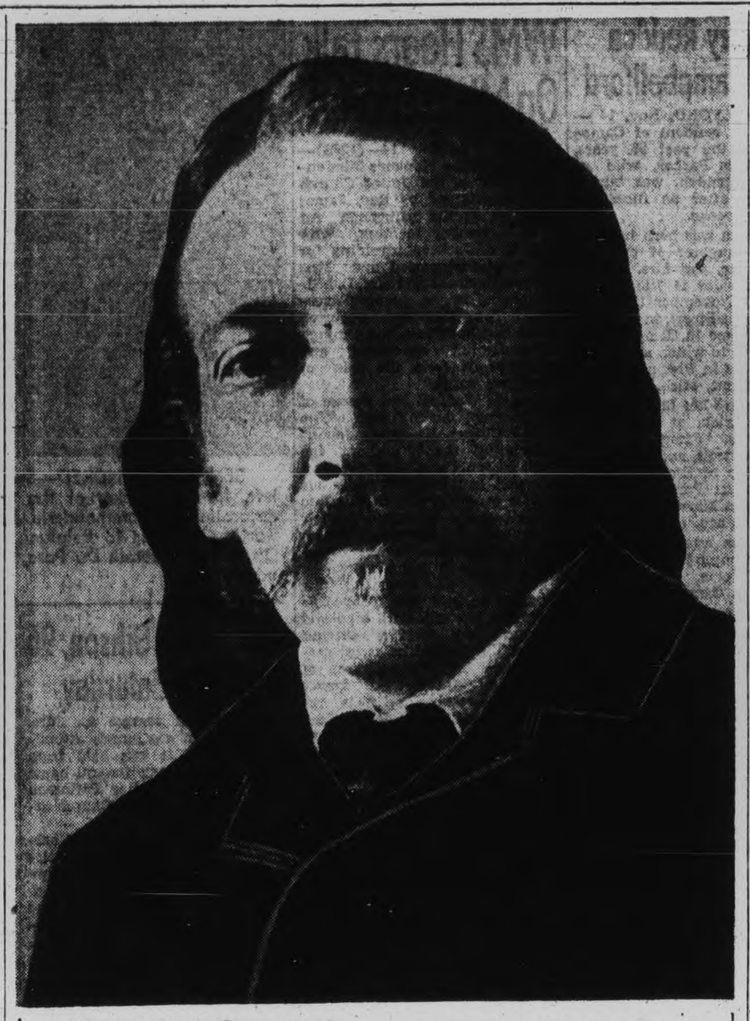
IT has to be remembered, however, that what with trials, re-trials, appeals and re-appeals of the same case, the number of people actually involved in espionage or Communist cases seems much greater than it is. They are, in fact, only a handful. Senator McCarthy roused the whole nation when early this year he announced first that over 200, later that 81, members of the State Department were Communists. A special committee investigated his charges and found that he was completely wrong about this. The facts are that nearly three million Federal employees of all departments were screened by the Federal Loyalty Review Board between autumn 1947 and the end of 1949. In January of this year, Mr. Richardson, the chairman of this board said that of these three million 10,359 had been turned over to the F.B.I. for further examination. Later 139 of these were dismissed.



◇ ◇ ◇

MANY people have been very concerned about the positions which the Communists have attained within the trades unions in the United States. A number of books have appeared, mostly written by ex-Communists, describing their methods of dominating meetings and rigging majorities. Some unions, like the United Electrical Workers Union is considered to be Communist-led. The facts, so far as actual strength goes are indicated by the results of anti-Red purges carried out by the C.I.O. (Congress of Industrial Organizations) this year. When in September the C.I.O. announced the end of the purges, it said that they had cost it eleven unions and a million of its six million members. The long-term effect of Communist propaganda on industrial workers is not easy to determine. The circulation of the Daily Worker and its allied publications, however, is less than 20,000 and is thought to be declining.

THE Americans are particularly upset in a special way by their feeling that the Communists are dominated not only by the international Communist movement but by Russian nationalism. In 1947 the F.B.I. investigated the activities of 4,984 "militant" Communists. It was noted that 2,202 of these, or 44 per cent., were of Russian stock, that is born of Russian parents, having a Russian parent or—in the case of eleven per cent.—married to a Russian. Another 614 or 12.5 per cent. came from or were of stock from countries adjacent to Russia. Less than two per cent. of the whole American population is of Russian stock, while 44 per cent. of the F.B.I.'s top suspects were Russian. The comparative dominance of Russian stock in the party, therefore, seems to have been proved. This fact, perhaps, more than any other, has given public reaction against the Communists its emotional and nationalistic character.

(Special to The Examiner from the London Observer.)

Robert Louis Stevenson, the author of "Treasure Island," was born in Edinburgh on the 13th November, 1850. He died, exiled by ill-health to the island of Samoa, in 1894, leaving behind him on his desk the magnificent and half-finished novel "Weir of Hermiston." Many critics think of it, incomplete though it as, as Stevenson's greatest work, and much speculation has been caused by the thought that Stevenson in the last months of his life seemed to have entered into a yet deeper level of his creative powers. Would Robert Louis Stevenson, if he had lived longer have given us novels of greater importance than any of those that are known so well?

Letter To The Editor

MR. SHIELD EXPLAINS REFERENCE TO ONTARIO HONEY-SALES SCHEME

Sir: I have today received a copy of your editorial of Friday, Nov. 3rd, entitled "Western Honey Menaces Ontario". In this editorial, there are a few impressions placed before the readers of your paper, that are far from being correct.

In the first place, I would like to point out that the Ontario Government is not presently contemplating the passing of any legislation, which will cut down the amount of honey imported from other provinces, or other countries. The reason being that they have not the power to do so. Matters of this nature are of purely Federal jurisdiction.

What is happening is that in Ontario, we have an Act under the title of "Farm Products Marketing Act." Under this Act any group of producers connected with agriculture can apply to set up a Marketing Scheme to regulate the sale of their product, produced within the province and sold within the province. To obtain such permission, all beekeepers, must receive a copy of this scheme, and sixty-six and two-thirds per cent. of those entitled to vote must return their ballots marked in favour.

To have the Marketing Scheme regulate the wholesale price level on honey coming from any other province, the Marketing Scheme must be acceptable under bill 82 of the Agricultural Products Marketing Act in Ottawa.

I would also like to draw to your attention, that your editorial leaves the impression, not only in its contents, but also by its heading, that this proposed Marketing Scheme is set up with the whole intention of keeping out of the Province of Ontario, Western honey. Such is not the case, and I would further state that such Marketing Schemes, as the one referred to, have originated and are in operation in certain provinces of Western Canada. Therefore, so far as honey is concerned, the idea did not originate in what you call, this sacred Province of Ontario.

All that the leaders of the honey industry in Canada are attempting to do by these Marketing Schemes is to try and provide the Canadian Beekeeper with sufficient return for his honey, that he is able to stay in business and keep on producing. It is true, that we might get along without honey, although it is an excellent food, but it is far more true, that we cannot get along in this Canada of ours without the beekeeper and his bees. The value of bees in pollination is so great that it is almost impossible to estimate. When you think 80% to 85% of our fruits and vegetables used in Canada are pollinated by the honey bees, and 70% to 80% of all legumes, also. We must grow legumes, first to produce the food for livestock to produce the beef, milk, butter, cheese, etc., and secondly, we must grow legumes to replace the loss of soil fertility, so that we may continue to produce wheat, oats and other grains that are self-pollinated. Thousands of years ago, the pollination was done almost entirely by the wild non-harmful, pollinating insects. Through the years, these wild pollinating insects have disappeared, because man has ripped up their natural habitats, with the promiscuous spraying of arsenicals, and latterly the predominant using of DDT. We now find ourselves in the position, that we shall have to depend on the honey bee more and more, as each generation comes and goes. In 1947 according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, we had 39,200 beekeepers, keeping 588,700 colonies. In 1949 we had 25,490 beekeepers, operating 496,150 colonies. In this same period the price of honey had declined to such an extent that the return received by the beekeeper was in most cases lower than those they received just prior to World War Two.

I am sure, Mr. Editor, no one has any real quarrel with the beekeeper or group of beekeepers, trying to obtain sufficient return from their honey to stay in business. I can assure you that if honey were included in the make-up of our cost of living index, it would play its part in reducing same, because there is no food, other than honey, that I know of, on which the price has fallen to practically pre-war levels. I feel sure also, that you do not really mean or hope that the beekeepers get stung, because they do quite often in their regular operations, but if they become stung too often and too severe from the economic point of view, they will have no other alternative but to discontinue keeping bees and if they do, then you, myself and thousands of others will suffer a great deal more.

Yours very truly,
T. H. SHIELD,
General Manager.

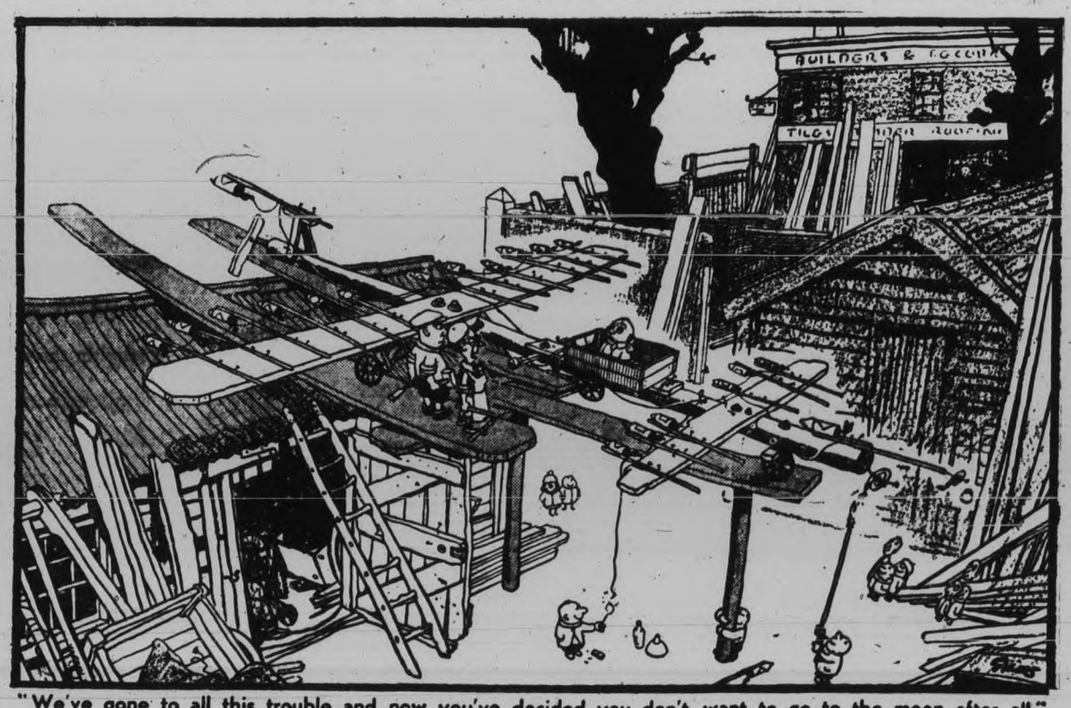
Sask. Honey-Marketing Scheme

(Ed. Note: In view of the local interest in the marketing of honey, and Mr. T. H. Shield's reference to the possibility of Ontario having a honey marketing scheme "such as are in operation in certain Provinces of Western Canada", we reprint here a Canadian Press account of November 1st of the controversy over the Saskatchewan honey marketing scheme, to which editorial reference was made on this page Wednesday.)

REGINA, Nov. 1 (CP)—A controversy over inter-provincial trade threatened to boil up today in connection with compulsory marketing powers of the Saskatchewan Honey Marketing Board.



In office for about a month, the board is controlling what is believed to be Canada's first compulsory, producers-controlled marketing scheme.

Today a spokesman for the board said it has power to force wholesalers to base their prices for Manitoba honey on the controlled Saskatchewan price.

The board's reaffirmation of its power to control prices of Manitoba honey comes in the face of numerous off-the-record opinions from lawyers and government officials that it has no such power.

Any attempt to control the wholesale price of honey imported into Saskatchewan from other provinces, it is said, is in restraint of trade between provinces and therefore illegal.

No test case has come before the courts.

Aluminum adds a plus to pancakes!

An "Inside Story" about Maple Syrup

1. Aluminum means a lot to your breakfast! Your griddle-cakes taste better with good maple syrup. And the best syrup is made from sap that is collected in aluminum pails.

2. Maple sap must be well-protected to preserve its delicate flavour. Farmers using aluminum pails find this "food-friendly" metal preserves colour, taste and flavour perfectly.*

3. Aluminum is used for tapping-pegs, containers and evaporators, too. The increasing use of aluminum in the industry means higher-quality syrup for you.

HINTS TO THE HOUSEWIFE

Natural minerals in food and water occasionally discolour aluminum utensils. Natural acids in foods remove the deposits. For example, the iron in spinach leaves a deposit on aluminum; the acid from tomatoes or rhubarb dissolves the deposit.

* Quebec farmers receive Federal and Provincial aid in replacing old-fashioned sap pails with aluminum pails. Modern aluminum containers fully conform to all pure-food laws.

Aluminum is friendly to food!

Secret Film Being Made In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 14 (AP).—Hollywood is making a picture behind guarded doors.

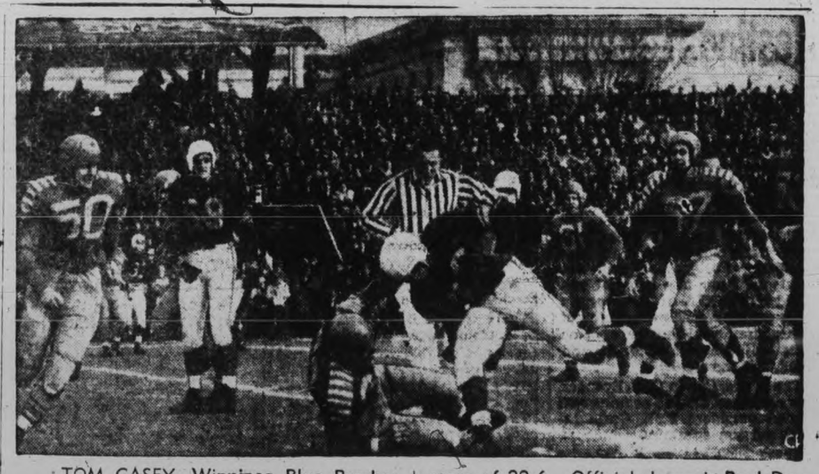
Does this sound familiar to you? Hollywood is often making secret pictures. The unkind might add that some of them should be kept a secret.

The latest picture to be made under atomic-plant security is called "The Thing." What is "The Thing?" Ah, that's why the picture is a secret.

I was the first outsider permitted on the set. Having signed my loyalty oath, I was ushered in.

The entire cast was recruited from unknowns. They were gathered in rapt attention around the thing that is "The Thing." To get onto the set, I had to agree not to describe the thing in print.

So that's what "The Thing" is. For some printable details, I consulted Howard Hawks, top-flight director of such works as "Red River" and "Air Force."



Science Fiction

"The story takes place near the North Pole," he related. "An American settlement, posted to watch for atomic attack, hears a big noise. An expedition goes out to see what it is. They discover a flying saucer from another planet and near it, 'The Thing.' The frozen 'Thing' is brought back and a careless soldier throws an electric blanket over it. This thaws it out and events start happening."

Hawks feels that science fiction offers a chance for Hollywood to escape the overworked plot formulas.

I asked Hawks why he chose an unknown cast.

"Because they are much more believable," he answered. "Besides, unknowns are much more fun to direct."

No Examination Before Fatal Bout

ANTIGONISH, N. S., Nov. 14 (CP).—Gillis MacKinnon, promoter of a fatal boxing match near here Nov. 4, testified at an inquest Monday there was no medical examination before the bout.

Alexander Chisholm, 24-year-old middleweight, died in hospital several hours after being knocked out in the second round of a scheduled six-rounder by Roy Sutherland. Both men weighed 150 pounds and hailed from nearby villages.

(Nova Scotia's two boxing commissions have jurisdiction over Halifax and industrial Cape Breton. There is no authority to regulate bouts in this area.)

The inquest was adjourned to Friday.

By the end of this week all rinks will have played two scheduled games and by that time we may be able to get a line on the players. One or two wins does not mean that you have won your group—it means that you have only started. It is those last few games of the schedule that really count.

There were no one-sided games in either section yesterday, and the honor of winning the first extra-end game goes to David Bell. M. Wells was his opponent.

Tonight Groups 3 and 4 play their first game.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Dot Millar has been re-elected treasurer of the Provincial Women's Softball Union, the 1950 slate of officers being returned for another year after a successful season. Mrs. Millar was a noted softballer herself years ago, and is one of the Mortimer family—all of whom went in for sports of one type or another. The three boys play hockey. She is the mother of Jim Millar, one of the Petes' defencemen this winter. The PWSU has inaugurated an intermediate "AA" section for places over 10,000 to include players past junior age who did not play intermediate "A" the previous year. Centres 3,500 to 10,000 can field intermediate "B" teams, those under being "C". Protest fee is up to $25.00 and the Union takes 10 per cent of playdown gates with a minimum of $5.00.

* * * * * *

OHA junior "B" hockey starts here for the 1950-51 season tomorrow eve at 8.30 in Civic Arena when Belleville Rockets play the IOOF-ers in a schedule fixture. Bun Kingdon has a fairly big, speedy squad of homebrews, but for Jim Morrow of Hastings, and he may still make some changes after the first fray or two. Just experimenting as yet. Both clubs have an NHL hookup. We think the Quinte one is with Chicago, while the Oddfellows are getting dough and equipment from Boston Bruins. No players as yet—but that'll come in another year. The team lost out in group finals last spring.

These Boys Will Start

These husky youngsters of 18 and 19 play a slambang and exciting style of rugged hockey, and their opener should draw a hefty crowd. It looks linke Red Wasson in goal (Rocky Batley is spare netter), with Dean Wasson and Jim Shearer on one defence for Triple Links. Army Armstrong and Don Clapper or Kimbal will form the other blue-line pair. One front line has Dean West, Bob Wyatt and Jim Morrow. Another has Ray Douglas, Ab Buckton and Lefty Doris. The Robinson brothers, Gary and Red, along with Bill Stewart, form the third firing line. It's a promising local pack and deserves plenty of fan support this puck campaign.

* * * * * *

You couldn't ask for better hockey or a tighter game this early part of the puck season than the senior "B" dish served up here last eve. And a packed arena lapped up the overtime OHA serving as offered by Petes and Eagles. A 2-2 touch and it could not have been arranged better if these teams were on friendly terms—which they aren't by a long shot. Though it wasn't unduly rough, both squads using their heads and trying hard for the win. They played fast, rugged but pretty clean hockey as three of the 14 penalties (seven a side) cost goals. And no one was hurt. 'Twas a dandy duel and neither team has been defeated yet, the Petes still being in first place because they've played more games.

Pair Of Top Tradesmen

Goalies Ross Nicholls and Ray Harding rate a bouquet for a grand chore, as they had their hands full. First the Eagles would carry the play, then the Petes would battle back to have an edge, and so it went. Some stiff checking and a bit of high sticking—as wel las a few threats at fights—but generally it was streamlined and even hockey. Looks like these top teams in the grouping are in for some hot old battles ere the schedule ends. They tackle each other here again Friday and that'll pack 'em in, too. Something will have to give soon, as neither side wants to settle for a draw. Bert Hill, Arn Dugan and several more turned in outstanding performances, along with the netters.

This week-end marks the end of the trail for PCVS senior and junior gridders this season, win, lose or draw. Bev Goulding's senior PCI-ers are off Saturday for St. Kitts and a sudden-death COSSA final. Alex Londry's junior Collegians take on Welland here Saturday in a COSSA sudden-death final. And that'll be that. A chap was pointing out this morn that four former Garnet and Grey footballers are in the backfield now for Queen's University, Sisson, McIlveen, Richardson and Griffin. A lot of good grid talent has been developed down the years at the local hall of learning—and the process continues.

Carpetball Loop Has Keen Games

Quaker's No. 4 were at home to Firemen No. 9 and the Quakermen made the Smoke-eaters like it in the first game to the tune of 20-5. Leading 6-0, they allowed the Treasurers to scratch a two but then came back with a big five to make it 11-2, the Smoke-eaters came back in the next two frames to make it 11-5 and with three ends left and only needing six to tie up, the Fire-Fighters fell before the energy displayed by the Full-O-Pep's team 9-0 in those last three frames. The second game was 4-0, then 5-2 in favor of Quakers when they faltered slightly and the Smoke-eaters tied it up in the seventh and then went ahead to lead going into the last frame 10-6, but the Full-O-Pep's team scored a three, just failing to take the second game 9-10.

King Billie was riding high on the White Charger when they entertained Legion No. 7 at the Orange Hall and swept both games 8-4 and 10-9. In the first game neither team scored over one ball in winning an end from their opponents; but the LOL No. 2 scored in more ends to take it 8-4, 12 points scored in a 12 end game; a swell game. In the second game, Legion No. 7 went ahead and kept ahead by holding King Billie to singles and scored higher when they took ends until the 10th frame when the Orange-squeezers scored a three and that proved sufficient to take the game as both teams scored singles in the last two frames.

The next match was one of high scores, especially the first game when the Southend Saints had as their guests Legion No. 5. The Saints really put on power plays and the Old Sweats could not fathom the play and went down to defeat 33-5. The second game was different, although the Saints went into the lead, the Old Sweats rallied and by the ninth frame were leading 11-5 when they faltered and the South-enders scored six in the last three ends to tie it up at 11-11.

There is no card turned in for the St. Luke's and Glen's game; also the SOE and Legion No. 3 game was postponed until this Monday.

The schedule for the week of November 20 will be: Legion No. 5 vs. Quaker's No. 4; Legion No. 3 vs. Fire Hall No. 9; St. Luke's No. 1 vs. Legion No. 7; SOE No. 8 vs. LOL No. 2; and St. George's No. 10 vs. Glens No. 6.

Entry fees are still owing. This year each member of a team is issued with a membership card for the season's play after he has paid his fee.

RANGER-BRUIN TRADE?

Possibility of a trade between New York Rangers and Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League was seen in New York today.

Boston coach Lynn Patrick arrived in town Monday and immediately went into a conference with Ranger manager Frank Boucher. Patrick coached the Rangers last year.

Both the Bruins and Rangers are mired in the lower regions of the standings. The Bruins are last with six points and the Rangers fifth with eight points. Both teams have won only one game.

New Member Second In Handicap Swim

Peter Wood, nine-year-old member of the YMCA's Swimming Club, swept the weekly handicap swim Monday night. A new member, Ross Reid, placed second in the 100-yard free style handicap swim while Jack Prest was third and Wilton Tranter fourth.

Coach Gord Minty said improvements in times for the event were made by Ted Spearin, Ross Reid, Bob Malby, Peter Wood, Jim Elliott, Ronald Cooper, Wilton Tranter, David Brockwell and Jack Prest.

New members out for the first time were Jack Morton, David Brockwell, Gerald Vincent, Ted Spearin, Ross Reid, Nickie Chaggares, Bob Hutton, Ronald Cooper and Jim Elliott.

Petes and Eagles Draw, 2-2 In First Meeting of Season

Putting on a playoff rehearsal at Civic Arena last night before a full house, the Petes and Eagles battled to a 2-2 overtime tie in thir first OHA senior "B" clash of the season. A crowd of 2,000 puck fans viewed a smart scrap for so early in the season between the two oldtime rivals, neither side having been defeated to date, the Petes playing six games and Eagles four.

It was fast hockey, pretty even throughout and at times rather rugged, though not unduly rough. Showing how even the tilt was, each side drew seven penalties. Eagles cashed in for two goals when the Petes were shy a man, and the Petes slapped home one with an Eagle in the sin bin. A few fights threatened but did not develop, though the checking was hard. Godfrey sat the game out as Jim Munroe of Toronto saw action for the Eagles.

Goalies Star

Both goalies starred in the low-scoring game, and both had to really step at times to save their citadel. Eagles had a margin on play in the first frame, the Petes came back to hold an edge in the middle heat and in the third, while Eagles pressed harder in the extra session. Each team in turn would dominate for a space and then slow down under the hard going. Referee Wilson of Oshawa kept a close check on play and didn't let it start to get out of hand at any time, the officiating being good.

For thist ime of year, it was good senior "B" hockey. Many neat plays originated back of the attacking side's blue line; built up smartly in the neutral zone and exploded in or around defence on goalie's doorstep. Usually they were fine bits of combination that taxed backchecking forwards and hustling defencemen as the two classy goalies kept on the jump. The roars of "oh's" and "ah's" testified to the crowd-pleasing action. With hard checking making the forwards keep their heads up.

How It Went

Vitarelli went off early for high sticking along with Wade, and Horton followed for hooking. Later Smith got it for using a high stick and then Wade for elbowing. One was back when Rochetta scored in close on his own rebound. Dugan was gated then for boarding. In the second, Davison was away for high-sticking when Eagles made it 2-0 as Hill slammed Crowley's corner passout. Shortly after, Dugan got one back on a neat in-close pass from Davison. Smith got the air for tripping and Dugan followed for a similar offence. Smith got back in time to draw another for holding, and later Garvey was waved over for interference. West went over in the third for high-sticking and Rochetta drew a similar penalty. He was off when Floyd blasted in a corner pass from Dugan to tie it. Neither side scored or drew a penalty in the overtime session.

Along with Harding, Millar and Dugan shone for the Jopling bunch. Besides Nicholls, Hill and Smith of the Magee crew, turned in a fine chore, but there were also plenty of other classy players showing on both teams.

Eagles Goal, Nicholls; defence, Burns and Montgomery; centre, Rochetta wings, Crowley and Vitarelli; alts., Parnall, Milne. F Mortimer Hill, Coombs, Munroe, Lalonde, and Smith.

Petes: Goal, Harding defence E Leonard and Davison; centre, Wade; wings, Dugan and, Floyd; alts., Ervia, Tompkins, G Leonard, West, Garvey, Collins, Horton and Millar.

Referee, W. Wilson; linesman, H. Payne.

Sullivan Tied For Second Spot

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (AP).—Ab Demarco, veteran playmaker of the Buffalo Bisons, is far ahead of the field in the race for individual scoring honors in the American Hockey League. In 16 games, the 34-year-old centre has scored 15 goals and assisted in 17 others for 32 points—an average of two points a game.

Last season, in 70 games, Demarco piled up 94 points to finish second behind Cleveland's Les Douglas, who tallied 100 points last year. Douglas now is in a six-way tie for 12th place with 17 points.

Demarco holds a nine-point edge over three rivals — Kelvin Burnett of Springfield, George Sullivan of Hershey and Jackie Gordon of Cincinnati, who have 23 points each.

Among the goaltenders, Pittsburgh's Gil Mayer is the leader with a goals-against average of 2.20. The five-foot-six netminder has allowed only 33 goals in 15 games. Harvey Bennett of Providence has the most shutouts, two.

Blue Bombers Win Series Will Contest Grey Cup

By AL VICKERY.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 14 (CP).—From last place to the top of the heap.

That's the jump Winnipeg Blue Bombers completed Monday as they knocked off Edmonton Eskimos 29-6 in the deciding game of the Western Football Union's best-of-three final at Osborne Stadium. Esks had won the first game 17-16, but Bombers came back Saturday to win 22-12 and force the final game.

Last year Winnipeg finished a poor last in the four-team league. Under coach Frank Larson for a second year, the 1950 Bombers bounced back easily to top the league standing. Then they sat back as Edmonton and Saskatchewan Roughriders battled for the other playoff berth.

Now the Bombers can sit back again and await their eastern opponent in the Grey Cup final at Toronto Nov. 25. Three teams — Toronto Argonauts, Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Toronto Balmy Beach—still are in the running in the east. Bombers' departure date is not yet set.

Display Power

Displaying power in every department Monday, Bombers took a 20-0 half-time lead, then coasted the remainder of the way. A solid Bomber line gave the backs good protection in the opening half, enabling them to run up their decisive margin. The forward wall then smashed through to stop the Edmonton attack before it got rolling in the last half.

Quarterback Indian Jack Jacobs, formerly of Green Bay Packers, topped Bombers' scoring parade with 13 points on two touchdowns and three deadline kicks. Tom Casey and Tommy Ford scored the other majors. Joe Aguirre converted three of the four touchdowns. He also accounted for three other points when placement attempts went wide or short and rolled to the deadline.

The Stukus brothers combined for Edmonton's six points—Bill scoring a touchdown in the third quarter, and coach Annis booting the convert.

March Down Field

There seemed little doubt as to the outcome after the first four minutes of play. Bombers marched downfield after taking the kickoff. In nine plays they were over the Eskimo goal line for a touchdown by Jacobs. Aguirre converted.

Before the first counter ended, Jacobs booted a 35-yard single; Aguirre's field goal attempt was wide for another point; and Casey plunged eight yards for a touchdown, converted by Aguirre.

With Jacobs calling a brilliant game from the T-formation, the Bombers made the only score in the second quarter. Jacobs went over from one yard out after Casey had moved the ball into scoring position with two brilliant off-tackle smashes. Aguirre again converted.

Statistics show that Bombers had a wide edge in the play in the first half, with Jacobs completing 10 of his 13 pass attempts for 103 yards. Four more were thrown in the last half, with three going incomplete and the other intercepted. Bombers moved the yardsticks 13 times in the first half, compared to Edmontons' five.

Edmonton made their best showing in the third quarter when they got their lone converted touchdown and had six first downs to Bombers' one. Their downfield attack was sparked by quarterback Lindy Berry, former passing ace for Texas Christian. He completed nine of 12 passes for 105 yards in the quarter.

Leafs Holding Nice Lead

MONTREAL, Nov. 14 (CP). — Toronto Maple Leafs today hold a comfortable lead in the National Hockey League standing, and no small credit is due centres Max Bentley, Cal Gardner and Ted Kennedy who hold down the three top scoring positions.

The Leafs, who have lost but two of the 14 games played to date, have 21 points, four more than the second-place Detroit Red Wings. Chicago Black Hawks trail the Wings by one point, with Montreal Canadiens coming next with 12. New York Rangers, with eight points, and Boston Bruins, with six, round out the standing.

In the individual scoring race Bentley picked up one goal and four assists last week to bring his point total to 19, five more than Gardner and Kennedy.

Makes Little Headway

Maurice Richard of Montreal, top goal scorer with nine markers to his credit, made little headway during the week and is tied for fourth spot with Tod Sloan of Toronto and Gordie Howe of Detroit with 13 points.

Toronto's Bentley also leads in the assists department, his 14 being four more than team-mate Kennedy has obtained.

The Leafs also dominate the shutout department. Turk Broda has blanked the opposition four times this year, two more than Gerry McNeil of Montreal and Terry Sawchuk of Detroit.

However, Sawchuk only allowed four goals in three games this week, giving him the best goals-against record in the league. In 12 games, the Detroit rookie has let 20 pucks get past him for an average of 1.67.

Toronto also holds the rather dubious record of being the most penalized team in the league with 157 minutes spent in the penalty box.

Say Don Oberholtzer Was Given Release

KITCHENER, Nov. 14 (CP). — Officials of the Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen said Monday that Don Oberholtzer was given his release weeks ago by a representative of the North Sydney Victorias.

They were replying to a claim by Maritime Amateur Hockey Association that Oberholtzer ignored a signed contract with the Victorias. The association is asking the CAHA to suspend the Kitchener-Waterloo forward.

Oberholtzer got into action last week for the first time this season after a tonsil operation. Manager Bob Bauer said today that the player had been signed for North Sydney by Howard (Swat) Mason, Ontario representative of the club.

Later, when the Flying Dutchmen decided to operate this season, Mason was said to have assured Bauer and Oberholtzer that he was in the clear and granted him a release.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Ottawa sports promoter T. P. (Tommy) Gorman said Monday Ottawa has the "inside track" for the International Baseball League franchise now held by the Jersey City Giants.

He said he expects to know finally "in a week or so" whether the franchise will come to Ottawa. Other cities in the running are New Haven, Conn., Reading, Pa., and Scranton, Pa.

Mr. Gorman said the action of the league Monday in approving a transfer removed the last barrier to negotiations for bringing the Giants here.

Mr. Gorman, owner of the Ottawa Nationals of the Class C Border League, said that when he last spoke to Horace Stoneham of New York, who owns the Jersey City franchise, he was "very, very favorably impressed with the possibility of Ottawa as the new site."

Harry Peace has been re-elected president of the Central Ontario branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, it was announced in Toronto Monday. Peace placed fifth in wrestling at the 1948 Olympic games.

An Ontario Hockey Association Senior League with the Allan Cup as its goal will launch its schedule next Friday.

Convener Larry Pennell announced Monday that teams from Niagara Falls, St. Catharines, Port Colborne, Dundas, Woodstock and Brantford will form the loop.

With two exceptions this is the same league which operated in senior B company during the last two years. Grimsby and Crowland have dropped out.

Lou Beaudreau, deposed manager of Cleveland Indians, is going to be given his unconditional release—at his own request.

The baseball club's president, Ellis Ryan, made the announcement Monday night. It means, he said, that Boudreau will be a free agent "in a little over a week from now."

This puts an entirely new slant on Cleveland's plans for Boudreau's future.

Although he was fired as manager, Lou still was the property of the Indians. Ryan said at the time the club was trying to arrange a major league manager job for Boudreau—or get him a player job.

"In taking this course," said Ryan, in a statement, "the Indians have lost an opportunity to make a beneficial trade for Boudreau in the event that a new managerial post fails to materialize."

"But as we've said from the start, we are anxious to cooperate with Lou Boudreau 100 per cent in doing what he considers best for him. He has requested his unconditional release so he shall have it."

This deal means that Boudreau no longer is the property of the Indians. His name goes on the waiver list tonight and every club in both major leagues has the opportunity to speak up for him.

Gloomy Hamilton Tiger-Cats officials said Monday night it appears certain that halfback Bill Gregus will miss Wednesday's Big Four football final because of his prior engagement with the United States army.

Gregus has been ordered to report at Toledo, O., at 9 a.m. Wednesday. At 2:15 p.m. the same day, Tiger-Cats square off against Toronto Argonauts, whom they edged 13-11 in the first game of the two-game total-points playoff at Hamilton Saturday.

After a busy day on the long-distance telephone, club president Ralph Cooper said draft board officials at Toledo were sympathetic but not helpful. It appeared that only an 11th-hour reprieve direct from the Pentagon in Washington could help.

Gregus, who attended North Carolina's Wake Forest College, had enrolled for an extension course at McMaster University here. He was granted a draft deferment several weeks ago but Friday received notice to report.

Tiger-Cats have a replacement handy for their plunging ace in Merle Hapes, the former New York Giants back who coached Hamilton Tigers last season. He has been working out with the team as assistant backfield coach and is in good playing shape.

Detroit Tigers announced Monday the signing of southpaw relief pitcher Earl (Lefty) Johnson, 31-year-old former Boston Red Sox hurler whom they picked up as a free agent.

Bob McFarlane Top Scorer

TORONTO, Nov. 14 — (CP)—Bob McFarlane of the University of Western Ontario Mustangs is the individual scoring champion of the Intercollegiate Senior Football Union for the second time.

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press show that the big backfielder, the college leader in 1947, topped the Union this season with 39 points. He got five Saturday as the Intercollegiate schedule ended.

This is the final year at Western for McFarlane, member of the Canadian Olympic team in 1948, and holder of the Canadian 440-metre record. In his six games he scored three touchdowns, three field goals, three singles and 12 converts.

Fred Wilmot, of the McGill Redmen, who comes from Calgary, ranked second to McFarlane with 30 points. A place-kicking expert, he got his points on one touchdown, two field goals, two singles, and 17 converts.

Fred Irving, another McGill player from Calgary, stood third with 20 points on four touchdowns.

McGill Paper Suspended Following Party

MONTREAL, Nov. 14—(CP)—Decision to suspend publication of the McGill University Daily, official undergraduate newspaper, and four student leaders until a senate meeting Wednesday was announced Monday by Dr. Cyril F. James, principal and vice-chancellor.

The action was taken by the committee on student discipline as a result of publicity the daily had used in advance of a student party in the McGill Union, and for infraction of university regulations in connection with the sale of liquor at the entertainment Saturday evening.

The entertainment was held as part of the student effort to raise the objective of $5,000 in the combined charities drive now being held on the campus.

The suspended students are: Boris Gardavsky, president of the Student's Society; James Cartier, president of the McGill Union, and John Scott, editor of the McGill Daily, and Douglas Campbell, chairman of the committee which produced the show.

An article in Friday's Daily announced that the Saturday night "monster extravaganza" would feature "dancing, gambling, games and drinking". Three girls were to donate their net-stockinged "ankles, calves and thighs" for a game of hoop-la, and rye and scotch were to be served the Daily said.

The show was "much tamer than expected," the undergraduate newspaper said Monday. Approximately 600 guests drank only 300 quarts of beer and 12 bottles of hard liquor, the newspaper reported. It was added that games of chances yielded $200 and the party was tabbed "one of the best evenings' entertainments in a long time though complete decorum was maintained."

Mr. Cartier said in a statement "we will ask the senate to accept our apologies in allowing this affair to develop the way it did. The over-enthusiasm of the charities committees to make this thing a success, produced some unfortunate results."

Kingston Township To Fight Annexation

KINGSTON, Nov. 14—(CP)—Kingston township council intends to oppose an application by this city for permission to annex certain sections of the township.

Reeve Harvey Hawkey said a township brief is being prepared for presentation to the Ontario Municipal Board when it meets here Dec. 12.

Township organizations, also opposing the annexation, are holding meetings to draw up similar briefs.

The entire village of Portsmouth is included in the annexation scheme but the village council has informed Kingston that it will not oppose the application.

Missing Man's Body Found In Thick Bush

OTTAWA, Nov. 14 (CP)—Body of Thomas Williams, 52, missing from his home since Nov. 2, was found Sunday in thick bush on the city's outskirts.

His throat bore knife wounds, but a coroner's examination disclosed the cuts were not sufficient to have caused death. He is believed to have died from exposure. A rusty knife was found near the body.

Mr. Williams, who suffered from a heart condition, left home Nov. 2 saying he was going to find a job.

ANNA ROSENBERG: "Mind of a man, brown eyes of a woman," becomes United States Assistant Secretary of Defence to General George Marshall.

American Woman Named To Important Defence Post

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA). — Anna Marie Rosenberg is going down to Washington to be assistant Secretary of Defence for one reason: "I'd say no to anybody but I can't say no to Marshall."

So, when General George Marshall, the Secretary of Defence, wrote her a letter asking her to come down, she said yes. Although she's held many government posts, none have required her to be in Washington permanently. She doesn't like Washington.

She says she's turned down bids to be Secretary of Labor and Secretary of Interior. President Roosevelt made the first offer and President Truman the second.

"But I felt I couldn't say no this time," she says, with her warm smile. "I couldn't say no in this emergency."

Collects Discs

Washington is in for some loud clinking. Everywhere Anna Rosenberg goes, she is preceded by a jangle from bracelets on her arm, from which dangle a collection of gold discs.

Each disc is a going-away present from some person or organization for whom she's worked. She collects them. And she always wears the bracelets. Her son, Tom — she calls him "my one proof that I've done something in life besides work" — says he can always tell when she's coming. The clinking comes first, "like an overture."

The discs represent among others, the NRA, the War Manpower Commission, the Social Security Administration and many state and city bodies.

Most of the federal souvenirs were from New Deal outfits. But she likes to think of herself as a political independent. And she numbers many outstanding Republicans, as well as Democrats, among her close friends, m[illegible]ke Sen. Irving Ives of New Yo[illegible] and Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts.

Mind Of a Man

Another good friend, Bernard Baruch, once wrote a letter of introduction for her to Winston Churchill. He said of her: "She has the mind of a man, and the brown eyes of a woman."

That's a pretty good description. Although she's careful about how she looks to a cameraman—"I'm not just being vain, I have to face facts"—she looks younger than her 48 years. There's no grey in her black hair, and no wrinkles on her intelligent face.

She dresses neatly, preferring tailored suits. The one wardrobe wildness she allows herself—outside of those bracelets—is her hats.

"Hats, I guess, are my hobby. When I'm feeling low and blue, I go and buy the silliest, most frivolous hat I can find. It cheers me up."

The late Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York, for whom she worked in several capacities, once called a proposal "as silly as Anna's hat."

Hard-Working Official.

But once she takes her hat off, she's every inch a hard-working, hard-thinking official. Nothing scares her, nobody influences her thinking. In her job as chairman of the New York City Industrial Relations Board, which mediated strikes, she has faced down meetings of angry truck drivers. As regional director of the War Manpower Commission, she pacified many a violent executive.

"My theory always has been," she says, "that people like to settle things peacefully."

She was born in Hungary. Her father was a furniture manufacturer, but she says her family had long been farmers. Her one ambition, she says, is to own a farm and work around the garden. Her son says she's been saying that for 15 years, but has never done anything about it.

She was brought to New York when she was 10. By the time she had graduated from high school, she had become a protege of a Tammany district leader. Anna attracted his attention by arguing with him about women's suffrage in a Tammany meeting.

Always Time For Politics

When she was 20, the Tammany leader let her manage his son's campaign for the board of aldermen. At that time, she was already married three years and had a two-year-old boy. But she still found time for politics, and she has ever since.

She has held countless jobs. An associate says "it's a slack season" when she has only seven at once. Since 1935, with time out for the war years, she's been a public, labor and industrial relations counsellor. She reopened the office in 1945, and is only planning to take a leave of absence for her new job. Her son, now 30, and an associate will run the office while she's in Washington.

Her husband, Julius, is in the rug business in New York. He's long since gotten used to having a prominent wife.

Spitsbergen Shipments

OSLO —(CP)— An estimated 300,000 tons of coal will have been shipped from Spitsbergen to Norwegian ports before ice closes the shipping lanes this year. Some Canadian troops landed on Spitsbergen for occupation purposes in 1941.

Says More Thought Given To Dress Than To Language In Canada

Canadians give more thought to their dress than they do to their language, Thomas Allen, assistant editor of The Examiner, told the Rotary Club on Monday. They vastly underrate the practical importance of good speech and an adequate vocabularly, he said. "There are three outward indications of character and personality: How you smell; how you look, and how you sound. People spend a great deal of time and money so that they will smell well and look their best, but few give a tinker's dam how they sound." But a man's speech gives perhaps the most vivid impression of what he is.

"Men who are carefully and neatly dressed and expect such neatness in their offices and from their employees, will tolerate slovenly speech not only in their employees but in themselves."

Little Wish To Improve

"It is astonishing to find on this continent devoted to the gospel of progress so little desire to improve in the use of language. Every son hopes to live in a better house, to have a better car, to dress better and to live better than his father, and the parents encourage this ambition. But few aim to speak better than their parents." People succeed in life and move to the right side of the tracks, but they insist on taking with them the language habits from the wrong side of the track," the speaker said.

Mr. Allen stressed the importance of language as that which distinguished man from beast, and the English language as our chief heritage. He touched on the science of philology and outlined the derivations and history of several words and phrases.

He suggested that where a choice can be made between a long word and a shorter, it is preferable to use the shorter word, which is usually of Anglo-Saxon stock and a concrete rather than an abstract term. He cited as an example the Biblical phrase: "God said: 'Behold I make all things new.' This he paraphrased into "The Creator announced his intention of inaugurating a new regime."

Mr. Allen said that Canadians can and should make an attempt to improve their vocabularies and ways of speech. This could be done without affectation or loss of individuality.

The speaker was introduced by the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan and thanked by Charles Cummer.

Hockey Game Receipts

The Rotarians had as their guests members of the staff of the Civic Arena who had given their time and assistance to the recent Maple Leaf hockey game which the Rotary Club sponsored. They were introduced by Ald. Douglas Miller. President Hugh Waddell thanked the rink officials for giving their services and told them that $3,200 had been raised by the game. The money is being devoted entirely to the fund for crippled children's care.

A name to endure
Quebec

Centuries ago an ancient village stood where the waters of the St. Lawrence narrow suddenly. The Algonquins called that place Kebec—"the narrowing of the waters." Thus, says tradition, did the Province receive its enduring name.

Distinguished and historic, Quebec today keeps pace with Canada's giant strides toward a great future. During the past decade alone a tremendous hydro-electric development has harnessed Quebec's water power to drive her industrial wheels. And from her vast timberlands come huge supplies of pulp and paper to feed the presses of the world.

Much of Canada's greatness stems from Quebec, this nation's oldest province. And in preparing for the future Quebec draws upon a rich cultural heritage from the past.

Would Reduce Payments To Three Years

Finance committee of the Council declined Monday night to reduce to three years payments to Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation of an outstanding sum of $30,696.48 incurred by the agreement for the building of 226 houses for ex-service men and their families, known as project No. 10, of 1948.

Mayor Swanston commented that any time a change of terms was proposed it was usually in favor of the Corporation. His "no action" motion was seconded by Ald. J. E. Gillespie.

"I think it may not be long until they offer those houses for sale," his worship said.

10-Year Period

"Under the terms of the agreement this balance of $30,696.48, as of April 29, 1950, would be amortized over the original 10-year period, and therefore, the annual payments would be reduced," wrote E. F. Klugman, property manager for Central Mortgage. "However, we feel that it would be more satisfactory to both parties if the annual payments remained the same, and the term of repayment shortened. In the case of Peterborough, the term would be reduced to three years."

In the agreement for the 226 houses, the city undertook to buy the land and provide the municipal services, such as sewers, sidewalks, roads, etc., at a cost to the city not to exceed $600 for each house. The Council accepted in lieu of taxes annual payments of $70 and $75, depending on the type of house.

It was further agreed that the corporation would finance the city's obligation for purchase of land and cost of services, and that the city would reimburse the corporation for this expenditure over a period of ten years, plus interest at 2 per cent., by charging the city's annual payment for this indebtedness against the corporation's payments to the city in lieu of taxes.

Ontario Assistance

City Clerk Outram recalled for the information of the Council that the Ontario Government decided to assist municipalities in such housings costs by assuming 50 per cent. of the municipal obligation up to $600 for the cost of lands and services. Council then decided to pay to Central Mortgage any such money received from the Government, thereby reducing by 50 per cent. the annual amount payable by the city to the Housing Corporation. This meant that the amount credited from Housing Corporation in lieu of taxes was substantially increased.

The opinion of the Council was in favor of continuing the amortization of the debt to Central Mortgage over the next seven or eight years by deductions from the credit payments to be made in lieu of taxes by Central Mortgage. It was felt that there was nothing to be gained by the city acceeding to the corporation's suggestion of reducing the remaining period of payments to three years. That course was contemplated as increasing the tax burden on the ratepayers for the next three years.

Moreover, if any of the 226 houses are sold, they immediately become fully taxable against the new owners.

Labor Council Enters Two As Aldermanic Candidates

Two aldermanic candidates in the coming city elections have been nominated by the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL). They are Alfred Barber, 39, president of both the Labor Council and Local 210, United Packinghouse Workers; and Orville Martin, 44, a member of Local 599, International Union of Electrical Workers (CGE office workers).

Both men have been candidates before. Mr. Barber was supported by the now-defunct Allied Labor Council in 1948, and Mr. Martin put up for alderman in 1945.

Now recognized as one of the leading CCL trade unionists in the Peterborough district, Mr. Barber has been re-elected president of his local six times—four times in succession during the last four years.

Born In Ireland

Mr. Barber was born in Belfast, Ireland, and has been a Peterborough resident for the past 14 years. For the last 10 years he has been employed at Canada Packers and he is now a maintenance mechanic. He is a member of the Gladiolus Society.

Mr. Martin's great grandparents were among the first settlers in this district. They came over from Great Britain during the War of 1812. He was born and educated in Peterborough. For the last eight years he has worked at CGE where he is now a production clerk; for 15 years previous to that he was a customs clerk at the Western Clock Co.

"As a representative of organized labor I can make a worthwhile contribution to the municipality," Mr. Martin told the Examiner Monday night. "I feel honored that the Peterborough and District Labor Council has nominated me for the office of alderman."

Recommend On Two

Originally the Labor Council decided to run a slate of four candidates, but the specially-appointed Civic Elections committee reconsidered the matter and Monday night brought in the recommendation for two candidates only.

The two nominees were endorsed unanimously.

Anticipating the recommendation, Local 210, UPWA, had already sent in a cheque for $25 to help with the campaign fund, William E. Thomas, Local 210, announced. Financial help will be solicited from other locals affiliated to the Labor Council.

"Labor in Peterobrough is coming into its own," said William Whibbs, Local 524, IUE. "We are not trying to take over the city council; we are just trying to give labor a voice in it . . . If we make up our minds that we want labor representation on the council we can do it . . . And if we don't make it this year we'll try again next."

Said Ed Humphrey, Local 434, UPWA: "We must provide the necessary lead for the workers of Peterborough . . . I think we can elect these two candidates."

Must Use Tags On Deer Shot Hunters Warned

A word of warning from the Department of Lands and Forests which may have already been violated by first-week hunters, is being repeated to late hunters.

"All deer must be properly tagged and sealed before removing them from the bush as the sealed metal tag on a carcass is the only indication that a deer hunting license has been cancelled. It clearly states on each license that 'the seal shall be so attached to a deer before transportation that it cannot be removed without mutilation.' It is preferable to run the metal tag through the tendons above the joint on the hind leg of the carcass and the tag securely closed."

Department men say that hunters have been warned of this regulation for the past three years and that action is being taken this season against those evading it.

Now, about deer bag limits. It is illegal for one man hunting alone to shoot a doe or a fawn, and in this regulation buck fawns are counted as does. When only one deer is taken, there must be two licenses to cover each doe or fawn shot. Two hunters may take one doe or fawn and one buck. A party of eight hunters may take four does or fawns and four bucks. A party of seven are allowed three does or fawns and four bucks.

Road checks now in force have indicated that a great many deer have been shot this season so far but the complete picture will not be finished until the season closes on Saturday and all data from check points are compiled.

2 Rifles Stolen From Garage

Provincial police are searching the Lake Scugog area for thieves who stole a small amount of cash, two rifles, ammunition, five tires and 200 packages of cigarets from a garage at Greenbank.

The village is 20 miles northwest of Port Perry on Highway 12.

The thieves, using a car stolen from Birdshill Dairy, Dundas St., Toronto broke into the City Service garage which is located just north of the village, shortly after closing time Monday night.

Provincial police from Whitby, Oshawa and Lindsay set up roadblocks to intercept the stolen car but without success. It was found abandoned in the Greenbank district.

The loot had not been recovered.

Seek To Establish WarehouseOnHigh St.

H. Albert & Co. dealers in junk and other metals, applied to the finance committee of the council Monday night for permission to set up a building for their business at High and St. Mary's Sts They intend to put in power sheers for cutting steel, and to provide warehouse cover for structural steel for the building trades.

Ald. Hugh Waddell, chairman, said the residents of that area had objected to a previous application from the company.

In a motion by Mayor Swanston and Ald. J. E. Gillespie the letter was sent on to city planning committee.

Child Centred Curriculum Aim Of Schools

"The majority of teachers in Ontario schools are suffering from peragogic neurosis," stated Miss Gertrude Bergey, Wednesday afternoon. Miss Bergey, who is the convener of research for the Federation of Women Teacher's Association, was the speaker at a pre-supper meeting of the Federation of Women Teacher's Association of Peterborough.

Discussing the project for curricular revision, Miss Bergey stated that the educational system in this province has been too long steeped in tradition and that tradition can soon become an impediment.

Miss Bergey was born in London, Ontario, and is a graduate of University of Western Ontario. She has taught school for 11 years and during the past two years has travelled extensively in her capacity as convener of the teacher's association. In September of this year she attended the Association for Supervision and Curricular Development convention that was held in Denver, Colorado. Since that time she has visited approximately 30 communities in the province speaking and helping teacher groups in this project of curricular revision.

Wednesday she spoke to the Trent Valley Group of Inspectors and Masters of the Normal School at the Normal School in the morning. In the afternoon, she addressed the Peterborough teacher's association and in the evening directed a forum of discussion for this same association.

In her address to the teachers Miss Berkey explained the aim of this project of curricular planning, what it would mean to both the teachers and students and outlined how it could be carried out.

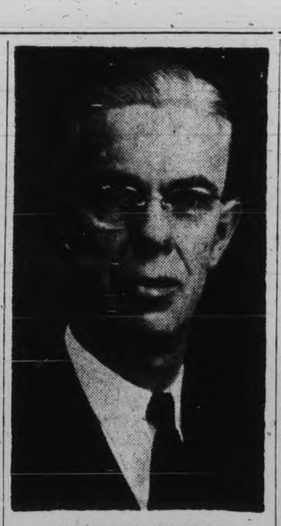
Part of Profession

"Every teacher should regard curricular planning as a part of his professional responsibility," stated the speaker. "This is the first time in 50 years that we as teachers are being given the right of curricular revision. If we don't take this opportunity, we must be prepared to be passive for many more years with regard to the school curriculum."

Miss Bergey explained that in this project the aim is to switch from a subject-centred curriculum to a child-centred curriculum. Instead of stressing specific subjects the new curriculum should be developed with the aim to instruct a child so that he will be fit, ready, willing and able to deal with different situations, have a sense of responsibility for others and be able to make decisions—in short to become a mature individual.

"We as teachers must get out of the academic and professional rut into which we too often unknowingly fall," warned Miss Bergey. 'We must make ourselves more familiar with the world and conditions in the world before we can train children."

In outlining the methods that may be used in the project of curricular revision, Miss Bergey explained that the recommended method was in service education, by which a group of teachers should meet as a group regularly present and discuss problems objectively and reach solutions. At such meetings the present curriculum should be analysed and perhaps with the help of reference books and consultants a better curriculum decided upon.



Three-year Job

"This project will take at least three years," contended Miss Bergey. "The participants at first should be only teachers, but after a few weeks lay members should be admitted with a plan of balancing so that a cross section of the community is obtained."

Miss Bergey explained that personality is the greatest asset of a teacher and this project will definitely go far to broaden ideas and personality. It will result in teacher growth with a more matured attitude and more purposeful actions.

"This project will cost money, concluded Miss Bergey. "But education is more important than war and agriculture which are responsible for a great part of the nation's expenditure." Therefore education should have a fair share of the expenditure."

Miss Cora Bailey introduced Miss Bergey to the teachers.

Took Pool Balls For No Reason

Pleading guilty to a charge of stealing 13 snooker pool balls tor which he had no use, John Hopf, Bancroft, was placed on suspended sentence for one year in police court today.

Provincial Constable David W. Coffey testified that Hopf went into a Lakefield hotel snack bar for a cup of coffee. While there he asked to use the lavatory which could be reached only through the pool room. The pool room was locked at the time, but it was opened for him.

While walking through, Hopf picked up the balls and left.

The constable said Hopf had no use for the balls and had no police record.

Asked for an explanation by Magistrate W. R. Philp K.C., Hopf said "I have no idea what possessed me to pick them up and take them."

"Well Hopf, it's hard to understand. A boy of 10 years might do it," said His Worship.

Hydro Increases Capacity Of Peterborough Station

Present capacity of Ontario Hydro's transformer station west of Peterborough, is to be increased, involving the installation of two 25,000 kva units to replace the two existing 15,000 kva transformers. Estimated cost of this work is $373,000.

Making this announcement, Hydro Chairman Robert H. Saunders said that this step was being taken in the light of the most recent estimate of anticipated peak loads in the Central Ontario District of the Eastern Ontario Division at the end of next year. At the same time the Commission is proceeding with plans for construction of a new 115-44 kv transformer station at Hanover to take care of an estimated increase in the Georgian Bay Division loads. In this connection, Mr Saunders announced that the two 15,000-kva units removed from the Peterborough station will be made available for use at Hanover.

"This is a further example of the steps which Hydro is taking to protect the future power supply of all sections of Ontario," the Hydro chairman said.

Too Few Horses To Plow City Sidewalks

Back in the winters when $50 bills were uncommon currency, a little group of horsemen used to bid a couple of hundred dollars each for the jobs of plowing snow off the sidewalks.

In those days the city was marked off into six sections, and there was usually some competition for the contracts. Latterly horses have been disappearing, and the price of snow removal is now in four figures.

The increase in the overall sidewalk work for this year is almost $3,000. Some of the tenders were the round sum of $1,000, take it or leave it. And at that there was at least one gap in the assignment of sections, as reported by Ald. H. Dodds at the meeting of the finance committee of the council Monday night.

"I guess we'll have to look after that ourselves", he said. The highest bid last winter was $900.

R. S. Meiklejohn does No. 1 section for $950; Morley Bebee No. 2 for $1,000; it was $850 last winter. John Clifford is doing sections 5 and 6 for $1,000. Clarence Hamilton gets No. 10 for $700. It was $485 last winter. Mel. Perritt takes on 7 and 8 sections for $850; an increase of only $50 over last winter.

"We would not find a machine we could recommend for the job of snow removal," Ald. Dodds said, "but they say there is a new Swiss plow what will be ready for the winter of 1951-52."

Mayor Swanston said he understood it was difficult to get bids for some of the snow work. "Jim Burgess had to go and coax men to do it last winter. It has just about reached the stage where we can't get it done any more with horses."

Wander Union Gets 6c Raise

Local 434, United Packinghouse Workers (CIO-CCL) have signed a two-year contract with A. Wander Ltd., giving them an immediate wage increase of six cents an hour.

The contract was signed Monday and goes into effect today.

Besides the straight six cents, the 27 production workers are guaranteed a one cent boost for every 1.3 rise in the cost of living The revision can only be up, not down. The maximum rise during the year is set at three cents.

Renew Clause

Next October 14 the one-way escalator clause is renewed — again for a maximum of three cents.

At the beginning of the contract's second year the 4.66 per cent formula comes into effect. The work week of 21 men employees will be reduced from 45 to 43 hours with no loss of take-home pay. The six women employees, already working a 40-hour week, will receive 4.66 per cent as an addition to their paycheck. Their hours will remain the same.

Lowest rate for men is now $1.05 an hour, and 76 cents for women.

A compulsory checkoff is a feature of this second agreement reached between the company and the union. All new employees, regardless of whether they join the union, must pay the checkoff. And there is maintenance of membership for the others.

Attempted Robbery Interrupted By Police

Patrolling his beat Monday night, Constable John Conlin may have interrupted an attempted robbery at the Kesco Electric Co. building on Hunter St.

Constable Conlin noticed the back door of the building open and lights on inside. He entered and searched three floors. While on the second floor he heard a motor start up outside and looked out to see a pickup truck start away from the building.

The lights of the truck were not turned on until it was some little distance away. But the truck did not seem to be speeding off.

The company's sales manager said as far as he could tell nothing had been taken.

Swerved To Miss Skunk, Freed

Swerving to avoid hitting a skunk on the highway was a good enough explanation of an accident to acquit Frank Fitzgerald 59 Aylmer St., of a charge of careless driving in police court today.

Provincial Constable Roy Feeley testified while patrolling the Warsaw road, about 3:15 a.m. Oct. 22, he discovered Fitzgerald's car in the south ditch on its side, a short distance outside the city. It had travelled 81 feet after leaving the pavement and hit a hydro pole breaking it off.

Two Injured

Fitzgerald and a passenger, Maureen Hunsdale, 20, Oshawa, were injured. Miss Hunsdale had a fractured pelvis and cuts on her face. Fitzgerald suffered a cut on his head which 14 stitches closed, and had some teeth knocked out.

Another passenger, Alphonse Spencer, 610 Armour Rd., was unhurt.

Fitzgerald said he was driving west into Peterborough when he suddenly saw a skunk in the middle of the road. He swerved to miss it and his arm hit the light switch on the steering wheel and turned the headlights off. When he turned the lights back on a few seconds later he was on the shoulder of the highway.

His 1931 car went into the ditch and sideswiped the pole.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., said he thought the accused was entitled to the benefit of the doubt and dismissed the charge.

Curve Lk. Indian Gets 10 Months: Cottage Entries

Admitting breaking into three cottages at the north end of Chemong Lake, Nolan Jacobs, 23, of Curve Lake Indian Reserve, was sentenced in police court today to 10 months definite and four months indefinite in the Ontario Reformatory.

Provincial Constable David W. Coffey testified he received several complaints of cottages being broken into in September. He went to Jacobs' home to question him, but as he opened the door, Jacobs bolted out the back door.

Arrested Week Ago

He was arrested November 6. The constable told the court Jacobs admitted the break-ins. He had not stolen much from the cottages, except for some food, a butcher knife, and part of a bottle of liquor. He had apparently slept in one of the cottage beds.

Asked for an explanation, Jacobs said "I was just hungry."

The cottages were owned by B. I. Burgess, Harry Pomeroy, and H. G. Rummary.

Retail Stores Report Sales Going Up

OTTAWA, Nov. 14 — (CP) — Sales in Canadian retail stores are going up, the Bureau of Statistics reported Monday.

It said retail sales showed a "marked" gain of nine per cent in September over the corresponding month of last year, with increases being registered by 18 of the 20 trades reporting.

For the first nine months of the year, the over-all advance was 6.2 per cent.

The biggest gain was in sales by appliance and radio stores and motor vehicle dealers, which reported increases of 27 and 25 per cent, respectively. In motor sales, the Bureau said the gain indicated demand for new cars still is considerably higher than a year ago.

Jewellery store sales were up 18 per cent, by far the largest gain for this trade this year. Other notable gains were shown by furniture stores and garages and filling stations, both up 16 per cent, and by family clothing stores, up nine per cent. Food store sales increased eight per cent.

Men's clothing was the only backward trade, sales being down five per cent from a year earlier. Restaurant receipts just failed to hold their September, 1949 level.

He cited the poaching of salmon on their way upriver to spawn, as well as berry lobsters, as examples of crimes against the national interest.

Consider Plans Curb Sabotage

OTTAWA, Nov. 14 — (CP) — Canadian industrial leaders are considering a government suggestion for a civilian organization to combat sabotage in defence plants.

The proposal was made recently by Defence Minister Claxton at a meeting of the Canadian Industrial Preparedness Association, an organization for encouraging active participation by industry in preparedness for defence.

Mr. Claxton told the industrialists that, while the justice department and the RCMP are primarily responsible for internal plant security against sabotage, an anti-sabotage committee in industry itself might be useful.

The association has referred the question to its newly-elected executive, and members have been asked to forward suggestions confidentially to the organization's secretariat.

The explosion apparently came when Mrs. Ebbert attempted to prime a wood stove with kerosene.

Low Power Rate Dependent On Seaway Plan

WINDSOR, Nov. 14 — (CP) — Continuation of low electric power rates in Ontario is dependent on completion of the St. Lawrence River power development by 1956, Robert Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro Commission, said Monday.

The St. Lawrence scheme would need at least five years for completion, and it is necessary to begin next year, he told a Service Club meeting.

New York State power authorities and the Commission agreed two years ago on plans for the St. Lawrence development, he said. The project needed only government approval to be started.

"If we are forced to add new steam plants, your Hydro cannot continue to supply low-cost power in abundance, steam power can be provided, but it is costly.

Steam generating plants now are being built at Windsor and Toronto, he said. The federal government has urged the United States government to agree to the St. Lawrence power development.

Development of power sources of the river would not interfere with any future plans for the proposed St. Lawrence seaway project.

Mr. Saunders also said the commission hopes that no power restrictions on consumers will be necessary this winter. Public cooperation would play a large part in determining whether a return of last year's restrictions was necessary.

Gets Acclamation

QUEBEC, Nov. 14 — (CP). — Mayor Lucien Borne was re-elected by acclamation Monday when the nomination slip of would-be candidate Henri F. Methot was turned down by City Clerk F. X. Chouinard because Methot was not qualified.

Thomson Asks Reduction In Ontario Tax On Gasoline

TORONTO, Nov. 14—(CP)—Walter Thomson, in his first public address as Ontario Liberal leader, Monday night accused the Progressive Conservative government of ineptitude in the control of provincial affairs and called for a reduction in the tax on gasoline.

Mr. Thomson, elected party leader at a convention last week, pictured Premier Frost as "emblematic of a tottering government" in a 15-minute free-time Provincial Affairs address prepared for delivery over an Ontario CBC network.

"The province has lost much in the failure of the Conservative party to make adequate financial adjustments with the Dominion of Canada," he said, criticizing the government's failure to sign a grant-in-lieu-of-taxation agreement with Ottawa.

Mr. Thomson contended that the province was collecting too much in gasoline taxes. He noted a government statement that it had $500,000,000 for roads and said that if this was the case "then they have entirely too much of the gasoline taxpayers' money."

Paying Too Much

"When you consider that the tax on gasoline is one-third or 33 1-3 per cent of the retail selling price of gasoline we are paying too much. The motor car is a necessity, not a luxury."

Mr. Thomson suggested that extra subsidies be given to municipalities which have heavier snowfall to help place them on equal footing with more temperate areas in regard to snow removal.

A federal member of parliament for the constituency of Ontario, Mr. Thomson also demanded that the government immediately implement the recommendations of the Kennedy report on forest conservation; more equitable distribution of hydro for rural areas, and renewed a suggestion that a Royal Commission with broad powers be set up to investigate law enforcement in Windsor.

He concluded with a request to the people of Ontario to send him "letters of constructive criticism telling me of your trials and tribulations, significant in your present state and the manner in which you feel these difficulties could be remedied."

Hits Car Owners

QUEBEC, Nov. 14 — (CP). — The Quebec Automobile Club said Monday that if a government Bill asking for a two cents a gallon gasoline tax increase is adopted by the Provincial Legislature, it will cost Quebec Province car owners—about five per cent of the population—some $5,000,000. The club said this would be in addition to the more than $45,000,000 that Quebec car owners now pay in various automobile taxes.

Father Murders Wife, Child, Then Suicides

WALKERTON, Nov. 10—In the space of a few moments Monday morning, an unemployed painter took the lives of his wife and tiny daughter, and then killed himself in a farmhouse near the Bruce County community of Neustadt, seven miles south of here.

Police have still to find a motive for the insane behaviour of 34-year-old Howard Evers. But they have little doubt that he shot first his daughter Judy, 3, then his wife, Marie, 32, and finally turned his .22 calibre rifle on himself.

Two other children, Betty Ann, 10, and Gloria, 8, were at the nearby Carrick township school. The shooting was not discovered until 11 o'clock, when Wilfred Weber, who owned the farm which the Evers had rented, looked in the kitchen window.

No Clues

Police described it as a double murder and suicide. The only key they had to what happened, however, was a phone call Evers made to his sister, Mrs. Philip Voekel, in Neustadt. He said he had shot his wife.

In all three cases the shots were through the forehead, and police felt certain the victims died instantly or within a very short time. Mrs. Evers had powder burns about the wound in her head. Evers' head was covered with blood, and there was more blood on the kitchen floor.

Evers had had little work of late. He was employed part time in the Neustadt Hotel, and worked occasionally at odd jobs. Until a few weeks ago the family had been living in Neustadt.

Fosbraey Tests Indicate Abnormalities

PICTON, Nov. 14—(CP)—Delicate "brain wave" measurement, a scientific method of gauging mental conditions, have revealed that James Fosbraey's reactions could be abnormal, experts testified Monday at his murder trial.

R. E. Nourse, counsel defending Fosbraey in his second trial on a charge of murdering his wife in Napanee a year ago, said it was the first time in Canadian legal history that measurements of brain impulses had been introduced as evidence. He added, however, that the practice is fairly common in England.

Dr. Dennis White, director of the Department of Electro-Encephotography at Kingston General Hospital, said abnormality of the type found in Fosbraey's brain would tend to lower his resistance to anti-social impulses.

Fosbraey's brain waves were measured in a four-hour examination Nov. 5. The examination involves the use of 16 electrodes fastened to the head, one in each ear and two on the nose. Impulses picked up are recorded on charts. These charts were placed in evidence Monday.

Already Testified

The trial today moves into its eighth day. Fosbraey has already testified about events which led to the slaying of June Fosbraey, 25, in a snowbank at Napanee last Nov. 28. She was stabbed shortly after Fosbraey returned from England.

Fosbraey had previously testified that just prior to the stabbing his wife had told him she intended to leave him and live with another man as his common-law wife.

Dr. White, asked what effect this admission would have on Fosbraey, said that from the examination he would expect an explosive emotional outburst, "which might well be of an aggressive nature." He added that the outburst would be immediate, poorly-reasoned and poorly-controlled and might well manifest itself in physical violence.

Additional testimony relating to Fosbraey's mental condition and collected by a commission from relatives in England was read into the evidence Monday.

The relatives said Fosbraey had claimed to have seen a green-eyed cat although no such animal existed, had smashed his fist through a window and had shown a tendency to play with children. They said he suffered a head injury in a 1937 car accident and that his aunt had died insane.

Dr. Charles Shepherd, an English psychiatrist, told the commission that Fosbraey could be suffering from schiziphrenia. A Toronto psychiatrist had also testified that Fosbraey suffers from a split or dual personality.

See Appointment 2nd Minister For Defence Post

OTTAWA, Nov. 14 — (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent is expected to shuffle his cabinet before the next session of parliament early next year and appointment of a second defence minister is one move that would not cause any great surprise on Parliament Hill.

Observers noted Monday there were three ministers in the Defence Department during the war. This system was abandoned in peacetime and one man—Hon. Brooke Claxton for the last four years—has handled the job.

With the forces now expanding beyond the 62,000 mark, all defence activities increasing and Canada's international military commitments growing, it would occasion no great surprise if Mr. Claxton got some help.

This might be done by appointing an air minister. There has been speculation for some time that this would be Hon. C. G. Power, wartime air minister who resigned in 1944 over the conscription crisis.

College Women Interested In Historic Facts of City

It was the "little known" facts of the history of Peterborough which Mr. W. L. Graff, librarian, pointed out in speaking to the University Women's Club Monday evening. And, he incited keener interest in the early editions of the writings of pioneer settlers of the district which he has been at some pains to collect at the Public Library.

Mr. Graff believes there still exists a wealth of information concerning the early settlement, and he hopes in time the owners may see fit to donate to the historic collection, or if pictures and documents allow photostats to be made. For instance, he exhibited a "proclamation" which was posted in Ireland about 1923, outlining the conditions under which settlers were brought to Ontario by Peter Robinson. This very interesting sheet came to light too late for the recent centennial exhibit at the library.

Another indication that there is yet much to be learned of the early history is in the differing opinions on the burial place of Adam Scott. Mr. Graff said that the bones of this gigantic man, who set up a saw mill on the present site of the Odeon Theatre and operated it rather unsuccessfully for some time, now lie at Centreville. Later he was informed by a club member that she, with direct descendants of Scott, had visited his grave on the Mann property near Bridgenorth.

The speaker also remarked that it seems ill-fitting, in view of Adam Scott's contribution to the city of Peterborough, that he has not been remembered by a monument, a plaque or even a street named after him. It is recorded that the Scott home, which stood just north of the mill site of Scott's Plains, was so poor there were not even candles. Later Scott gave up the mill and established the first distillery, which brought relief to his own family and poverty to others.

Mr. Graff surprised some listeners when he said an English group was actually the first to settle in this district, on an old Indian portage trail now called Chemong Road and the Edmison family are the descendants.

Another point was that the town site was named "Peterboro" in 1825 by Mrs. Thomas Stewart, who gave the following three reasons for the choice: 1st, in honor of Peter Robinson; 2nd, because it was the same distance from the capital, York, as Peterborough, England, was from London; 3rd, for Saint Peter in consideration of the Catholic population.

The librarian has also noted that Peter Robinson held the rank of army captain in the war of 1812, yet the title never appears with his name as it does with others of similar standing.

He showed picture of the glorious old mansion in Ireland which Thomas Stewart left when he came to settle in Douro in 1822. Here the largest house of the settlement was erected for the Stewart family, and it cost $40.

It was pointed out by Mr. Graff that while attention, especially in this centennial year, has been focussed on the "gentle people" who pioneered the district, it was the sturdy Irish settlers who took root. These people escaped unbearable living conditions in Ireland (50,000 were clamoring to come in 1825), were brought here by Peter Robinson who made no preparation for them, were immediately introduced to a rugged winter, yet 2,084 managed to survive in miserable hovels which they erected by squatter's rights on land from George St. to Park St., along Charlotte. Most of them took up land grants in the spring.

A lesser known book which Mr. Graff recommended for husband's reading is "Canada West" by Samuel Strickland, who arrived in 1827. It mentions a catch of more than 400 pounds of fish in Stony Lake—before breakfast.

The social life of Peterborough, which seemed to constitute a full night of dancing, night after night, is interestingly recorded in the letters of John Langton, who lived at Fenelon Falls. His sister, Anne Langton, was the first organist at St. John's Church, and her writings have just been published, Mr Graff advised.

The university women were proud to have Mr. Graff speak to them, believing he has done a great deal in a short time to further culture and education in Peterborough. He was introduced by Miss Margaret McCulloch and thanked by Mrs. Ross Matthews, a graduate of the University of Toronto Library School.

A double-ring wedding ceremony, performed by the Rev. H. E. Beare at Springorook parsonage recently, united Marie, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Meiklejohn and Stuart David Buck, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Buck of Hastings.

The bride wore a gown of white slipper satin with inserts of lace. Her veil was of French net, three quarter length, caught to an orange-blossom headdress, and she carried a cascade of red Bettertime roses, white 'mums and maidenhair fern.

Her bridesmaid, Miss Esther Meiklejohn, was gowned in mauve tissue faille with mittens to match and carried mauve 'mums.

The groomsman was Ronald Buck, brother of the groom.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Bogart Linn.

Mrs. Linn received wearing a black crepe dress, with black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Buck, mother of the groom, also received, wearing a grey crepe dress, with wine accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Prior to the wedding supper, appropriate music was rendered with Gerald Taylor at the piano.

Waitresses included Mrs. Clarence Thomson, Misses Marion Wright, Jean and Ruth Morton, Ruth Milne, Shirley Dunk, while Blanche Gibson and Mrs. Carl Linn poured tea.

For travelling, the bride wore a powder blue gabardine suit, with navy accessories. After a honeymoon to Watertown, New York, Buffalo and Niagara Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Buck will live on the groom's farm near Norwood.

Guests were present from Toronto, Blackwater, Tweed, Warsaw, Hastings, Moira, Peterborough, Springbrook and Campbellford.

Seek Fixed Price for Fish Catches Off Newfoundland

By RUPERT JACKSON
Canadian Press Correspondent

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Oct.—(CP)—Newfoundland fishermen, stymied in attempts to market their salt cod in European markets, have asked the federal government for price support to stave off hardships.

The price support request followed meetings in St. John's early in October attended by fishermen, exporters, and government representatives, when the price to be paid fishermen for the 1950 catch was discussed.

It was decided, however, that the marketing situation was not sufficiently clear to warrant the setting of a definite price at present. Following the meeting fishermen of Catalina, Bonavista and other villages held public meetings, when they sent messages to Ottawa asking for assistance.

Exporters, not sure of markets, won't promise fishermen a set price for catches. The fishermen have been offered $4 a hundredweight for Labrador cured fish. They want twice that.

The in-shore fishermen want $10 a hundredweight for their fish, while exporters say they can pay no more than $9. Now the fishermen want the federal government to make up the difference between the exporters' price to fishermen and what they demand.

Europe Is Market

While the fishermen were paid for fish on hand from the 1949 catch by the Federal Fish Prices Support Board, the exporters were not. This year the exporters do not intend to be caught as they were last year with cod on hand and no markets.

Trouble with the industry is that 40 per cent of the catch usually is marketed in the sterling area. Before union with Canada last year Newfoundland accepted sterling which was placed in a special fund in London, while fishermen and exporters were paid in dollars out of the government's surplus. The federal government has handled the exchange issue in a similar way since confederation.

DOROTHY DIX

Wife Hurts Self Trying To Pay Back Husband

DEAR MISS DIX: During the last year my husband has made it entirely plain that he does not love me. This has wounded my pride deeply and we have had terrible scenes, which leave us both wrecks. I have sworn to myself that I will not give him a moment's freedom; that I will follow each move he makes; that I will not give him a divorce or any peace, even if it kills me, so I can make him as unhappy as he has made me. Can you suggest any manner of revenge beside my present way? I feel he should be hurt some way for hurting me so much.

TROUBLED.

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER: Revenge is a boomerang. It returns to those who hurl it and annihilates them. When you seek to take revenge upon those who have injured you, you hurt yourself far more than you hurt them. It has been said that revenge is sweet. Never has there been a more false statement. Revenge is as bitter as gall, and it destroys all the flavor in life for those who saturate their thoughts with it.

Your Experience Is Proof

How true this is you can see from your own experience. You must know that you have not had a minute's happiness or peace of mind or ease of conscience since you started out to avenge yourself on your husband for the wrong you consider that he has done you.

So give up your melodramatic plan of revenging yourself on your husband for your own sake. Unless you have such a fiendish nature yourself that it would justify him in ceasing to love you, you cannot find any pleasure in making him as miserable as you are. You have to be built that way to get a kick out of torturing a person and seeing him writhe, and not many women are so cruel.

I sympathize with you deeply in the loss of your husband's love. That is the hard thing for any wife to be caleld upon to endure, but it is not always, perhaps not often, the man's fault. Love comes and goes as it wills. We have no control over it and we cannot force ourselves to love a person because it is our duty to do so.

I think you will find far more happiness in just accepting the situation as it is instead of rebelling against it, and in forgiving your husband rather than seeking revenge upon him. In forgiveness you will find healing for the wound he has dealt you, but in trying to avenge yourself upon him you will prod at the old sore and keep it festering until it will poison your whole life.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a charming and very intelligent wife. She could be a big asset to me in my business career, but she is extremely stubborn about one thing. In our early married life we made many friends, good enough folks in their way, but they simply do not fit into the social status we have attained by my rapid fiancial success. But my wife insists on clinging to some of these people and spending a lot of time with them which she should be devoting to cultivating people who could be of great assistance to me in a business way. A wife's plain duty is to assist her husband in every way she can, even if it means dropping her old associates and making herself agreeable to the people whose friendship will push his success. Don't you agree? J.B.S.

ANSWER: Certainly a woman should help her husband by making herself agreeable to his business associates even if they bore her and she has nothing in common with them, but, on the other hand, he has no right to ask her to sacrifice the society of the people she loves and enjoys for them.

Friendship loses all of its sacredness and meaning when you make of it nothing but a ladder on which to climb and that you kick down behind you when you have risen to the top.

I have known many people like you who cast off their old friends as soon as they got up in the world and who catered and flunkied to the people above them and whom they meant to use, but they were never really taken into the inner circle. They were never more than chance acquaintances. Nobody really cared for them. So in the end they were left friendless. For, after all, nobody ever loves a snob.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 35 years old and, as I am very lonesome, I would like very much to get married. I have thought of advertising in the hope that I might find someone who would marry me. Kindly advise me as to what action I should take.

LONESOME.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Use a little common sense and try to visualize the kind of a man who would answer an advertisement for a husband. Men who are fit to marry do not get their wives that way. It is a lot better not to be married at all than it is to be married to the wrong sort of a husband.

Girls Finding Careers In Export World

By FORBES RHUDE, Canadian Press Business Editor.

Business conventions are for the most part male gatherings. Perhaps it shouldn't be that way, but that's the way it is.

And that is what made this writer wonder a bit at the recent convention of the Canadian Exporters' Association in Ottawa, when he saw a group of girls in steady attendance at every session.

On inquiry, he found these girls are very much in the export business; and they think it a fascinating career.

The girls he talked to were Muriel I. Johnson, export department, Canadian Kodak Co., Ltd.; Verna Thompson, supervisor of documents, export division, Coleman Lamp and Stove Co., Ltd; and Helen Stewart, supervisor, customs and traffic department, Amalgamated Electric Corporation, Ltd., all of Toronto; while also there were Wynne Hatfield, G. R. Marshall and Co., Ltd. (Machinery), Toronto, and Alice O'Neill, National Hosiery Co., Ltd., Hamilton.

Miss Johnson is president of a body probably unique in Canada and possibly in North America, a women's group in Toronto of the Canadian Exporters' Association, with some 50 members.

It gets together at dinner meetings, listens to export experts and holds panel discussions on matters of mutual interest. In between they call on one another for help on any particular problem in which one or other is expert.

Just By Chance

How does a girl get into export business? So far, like the way many of us get into anything — they take a business job, one thing leads to another, and there they are.

What are the qualifications? preferably, of course, a sound basic education, probably a business course, shorthand and typing—and, added to that, initiative, the ability and wish to put all you can into a job.

One girl commented: "You must, of course, know geography, and you need to be interested in it to know it."

Another said: "You must be ready to do extra reading and research—it is not a nine-to-five job."

Many Rewards

What are the rewards? For one thing, an interesting job, one which sets your mind ranging over long distances and thinking of many peoples; one which makes you want to see some of those places and peoples, even if on your own holiday trips; one which may lead to seeing them for the firm if you get along far enough.

Canada is the world's third trading country and, as yet, women apparently haven't gone after its trading opportunities to any great extent. So there is room for trained personnel and, as the old saying goes, always room near the top.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

New Daring Cookbooks Has Latest Healthful Dishes

Every homemaker welcomes new ways of fixing favorite foods and easy ways to make nourishing food tempt the youngsters. The Culinary Arts Institute series of 24 cookbooks is just such a source of ideas. This newspaper is releasing these cookbooks one-a-week. The current title, "300 Healthful Dairy Dishes," with its luscious photographic illustrations will give you all sorts of exciting new ways to prepare eggs, cheese, milk and butter—those basic foods.

For instance, you can dress up a head of steamed cauliflower or other vegetable with a tasy cheese sauce taken from the Dairy Book:

White Sauce

1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon flour
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 cup milk

Melt butter, remove from heat; add flour and seasoning Mix well. Add milk and cook slowly until thickened, stirring constantly. Makes 1 cup.

MEDIUM—Use 2 tablespoons butter and 2 tablespoons flour.

THICK—Use 3 tablespoons butter and 3 tablespoons flour.

CHEESE SAUCE—To hot Medium White Sauce add ½ to 1 cup grated American Cheese. Stir until cheese is melted.

Or if you wish to make an especially nourishing dessert pudding, why not try this Cheese Bread Pudding from the Dairy Book:

Cheese Bread Pudding

2 cups bread cubes
1 cup cottage cheese
1½ cups milk
¼ cup melted butter
2 eggs, beaten
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind

Combine bread with cottage cheese, milk and melted butter; add remaining ingredients and pour into buttered casserole. Bake in moderate oven (325° F.) 1 hour or until a knife inserted in center comes out clean. Serve hot or cold with cream. Serves 6.

SPICED—Omit lemon juice and rind. Add ½ teaspoon allspice, ¼ teaspoon mace, ¼ teaspoon cloves and ¾ cup seeded raisins. Increase sugar to ½ cup.

These and other delicious recipes can be found in great variety in the Dairy Book. It is easy to obtain, too. All you need do is clip a Cookbook Coupon from page 2 of any issue of this newspaper and present it with 25c at the Examiner Office of from your Carrier or at Braund's Home Food Markets. Or you may obtain your copy by mail by sending the coupon with 30c (5c additional for postage and handling) to Cookbook Department, Examiner, Peterborough.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Sewing Circle Entertains In Honor of Missionary

At a ladies' meeting at the church they had a very special speaker who had been a missionary in North Korea.

In honor of the occasion the ladies had extended themselves to have the refreshments better than best, after the meeting proper was over.

They certainly impressed me—to the belt-bulging point.

I would have employed the direct request method to get some of the cookie recipes, but all I needed to do was admire them and keep on eating and I was offered the recipes. I silently blessed the willing donors, for not making me seem like a recipe-miser in front of that charming missionary.

Fleeting hour cookies are something that must be eaten before you possibly can appreciate their name.

Fleeting Hour Cookies

Four cups pastry flour, 1 teaspoon each cream of tartar, baking soda and salt, 1 cup half butter and half crisco or all margarine, 1½ cups light brown sugar, 2 eggs well beaten, ½ teaspoon almond flavoring, chopped nuts for rolling cookies in before baking. Sift together the flour, cream of tartar, soda and salt. Cream the butter, in electric beater if you have one—if not cream it with a wooden spoon, then beat the sugar into it, then the beaten eggs and flavoring. Sift in the sifted dry ingredients and stir until it is thoroughly mixed—this may take two or three minutes. Between palms roll into one-inch balls, then roll in chopped pecans or other nuts. Brazils and filberts are both good. Bake on ungreased pan at 325 deg. Fahr. Watch closely. They should be pale when done.

Livingstone Cookies

One cup granulated sugar, 1 egg, ½ cup crisco (one-quarter package), 1½ cups flour, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Work all of these ingredients together as you would shortbread — and then separate them into two parts and roll out each half on lightly floured board —just enough to keep it from sticking. Cut out in very small but different shapes. Put a whole blanched almond on some and a whole newly broken shelled walnut on others. This lady said she sometimes sprinkled them with shaved Brazils. (I thought she was going to say shaved Brazileans.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Two Part Frosting

(This was spread on a three-layer-cake that I swear was six inches high.)

One-quarter cup butter 2 egg whites, 1¾ cups sifted icing sugar, ¼ cup corn syrup, flavoring and coloring if desired. Cream the butter and gradually sift into it ½ cup of the sifted icing sugar, while beating, then add the corn syrup, and beat until very smooth. Stiffly beat the egg whites, add the 1 cup sugar gradually, and continue beating until mixture peaks. Combine the two mixtures and as necessary to make of spreading consistency, add extra icing sugar.

This makes a party cake if black walnut flavoring is used and chopped pecans are sprinkled over.

Dual Truck Wheels Kill Young Man

LINDSAY, Nov. 14 —(ENS— Twenty-two-year-old Neilson Sisson was killed Saturday near Centre Lake when he fell off the rear of a truck. The rear dual wheels of the truck passed over his body, causing extensive internal injuries.

Sisson, the son of Sidney Sisson, of West Guilford, and four companions returning from deer hunting were seated in the rear of a truck travelling from their camp to West Guilford.

Sisson died before a doctor could be summoned. Minden police were called. No inquest will be held.

Used Car Dealers Given One Week To Get Licenses

Writs "that will close them up for good" are to be issued against two used car salesmen if within a week they do not obtain municipal licenses to carry on that kind of business.

These operators are: Harry Goodman of National Motors, Hunter St., and U. Peconi who has a place on Lansdowne St.

The motion by Ald. Arthur Burrows was seconded by Ald. E. C. Braund at the meeting of the finance committee of the council last night.

Ald. J. E. Gillespie asked that he be excused from voting on the motion because he also sold used cars.

City Solicitor Huycke explained that action under the bylaw might bring a $25 fine as penalty, but a writ for an injunction in the High Court "could close them up for good".

It was recalled that Harry Goodman out-manoeuvred the council last spring when he was charged with operating without a city license. The necessary tightening of bylaw has followed since then, and apparently the council feels ready for prosecuting any persons who flout the civic authority.

In regard to Mr. Goodman it was related as a rather acidulous jest that since he was operating without a city license he actually, so it was said, appealed to the Court of Revision for exemption from business tax because, according to the record, he wasn't in business.

Opinion of the committee was they were not disposed to be vindictive, but, with a report from Chief Thompson listing the names of 21 used-car lot dealers, it was only fair to them that enforcing action should be taken against Peconi and Goodman on the ground that they have not obtained municipal licenses.

Williams Has 900-Vote Lead

DETROIT, Nov. 14 — (AP).— Democrat G. Mennen Williams, seemingly destined six days ago to be a one-term governor, today enjoyed a lead of nearly 900 votes in Michigan's election aftermath.

Williams' margin was his best since the original 6,000-vote edge of his Republican rival, former two-term Governor Harry F. Kelly, slipped away in corrections of a series of ballot counting bungles.

Since the start of the correction, Wiliams and Kelly have alternately held the lead.

With the official canvass now complete except for only four of the State's 83 counties, this was the count:

Williams 935,174, Kelly 934,287.

Election officials in the four incomplete counties admitted there still could be enough errors uncovered to change the rapidly-shifting picture again. The lead already had changed hands six times.

Canvassers felt, however, that the biggest mistakes had been rectified.

Still incomplete were the returns from Wayne (Detroit), Genesee, Oaklond and Macomb Counties, all populous ones.

When these are completed, probably in a couple of days, the stage will be set for a recount that is evidently certain to follow.

Whoever is behind at the time would have to ask for the recount, under state law, and foot the $21,000 bill at $5 a precinct.

Ground Crew Battles Weather To Keep Airlift Planes Going

Written for The Canadian Press By FO. AL MARSHALL R.C.A.F. Public Relations Officer

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Nov. 14 —(CP) — A band of R. C. A. F. airmen fights a running battle here against the weather, high prices and a 24-hour work day to keep Canada's planes flying the Pacific airlift.

At Elmendorf Field, the little group of Canadians services the North Stars of the R. C. A. F.'s 425 (Thunderbird) Squadron as they ferry men and supplies between the United States and Japan for the Korean fighting.

They are on call around the clock and in all weathers, checking and tuning up the big four-engined planes as they drop down over the mountains from McChord Field near Tacoma, Washington, or sweep in from the Pacific on the return flights from Tokyo.

Get Meals When They Can.

The detachment isn't large enough to allow normal shifts, so it's a question of grabbing meals whenever possible and turning out whenever one of the squadron's planes radios it's coming in.

The people at this base, nestling in the wide tidal valley of Alaska's Cook Inlet, puts in six weeks of arduous routine, working in a rotation system with ground crews at McChord Field and the detachment in Japan.

Detachment members say they get "splendid co-operation" from the Americans here but sky-high prices on the scarce commodities in Anchorage cut down on their off-time enjoyment.

Barracks provided by the Americans are pleasant, though, and the station movie is a popular form of recreation.

In charge of the detachment is Flt. Sgt. J. H. (Joe) Oldham of Vancouver and Big River, Sask., a master aircraft technician who has 13 years' service with the RCAF. He was a wartime flying officer navigator with 419 Moose Squadron overseas during the Second World War.

Other members of the detachment on the current tour of duty are:

Sgt. J. W. Hilker, Edmonton; Sgt. J. B. Reardon, Trenton, Ont., and Vancouver; Cpl. R. S. Blanchard, Montreal; Cpl. R. B. Calaway, Wynndel, B.C.; Cpl. J. C. Coutts, Trenton; Cpl. H. R. Grainger, Cobble Hill, B.C., and Edmonton; Cpl. C. N. McLeod, Victoria and Regina; Cpl. J. C. Pearse, Medicine Hat and Winnipeg; Cpl. J. C. Skinner, Aylmer, Ont.; Cpl. H. W. Wilson, Toronto; LAC J. Inspectors, Normal Teachers Review Education Program

Since 1945, 750 new schools or additions have been constructed in the province and 1,000 more are being built. Normal schools' enrolments this year in Ontario increased by 223. These two facts were brought out by speakers Monday at the annual conference of the Trent Valley group of elementary school inspectors and Peterborough Normal school staff. The conference was held at the Normal school, and for dinner and the afternoon session, at the Kawartha Golf and Country club.

C. F. Cannon, superintendent of elementary education, described how, during the last five years, the provision of adequate accommodations, made necessary by the tremendous increase in school population, has been the concern of school administrators in Ontario. Since 1945 new schools or additions numbering 750 have been completed and 1,000 more are in the course of construction. Grants from the provincial treasury have been of great assistance to the local communities in providing these essential buildings.

Shift Of Work

While the physical phase of the school program remains important, the work of the administrator and supervisor is now shifting to the development and implementation of more effective curricula, and the provision of more suitable instructional materials such as the newly approved series of readers for use in the primary and junior grades.

H. E. Elborn, inspector of professional training schools, stated that the number of students in the provincial Normal schools this session has increased by 223 over the enrolment of 1949-50.

"The number has increased," said Mr. Elborn "and the quality of the student has not dropped.

Much of the credit for this change in the teacher supply situation, Mr. Elborn advised the group, must go to the selection committees, the elementary school inspectors, representatives of the Ontario Teachers' Federation and to the secondary school principals and staffs who have co-operated with these committees.

Rural High School Program

Norman Davies, inspector of the agriculture classes, outlined the Department of Education's program for the rural high school. In the rural secondary schools where agricultural science is taught, more pupils are staying in school for a longer time. Attendance from the rural homes has increased by 40 per cent in such schools; in rural high schools offering no agriculture courses the attendance has increased only 15 per cent.

In emphasizing the need for the inclusion of agricultural science in the elementary school curriculum, Mr. Davies stated that the teachers must lead the children to appreciate the dependence upon the soil for both food and clothing and then to a realization of the need for its wise use and conservation.

Miss Gertrude Bergey, BA, on leave of absence from the London (Ontario) public school staff for full time work as the representative of the Federation of Women Teachers' Association of Ontario, described that organization's current project for the in-servicing of its members who teach in the primary and junior divisions, grades one to six. Miss Bergey as research convenor for the FWTAO is initiating a program designed to enable those teachers to accept responsibility in any task for the revision of the curriculum which they may have to face.

The program outlined by Miss Bergey calls for the thorough training of teachers in the techniques of group discussion, and in the application of those "workshop" methods to the pproblems of curriculum planning.

The program that the Association purposes for its members, which has the approval of the Department of Education, will require the teachers to spend both time and effort. Their rewards, according to Miss Bergey, will be threefold; an understanding of the curriculum, group experience, individual teacher growth.

Those in attendance were: Colin W. Lees of Lindsay, president; Department of Education, Mr. Cannon, Mr. Elborn, Mr. Davies; Miss Bergey; K. S. Wightman, P. G. Windrim, Peterborough; W. J. Morrison, superintendent of the Ontario school for the Deaf, Belleville; L. A. Kells, inspector-administrator of schools, Belleville; elementary school inspectors, K. O. Birkin, J. C. Doyle, both of Peterborough, A. C. Anderson of Lindsay, Harvey Knight of Uxbridge, Archie Stouffer of Minden; D. A. Simpson of Bancroft, T. A. McEwen of Oshawa, A. A. Martin of Brighton; A. F. Brown of Picton, R. Macklem of Belleville, Harry H. Carlton of Cobourg, H. H. Langford of Napanee; Peterborough Normal School staff, L. W. Copp, F. B. Smitheram, J. D. Londerville, Quirt McKinney, Mrs. Olga Turner, Miss Norma Timlin, Miss Constance Wagar, C. E. Potts; R. F. Downey, Peterborough, former county public school inspector.

WomenTeachers Form Groups On Curricula

The formation of six groups including all the women teachers in the city schools to start work immediately on the project of curricular revision was the result of an open forum discussion led by Miss Gertrude Bergey at the Queen Mary School Monday night.

Miss Bergey, convener of research for the Ontario Federation of Women Teachers' Association discussed curricular revision at an open meeting on Monday afternoon and in the evening the forum discussion was utilized to take definite steps in this regard in the Peterborough Association.

Six Groups Formed

Following Miss Bergey's instructions, the teachers were organized into six groups which include from 12 to 15 teachers. The Research Committee of the Federation of Women Teachers' Association of Peterborough will meet Thursday to make plans that will be taken back to these groups.

The Research Committee includes a convener, Miss Jean Leach of King George School, and one teacher from each school.

The groups and the Research Committee will follow the outlines given by Miss Bergey on how to organize work on research on various subjects. This work in Peterborough will be carried out in close co-operation with the Ontario Federation.

Believed Near Toronto

KINGSTON, Nov. 14 (CP). — Provincial police said today they believed Allan Francis, 25, who escaped from Kingston penitentiary Saturday is in the Toronto district. Francis escaped from a farm detail under cover of darkness and rain. He was sentenced in Toronto last January to four years for theft.

Biographer Dies

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14 (AP) —Mrs. Aniela Strakacz, 53, biographer and friend of the late pianist Ignace Jan Paderewski, died Saturday. A native of Warsaw, Mrs. Strakacz married her husband, Wylwyn, there when he was secretary to Paderewski while the latter was Polish Premier.

Make Another Appeal To County For Aid

Ald. Doug. Miller told Mayor Swanston Monday night that he believed the county council "are more aware of the hospital situation than they have been."

"I'd like to renew my previous motion that we make a definite appeal to them at their last sessions of this year," Ald. Miller said.

He asked what had been the outcome of his earlier motion to sound out the county council.

"At their spring meeting, the Board of Governors of the Hospital and myself arranged to meet the county council about this matter," Mayor Swanston said. "We were very cordially received and that's about all."

Ald. Miller said he thought the city would benefit "if we go and ask them again." Ald. A. B. Burrows, seconded the motion, and as a preliminary of approach, the return call will be broached to the Board of Governors at their meeting Thursday night.

"Mild Affair" Costs Man $26

A fight and disturbance at a Saturday night dance in Warsaw Nov. 4 turned out to be a very "mild affair" when aired in police court today.

Donald McCracken, RR 3, Lakefield, pleaded guilty to a charge of causing a disturbance and was fined $15 and $11.30 costs.

Marion Clements, Warsaw, who was in charge of the dance, testified he suddenly became aware of everyone leaving the dance because there was a fight on. He went outside and saw three or four men bundling McCracken into a car and drive away. Some time later McCracken returned "looking for trouble." Clements said his wife had a heart attack as a result of the excitement.

One of the dancers, Arthur Spencer, Warsaw, said he was getting ready to go home when McCracken took his hat off and threw it into a corner. When Spencer bent over to pick it up, McCracken kicked him in a convenient place.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, surprised by the lack of evidence for the prosecution, said "These people made an awful to-do about it. And then when they get in the witness box it's a very mild affair. I suggest the usual fine."

No More Trouble On Picket Lines

WINDSOR, Nov. 14 (CP)—Provincial Police reported no further demonstration Monday on the picket lines outside the Windsor Packers, Ltd., plant in suburban Sandwich West township. Three men were arrested there Saturday in an outbreak of violence when pickets tussled with police.

Hugh Dowson, Cecil Cunning and James Speal were arraigned in court today on charges of Wilful damage. Police said they stoned company cars and trucks attempting to enter the plant.

The three were remanded to Nov. 21 for trial, and were released on bail of $200 each.

Stones and eggs were thrown Saturday by an estimated 80 picketers outside the plant, where a group of employees has been on strike since Oct. 24. The plant is still operating.

Eight Provincial Police attempting to quell the disturbance were forced to call on reinforcements from Windsor city police.

Ken Latam, a company foreman, was cut and bruised by two men who attacked him after he went into the city. The two men were not found by police.

Twenty-eight members of the United Packinghouse Workers Union (CIO) have been on picket lines for almost three weeks in their contract dispute with the company.

Marathon Protestants Using One Church

MARATHON, Ont., Nov. 14—(CP) — Protestants worship together here in a white clapboard church whose congregation manages to cut through denominational differences.

The Rev. Owen Barrow, 40, says that by persuading members of half a dozen denominations to concede a point here in exchange for one there, he has worked out an interdenominational service that packs the church and retains distinctive characteristics of both Anglican and United Church of Canada dogma.

When the town was built five years ago on the north shore of Lake Superior 185 miles east of Port Arthur, it was realized that only one Protestant church could be supported. The church, Holy Trinity, was built. Now, although title to the building is held by the Anglican diocese of Algoma, its $15,000 mortgage is shrinking rapidly before the combined generosity of all groups of the 1,500 Protestants in Marathon's 1,800 permanent residents.

About 60 per cent of the Protestants are United Church adherents and 30 per cent Anglicans. The others are Presbyterians, Baptists, Lutherans, Salvation Army members and persons of miscellaneous denominations.

Pig Supplies Quebec People With Many Exotic Winter Dishes

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT.

QUEBEC, Nov. 14 — (CP). — This is the time when the "Habitant" looks back on a hard summer's work and turns to thoughts of hot pork pies, headcheese, home-made blood pudding and sausage. A cupboardful of other pork by-products constitute Quebec Province's perhaps most typical foods.

For this is the season of "Les Cochonnailles" — when Quebec farmers pick out one or more pigs for slaughter and housewives make the tasty foods and recipes handed down from generation to generation.

The variety of foods from the one animal is astonishing. Most of them will be kept in a frozen condition until Christmas and New Year's Day.

Most Exotic

Then there will be such tidbits as "cretons," a heart-warming "ragout de pattes" mixed with hare and burned flour sauce, delicious "graisse de roti"—by-product of a finely-spiced roast of pork, the "tourtieres" (pronounced toortayr) to mention the most exctic.

("Cretons" are known as greaves or crackling—a sort of fibrous tallow refuse left over after pork has been cooked. "Ragout de pattes" is pig's foot stew, and "craissed de roti" is roast pork dripping, which, after gelatine is added, turns a dark brown bread spread. "Tourtieres" are pork pies.)

The French word "cochonnaille" literally means "pigmeat." But in French Quebec its use in the form "Les Cochonnailles" implies the whole ceremonial of making these heavy winter foods, from the killing of the victim to the final by-product.

Hear Pigs Squeal

During the month of "Les Cochonnailles" the blood-curdling shrieks of the pigs can be heard in the countryside as farmers perform an annual job that would discourage the city dweller from eating sausages for a month.

The farmer does not lose a moment after he cuts the pig's jugular vein. He picks up the bleeding animal, and, as his wife brings a large receptacle, he lets the still-warm blood pour out. Later, with much pork fat or "fromage a cochon," the fragrant dried garden herbs, and poured into scrubbed tripe, this will become the typical Quebec blood pudding — unlike anything the city housewife gets in a store.

From there the animal is taken over an outdoor fire where its hair is singegd and its hide cooked to a crisp. In some districts it is customary for the children to crunch the crispy ears after they are cooked.

There is hardly a bit of the pig that is not used. The head, in many cases, is kept whole for Christmas, or used to make headcheese, a rather coarse but highly tasty jellied type of dish.

Quebec's cold winters are probably a reason for these traditional foods brought out by the farmer's wife during the winter's festive occasion. Another is that long ago, French settlers found pigs easy to k[illegible]eep, economical to feed, and with the housewife's "Habitant" ingenuity, one of the happiest foods to eat.

Human Rights Sermon Theme

NORWOOD, Nov. 14 (ENS).—Remembrance Day service was held Saturday with a parade moving from the Legion Hall to the cenotaph. Those taking part were led by the color bearers, Norwood Community Band, IODE, Norwood High School Cadets, followed by members of the Legion.

Wreaths were placed at the cenotaph by the following: Mrs. W. H. Giffen, Miss Shirley Goden, Mrs. David Starke, Mrs. George Bitten, Mrs. Fred Gardner, Mr. Alex Innes.

The Rev. E. E. Pugsley dedicated the wreaths, and the group went to the Town Hall where remembrance service was held.

Service opened with the singing of "O God Our Help In Ages Past," followed by the scripture reading by the Rev. Mr. Bingham. Mr. Pugsley led in prayer, then called for silence. The Last Post and Reveille were sounded by John Hamblin, Melville Hamblin and Harry Kavanagh.

"O Valiant Hearts Who To Your Glory Came" was then sung. The Rev. R. D. Duncanson of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, who served in the past war, gave the message. Mr. Duncanson centered his address around an article of the United Nations' Universal Declaration of Human Rights, passed Dec. 10, 1948. The section reads as follows: "Everyone has duties to the community; in which (duties) alone the free and full development of his personality is possible." We build upon a foundation of sacrifices—sacrifices we remember especially today.

"Abide With Me, Fast Falls The Eventide" was then sung, followed by the National Anthem. Mr. Pugsley closed the service with the benediction.

Educated South Africans Seeking Chance For Better Jobs

JOHANNESBURG, Nov. 14 — (Reuters).—The rapid increase in the number of educated Africans in South Africa is accenting the problem of finding openings for African men equipped for something better than manual labor.

Africans recently interviewed could see no solution to this problem in the government's policy.

Minister of Labor Ben Shoeman said the government could not allow European workers to be swamped by African labor. "There is unlimited scope for African skilled workers in their own areas," he added.

Africans, however, were not hopeful of the chances of African skilled workers finding work "in their own areas."

The government, they said, had promised its apartheid (segregation) policy would include a positive program of development in African areas. But three parliamentary sessions have passed and they have not seen any positive action.

Have Little Hope

They saw little hope of African enterprises being started in the African reserves and developing with all-African staffs, although they admitted that a couple of African business men had been able to build up large bus lines employing only Africans and using only African capital. But, they argued, against the background of a race of 10,000,000 persons, these achievements were negligible except psychologically.

South Africa's leading African bus-owner, Frederick Ngema, a Zulu, blamed the city council. "The government's all right," he said. "They want to give us a chance. Ngema complained the city council was slow in dealing with African affairs, imposing "impossible conditions in capital and property" for Africans who wanted to start in business on their own.

These "impossible conditions," however, are the same as those which apply to white people wishing to start in business, said Labor Minister Schoeman. There is no legal bar in South African industry, he said, except for certain occupations in the mining industry.

But certain conventional color bars are observed by white people whether employers or workers. As a result, African men are largely confined to laboring on farms, in the mines and industry. A handful are able to enter the underpaid profession of school-teaching and the fringe of other professions.

Canada Will Avoid Giving Excuse For Spreading War

Red Drive Smashes South Koreans Back at Two Points

SEOUL, Nov. 15—(AP)—Communist battalions smashed back South Korean troops at two widely-separated points on the United Nations line Tuesday night and today. Attacking Communists drove the South Korean 9th Division back four miles near Tokchon on the western front. The attack, in battalion strength, began Tuesday night and continued Wednesday morning. By noon the 8th Division had withdrawn to the south bank of the Taedong river, four miles east of Tokchon. This is on the right flank of the U.N. western front.

On the extreme northeastern front six tank-led North Korean assault battalions tore five holes through the South Korean capital division line late Tuesday. The South Koreans counter-attacked, closing the gaps, the U.S. 10th Corps said.

Violent Assaults

Violent Red assaults were continuing in the area, 90 miles southeast of the Soviet border. But, a spokesman said, "no ground was lost."

These Communist attacks were in sharp contrast to lack of opposition encountered by other UN troops advancing carefully in North Korea's bitter cold.

American Korean troops reached the shores of North Korea's two largest reservoirs which produce power also for Manchuria. They sent patrols inside the ancient walled city of Yongbyon, and probed out in front of their lines. The Commonwealth 27th brigade advanced half a mile and patrols entered Pakchon on the northwest front.

They found well-prepared but abandoned defences, with signs that Chinese Communists recently had left them. Some points were abandoned so hurriedly that ammunition and supplies were left behind.

An intelligence spokesman at Gen. MacArthur's headquarters said he had no idea why the Chinese were abandoning their positions.

Reorganizing Units

A U.S. 1st Corps spokesman on the western front said the Chinese are using North Koreans as a screen to fight U.N. troops while Chinese Reds prepare stronger defence lines to the rear. He said Chinese officers are reorganizing remnants of the North Korean army into effective fighting units.

There was no explanation of why little or no opposition was encountered around the great Changjin and Pujon reservoirs. Defence of these two vital dams had been cited as one probable

Britain Divided On Breaking Up Peace Congress

LONDON, Nov. 15 —(CP)—As the short-circuited World "Peace" Congress moves from Sheffield to Warsaw, British opinion seems divided on the wisdom of the official security screen which barred many delegates.

While no British newspaper except the Communist Daily Worker expressed anything like regret that the delegates are leaving, a number said in effect that the government's strong action is a blow at British freedom.

The Liberal Manchester Guardian and the imperialist Daily Express, in agreement for once, strongly opposed measures which they say torpedoed the conference.

"The stultification of the Sheffield congress is nothing to be sorry about," the Guardian commented editorially. "But . . . the British government's illiberal panic is a blow to what little remains of freedom in the world."

A Different View

W. L. Andrews, well-known writer for the Conservative Yorkshire Post, took a different view. While he would rather have seen truth prevail at Sheffield, it should not be said the government was wrong to bar men it considered potentially dangerous.

"Many of those who wanted to visit Sheffield," he wrote, "were trained political agents who meant to create hostility against the British government."

The Congress provoked some interesting correspondence. Konni Zilliacus, a former Labor member expelled for following the Communist line too closely, confessed in a letter that he had been one of the original members of the Paris Peace Congress, and had broken with it because of its attitude towards Yugoslavia.

Packing Plants Give 2-Cent Raise

TORONTO, Nov. 15 (CP). — About 14,000 packinghouse workers in cities across Canada will receive a wage increase of two cents an hour under an agreement reached between packinghouse firms and the United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL), a union official said Tuesday night.

Some 12,000 workers are employed by Canada Packers, Limited, Swifts Canadian Company and Burns and Company, the remainder by independent firms.

The agreement with the larger firms provided for increases averaging 8½ cents an hour retroactive to Aug. 1. The increase was based on one cent for every 1.3 rise in the cost-of-living index.

India Still Refuses To Join Commission

NEW DELHI, India, Nov. 15—(AP) — Participation of Chinese Communist forces in the Korean war will have no effect on India's decision not to join the United Nations Korean Commission, Prime Minister Nehru said today.

Nehru told the Indian parliament that there are grounds for fearing that the Korean war will be prolonged. He added that he believed China wanted to be associated in discussions on establishment of a free, United Korea.

Aussie Rail Strike Now Five Weeks Old

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov 15 (Reuters).—The rail strike which has paralyzed the transport systems of Victoria and South Australia for five weeks looks as though it may continue indefinitely.

A mass meeting of 1,000 key railmen today decided unanimously to stay out until the wage agreement they negotiated directly with the State Railroad Commissioners of Victoria is carried out.

But that now seems impossible The state conciliation authority has twice rejected it as "against the public interest," and the arbitration court yesterday also refused to ratify it.

7 Explosions Rock Oil Refinery

Flames Reported Under Control, Three Said Injured

PORT ARTHUR, Tex., Nov. 15—(AP)—A series of seven explosions tore through the vast Gulf Oil refinery early today leaving a circle of fire around the highly volatile area where gasoline is processed.

Three persons were injured, one critically.

Several hours after the initial blast, firemen were still unable to determine if any workers were trapped in the encircling blaze.

"There might be still other men in there," said Frank Grossman, Port Arthur (Tex.) News reporter. "They can't get in there to find out."

Grossman said at 4.30 a.m. that the flames appeared to be dying down slightly—"if there isn't another of those explosions."

Shortly before 6 a.m. CST the fireman on duty at the Port Arthur fire department said the flames "now are under control." He said he was not allowed to give out any details.

Blockade Roads

State highway patrolmen blockaded roads a half mile from entrances to the plant. More patrolmen were ordered to Port Arthur from Austin in case the situation should worsen.

The first explosion was reported at 1:48 a.m. EST. The second a few seconds later, and the other five at irregular intervals until 1:51 a.m.

"The first two were the heaviest," Grossman said. "They broke windows a mile away."

Ronald Robinson of Ponoka, Alta., won the junior competition for early white oats and Roy McBolm of Port Hope was second.

Argos Leading Hamilton 22-0 In 3rd Quarter

VARSITY STADIUM, Toronto, Nov. 15—(CP)—Both teams were at top strength when Toronto Argonauts met Hamilton Tiger-Cats for the Big Four football championship today, on a gridiron slippery in spots from an intermittent rain that threatened to start again.

First Quarter

Brown fumbled at the Hamilton six and Westlake scooped up the ball to carry it over. The touchdown was called back, however, because Whaley blocked out a Hamilton player, Whaley made up for it quickly, snaring two successive forwards from Dekdebrun, the second over the goalline. Volpe converted the touchdown, making it 6-0 for Argos.

Stocks intercepted a Heath forward at the 31 and raced to the Tiger-Cats 20. On third down, Volpe kicked a perfect placement from a wide angle at the 25, making it 9-0 for Argos as the quarter ended.

Second Quarter

Hamilton, still trying to move the yardsticks for the first time couldn't get either a ground or pass attack clicking. Kijek punted to midfield. Don Scott gathered in a Dekdebrun forward, stealing the ball out of McDonald's hands for a 16-yard gain to the Hamilton 37. Krol punted a rouge, stretching the Argo lead to 10-0.

A blocked kick by Wedley led to a second Toronto touchdown. The ball bounded off the Argo end into touch at the Hamilton 11, giving Argos possession with a 10-yard penalty. Dekdebrun hit Toogood with a nine-yard forward. Curtis plunged for three, then Dekdebrun found Toogood again with a forward in the paydirt. Volpe converted, making it 16-0 for Argos in the game and 27-13 in the series.

The Hamilton wingline spilled two successive Argo pass plays for losses, forcing Toronto back to their 40. After Krol's towering punt, the Tigers made their initial first down just before half time, Heath hitting Mazza with a forward for 19 yards to the Hamilton 39. Half time Hamilton 0, Argos 16.

Third Quarter

Attendance was 23,349.

Argos started a downfield drive from their 39, Dekdebrun completing three forwards—two to Whaley and one to Scott—to take play to the Hamilton 27.

Convict Oshawa Man Of Dangerous Driving

LINDSAY, Nov. 15 (CP)—An Oshawa auto worker, John Morris Forget, 18, was found innocent of manslaughter but convicted on the lesser charge of dangerous driving Tuesday night. He was sentenced by Mr. Justice Spence in Supreme Court to six months in jail.

The charge arose from a highway accident Sept. 2 near Coboconk when Forget lost control of his car on a hill. It ran wild, snapped a hydro pole, hit a boulder, struck a garage and house and ended up by crashing into a four-foot pile of logs. Forget's friend, Charles H. Booth, was killed.

Brig. Rockingham Gets Big Welcome At US Base

FORT LEWIS, Wash., Nov. 15—(CP)—Brig. J. M. (Rocky) Rockingham arrived here Tuesday night, in advance of the United Nations Brigade he commands. The Commander of Canada's 11,000-man Korean brigade, was met at Seattle by a horde of newspapermen and photographers, beginning coverage of an historic event, the first time a major body of Canadian troops has trained in a foreign country in peacetime.

The Brigadier will be officially welcomed here today by a United States Army guard of honor. Later, he will meet American commanders at the camp.

Brig. Rockingham said he was "exceedingly pleased" with the co-operation received from US officials in preparing for the Canadians. The advance party which arrived here some time ago now is in Pusan, Korea.

Given 200 Buildings

Two hundred large buildings have been allotted to Canadians at this camp, designed to accommodate up to 60,000 troops.

There are signs everywhere signalling that the Canadians are here. One reads, for example: "Know Your Canadian Guests Better."

Another displays a reproduction of all Canadian badges of rank.

The Second Battalion of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, bound for Korea in the near future, will arrive late in the week.

After the Princess Pats will come the Second Field Regiment, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, and 18 miscellaneous units.

The Second Battalion of the Royal 22nd Regiment will arrive Friday. The next major unit to follow will be the Second Battalion of the Royal Canadian Regiment.

All these will remain for formation training on this camp's 30 square miles of West Coast terrain.

Trains Collide 9 Die, 30 Hurt

OSLO, Nov. 15 — (CP). — At lease nine persons were killed today in a train accident when an Oslo-bound express hit a stationary freight car while travelling at full speed on the main Norwegian south coast line. About 30 persons were injured.

Nine bodies were recovered by nightfall, but more might be buried under the debris of the express, an electrically-driven train with only a driver's cabin to take the brunt of the impact on the first passenger-flled coach.

The crash occurred a half-mile south of Hjukseboe, a small rail junction in Telemark.

The freight car trundled on to the main line from a train which was being shunted.

Hjukseboe is 82 miles north of Oslo. Emergency squads including doctors and nurses were sent to the accident scene from Kristiansand and Drammen.

The accident occurred about 10:45 a.m. The express was going at full speed when it crashed.

The first coach of the express was demolished.

Faithful Service Pays Dividends

GROOMBRIDGE, Eng., Nov. 15 (AP)—Khalifa Ali Fadel, 52-year-old Egyptian servant, found himself a country gentleman in this Sussex village today — because he kept his promise.

As a boy of 17 in Cairo he asked two English spinsters for employment—but had no references.

"I told them my word was my bond and I would serve them well," Khalifa recalled.

He was engaged for £5 ($25) a month, and kept his promise for 35 years — doing the cooking, housework, washing and ironing —until the second of the two English women, Miss Emmeline Hodge, died recently.

When Miss Hodge's will was opened, Khalifa found that he had been left the bungalow where the trio had lived since they left Egypt in 1924. In addition he gets the interest on investments of £9,400.

One Of Triplets Dies Second Said Dying

HAMILTON, Nov. 15 — (CP). —Less than 24 hours after the premature birth of a set of triplets to Mrs. Walter Jaszek at the Mount Hamilton Hospital, a baby boy is dead, and one of the two baby girls today is fighting for her life.

The triplets were the third set in the history of the hospital, one being born 10 years ago, and another seven years ago.

The boy and one girl each weighed an estimated three pounds, and the other girl, about 2½ pounds.

Pearson Hopes To Delay Action Under UN Forcing Wider Conflict

Red Chinese And Formosa Questions To Be Handled Carefully Till Complete Aggression Been Proved

WINDSOR, Nov. 15—(CP)—Chinese Communist troops in Korea should not deter Canada in her policy of trying "in every way possible" to prevent the Korean war from spreading, External Affairs Minister Pearson said Wednesday night. In a speech dealing with the problem of containing Communist aggression, Mr. Pearson said Canadians should assume, "until we are obliged to believe otherwise," that Chinese Red troops are in Korea for the limited purpose of "a protective and border mission." However, he promised that "aggression will be met wherever it arises."

The address, a dinner sponsored by the local United Nations Association branch and the Chamber of Commerce, followed an earlier speech here in which Mr. Pearson said Canada will probably have to spend about $1,000,000,000 next year for military purposes.

He said that amount is 40 per cent greater than this year's defence budget.

Mr. Pearson said he hoped Canada would not be asked to support any UN action to extend the Korean fighting "unless and until it is clear that Chinese Communist forces have been sent to Korea on more than a protective and border mission."

Future actions by the Chinese Communists may show they intend "an unlimited aggression against Korea and indeed against the United Nations."

Avoiding Pitfalls

If that happened, the UN would have to recognize the fact and "enlarge the field of action of the United Nations commander."

Canada sought to avoid giving anyone an excuse for extending the scope of the Korean war.

"Nothing should be done in the establishment of a united and free Korea which would carry the slightest menace to Korea's neighbors," Mr. Pearson said. The safety of the Manchurian and Siberian frontier was "of prime concern" to the two Communist governments.

The same desire "to localize the conflict and prevent it from spreading" dictated Canadian policy regarding Formosa. Canada would be happy to support a UN resolution authorizing continuance of the neutralization of Formosa by the United States fleet "so long as the war in Korea makes that necessary," Mr. Pearson said.

"We are in some doubt, however, as to whether any more comprehensive action by the United Nations over Formosa could usefully be taken at this time."

Alpine Climbers Move Bodies Of Crash Victims

CORPS, France, Nov. 15 (CP). —Crack French Alpine mountaineers, warmly muffled against the cold, started the arduous climb up Mont l'Obliou today to recover the broken bodies of 56 Canadians and two others whose plane was ripped apart Monday on the wind-swept crags of the French Alps.

Rain and hail, which had hindered search operations Tuesday and Monday, abated during the night and the peak where the four-engined Skymaster crashed could be seen from the village of Croix de Pinges.

Local mountain guides pointed out long streaks of oil shining in the sun, near the place where villagers said they heard an explosion just before the chartered DC-4 plunged into the mountain.

Search parties found the wreckage of the plane Tuesday. They said little remained but "pieces of bodies" of the 49 Cana-

May Put Curfew On Liquor Sale

TORONTO, Nov. 15 (CP) — A midnight curfew for liquor sale in all dining lounges in Ontario is reported under consideration by the Ontario Liquor Licence Board. They now close at 2 a.m.

All licences come up for renewal next March 31. The midnight shutdown could be made general at that time.

Premier Frost declined comment today on government plans in this regard, but said the licences issued recently for places in which liquor is sold with meals have contained the midnight closing restriction.

He also said that for the last 18 months the board has granted lounge licences only to operators of bona fide hotels. No public house licences, for sale of beer only, have been granted this year except to veterans' clubs, labor halls or other organizations of that kind.

Winnipeggers Won't Match Calgary's Grey Cup Display

WINNIPEG, Nov. 15—(CP)—Winnipeg Blue Bombers, 1950 western football champions, won't lack supporters at the Grey Cup final at Toronto Nov. 25. But no plans have been made yet for a display to match Calgary's in the last two years.

"If Toronto is expecting a sideshow similar to that put on by Calgary followers in 1948 and '49, then I'm afraid they'll be disappointed," one Bomber official said. "We can't afford it."

He said, however, the city or the Junior Chamber of Commerce may want to drum up something on their own. Mayor Garnet Coulter said nothing had been planned yet.

Maurice Carter, president of the Winnipeg Quarterback Club, said his group thought about trying some stunt but dropped it when "no good ideas" turned up.

"We can't expect the club to pay for it," he added. "They spent enough getting a good ball club. I think it's up to the city. But, then again, what could we have which is representative of our city or province."

One Bomber supporter came up with the idea of playing up Winnipeg's floods. He suggested borrowing a couple of army ducks, a pile of sandbags, shovels, picks, water pumps, and any other equipment used during the flight of last spring's flood.

He proposed a slogan: "Winnipeg still is winning its battles".

Carter said he would bring these ideas up at the next Quarterback meeting this week.

Heading the thousands of Winnipeggers planning to make the jaunt to Toronto are Mayor and Mrs. Coulter. Several aldermen are expected to join the special train load.

Acheson May Be Fired

Battle Over Truman Aide Splits Democratic Ranks

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP) —A struggle over Dean Acheson's tenure as Secretary of State appeared today to be building up behind the scenes of the Truman administration.

In the aftermath of last week's Democratic election reverses, official informants who cannot be named said that two conflicting lines of advice are being directed toward President Truman. These are:

1. Acheson must go because he is a political liability; and

2 He must be kept in office under Republican fire because to let him go now would jeopardize the foreign policies for which he stands and hurt the president politically.

At the moment there is every indication that Truman does not intend to let the secretary out. Associates say the two maintain a close friendship based on mutual admiration. Acheson himself has declared he has no intention of resigning.

The argument that he should go now, reportedly pressed by Acheson's critics within the Democratic party, holds that the Congressional elections proved the secretary to be a political handicap and that he lacks popularity if not the confidence of much of the country.

Political observers in touch with sentiment in the Democratic National Committee and among Democratic senators say the weight of opinion in those quarters is against Acheson.

The issue probably will not come to a head until the new Congress with its bigger Republican minority gets under way. What happens then probably will depend on Acheson's ability to get along with Congressional leaders—both Democratic and Republican.

UK Refuses To Ransom Pair To Russians

LONDON, Nov. 15 (AP). — Britain has refused to "ransom" an RAF officer and an army private held captive in East Germany by turning a Russian officer refugee over to the Russians the foreign office announced today.

The British ambassador in Moscow "will continue to press" for the release of Flt. Lt. J. W. Driver and Pte. John Benet, held by Russian authorities for more than nine weeks.

The foreign office said Russian authorities "intimated that their return would be facilitated by the surrender of a certain Soviet army lieutenant who had deserted from the Soviet forces in Germany."

Driver made a forced landing in the Soviet zone Sept. 5. Benet, a guard on a military freight train, was accidentally left behind after the train halted in the Soviet zone.

Spend Billion On Defence Pearson Says

Phony Peace Plans Can Be Dangerous Warning To Dominion

WINDSOR, Nov. 15—(CP)—External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson said Tuesday that Canada will probably have to spend about $1,000,000,000 for military purposes next year, in co-operation with other friendly countries opposed to aggression.

He said however, he believed that Canada would not be made safe by basing all of its resources on military strength alone.

Mr. Pearson spoke informally at a luncheon meeting of the Windsor Liberal Association.

Communists would like to see free countries weaken their social and economic powers by too much attention to armaments, he said. The danger to Canadian institutions from within was more important than the actual danger of military aggression.

Phoney Peace Plans

"Phoney peace petitions," were one danger facing free countries Mr. Pearson said. Another danger was the possibility of yielding to a temptation to be too provocative and to feel that other countries were not giving all they could to world peace.

It is terrible to think, he said, that Canada will probably spend about $1,000,000,000 for military purposes next year. The United States would spend from 20 to 40 times that much and other friendly nations amounts comparable to their size.

He said he was not opposed to increasing military strength collectively with friendly nations.

10 Killed In Crash

ROME, Nov. 15 (Reuters) — Ten persons were killed and about 80 were injured Tuesday night when a Naples-Rome express train crashed into the rear of another train in the station of Saint Antimo, a few miles from Naples.

The miracle of Canada is the reward of its thrifty people; it is a standard of living wrought by men and women who believe in spending and saving wisely. The average Canadian, for example, owns his own car and his own home. He pays his bills when due. His pattern of living is excellent.

When the pattern breaks

But unexpected emergencies do break the pattern. Usually the emergency requires more money than he has available. This can happen to anyone. Then help must come from a dependable outside service.

80 In First Party

A first party of 80 will bring the bodies down to Pignes, while another group will take them on to Corps-La-Sallette, from where they will be brought to this little French Alpine village.

During the night French army trucks and radio cars took up positions in surrounding villages to await the bodies.

A mountain-climbing expert said Tuesday night it would take six climbers to bring down each body. All should be at Pignes by nightfall. It will take the burial party five hours to climb from Corps.

Eugene Pelissier, postman of the tiny mountain hamlet of Palafol, and 79 other mountaineers were making today's first attempt. It was planned to lower the bodies 1,200 feet by means of cables used for sending logs down to the valley.

They were to be followed by 60 more mountaineers, while another 60 went to La Croix de Pignes to prepare the church to receive the bodies.

Canadian officials, including Archbishop Maurice Roy, Bishop of Quebec, Fisheries Minister Camille Pouliot of Quebec, and Col. A. Cherrier, attache of the Canadian embassy at Rome, left Tuesday night for Corps. Theirs will be the likely-impossible task of identifying the victims.

Inspector J. P. Fournier of Montreal, an official of the Canadian Department of Transport, also left to investigate the crash—worst in history involving Canadians.

They left Rome 4½ hours behind schedule, delaying their flight to attend a reception by the Pope. Officials at Ciampino Airport at Rome said the site of the accident indicates the pilot, Captain Orville Alfred Ohmstead of Montreal tried to make up time by cutting closer to the Alps than the original route allowed.

Driving Charge Costs Man $30 In Court

Because provincial police had to drive to Toronto to pick him up, Joseph Loretto, Toronto, paid $30 instead of $12.50 in police court today when found guilty on a charge of careless driving Aug. 6.

He was sent a summons shortly after the accident on Highway 28 a little more than a mile north of the city. A sticker was attached to the summons telling him if he wished to plead guilty, he could fill out the form and send a cheque for $12.50.

He didn't answer the summons by mail or by appearing in court so a Toronto policeman served him personally in September. Later in the month he sent a letter to the magistrate here stating he would send the money when he got it.

Arrested In Toronto

When arrested Tuesday in Toronto, Loretto, the driver of a 1950 model car, had $400 on his person. Loretto appearing in dirty rumpled clothes, said he was out of work and that was why he had not sent the money. Magistrate E. A. Gee, Lindsay said he would have to pay $17.50 to police for mileage from Toronto.

The accident in which he was involved was described as nearly a head-on crash. Driver of the other car George Brady, said as he rounded a curve down a hill driving north, he saw Loretto's car approaching him on the wrong side of the road.

He swerved to avoid the crash, but the other car swerved in the same direction and they hit.

Only Loretto was hurt. He had a gash over his left eye. Provincial Constable Archie Eady said Loretto had been drinking and appeared drunk, but was advised by Dr. J. M. O'Brien, who treated him, the blow Loretto received could have been the cause.

Of the accident, Loretto said, "It happened all at once. I really couldn't say how it happened."

Industrials Firmed In Dull Trading

TORONTO, Nov. 15 (CP). — Industrials firmed in dull trading as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Continuing yesterday's listless tendency, papers, constructions, manufacturing companies and retail stores showed majority of fractional gains in the groupings.

Base metals advanced to new high ground for the third straight session. International Nickel led with a gain of ⅞ and Hudson Bay, Steep Rock, Quemont and Sherritt Gordon were ahead. Mackeno and Acadia-Uranium were the most active issues, slipping pennies.

Junior and senior gold producers drifted lower in quiet dealings with gains and losses limited to pennies. Home and Royalite added ¼ in a firm western oil list.

New Television Use

OTTAWA, Nov. 15 (CP)—Canadian government scientists are working on a scheme to use television to hunt around underwater where divers can't go and to allow man to broaden his knowledge of the ocean-depths—in comfort. The National Research Council said Tuesday the "underwater televiser" could be used "for reconnoitering submerged objects" to depths of 500 feet. There still are a lot of problems to solve but initial tests have been "fairly" successful.

Reported Weaker

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Nov. 15—(Reuters)—Peter Fraser, former Prime Minister, was reported by his doctor tonight to be "rather weaker". The opposition leader has been critically ill since early last month.

Find Dollar Lower

MONTREAL, Nov. 15—(CP)—The American dollar today opened at 3¾ per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, 1-32 lower than Tuesday's close. That is, it took $1.05¾ Canadian to buy $1 American. The pound sterling was $2.90½, unchanged.

Parka-clad U.S. Marines, winding through gorges so narrow that their artillery could not follow, took Hargu at the southern tip of Changjin without opposition.

To the northeast the U.S. 7th Division's 31st Regiment hauled its guns and supplies on sleds to the northeastern shores of Pujon reservoir.

The 7th Division's 17th Regiment ran into some artillery, mortar and rifle fire in a two-mile advance that carried it within 28 miles of the Manchurian border on the road to Kapsan. One U.S. tank was knocked out.

Cold Biggest Enemy

But Maj.-Gen. David Barr, division commander, said:

"The biggest enemy is this cold, miserable sub-zero weather."

Temperatures as low as six degrees above zero have frozen much of the battlefront. The forecast was warmer Friday with perhaps the first general snowfall of the season this weekend.

The air war didn't wait for the weather to warm up.

Thirty B-29's fire-bombed Hoeryong in northeastern Korea, northern-most target of the war. An air spokesman said the communications and military supply base, once a major link in Japan's military network in Korea, was left a mass of smoke and flames. Hoeryong is a city of 450,000 on the Manchurian border. It is the hub of five highways linking Manchuria with Korean seaports, mining areas, and the present snow - covered northeastern battlefront.

Retail, Small Firms Group To Insure

The executive of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, selected the group insurance plan proposed by the Great-West Life Insurance Company for the retail establishments and small industries of the city, at their meeting Tuesday night.

The plan selected was one of four submitted to the Chamber of Commerce. Voting was done by secret ballot.

"This plan will be a two-way benefit for employers and employees," stated Jim Fraser, manager of the chamber. "It will relieve employers by covering part of the salary of members of the staff who are ill and it will also provide more security for the employees."

Three Classes

The plan is divided into three classifications. In the main the classifications are as follows: Class A covers female employees with a $500 life insurance policy, plus loss of time, hospital and surgical benefits; Class B for male employees, provides a $1,000 life insurance policy plus loss of time, hospital and surgical benefits; Class C for wives and dependent children from 14 day old infants to those 21 years of age, hospital benefits and extras and surgical benefits.

Participants in the plan are not barred by age limit from any benefit nor are there any medical requirements for those joining the plan within the eligibility period. It is expected that the plan will go into force on December 15 if the required number of applications are obtained by that time.

Both Contribute

The insurance will take the form of a contributory plan by both employers and employees through the Chamber of Commerce which will act as the common employer. The Chamber will bill the retail merchants and small industries for insurance payments and will also handle all claims.

"The executive of the Chamber of Commerce feels that the chamber could be of real service to the community by sponsoring this plan," stated Mr. Fraser.

The first community in Canada to adopt this type of insurance plan was Brantford. A year ago the Brantford Board of Trade offered a group insurance plan. Since that time 21 communities have followed this lead. The nearby communities of Port Hope and Cobourg have found it extremely successful.

RIMOUSKI, Que., Nov. 15 (CP) — Most Rev. Georges Courchesne, 70, Roman Catholic archbishop of Rimouski since 1946, died Tuesday night.

Quebec Assembly Adopts Cabano Aid Bill

QUEBEC, Nov. 15 (CP). — Premier Duplessis told the Quebec Legislature Tuesday night how the little Temiscouata town of Cabano took advantage of its disastrous fire last May to settle a problem of town planning.

Addressing the Legislative Assembly, he said that before the $1,200,000 fire, which destroyed more than 100 of Cabano's buildings, one house was crowded next to another.

The Premier said that Mayor Emilien Morin decided to put tidiness into the lumber-milling town when it rebuilt.

A local committee was formed and it bought up all land on which burned homes had been located. The committee then drew up a plan of lot divisions making everyone of them wider and more regular in shape.

Have Comfortable Winter

Premier Duplessis said a telegram from Mayor Morin last week informed him that 125 new buildings have been put up on the reorganized lots and every citizen of Cabano, despite the fire, will spend a comfortable winter.

A bill approved by the House confirmed the local committee's action and also authorized the town to borrow $150,000 to help finance the cost of new homes.

George Marler, Liberal house leader, expressed the same objection over the Cabano bill that he had over a bill to authorize the fire-swept town of Rimouski to borrow $1,000,000 to finance rebuilding. He said the measures don't go far enough.

Robert Levesque (Lib.-Gaspe North) presented an amendment to the Rimouski bill designed to make its terms more generous. The amendment was ruled out of order by speaker Alexandre Tache. On appeal, the speaker's ruling was upheld 60 to 8.

By adjournment time at 10 p.m., only three measures of a dozen brought in when the session started last Wednesday were left awaiting study.

Labor Demands Thomson Resign

OSHAWA, Nov. 15 (CP) — The Oshawa District Labor Council Tuesday night demanded the resignation of their federal member of parliament, Walter Thomson, the newly-elected Ontario Liberal party leader.

Mr. Thomson, who was chosen at a Liberal convention in Toronto last week, still represents the federal constituency of Ontario.

"He has badly neglected the interests of Ontario riding, particularly that of its working people," said a resolution passed by the council. "His election as a Liberal party leader will mean a further neglect of the constituency's interests in the House of Commons.

The council accused Mr. Thomson of "devoting all his time to advancement of his personal political position."

It said he should resign as soon as possible to pave the way for a by-election which would select another representative for Ontario riding, a constituency which includes this highly-industrial city.

Tin Miners Don't Get Pimples

Because Cornish tin miners appeared to avoid skin blemishes, British chemists suggested the use of tin in treating Boils, Acne, Pimples.

Now convenient, tasteless tablets containing 42.5% metallic tin are available under the brand name "Tinoxid". Rapid, satisfactory results are claimed for this inexpensive treatment.

Tinoxid Tablets are sold without prescription at all drug stores, 75c.

Will Board Up Old Hospital

Harold Ephgrave's bid of $1,866 for boarding up the old Nicholls Hospital was accepted by the property committee in a recommendation to the council this morning.

A motion by Mayor Swanston and Ald. A. B. Burrows adopted the course of looking into any promising leads, especially for government purpose "or our own", and that meanwhile we board it up.

A letter from W. H. Bosley, Toronto realtor, whom the council has consulted in various property matters, brought the information that he learned recently in Ottawa that the government had no immediate use for the old hospital buildings.

Employees Get Two-Cent Bonus

Today some 200 employees of Canada Packers, member of Local 210, UPWA (CIO-CCL), will get a two-cents-an-hour pay boost because of the rise in the cost of living.

According to the terms of the contract signed Sept. 1 the workers will receive a cent-an-hour increase for each 1.3 points rise in the cost of living. An adjustment is made every three months.

The index jumped from 168.5 at August 1 to 170.7 at October 1.

Similarly affected are 12,000 other packinghouse workers in the Big Three—Canada Packers, Swifts and Burns Co. Some 2,000 others in smaller independent plants also get the increase.

Maximum increase during a year, according to this one-way escalator clause, is three cents.

Minister Tells Kinsmen Of CCF Gov't

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 15—(ENS) — Guest speaker at the Monday evening meeting of the Campbellford Kinsmen Club was Rev. Gordon Whitehorne of the Seymour United Church charge, who spoke on Saskatchewan and its government. He gave what he termed at the ouset, a politically unbiased report of the activities of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation government of Saskatchewan, to which the people of the rest of Canada looked with cupriosity, as this province was the first to elect the C.C.F. to office.

Mr. Whitehorn said he spoke as an observer and not as a politician. The principle of co-operation had been applied in Saskatchewan, which had seen dark times during the depression years.

The government sponsored Saskatchewan wheat pool was the start of their period of recovery. This involved 11,000 grain elevators. Thomas C. Douglas was elected to head the C.C.F. government in 1944. He brought about many improvements in the mode of living, particularly to the poorer classes.

A hospitalization scheme was brought about whereby each citizen paid an annual levy of $10 or a maximum levy of $30 for one family. The government policy was "Every citizen had the right to good health regardless of financial standing." In certain health areas a voluntary payment of $25 each year allows the individual to fully protect himself financially against any illness or accident including surgery expenses. The government has fully equipped aerial ambulances which will rush any emergency case to hospital from any point in the province for a nominal fee of $25.

In the new school areas which have been created a method of taxation has been worked out affording poorer districts the same educational facilities as the more prosperous regions enjoy. Teachers are paid good wages, and free text books are supplied to all public school students.

A bill of rights has been passed guaranteeing, among other things, elections at least every five years in order to combat political propaganda that civil liberty was being threatened and free elections abolished. The C.C.F. party was re-elected to power with a reduced majority in 1948. The government had embarked upon several business ventures of its own but many of these were not satisfactory.

Mr. Whitehorne had spent several years in the prairie provinces before coming to Campbellford.

Bruce Grills moved a vote of thanks to the speaker and President Ron. Hazell thanked Rev. Whitehorne on behalf of the club.

Six Trenton guests were present at the meeting and in a brief ceremony Kinsman Vern Wannamaker of Trenton, presented President Ron Hazell of the Campbellford club with the "Voyageur Gong," a travelling relic designed to promote inter-club fraternization. Members of the Campbellford club will take the gong to Tweed in the near future.

The date of the annual Christmas turkey bingo was announced as Thursday, Dec. 14.

CO-PILOT ON FATAL FLIGHT—Robert James Henderson, 31, from Willowdale, Ont., was second pilot of the airliner the "Canadian Pilgrim" that crashed Monday in the French Alps, killing all 51 passengers and crew of seven. Henderson learned to fly at the age of 15 and flew with the RAF Ferry Command during the Second World War. A former test pilot, he joined Curtiss-Reid, operators of "Canadian Pilgrim," four months ago.

Cobourg Votes Travel Costs To Rugby Team

COBOURG, Nov. 15.—(ENS).—Cobourg Town Council at its regular meeting on Monday night voted $100 to the Cobourg Galloping Ghosts, who are now in the provincial ORFU intermediate finals, to help defray their travelling expenses. The Council also voted $50 to the intermediate baseball team.

Council received a letter from Alfred Leatham, whose house is just south of the CGE plant, protesting against plant employees parking their cars in front of his house. The matter was referred to the public works committee.

Better Light

The medical officer of the counties board of health told Council in a letter that better light, better ventilation and other improvements were needed in the town hall basement lavatories. Council decided to advise Dr. Horner that the matter would be looked into and also to inform the health unit that if Colonial Coach Lines built a shelter or bus station it would relieve the town lavatories of much of the traffic of bus passengers.

A letter from the Kiwanis Club asked Council for use of the market building for a poultry show on December 2. Council instructed the clerk to advise the club that the market building by that date would be readied for the municipal elections, and suggested that the poultry show date be moved back to December 8.

Council decided to have the streets department try slag as a base for street foundations as it was cheaper and still very substantial.

Teachers Set Dates For School Concerts

ROSENEATH, Nov. 15 (ENS)—Mrs. William Montgomery, teacher at Fenella School, was hostess to the teachers of North Haldimand and Alnwick townships for their November meeting held on Monday.

Mr. John D. Loucks, presided over the business period with Mrs. Louis King as secretary.

Dates were set for the Christmas concerts at the different schools. The first concert will be on December 13 and they will conclude on December 22.

Searching Inquiry Must Be Made About "Canadian Pilgrim"

The aeroplane crash on an Alpine peak in which 58 Canadians were killed was a sad, shocking accident. The plane, dubbed "Canadian Pilgrim", was called an airliner, and it had already made thirty round-trip flights to Rome from Canada, taking special groups of passengers on Holy Year pilgrimages. Since last April when it began the chartered flights between Montreal and Rome it has successfully ferried 2,000 persons to and from Rome.

• • •

Accidents such as this can happen even to the most reliable types of planes and to the most experienced pilots in the service of the finest of airline companies such as T.C.A., B.O.A.C. or Canadian Pacific. In point of fact, however, neither of the two major Canadian airline companies has ever suffered an accident of such proportions as this.

• • •

The Canadian Pilgrim was owned and operated by a private company known as the Curtiss-Reid Flying Service, which is the oldest aviation company in eastern Canada. It is not one of Canada's seven air line companies. Its main flying service has been to tourists and sportsmen taking chartered flights into Quebec resort areas, and domestic flights about Montreal. There are many such companies in Canada, licensed by the Air Transport Board to engage in chartered, non-schedule flights. Such commereial planes have flown Canadian cattle to South America. It is said that Curtiss-Reid's Canadian Pilgrim was the only aircraft of Canadian registry operating on an international charter service. This is itself remarkable. Authority for this operation must presumably have been secured from ICAO (International Civil Aviation Organization), and with the approval of Canada's Air Transport Board, a government agency.

• • •

A flight from Montreal to Rome, over the Atlantic and the Alps, is no hop-skip-and-jump. Regular airline companies have the most rigorous inspections, rules, elaborate charts and replacement, maintenance and pilot services to ensure that such difficult flights are conducted with the least margin of risk. Despite the Canadian Pilgrim's thirty successful round-trip flights this year, it may be questioned whether a private company operating one plane over this long, hazardous route can give passengers the adequate protection and same degree of safety that regular overseas airway companies provide. It is unthinkable that a pilot in the employ of a regular airline company would attempt a short cut when over Europe's highest mountains in November.

• • •

The plane crashed over French territory and the French government will make a thorough investigation on the spot and give its findings to the Canadian government. That will not be sufficient to satisfy the Canadian public. There should also be a searching investigation of the circumstances on this side. By what or whose authority was the company licensed to fly 2,000 passengers to Rome in the last eight months? Were the licensing officials fully satisfied that the service would meet the highest Canadian and international standards? It may be found, after a study of the complete circumstances, that licensing regulations under which aviation companies are allowed to take passengers on chartered, non-schedule flights need to be revised.

• • •

The loss of life on board the Canadian Pilgrim has saddened Canadians. They must also be distressed at the black mark which the accident puts against the good name and accident-free record of Canadian civil aviation in international service. Although the plane did not belong to T.C.A. or Canadian Pacific Airlines, its was Canadian, operated by a Canadian firm and bore the name Canadian Pilgrim, a name now to be lamented.

Whenever a member of the Royal Family enters a room where a servant is working, we read in a Chicago paper, the servant is expected to disappear discreetly. The complete triumph of democracy, of course, will be when it is the royal personage who feels obliged to scram.

Shaw The Agnostic

Since the death of Bernard Shaw there have been two or three denials that he was an atheist. The vicar of Ayot St. Lawrence hastened to read a prayer for the dying over the body of the comatose philosopher, and his friend Viscountess Astor rushed into print with an article in which she asserted that Shaw had at one time expressed some admiration for some of the principles of the late Mary Baker Eddy, of whom Lady Astor is a follower. Letters to the press, in England and Canada, have also suggested that these attempts to rake Shaw into the Christian fold after he had lost the power of speech showed a lack of taste.

We cannot see the necessity for denials that Shaw was an atheist. We cannot claim familiarity with all his work, but in two of his considered statements on religion—the prefaces to Androcles and the Lion and St. Joan—he makes it clear that he was far from being an atheist. No man of ample intellect can be an atheist, for atheism implies a dogmatic assertion that there is no God, and dogmatism is not a characteristic of first-rate minds.

Shaw was certainly an agnostic—that is to say, a man who acknowledges the existence of supernatural power, but denies the possibility of certain and fixed knowledge concerning such power. He may have been a Christian; he was certainly not a churchman. The implication of the clergyman of the village in which he died that, because he was not an atheist, he was therefore a Christian, covers too much ground too quickly as Shaw, if he had been alive, would certainly have pointed out. It was not Shaw's way to follow beaten paths, or to permit other people to interpret his thoughts. If he had wished to be known as a Christian, he would have told the world about it. As matters stand, it is wiser not to invent legends about him which he would have resented.

Forty Years For Education

It was with keen regret that we recorded the death of Miss Mary A. O'Connell, who was for forty years a teacher in Peterborough schools. She came of a family which has given richly to education in Ontario, for four of her generation were teachers. We cannot hope to compute how many children came under her influence during that time; the number must run well into four figures.

She was a teacher of a type that is never common—the teacher who admits pupils to a considerable degree of intimacy with her, but who never loses her control over them. She was a woman of strong personality, possessed of wit and charm. She was an excellent talker. Classroom routine, which she sometimes found dull, she could enliven in a wide variety of ways. As with most first-rate teachers, her methods were sometimes unorthodox. She was loved and remembered by her pupils and she has left a strongly individual mark on the education of this city.

A Russian Delusion

Our attention has been captured by some remarks which H. L. MacPherson has made in the Windsor Star about that strange Marxist delusion, "the withering of the state". It is Marxist doctrine that as Communism progresses and wipes out the ills which capitalism has brought to mankind, the machinery of government will become unnecessary, and all men will live at peace and in plenty, with an absolute minimum of direction, and a greater degree of personal freedom than the world has ever seen. Mr. MacPherson describes this as twaddle.

Twaddle, certainly, and of a particularly romantic and soft-headed kind. It is impossible for anyone with a crumb of common sense to imagine a state—even a very small state—in which certain measures for the public good are not administered by a government of some kind. Without government, there is chaos. One of the aims of civilization is to balance the existence of a high degree of personal liberty against enough government to make liberty worth having.

The true Marxist, however, has been taught to believe that such an ungoverned state is not only possible, but will come into being by the withering of the governmental system which at present exists. Nobody is lawless, so the police force and the law disappear. Everybody helps everybody else, and there is plenty for all, so there is no necessity for taxes. And so forth. It is the earthly paradise, and all achieved through Marxism. But in the meantime Russia endures a police state and an immense bureaucracy, which shows no sign of withering at all.

Nevertheless, the modern Russian is encouraged to sacrifice the present, in order that future generations may benefit. And certainly this is planning gone mad. We think it iniquitous that any generation should be asked to sacrifice very heavily, merely in order that some future generation may benefit. A man lives but once; he has a right to expect a reasonable amount of the world's joys. To ask him to sacrifice too much for a future which he will not see is to presume to foresee the future—and no government can do that.

ON THE MARGIN:

Mixed Bag

THE LONG WEEK-END by Robert Graves and Alan Hodge (British Book Service).

THIS is a reprint of a book which first appeared in 1940 and which, for that reason, did not attract as much attention as it should have done. It appears to have been very little read in Canada, though it is a book in which many Canadians will be keenly interested. It is a social history of Great Britain from 1918 to 1939 and it gives an excellent bird's-eye view of a period so near to us that most of us have not yet formed a coherent opinion of it.

As a general work on the period this book has great virtues. It is concise, and it shows many incidents which we recall as disjointed happenings for what they truly were—logical moves in a great social revolution. There are some matters of detail in which the book appears to be wrong; in its estimate of the cultural movements of the period it shows some bias; there are places where it is skimpy and thin. But upon the whole it is a good and important book. It is odd, however, that there should be passages of sloppy writing in a book which bears the name of the authors of that severe manual for authors "The Reader Over Your Shoulder"; and it is queer that the word "fruition" should be used to mean "fruitful" in a book which must have passed under the eye of the scholarly Robert Graves. The flaws, however, are trivial when set against the many merits of the book. It would make a first-rate Christmas gift for anyone who is interested in modern history.

HOW TO HELP YOUR CHILD IN SCHOOL, by Mary and Lawrence F. Frank (Macmillan).

THIS book can be recommended strongly to people who feel that they ought to know something about the psychology of children, but who do not want to embark on a long course of reading in that field. It begins with the development of the child at three years of age, and continues until adolescence, which is presumed to begin at twelve. It is written in simple language, which is a relief to anyone who has read those admirable books, written in appalling jargon, by Doctors Gesell and Ilg. Indeed, it may appear to some readers of the early chapters that the book is too elementary to be of value; it appears to labour the obvious. However, it must be remembered that there are a great many parents who do not know some apparently obvious things about small children, and that they must be constantly reminded of limitations of a child's mind, and of the confusion which its expanding consciousness can bring if it is unwisely treated by its parents.

This is first of all a book of common sense. It does not delve deeply into the problems of abnormal children, though it takes account of emotional crises which may come about through the divorce of parents, quarrels among adults, and money troubles in the home. It does not, as some books on the care of children have done, assume that parents have nothing to do but help their children, and no ambitions and desires of their own; it works on the assumption that parents are busy and fallible human beings. It shows, clearly and simply, how parents can help their children to get a good start in the world by understanding their school problems, and helping them to meet those problems sensibly and courageously. Strongly recommended, even to parents who think they have no more to learn.

HAVING THE LAST WORD, by Ivor Brown (Clarke, Irwin).

BUT is it the last word? We hope not. This is the sixth of the series of small books about common and uncommon words in English which Ivor Brown has written, and they are all charmers. This one, like the others, contains some rare beauties. Do you know the expression "cup-shot" for a man who has made himself incapable with drink? Do you know what kind of ailment "accidie" is? You have undoubtedly suffered from it, and it may be chronic with you. Are you a pontophobe? The present writer has been one all his life, but had to wait for Mr. Brown to give him this rich and splendid name for his aversion. But not all the words discussed in this book are strangers or oddities; stint and stony are given a new value; trumpery and trim are illumined.

We live in an age in which the beauty of words and their strangeness are not much regarded. The revival of interest in the poetic drama during the past two or three years may change that, and it is devoutly to be hoped that it may. But there have always been and will continue to be people who collect and admire words as other men collect and admire jewels. It is to them that Ivor Brown addresses this book, which we pray may not be his last on this topic.

THE LOUD LITERARY LAMAS OF NEW YORK by Jack Woodford (Vantage Press).

THIS is an oddity among books. Mr. Woodford, of whom I confess that I have never heard, writes fiction and also books which tell writers how to write. In this book he roars against the iniquities of the book-publishers who are, in his view, not merely incompetent, but perverted and malignant as well. He urges writers to publish their own books, through such agencies as the Vantage Press, and put the publishers out of business.

Bernard Shaw was, to a degree, his own publisher. Some writers have made the scheme work. But most of them lack the business ability to follow Mr. Woodford's advice. It is probably true, also, that some publishers attempt to influence their authors unduly, and that untalented people appoint themselves tutors to men of talent. But it is hard to believe that the situation is quite as bad as Mr. Woodford claims.

His book begins by being stimulating and amusing. Unfortunately it grows confused and repetitious half-way through, and ends up in a muddle. Most authors, we suspect, will go right on dealing with publishers, for though Mr. Woodford's advice is good, it is not for the common run of writers.

P.S.: Mr. Woodford has an unusually poor opinion of book-reviewers. Quite right; they are a shocking group of mutton-heads.

AMERICAN WORLD VIEW—Maps influence political thinking; and maps can be misleading. It will never be known how much traditional American isolationism owed to the conventional world maps in Mercator projection, which created a false impression of an "isolated" America, safe and sheltered behind two oceans. The map above (based on an Oblique Mercator projection computed by the late Arthur Hinks F.R.S.)—centred on the United States—illustrates the interdependence, in the air age, of the United States and countries on the opposite shores of the North Atlantic and North Pacific. It explains the background to modern American strategic thinking and justifies the view of most of her leaders that Europe is not only geographically America's nearest neighbor, but also strategically her most exposed and vulnerable flank. —(By Bip Pares)

Letters To The Editor

GLOOMY REFLECTIONS

Sir: My two minutes' silence was given over to thoughts of some recent items in your paper.

They brought the news that talks on the re-arming of the Japanese, German and Italian armies (as a bulwark against Communism) were going well.

The inevitability and righteousness of this course is evident.

In the forthcoming battle to free the militaristic, robot-like masses of Russia what could be more appropriate than to see at the head of the liberating armies a force representative of the individualistic, peaceable and fun-loving German peoples.

Moreover, who could be better fitted to join in the crusade against the soulless, atheistic Bolsheviks than the fine, upstanding, God-fearing Japanese soldiery.

It would be less than just too, if the treacherous, double-crossing and cowardly Commies were to be taught their lesson by any other than the trustworthy and fearless Italian army.

It comforted me to think also, that in whatever other military deportment we might be found wanting, when it comes to committing atrocities we will have in our new allies men that we can trust to better the best that the enemy might do.

Yes, Mr. Editor, the people who organize the super-efficient disposal plants of Dachau and Belsen, the men who built the Burmese railway over the tortured and multilated bodies of British and Australian soldiers—even the Italians who, scorning personal danger, bombed the spear-waving Abyssinians—these men will never let us down in that respect.

So—on with the speedy re-arming of our new-found allies and let the battle commence.

With God and General MacArthur on our side how can our cause fail?

Yours etc.,
R. MACGEDDON.

LAKEFIELD WATERWORKS QUESTION

Sir: Some of the property owners in Lakefield are again viewing, with alarm, the prospect of having our fair village burdened with a twenty year debenture debt of $352,000.00 for a waterworks system. I would like to draw attention to some pertinent facts with regard to this proposition.

1. That the amount of principal and interest due each year would be $24,767.10; for twenty years it would be $495,342.00. I am given to understand that these amounts do not include operation costs at all. On top of this expenditure the village property owners will have to provide, and pay the salaries of, an engineer and other employees to operate the sewage disposal plant, pumping system, etc.

2. That tenders from contractors to do the job for this amount ($352,000.00) may not be forthcoming, as was the case in 1946.

3. That this expenditure will only accommodate that part of the village east of the river and west of the tracks. Where does that leave our friends and neighbours on "Vinegar Hill" on the east and and in "Kentucky" on the west? Will they want to dip down for extra taxes, for the next twenty years, to provide waterworks for the centre of the village only?

4. I understand that only tenants who can prove that they possess a lease of the same length as the life of the debenture (in this case twenty years) and who also pay the taxes on the property rented, are entitled to vote. I hope and trust that our prospective Returning Officers are vitally aware of this fact.

5. Do the property owners of Lakefield realize that when they vote in favour of this by-law, they are giving the Village Council authority to place a mortgage on their property for the next twenty years?

Thanking you, sir, for space in your valuable paper, I remain,

Yours very truly,
GRACE A. YONGE.

MOCKERS, BEWARE!

Sir: Helplessly it seems, bewitched, beshrewed, beside-himself Man, quasi-cultured and educated, finds or sees—for a depression had threatened—good times in the preparation of another war—yet dimly aware of the atomic implications and the death of his fellows or himself.

Yet God, the Master Dramatist, had allowed man's fall through Eve via the Serpentine Satan (still does) for the purpose of establishing freedom, the procreation of the human race—for heretofore he (man) was quiescently unfruitful. But man with the bit in his teeth has outdone (with his perverted knowledge and his evil eye) even the Devil himself.

As, by Eve man descended, so by a spiritual Circe, will he ascend to his potential godship, but with the lighted flame of the hearth, heart the highest sense of the mystery of the erotically beautiful an animated animism. Only by this can he, man, (and woman) keep their creations, and by the atomic could his work become play—lost time will be found made up, by the glory, joy, of the timeless present of a future! Mockers beware.

The drum of wings black and red, warn that the dogmatic credulity and false witnessing can only be and must be replaced by the immaculate conceptions of love.

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

And the Lord said unto Moses, Hew thee two tables of stone like unto the first: and I will write upon these tables the words that were in the first tables, which thou brakest. And be ready in the morning, and come up in the morning unto mount Sinai, and present thyself there to me in the top of the mount . . . . And he hewed two tables of stone like unto the first, and Moses rose up early in the morning, and went up unto mount Sinai, as the Lord had commanded him, and took in his hand the two tables of stone. And the Lord descended in the cloud, and stood with him there, and proclaimed the name of the Lord

And it came to pass, when Moses came down from mount Sinai with the two tables of testimony in Moses' hand, when he came down from the mount, that Moses wist not that the skin of his face shone while he talked with him. And when Aaron and all the children of Israel saw Moses, behold, the skin of his face shone. (Ex. 34: 1, 2, 4, 5, 29, 30.)

Balmy Beach Backbone For All-Star ORFU Team

By WILFRED GRUSON

TORONTO, Nov. 15 —(CP)— Toronto Balmy Beach, powerhouse club in the Ontario Rugby Football Union this season, provides the backbone for the league's 1950 all-star team.

The Beaches, ORFU champions who meet either Hamilton Tiger-Cats or Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Union in the Eastern final this Saturday, placed eight players on the mythical team announced Monday night.

Three players from the second-place Sarnia Imperials and one from the last-place Windsor Rockets were named to the team, selected annually for The Canadian Press by football writers and coaches in the league's three cities. Votes were weighted to give equal voting strength to each city.

The Beaches' comeback reflected the brilliant playing of their five American imports, all of whom won all-star rating. In the over-all selections, however, the league's Canadian players didn't take a back seat to the imports placing the same number—six—on the team.

Windsor, with the choice of playing-coach Jim Caine for the secondary half defence position, provided for other import on the squad besides the five from the Beaches. Three of the eight Toronto all-stars and the three Sarnia choices are Canadians. The Sarnia team is the sole remaining all-Canadian squad in senior football apart from those in the intercollegiate union.

Two imports, quarterback Gerry Tuttle and Negro halfback Carl Galbreath of the Beaches, were unanimous choices of the selectors along with one Canadian, halfback Johnny Chorostecki of the Imperials. All received the maximum 18 votes.

The other imports chosen besides Tuttle, Galbreath and Caine were snap Dwight Folling of the Beaches and their two big middle wings, Oatten Fisher and George Gilchrist.

Besides Chorostecki the only other Canadian named to the half-line was little Billy Haddleton. He got the flying wing berth for his outstanding running and plunging with the Beaches.

Veteran Bruce Mattingley of Sarnia, who this season alternated at the snap and inside positions, go the nod for one of the inside spots with the other going to young Ross Taylor of the Beaches.

Keith Fisher of Sarnia, the only repeater from last year's all-star squad, was picked for one outside wing position. Art Scullion, like Fisher an outstanding pass receiver and tackle, was picked as the other outside.

Yukon Eric Beaten By Trick In Main Bout of Mat Card

Trickery prevailed at the Brock Arena last night in both the semi-final and final mat bouts before the season's biggest crowd. And the fans weren't happy at the results of those two bouts. They were willing to settle for a prelim draw, but they hated Wee Willie Davis' insides when he got the semi-final duke and they berated Referee Sam Gotter and sympathized with Yukon Eric when that worthy lost the main tussle.

The Masked One—manager of the Masked Marvel — and rough Jack Moore (scaling 490 pounds between them) took the deciding fall on a kluke over popular 280-pound Yukon Eric. It came in seven minutes with the fans on their feet and ready to depart, but they lingered to yell blue murder at the unexpected finish. The pair had tried to gang Eric but he was completely in control. He finally was caught in a full nelson by Moore who steered him toward the Masked One in a corner and the latter started slugging Eric. Then Yukon ducked fast and the Hood smacked Moore down. Eric promptly fell on Jack and the referee counted twice. Then, the Hood patted Eric on the back. It looked like a three-count and Eric stood up at the pat—and the gong sounded. As Eric strolled away, the Masked One jumped him from behind to pin his surprised foe as the ref counted Eric out.

A Back-Breaker

Yukon won the second fall in five minutes, applying his "Kodiac Krusher"—a shoulder backbreaker—on Moore after knocking the other one for a loop out on the ring floor. They had tried to gang the huge Alaskan but they bounced off his 56-inch chest. Earlier he swung his beam-like arms to slap the Masked One around when he tried his rough stuff. The smaller referee had a busy time trying to keep track of things, with indifferent success, but the crowd cheered when justice prevailed at the bell—something a bit unusual in pro wrestling.

The villainous pair pulled an upset by winning the first fall of the main go in 17minutes as they worked on big Eric in relays. At times they were both in on the picture, sometimes one working from his corner and the other inside the ropes. Eric was much too strong for either of them and generally held his own with both but they finally got him in the corner and gave him the business, eye rasps, fists, knees and chokes. Eric played it clean but at times got peeved and moved fast for him to swing hard blows that knocked his rough rivals around. He had the fans with him all the way.

Pulls A Houdini

Wee Willie Davis, the 274-pound Hollywood villain pulled a Houdini in the semi-final to win in 22 minutes over Ray Gunkel, 250, of Purdue. He secreted a sharp instrument—probably a small nail—and jabbed his opponent whenever Willie was in danger. Gunkel, the ref and the crowd knew he was pulling it but the former two couldn't keep up with Davis' sleight-of-hand work in hiding it. He had it in his mouth at times, in either hand or in his trunks in amazing fashion. After breaking loose from several hard headlocks in this manner, Willie caught the disgruntled Gunkel off guard and threw him twice into the turnbuckles in a softening-up process. He gave him the works then and finally flattened him as the crowd booed. Not satisfied, the big guy slugged the sagging Ray after the game.

Seelie Samara, 248-pound South African, and Hamilton's Abe Zvonkin, at 232, put on a fair prelim, chiefly through the efforts of Seelie. It went to a time limit but neither Abe nor the referee deserved much credit. Seelie made it a fight all the way, using fists and hustle to finally force the ex-gridder to open up, and it finished in pretty lively style. Gotter talked a good bout but missed a lot through the shindig.

Marines High In Girls' League

Marines took high pinnage this week in the Girls' Bowling League with a total of 2892, Towne Togs having the best single game with their 1094 effort. A. Dixon rolled top triple of 695; G. Long led in singletons with a 323 chore. Blind score of 638 was taken by B. Morrow's 623. Other good singles were: M. Timm 317, H. Hunt 296, E. Flint 294, A. Dixon 241, and M. Stephenson 240.

Towne Togs applied the whitewash brush to Aces for a 3-0 victory, and the Outboard Marines blanked Curtin's for a similar count, as 2-1 verdicts were racked up by Sevenaires over Arcos, Collis against Brintons, and Dickson's over Cardinals.

Woodcock Quits Ring For Good

LONDON, Nov. 15 (AP). — Bruce Woodcock's handlers have tossed in their last towel.

The one-time British heavyweight ruler, who at times bled so often he began to look like a leaky blood bank, hung up his gloves for good Tuesday night.

With British and British Empire titles on the line, a tired Woodcock was beaten into submission in 11 rounds by Jack Gardner, a 24-year-old chicken farmer.

The 29-year-old Woodcock lay on his dressing room table afterwards and muttered:

"I'm giving it up. I've had enough."

His left eyebrow was swollen to the size of a goose egg. Blood poured from his eye and nose and mouth.

Gardner, a relative novice with only 25 professional fights, takes over as ruler of the British big men. His immediate plans are indefinite.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

OHA junior "B" hockey makes its seasonal debut tonight at 8.30 in Civic Arena. The Belleville Rockets tangle with Oddfellows in this opener and streamlined action is assured. Husky youngsters really turn on the heat in their games and usually serve up more action than their senior brethren. This first fray rates a big crowd. Coach Bun Kingdon has West, Wyatt, Morrow, Douglas, Buckton, Doris, the Robinson brothers and Stewart on his three front lines. Defence pairs will be picked from Dean Wasson, Shearer, Armstrong, Clapper and Kimball, while Red Wasson will guard the net. A speedy, fairly large squad in good condition, and they'll shoot the works tonight.

* * * * * *

Puck fans are still talking of that swell senior "B" scrap the other p.m. when Petes and Eagles tied 2-all in overtime. A repeat performance Friday should jam the arena again. The clubs appear very evenly-matched, with two classy goalies, big bumping defences, and speedy, scrappy front lines. Honey Tompkins is still a stick-handling wizard. Al Burns throws a terrific bodycheck and the rival blonds—Bert Hill and Arn Dugan—look to be in for a grand season. Both teams have some smart newcomers who are just getting into the swing of these feudin' frays, and we look for a sizzling struggle every time the city opponents skate out there. We go for that sort of stuff.

Red Goes In For Golf

Three former St. Kitts' puckists, George (Red) Sullivan of Peterborough and Norm Corcoran and Jack McIntyre, are going well with Hershey of the AHL. A writer there recently likened them to the famous Kid Line of the Leafs and the Kraut line of the Bruins. They're reported to be the golfingist trio on the club, and every offday they're seen heading for the links with a bag of clubs. They figure that golf strengthens their wrists for hockey, and that may be why a lot of local puckists tee off regularly during the summer months at Kawartha or Peterborough Clubs, eh? Red has a good chance of making the NHL within the next two years.

OASA bulletin No. 34 says the King and His Court will pay a limited visit to Ontario next summer. They're in great demand in the USA and Canada, and any club here wanting to book 'em must apply to Secretary F. R. Feaver of the OASA. They showed last season in Toronto, Montreal, Peterborough and a few other places and proved big hits. Drew the largest paid crowd of sports fans in Peterborough's history—around 4,500, we believe—and the King (Ed Feigner) amazed all who saw him with his pitching magic. The guy can do more things with a ball than we can do with a five-spot, and that's definitely something.

On Mat Skullduggery

A quick brain and a fast hand prove quite handy in many cases —such as in a magic act on the stage. It worked twice in wrestling at the Brock last night. Yukon Eric was tricked out of the main bout by the Hood (we use the term advisedly), with an inefficient referee getting an assist. An odd 2½ count by the ref, plus a pat on Eric's back by the Masked One, fooled the powerful Alaskan and set him up for a snide fall, sending a big crowd home unhappily. And Wee Willie Davis used some of Houdini's tricks in hiding a sharp instrument to gain the semi-final over Ray Gunkel. There's never a dull moment in those pro mat bouts. Though the prelim would have been dull but for colorful and colored Seelie Samara. It was ruled a draw.

OHA Orders Guelph And Galt To Replay Game

TORONTO, Nov. 15 (CP). — The Ontario Hockey Association Tuesday night ordered a replay of a junior A game won 4-3 by Guelph Biltmores from Galt Black Hawks at Guelph Nov. 3

A sub-committee, hearing a protest by the Galt club, ruled that Guelph had ignored OHA instructions not to play Willie Marshall pending an executive decision on a Biltmore-Toronto St. Michael's College player deal.

The replay is to be in Guelph on a date suitable to both clubs, with Galt to be awarded $60 expense money and an even split of the net gate.

The Marshall deal was declared off when Ken Laufman, one of two players Biltmores were to send St. Mike's and $500 in cash, refused to report. Johnny Negliadiuk, the other player, reported.

Manager Roy Mason, secretary Arnold Somerville and treasurer Norm McMillan appeared for Guelph and Art Parsons for Galt.

All three representatives insisted that the deal had been made in good faith and Mason recalled he had brought Laufman to Toronto himself.

Not Reporting

"He reported but refused to play hockey; that does not constitute reporting," said George Dudley.

McMillan said that had it not been for Toronto Marlboros there would have been no trouble. He claimed that Laufman understood he eventually would be transferred from St. Mike's to Marlboros.

McMillan said Laufman was told by Marlboro manager Staff Smythe that he would play the season out with Marlboros.

Somerville and Mason refused to withdraw charges that there had been collusion between the OHA and the Toronto Maple Leafs organization. The committee withheld decision until the case is heard by the entire executive later.

Barons In Top Place

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 15 (CP) —Cleveland's Barons moved back into first place in the western division of the American Hockey League by trimming Springfield's Indians 6-2 before 5,117 here Tuesday night. The Indians twice took the lead in the first period on goals by Bronco Horvath and Ken Hayden, but the Barons were in front at the first intermission 3-2, and in the last two periods dominated the game.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15 (AP). — Lou Boudreau, deposed player-manager of the Cleveland Indians will find a $45,000 per year welcome mat out for him by the Chicago White Sox. General manager Frank Lane said he plans to offer him $45,000 to join the club as a reserve infielder or pinch hitter for 1951.

Penalty Teepees' Undoing Bow To Kroehlers 3-2

By The Canadian Press.

Penalties, particularly the unnecessary variety, have proved to be the undoing of many a good hockey club.

The fact was demonstrated graphically Tuesday night when Stratford Kroehlers made their first visit of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A season to St. Catharines and proceeded to defeat the league-leading Teepees 3-2 with the aid of a foolish penalty.

The score was 2-2 in the final minutes of the game. Ed Calhoun drew a major for deliberately charging Guy Henri and smashing him against the boards

While he sat out the final five minutes in the penalty box, Gord Myles scored the winning tally at the 18:50 mark. Myles had also scored the tying goal early in the third period as the Teepees faded after dominating play in the middle frame.

Ken Uniac got the only goal of the first period to give the Kroehlers a 1-0 lead in the first period but the Teepees came back with a pair by Gord Lomer and Wayne Brown in the second.

Spectator Banished

The night's work for the officials included only eight penalties to players, but a spectator was also banished. The fan grabbed referee Pearcy Allen's arm at the boards, protesting when no penalty was called on a Stratford defenceman who hit Frank Toyota. Allen called the police and the fan was quickly ejected.

The loss didn't affect St. Catharines' hold on first place but it did move Stratford from eighth position to a tie with Galt for fourth, an indication of how tight the race is in the league.

It was the only game scheduled for Tuesday night. Tonight Galt plays at Oshawa, Guelph visits Windsor and St. Catharines goes to Barrie.

Try Hypnosis On Ranger Team

By The Canadian Press.

Some of their best friends claim New York Rangers have been in a trance ever since the National Hockey League season opened. Tonight they may be right.

Coach Neil Colville, whose pleas, pep-talks, and line-up shuffles have produced one win and six ties for the Rangers in 14 starts, will give hypnosis and psychoanalysis a whirl tonight when the fifth-place Rangers face Boston Bruins in Madison Square Garden.

Colville has an experienced man and an auspicious occasion for the job.

The man is Dr. David F. Tracy, who tried to hypnotize St. Louis Browns into winning the American Baseball League race last summer. (They finished seventh.) The occasion is a do-or-die battle with the Bruins—the only team in the NHL with a worse record than the Rangers—one win, eight losses and four ties.

Manager Frank Boucher talked Colville into the experiment after lunching with Dr. Tracy, who is convinced that the Rangers lack confidence.

The same could be said of the Bruins. Both clubs average a little more than one goal a game—the league-leading Toronto Maple Leafs average better than three—and their netminders are the most porous in the league.

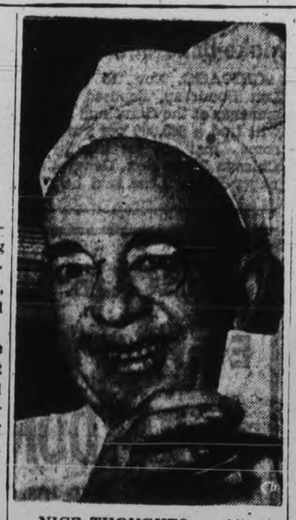
Republicans Demand Mich. Recount

DETROIT, Nov. 15 — (AP) — With the official canvass showing Democrat G. Mennen Williams re-elected as Michigan's governor, Republicans Tuesday night called for a recount.

The official canvass of the state's 83 counties showed that Williams won the hotly-contested battle with former Governor Harry F. Kelly by a margin of 1,152 votes—narrowest margin in the state's history.

The final figures:
Williams (D) 935,152.
Kelly (R) 934,000.



Republican headquarters said the party would foot the bill for the state-wide recount, estimated to cost $20,000.

At the same time, Williams issued a "victory" statement in Lansing, pointing out the people of Michigan have " for the first time in 36 years re-elected a Democratic governor."

But not another Democrat was elected to a major state office in the Nov. 7 election.

At first it appeared that even the governor's post fell into Republican hands, with Kelly the winner by nearly a 6,000-vote margin in first complete unofficial newspaper returns.

But that was before a flood of mix-ups submerged county canvassing boards throughout the state with a rush job of straightening out the hairline contest. Approximately half the state's 83 counties subsequently came up with corrections in the official score for their precincts.

NICE THOUGHTS — Albert Mitchell, 57, a Vancouver chef, was surprised to learn in a newspaper advertisement that he had been left an unstated amount of money by his stepmother in Australia. When officially advised that the legacy totalled only $127.50, he said: "I've discovered you can't depend too much on luck."

Can't Vote On Sport

CORNWALL, Nov. 15—(CP)—Voters here won't get a chance this year to decide whether Cornwall is to have Sunday sports. The Ontario Municipal Board yesterday advised Cornwall that it would not be possible to hold a referendum on Sunday sports with the Dec. 4 civic election because the question was not brought to public notice early enough. Mayor Aaron Horovitz said the matter could be considered by the 1951-52 council.

Two Orphaned Children Will Be Given Home

WALKERTON, Nov. 15 (CP)—Two little girls, orphaned by what police call a double murder and suicide, will be given a home, their uncle said Tuesday.

Laurence Yaeck, uncle of Gloria Evers, 7, and Betty Ann Evers, 11, said he and his wife will give them a home with all the care possible. His announcement followed the deaths Monday of Howard Evers, unemployed painter, his wife, Marie, and their youngest child, Judy, at a farm house seven miles south of here.

(Deputy commissioner Arthur Mooss of the Ontario Provincial Police said at Toronto it was believed that Evers shot his wife and four-year-old child then turned the .22-calibre rifle on himself.)

Suffering from shock, Evers' sister, Mrs. Gertrude Voelkel of nearby Neustadt told of answering the telephone Monday. She said it was her brother and he said: "I shot Marie and Judy. Now I'm going to shoot myself. Get ready for the funeral."

'I didn't think he really meant it," said Mrs. Voelkel, sobbing. "I told the police later and they didn't tell me what happened until they said they wanted to ask me some questions this afternoon."

An inquest has been ordered into the deaths.

Chevrolet's Reputation makes Chevrolet the Leader!

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

The high reputation of Chevrolet... its makers... and its dealers... were three main reasons why Chevrolet led all other makes in popularity, according to recent impartial surveys among automobile owners!

What safer guide can there be than reputation, when it comes to choosing a motor car? For reputation is based on the day by day and year by year experience of Canadian motorists — driving their cars in every Canadian season, on every kind of Canadian road. Every car can claim top quality. But only one car can be Canada's favorite in popularity, in sales, in value — with the highest reputation in all parts of the country ... and that's the car to buy! Recent nation-wide surveys among automobile owners have established beyond question that Chevrolet is the leading car in reputation, three ways — the high reputation of the car itself; the high reputation of its manufacturers, General Motors; and the high reputation of Chevrolet Dealers. What safer guide can there be? You simply can't go wrong when you buy the leader — Chevrolet!

Modern Pipeline Vital Artery Of Canada's International Trade

The present time has been called the era of good roads. As well it is the age of great pipelines — oily arteries through which the "black gold" of industry is daily pumped thousands of miles, David England writes from London to The Montreal Star.

The modern pipeline is the vital artery of international trade, and almost daily comes news of of another pipeline going into action, or plans for another one are announced.

Two More In Use

During the past month two great new pipelines have begun functioning. The first is the Arabian pipeline running for over 1,000 miles from the fields on the Persian Gulf to Sidon on the Mediterranean. The second is the first section of the pipeline which will ultimately stretch from Edmonton, Alberta, centre of a rich oilfield, to Lake Superior.

Such arteries of oil need not necessarily tap an oilfield. For instance, Rhodesia is at present suffering from serious shortage of petrol, which is handicapping development. R. F. Halstead, minister of trade and economic development, last week partially disclosed one of the best kept cabinet secrets.

For some months, he said, negotiations have been proceeding with the Portuguese for the construction of a pipeline from Umtali to Beira for the movement of petrol to the interior. The Portuguese have agreed to cooperate, and a survey party is now working in Portuguese East Africa. The project involves 200 miles of country subject to floods and a rise of 3,750 feet at Umtali from the sea-level at Beira.

This projected pipe recalls two others laid through similar country, one under stress of war conditions. The first is in Columbia, South America, running from the field at Barranca to the coast at Cartagena, 300 miles away. The pipe runs through swamps, jungles and forests and was finished in a year and a half.

The other was laid from India to China as an alternative means of getting oil to the latter country during the time when the Japanese were in occupation of large areas or were blockading the coast. The pipe ran from Calcutta, through the wild Brahmaputra valley then to Assam and so on to Burma and China. The way was cleared by an Indian pioneer battalion which was followed up by the engineers.

One foot in every 250 of the pipeline had to cross rivers, gullies and natural obstacles. Parts had to be moved by river boat, on railways of two different gauges, on lorries and finally by airplane. At one point it crossed a mountain pass 10,000 feet above sea level, and it passed through some of the most jungle-clad and remote parts of the world.

Line in Iraq

One of the most famous pipelines in the world, which sends two branches to the Mediterranean, to Tripoli and Haifa, runs from the Iraq oilfields. It wil be joined in 1952 by another, details of which have been revealed, and work on which will begin about the end of the present year.

This new pipeline will be about 30 inches in diameter, and 566 miles long. It will link the Kirkuk field with a Mediterranean terminus at Barias in Syria. Three historical rivers, the Tigris, Euphrates and the Orontes, will be crossed along the route, and the maximum elevation about sea-level will be just over 2,500 feet.

The work will be a joint Anglo-American effort, about 200 British and 40 Americans being employed upon it. The pipe is being made in America but British firms are supplying much of the pumping and other installations. The other line mentioned is much smaller than this, which is expected to enable the output of the field to rise from six to 19 million tons a year.

America is estimated to have about 150,000 miles of pipeline, the most remarkable of which is probably the "Big Inch," another product of World War II. It ran from the oilfields of Texas to the ports and refineries on the Atlantic cost, a distance of 1,400 miles. The artery had a two-foot bore, carried five and a quarter million gallons of crude oil a day, and with its smaller brother, "Little Inch," saved the American government $146,000,000 in rail transport.

The Russians are believed to have a similar mileage, and they in fact were pioneers in this type of engineering. Baku and Batum, for instance, are joined, and a few years back the weather was so severe that this pipeline was shattered and 20,000 tons of oil ran to waste.

It is a rather interesting fact that the famous old battle-cruiser Renown is going back into service again, but in a very different guise. She went to the breaker's yard, and her steelwork has been melted down into 2½-ton ingots, each of which makes a 45-foot length of pipeline. These pipes are being used in the Middle East.

Plan To Spend £635 Million On UK Mines

LONDON, Nov. 15 (Reuters)— The National Coal Board, which runs Britain's nationalized mines, announced Tuesday a £635,000,000 mines development plan.

It proposes reconstruction of every important coalfield in the country. Only 250 of the 950 collieries in Britain would be unaffected.

By 1965, if the plan is implemented, 80,000 fewer mines should be producing nearly 40,000,000 tons more coal a year than at present. One result would be a cut of seven shillings a ton in British coal production costs.

The Coal Board's proposals, published under the title Plan for Coal, will be discussed with representatives of workers in the industry. Then it must be approved by the Minister of Fuel and Power.

Its aim is given as: "A balanced program of capital development, designed to increase output, improve productivity and reduce costs, by employing men and money where they can produce the best results."

Without the plan, the Coal Board asserts, British output will fall to low levels and costs of production might rise by one-fifth during the next 15 years.

More than 250 existing collieries will be reconstructed to produce nearly 70 per cent of the coal likely to be needed. Twenty large new collieries and about 50 new "drift mines" will probably account for another 10 per cent of required production. The remaining 20 per cent will come from about 250 existing collieries which will carry on present lines.

This means 350 to 400 of Britain's present pits will be closed down, though 90 of them may be absorbed into schemes of concentration and reconstruction.

Y's Men's Club Captures Special Award

The only Y's Men's international award for boys' work to be presented in Canada this year will be given the Peterborough Y's Men's Club Thursday night. This award is one of four going to clubs in Canada, the United States, Japan and the Philippines.

The Paterson, New Jersey, Y's Men's club won the main award, the Boomerang award, for its work amongst boys. The club has an extensive boys' camp program. They paid $1,550 towards the completion of a dining hall which now has a total investment of $11,000 and added five new cabins besides redesigning and repairing the existing buildings.

While the Paterson club stood out as the leading effort in the boys' work field, the Peterborough club earned the special award for the outstanding and significant work done. Other clubs who will be awarded the special honor are Laoag, Illocos Norte, Philippines, Fresno, California and Omi-Hachiman, Japan.

Other clubs earning honorable mention included Moncton, New Brunswick; Covina, California; Woodstock, Ontario; and Kitchener-Waterloo, Ontario.

Present at the club's meeting Thursday will be Lavern Herbert, liaison officer of the YMCA and the Y's Men's clubs, past district governor John Kerr, of Orillia, present district governor Larry Buck, of Belleville, and several members of the Rotary Club.

The local Y's Men's club operate a boys' camp on Clear Lake, holds the annual soap box derby and several other outside YMCA activities.

NORMAN GRAHAM

Norman Graham Candidate For City Council

Norman Graham, owner of the Graham Flooring and Building business, said today that he would be a candidate for the city council at the coming municipal election.

Mr. Graham was born in Peterborough in 1900 and here received his early education. When 16 he enlisted to fight in The First World War and served overseas for more than three years with the Queen's Medical Corps.

On returning home he was connected with the Peterborough Floral Company for a short time and then went west to Saskatchewan where he was with the Monarch Lumber Co., at Tisdale. In 1929 he joined his father in the contracting and construction business.

His father, the late James G. Graham, was for many years an alderman in Peterborough.

Mr. Graham is the fifth man this week to announce that his name would go before the electors on the aldermanic slate on December 4. The others are Ald. Arthur Burrows, Percy Luther, Orville Martin and Alfred Barber.

Sheehy Company Awarded Job For $11,322

For the conversion of the sanitary department's barn on Townsend St. into a municipal garage, the property committee of the council recommended today acceptance of the tender of Sheehy Construction Company at $11,322.

One other tender at $13,237.16 was received from Harold Ephgrave.

The comparatively new barn that was built for the housing of the horses used in hauling the garbage collection wagons became obsolete in that use last spring when the council decided to switch entirely to motor trucks.

"I hate to see that good roof taken off," said Ald. E. C. Braund, chairman, but it had to be sacrificed in the planning for a garage and workshop purposes.

The council did not want any supports from the floor, and that avoidance required a big trussing job if it was to be incorporated into the existing roof. Estimates indicated that it would be more expensive than the making of a new roof. That was briefly the course of the council's enquiry into costs.

Ald. Hugh Waddell's motion to accept the lower tender was seconded by Ald. Adam Sands.

It was also decided to get specifications and estimates of the cost of heating the garage which is expected to be completed by Feb. 15.

The building cost $24,000 to build with the City Trust Commission furnishing the money.

Lumber Firm's Suit Dismissed

Judge S. L. Smoke Tuesday dismissed a suit to recover $259 brought by the Moldaver Bros. Lumber Co. against Wilson Parcels who runs a lumber business east of Marmora.

Samuel Moldaver claimed he had overpaid Parcels for eight truckloads of lumber delivered last June and the action, at Tuesday's special sittings of the county court, was to recover that amount.

Parcels and his two sons delivered 4,000 board feet less than they claimed in their tally, the plaintiff said. Because of this — even though he only gave a down payment of about 75 per cent as each load came in—it was an overpayment for the value of the lumber received.

Said No Proper Check

Parcels denied this. He said he had carefully scaled the lumber going to Moldaver but Moldaver himself had never properly checked the scaling when it came into the yard. There was no dispute over Parcel's tally when the lumber was unloaded and it was not until July that Moldaver billed him for $259 claiming overpayment.

Between the time the last of the eight loads was delivered and the bill was made out some of the Parcels lumber was used, contended W. J. Arthur Fair, representing the defendant. Other lumber was brought into the yard and no exact tally was kept on which was which.

As an example Mr. Fair pointed to the delivery of 770 board feet of two-inch basswood. The plaintiff did not dispute that this was delivered yet he had no record of it, Mr. Fair said.

Different Method Suggested

According to the terms of the agreement Moldaver still owed him between $150 and $175, Parcels declared. Moldaver had only paid 75 per cent of the value of the lumber, leaving a balance of 25 per cent.

However Parcels did not enter a counter-claim at Tuesday's action.

Judge Smoke in dismissing the action said the plaintiff had failed to make his case: the onus of proof resting on the plaintiff.

He also suggested to Jacob Low, counsel for the Moldaver Co., that "in future there should be a different method used in the purchasing and scaling of lumber."

Stagger System, Alternative To New Collegiate In City

"Why is a new Collegiate in Peterborough a necessity and how much would the erection of a new school cost the ratepayers of the city?" These were the two main questions presented and discussed at an open meeting of the PCVS Home and School Club held at the Collegiate Tuesday evening.

"The walls of PCVS are already bulging", stated Mrs. E. Chambers, one of four members of a special investigation committee that surveyed the entire building during school hours to estimate the crowded conditions. "The building is being used to meet needs far beyond those originally intended and there is no room for the great increase of students expected in the next few years. As a result the members of the staff are working under extreme difficulties."

In a full outline of conditions in all departments of the present school, Mrs. Chambers reported that not only was more space desperately needed, but because of the crowded conditions, ventilation and lighting were quite inadequate in many parts of the school.

The other members of the special investigating committee were Mrs. R. Ward, Mrs. James Matthews and Mrs. Arthur Nelson.

Following Mrs. Chambers' report, Chairman J. H. Moebus, president of the Home and School Association along with many in audience presented questions to members of the Board of Education.

The need for a new school which Mrs. Chambers forcibly put forward in her report was substantiated by statements of figures and conditions given by Mr. C. S. Browne, principal of PCVS, and members of the Board of Education.

At present there are 1,300 pupils attending PCVS—a building that was originally expected to accommodate only 950 students at the most.

"In 1960, after a careful survey was made of population figures it is estimated that 2,000 students will be attending high school in the city," stated Mr. Browne.

Stagger System

In answer to the question: "If ratepayers turn down the by-law for a new school what will happen at the collegiate?" Mr. Browne explained that a complete stagger system will be necessary. He explained that this stagger system would mean that two separate schools would be operated at the same building. Students of one school would attend classes from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. and 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. Classes in the other school would be held from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. to 6 p.m.

"The cost of running the present collegiate on such a stagger system would be 20 per cent higher than the operating costs for running two separate schools, stated Mr. Browne. "More teachers would be needed and this stagger system would impede all extra-curricular activities."

Question solutions offered other than the erection of a new school were: "Would crowded conditions of the present collegiate be sufficiently alleviated if suburban and rural students were excluded from the city school and would the old Civic Hospital provide suitable accommodation for a second school?"

K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools in the city of Peterborough, explained that the academic suburban students could be excluded two years after notice was given. However, when the vocational portion of the collegiate was added, an agreement was made that rural vocational students could not be excluded from the school.

"Exclusion of rural academic students would not relieve the congestion, stated Mr. Browne. "At present there are only 150 academic rural students in the school.

In answer to the suggestion that the old Civic Hospital building be used as a school, Mr. Wightman stated, "Pupils shouldn't be shoved into an old building where good education couldn't be given to them." He also contended that the cost of operating this building would not only be extremely expensive, but also stated that he was sure that such a plan would not be approved by the Ontario Department of Education or receive any grants.

"What is the estimated cost of this new school and what will this expenditure mean in yearly charges to the taxpayer?" asked Chairman Moebus.

"The estimated cost for the erection of the school is $585,000," stated Mr. Wightman. "This total estimate is based on $11.50 cost per square foot."

G. Wilson Craw explained that it had been estimated that the yearly payment on debentures to the amount of $585,000 would be approximately $38,000 or somewhat less than a mill on the total assessment for a period of 20 years.

"This additional cost is offset by another factor that should be taken into consideration," stated Mr. Craw. " At present, there are three debenture issues not yet matured on the Vocational School and Collegiate. "Of the two issues for the building of the Vocational School, one matures December 31 1957 and the other December 31, 1958. These are for $295,000 and $62,000 respectively. The third issue for $40,000 for the Collegiate will mature on June 31, 1957. The present yearly payment on these is $27,000. If approved, the new issue for $585,000 would not be marketed until sometime in 1951. Some six or seven years later, we shall be relieved of the present annual payment of $27,000. When that happens, the additional burden occasioned by the new school will not be more than a quarter of a mill. It should be added that with the present rate of grants we will receive 25 per cent on our annual payments of $38,000."

Further questions from Chairman Moebus and those in attendance regarding the new school were answered by as full a description of the school to be erected as was possible at the present stage of preliminary plans.

The new school wil be located on the southwest corner of Monaghan Road and McKellar St. It will be an academic school, however more options will be given to students than is possible to give academic students at PCVS at present.

There will be a total of 15 rooms in the initial building with plans providing for additional rooms to be built when they are needed. There will be nine classrooms, a general shop, a household economics room, two gymnasiums. Science laboratories will be used as classrooms for the first few years. One of the gymnasiums will be equipped with a stage and balcony, so that it may be used as an auditorium.

In order to lessen congestion at the Collegiate, six of the grade nine classes and three of the grade ten classes from the Collegiate, along with a like number of teachers, will be transferred to the new school at its completion. This will make a total of approximately 350 students attending the school. The school will be able to accommodate 500 students.

Members of the Board of Education and other education officials answering questions were F. H. Jobbitt, G. Wilson Craw, Dr. R. Morgan, Murray Irwin, Mrs. P. Rowell, K. S. Wightman and C. S. Browne.

Before the meeting the audience was entertained by selections played by the Collegiate Concert Band under the direction of Albert Croasdale.

City Moves To Occupy Hughes Property

"I move that we get Hughes out of there," was the blunt expression of Ald. Hugh Waddell in moving at the property committee meeting this morning that the city proceed at once to take possession of the Thomas Hughes property at the Monaghan Road and McKellar St. The motion was seconded by Mayor Swanston.

The comment of City Solicitor Huycke to the effect that W. J Arthur Fair, solicitor for Mr. Hughes, was "playing his cards close to the vest" may have had some impelling influence on the council.

City has paid $28,600 into court as ordered by Judge S. L. Smoke as a condition of expropriation.

"We are into the preliminary stage of expropriation now," Mr. Huycke said.

Attitude of the property committee was that if Hughes was not satisfied he could take the first step of judicial arbitration of the amount to be paid for the property.

This morning it was said the council had complied with Judge Smoke's order, but that Mr. Hughes was still in possession and did not have to pay rent or taxes, that the city was the actual owner from the time the expropriation measure was begun.

City wants the Hughes place for the Board of Education in its forward-looking planning for a new Collegiate Institute in that south end of the city.

Little Lake Reclamation Starts With Opening Ashburnham Sewage System

With neither flourish or gesture of ceremony, City Engineer Chalmers opened on Tuesday afternoon the valves connecting the Ashburnham sewerage system with the main trunk sewer at Perry and Crescent Streets, on the west side of the river. To Mr. Chalmers it was perhaps only a final action of routine in completing the work of the city council in eliminating the Maria St. make-shift sewage disposal plant and reclaiming Little Lake from the obnoxious condition of a cesspool.

In a brief and matter of fact report, Mr. Chalmers informed the members of the property committee this morning that the diversion of sewage was now an accomplished fact. It will be recalled that the steel pipe line across the river was laid by the Utilities Commission for the council at the time the Commission sank their own water main between McDonald's and Burnham's Point in 1949. The steel water pipe was laid to increase pressure in the Utilities Commission's system throughout Ashburnham.

Chance of Economy

The opportunity of economy in laying a parallel sewer pipe in the one operation was gratefully accepted by the council, and now both these jobs are finished. The Utilities main has been in use for a year or more.

The city's sewer connection had to be delayed until this fall for the building of a pipe line from Burnham's Point, along the Lake shore to Maria St., and thence easterly to the old sewage disposal plant, nothing much more than a cesspool, on the north side of Maria St.

Opened Inlet

In the final stage of connection, Mr. Chalmers set the new pumping station at Burnham's Point to work Tuesday, then opened the inlet from the sewerage line that was laid only for the Burnham's Point war time housing project.

The new sewer on Maria St. was laid under the old pipes that connected the disposal building as an outlet into Little Lake. A manhole was erected around that crossing, and the last stage, so it appeared, was the breaching of an opening from the old into the new line for transfer of flow.

That is just a rough outline of the ultimate details of a big job which citizens have urged upon councils for years.

The further reclamation of Little Lake is another matter for enquiry and correction.

Market Parking Plan Adopted

Parking space for 94 automobiles is provided in the layout of the market square prepared by City Engineer Chalmers and adopted by the property committee of the council this morning.

The members present were Ald. E. C. Braund, chairman, Ald. Burrows, Sands, Waddell, Dodds and Mayor Swanston.

"I don't think we should start right before Christmas," Mayor Swanston suggested.

"The merchants are more important than the farmers' market," said the chairman.

"But don't start until we have the material to finish the job," was Mayor Swanston's proposal. "We don't want a half finished place there."

"I agree with that," said Ald. Braund.

End Of Market

"When we do start, that's the end of the outdoor market," Mayor Swanston remarked.

Ald. Braund said the merchants of Peterborough were attracting buyers from the district every day in the week, and the problem of providing parking space was steadily becoming more acute.

City Engineer Chalmers told the committee that the Rink St. site for a new market was recently levelled and fresh gravel laid.

Adoption of Mr. Chalmers' parking space plan was moved by Aldermen Sands and Burrows.

It was understood that, if steel could not be obtained for bumper blocks, wood was to be used, preferably fir.

Thomson Claims Labor Move CCF Manoeuvre

TORONTO, Nov. 15 (CP). — Walter Thomson, new leader of the Ontario Liberal Party, said today the demand by the Oshawa district Labor Council (CCL) that he resign his Commons seat is "a political manoeuvre by the CCF."

That party, he said, "dominates the Labor Council and is still smarting from the defeat I gave their candidate in the federal election."

The Labor Council, at a meeting last night, asked for Mr. Thomson's resignation on grounds that he has "neglected" the interests of Ontario riding, of which he is the federal representative.

Mr. Thomson denied that he neglected his Commons duties. He said he started his campaign for Liberal leadership after the House prorogued in July and "did not miss a single day" of the special session this fall.

At the time of his election to the Liberal leadership last week, Mr. Thomson said he planned to hold the seat "for the time being." He said today he has not yet reached any further decision.

"I haven't had an opportunity to discuss the matter with Prime Minister St. Laurent. Meantime, I hold the seat for my government."

Wearing Hat When Going Out

Going hatless and rubbers-less in this wet and windy weather is frowned upon by the city's Medical Health Officer, Dr. R. A. Kelly.

Dr. Kelly pointed out this morning that this is the time of year for colds, sore throats, and like ailments. He added: "Parents must warn their children against carelessness in health matters. Youngsters are naturally inclined to be carefree and to disregard draughts, exposure and sudden changes in temperature.

"During this season of the year, attention must be paid to clothing. A hat, cap or beret should be worn when outside. When it is raining, as today, it is well to wear rubbers as it is important to keep the feet warm."

A basic nourishment should be taken at all meals, stressed Dr. Kelly. This means such things as milk, fruit, eggs or meat. Overwork and fatigue should be avoided, and people should try to avoid mingling with others suffering from seasonal affections.

At the slightest sign of a disorder the doctor should be consulted, he concluded, for foresight is a great preventive.

Business Men Ask Centre Site

A site for the new Memorial Community Centre will be the subject matter of a letter sent this week to the city council by the Peterborough Businessmen's Association.

At the meeting of the association, Tuesday, J. J. Dorris, secretary, was authorized to write a letter to the city council, on behalf of the association, making the stipulation that in as far as the city council must provide a site for the new community centre, the association feels that this site should be chosen without further delay.

Mr. Dorris reported today that complaints were received at the meeting from members who stated that they had made donations to this project several years ago and the council had as yet to choose the site.

General Meeting

A general meeting and buffet supper will be held at the Empress Hotel for the members of the association and their wives on November 26. The supper will be sponsored by the Peterborough Examiner.

The speaker at the supper will be James Wharry, sales manager of the Quaker Oats Co., who will give an outline of his recent sales trip around the world.

Students Plan Toronto Tour

Classes at the Peterborough Normal school will have a change of scenery Friday. The students with teachers will spend the day in Toronto visiting various educational centres. This trip is taken every year as part of the course.

First on the students' schedule is the Fine Arts Gallery. Second is a visit to Queen's Park where they will receive lectures on parliamentary procedure.

At the Royal Ontario Museum the students will receive 10 lectures by members of the extension branch. These will include conservation, development of ways of living in the primitive ages and the growth of domestic arts.

The students will have the evening to visit the Royal Winter Fair, Massey Hall, the Royal Alexander theatre or other places of interest.

Busy is the word for Ezzard Charles, now warming up for a fifth defence of his world heavyweight boxing championship.

At the rate he's going, Ezzy will better Joe Louis' mark of 25 defences. Already he is ahead of Louis' pace by some two months.

When Charles meets Nick Barone of Syracuse at the Cincinnati Garden, Nov. 28, it will be only 17 months and six days after he won the crown by whipping Jersey Joe Walcott at Chicago. Louis made his fifth defence after 19 months and three days.

Of course, Charles wasn't recognized in all States until he beat Louis Sept. 27 at the Yankee Stadium. Still he was the NBA champion as soon as he outpointed Walcott, June 22, 1949.

Charles' first foe after the Walcott match was Gus Lesnevich, a light heavyweight. Gus retired after seven rounds.

Pat Valentino was knocked out in the eighth round at San Francisco. After that bout and a few exhibitions Charles was forced into temporary retirement by a rib injury.

Ezzard returned to the ring at Buffalo, Aug. 15 to stop Freddie Beshore in 14 rounds. Then he took a 15-round decision from Louis.

Britain still does not recognize Charles as champion, giving the nod to Lee Savold of Englewood, N. J. Savold has not defended the crown he won by beating Bruce Woodcock June 6.

The New York Yankees lost two of their better young pitchers to the army Tuesday.

Ed (Whitey) Ford, 22-year-old southpaw pitching star, said he had been ordered to report for army induction, Nov. 20. Whitey won nine games and lost one in a half-season with the Yankees. That sensational pitching splurge played a big part in the Yankees' pennant triumph. He also won the fourth and final world series game.

Dave Madison, a rookie right-hander, notified the Yankees he had been called back to service. The 26-year-old athlete was a reserve in the infantry. He came up from the Kansas City farm club to make a few appearances in September.

Mayor Lloyd Jackson thinks highly of Hamilton Tiger-Cats' chances of victory against Toronto Argonauts and Toronto Balmy Beach in the eastern Canada football play-offs.

"I have already made arrangements for a joint kick-off on Nov. 25 with Mayor Garnet Coulter of Winnipeg," he said Tuesday night.

November 25 is the date of the Grey Cup final, and Winnipeg Blue Bombers already have clinched their berth.

Mayor Jackson also told a Chamber of Commerce meeting he is looking for a square-toed boot so that he can outkick Mayor Hiram McCallum at a joint kick before today's game with the Argos.

Two Winnipeg Blue Bomber coaches flew to Toronto Tuesday to scout today's Big Four football final between Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Toronto Argonauts.

They are head coach Frank (Butch) Larson and line coach Sol Kampf.

Both will fly back to Winnipeg tonight. Bombers, 1950 western champions, will meet the eastern champions in the Grey Cup final at Toronto Nov. 25.

The man Connie Mack calls the greatest "money pitcher" of them all will wear an Athletics' uniform again next spring.

Arthur H. Ehlers, general manager of Philadelphia Athletics Tuesday announced that the fabulous Indian hurler of the early 1900's, Albert (Chief) Bender would be pitching coach under recently-appointed skipper, Jimmy Dykes.

The 87-year-old Mack, who recently resigned as manager of the club after 50 years on the bench, has always said, "If I had all the men I've ever handled and they were in their prime and there was one game I wanted to win—had to win over and above all others—Albert would be my man. He was my greatest 'money pitcher.'"

Bender spent 12 years as a pitcher for Mack and after a couple of seasons with Baltimore of the Federal League, campaigned with the Phillies in the national circuit. He compiled a record of 210 victories against 127 defeats.

Gerry McNeil, goalie for Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, is in Montreal hospital suffering from an ankle injury and will be out of the line-up for at least one game.

McNeil, suffering from a ruptured blood vessel in the right ankle, is expected to be replaced for Thursday's game against Toronto Maple Leafs by Gordie (Ding Dong) Bell of Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League.

Horses Enjoying Boom In Work

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 15 (AP)—While human actors are moaning about unemployment, horses are enjoying a boom.

The vast increase in the production of western pictures for theatres and television has brought a shortage of horse actors. I learned this from Bill Jones, head wrangler at Republic which makes more horse operas than any other studio.

"Sometimes it's tough to get enough horses," said Jones. "All of the studios get their horses from three big outfits, which have about 175 apiece. Sometimes we have to go to smaller outfits to fill our needs.

"Not just any horse will do. We pick our horses with perhaps even more care than the studio picks its cast of humans."

Lens Louse

He has his own favorites. One of them is the elder Trigger, now 16 years old and "smart as a whip." Another is the horse John Wayne rides in "Rio Grande Command." He's a regular lens louse.

"He'll stand in before the scene starts, acting half-asleep," said Jones. "But when he hears the sound of the camera, he perks up and really acts."

The life of a movie horse is long, comparatively speaking. Some of them are still active at the advanced age of 17. They are given extensive training and usually not started in the business until they are three or four.

"I prefer them about eight," said Jones. "By that time, they're about the same as a man of 25 or 30. They're no longer unpredictable; they're settled down to be what they'll be for the rest of their lives."

MONTREAL, Nov. 15 (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent was given life membership in the Montreal Men's Press Club Tuesday. Mr. St. Laurent was presented with his life membership by President C. J. Fitzgerald of the Montreal Gazette and Vice-president Roger Champoux of La Presse.

Charges Heresy

OTTAWA, Nov. 15 (CP)—Rt. Rev. C. M. Nicholson of Halifax, moderator of the United Church in Canada, contended Tuesday the recently-proclaimed Roman Catholic dogma of the Assumption of the Virgin Mary "draws near to heresy." He said in an address before a regular meeting of the presbytery of Ottawa, "it is dangerous to push Christ one more step away."

Help Labor In Asia

TORONTO, Nov. 15 (CP)—The free trade unions of the world, with Canada taking part, are preparing to foster democratic labor organizations in Asia, C. H. Millard said in an interview last night. The Canadian director of the United Steelworkers of America (CCL) has just returned from an executive board meeting in Brussels of the 50,000,000-member international conference of trade unions.

Lack of Inspection

OTTAWA, Nov. 15 (CP)—Loss of a helicopter from the Eastern Arctic patrol vessel C. D. Howe in northern waters Aug. 5 was due to "lack of inspection previous to flight," a board of inquiry reported Tuesday. One man, a passenger in the craft, was drowned as the helicopter plunged into the Koksoak river at Ungava Bay during an attempted take-off from the vessel's flight deck.

Would Levy Tax

Defence Closes Second Trial Of J. Fosbraey

PICTON, Nov. 15—(CP)—The defence Tuesday closed its case in the second murder trial of James Fosbraey, RAF veteran, charged with the fatal stabbing of his wife in a snowbank at Napanee in November, 1949.

The Crown immediately started rebuttal of defence evidence that "brain wave" measurement tests taken of the accused showed his reactions could be abnormal.

Dr. Denis White, who directed tests with an electro-encephalograph at Kingston, admitted he had not "adequately examined" Fosbraey due to lack of time.

Dr. Charles Pratt, assistant superintendent of the Ontario Hospital at Woodstock, declined to say Fosbraey had a diseased mind in spite of abnormalities shown on the brain wave. He requested a further test be made.

Earlier, Dr. George Scott testified for the defence that at the time of the stabbing Fosbraey "did not know what he was doing."

The court sat Tuesday night.

Education of Parents Address Topic

MILLBROOK, Nov. 15 (ENS)—Mrs. D. Rostocky of Peterborough was guest speaker at the Millbrook Home and School Association meeting held Monday evening. She was introduced by Mrs. A. W. Nelson, also of Peterborough, district chairman, who spoke on the aims and the work of Home and School Associations. Mrs. Rostocky took as her subject parent education in the understanding of children. She stated that young people studied in schools from 12 to 15 years with no preparation for the important work of rearing children, which the majority later undertook.

She said although grandmother may have raised her family successfully without special study just as she washed a board; for the present fast moving world just an electric washing machine was necessary, as were trained parents. She advised the giving of an allowance when a child reached the age of seven. Handling money was one of the important things he must learn.

If a child is nagged constantly it will have one of two results. Either he will become so hardened to it that he will ignore it, or else he will become sensitive and feel that he is always wrong. In this competitive world it was necessary for him to have confidence.

Mr. James A. Thompson thanked the speaker.

Other items on the program included choruses by the children of Miss Burnham's room, a vocal quartette comprising Ardyne MacPherson, Sheila Sloan, David Stinson and Ray Lowery, and a vocal duet by John Stinson and Glenn Forsyth. Mrs. Ralph Innis of the publication committee, gave a five-minute talk on radio programs.

The attendance prize for parents was won by the pupils of Miss Burnham's room. At the close of the meeting four new members joined the club.

Refreshments were brought by Mrs. H. Perkin, Mrs. W. Elson, Mrs. R. Innis, Mrs G MacKay, Mrs H. Argue and Mrs D. Sheppard and served by Miss E. Kent and her social committee assisted by some of the men.

Bethany Women Hear Talk Paper Making

BETHANY, Nov. 15 (ENS)—Miss Mattie Thompson and Miss Lily Thompson were joint hostess for the November meeting of the Bethany Women's Institute on Monday evening. Mrs. H. L. Challice presided for the opening exercises and gave a brief report of the Junior Girls "Glad I Canner Club" who held their first meeting on Saturday and will this year study "Up To Date Clothes Closets" with Institute members, Mrs. Challice, Mrs. M. Finney and Mrs. Clarence Page as the leaders. Fire fighting equipment was again discussed and it was decided to immediately purchase a large size extension ladder.

Mrs. T. Jennings, who is the convener for agriculture and Canadian industry gave a most interesting talk on the Canadian International Paper Company's mill at Temiskaming, Que., which she had visited during a recent holliday. "The manufacture of pulp and paper is one of Canada's leading industries. The town of Temiskaming is actually governed by the paper company, the schools, public buildings ,etc., all being company property. The Kippewa mill on the outskirts of the town, on the upper reaches of the Ottawa River has its own natural source of water supply, and its own stand of timber, principally spruce where thousands of cords of wood are grown and harvested each year and by conservation methods, the annual growth of forest equals the annual cut. At the Temiskaming mill the location is ideal for producing bleached sulphite pulp of the finest dissolving grades. Dissolving pulps are a special class of wood fibres, highly purified by chemical process to retain a carefully controlled chemical balance, nearly pure cellulose. The pulp of the grades made at the Kippewa mill are now used without any cotton cellulose in the viscose yarn process which predominate in the synthetic field. The increasing use of dissolving wood pulp for the manufacture of rayon and other synthetic products reminds us that once wood is reduced to a pure and stable chemical it provides a base on which the chemists can build a hundred different products." Mrs. Jennings accompanied her talk with pictures taken during their holiday, also samples of wood in the various processing and finished state.

Mrs. Wm. Phillips gave a reading "Good Service". A "Nation" contest arranged by Mrs. Ken Hamilton was won by Miss Hannah Staples.

De We Remember?

Mrs. Ross Carr spoke on "Remembrance". "Another Remembrance Day has come and gone. There were church services, parades, wreaths placed at centophs and a busy world observed two minutes' silence in memory of those who did not come back from two world wars. Yet with all this, we are talking in terms of another war! Just how much do we remember? Or, have we forgotten? Do we really remember enough of the anxiety as we waited for the casualty lists to be published? Do we remember 1914-1918 and the fierce battles of the Marne, Somme, Jutland, Cambrai, Ypres, Hill 70? Do we remember clearly the years of 1939-1945, the Battle of Britain, Dunkerque, Pearl Harbor, concentration camps, North Africa, Sicily, Italy, Japan, D-Day and the Atomic Bomb? Do we really remember the meaning of the thousands and thousands of white crosses that dot the fields of Flanders France, Africa Italy and more remote corner[illegible] earth? If we remember clearly these things, let us remember too the years between 1918 and 1939 when we forgot, or definitely refused to think that what had happened once could happen again. The League of Nations was a failure, because we as a people failed to believe in it, to support it with all our power. The boys who fought our battles did not fail in their task, but we did! Let us make no mistake about it . . a better world and a permanent peace are our own personal responsibility.

Today, we find 57 nations, comprising more than nine-tenths of the world as members of the United Nations, but today's vast problems, for the solution of which the United Nations and its associate bodies exist, cannot be solved without our personal contribution. Individual responsibility is the spark plug to make the complicated international machinery work. There will be no lack of opportunities. For some they may come in a life of public service, as leaders of great causes, on the lecture platform, in committee work. For most of us, they will come in the course of the common daily round, with a word here and a word there. Instead of talking and saying 'Dear me, what will happen if there is another war?' say instead 'There must not be another war!' What we must realize is that a permanent peace can never be imposed from without, it must come as a growth from within, in ever widening circles, each starting from some inner centre . . . from the very hearts of each one of us. The challenge rings out clearly. If we can establish a vision, crystal clear of sort of world we want if we really want it enough to sacrifice our prejudices, racial and religious; want it enough to sacrifice our own pet ideas and concentrate all our attention on one comon goal; want it enough to be ever on the alert to stop any communistic ideas right from the start, no matter how innocent a source they may seem to come from; if we are willing, each in his own little place, to seize every opportunity to express our ideals, no matter how humble they may seem; to set forth that vision which is so clear in our own minds and to work for it . . . who can measure the results? Are we remembering or forgetting?"

Patriotic songs were sung and lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Wm. Phillips, Mrs. R. Palmer, Mrs. T. Malcomson and Mrs. K. Hamilton.

Mrs. William Cavano invited the members to her home for the December meeting, the roll call to be answered by a proverb. Christmas gifts will also be exchanged.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES DONNELLY of 336 Reid St., whose marriage took place recently at Schomberg, Ontario. The bride is the former Thelma McGuire of Schomberg. The groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Claire Donnelly of Peterborough.

Unwed Mothers Being Given Housing Plan

LONDON—(Reuters)—A British welfare organization is planning a housing scheme for unmarried mothers.

The West London mission is trying to raise close to $52,000 to funish 17 apartments where unwed mothers and their children could live in comfort.

The mission hopes the scheme will:

1. Decrease illegitimate births. (Statistics show there have been at least 40,000 in England and Wales every year since 1943.)

2. Discourage unmarried mothers from letting their children out for adoption or from parting with them for money.

Mary Upton, one of the scheme's organizers, said many girls, having parted with their first-born "in desperation and in fear, find they miss their babies so much they have a second illegitimate child to replace the first."

The mothers will also be allowed to entertain men at their flats.

"We hope many of the girls will get married," said Miss Upton. "That would be the happiest ending for them all."

St. John's WA Bale Ready For Loon Lake

Display of a Christmas mission bale ready to be sent to the Rev. Horace Ashmore at Loon Lake drew attention to this branch of work as the Afternoon Branch of St. John's Anglican Women's Auxiliary met Tuesday afternoon in the parish hall. Dorcas secretary Mrs. H. C. Southeran pointed out the bale contains new and good used clothing, toys and books. She also announced two quilts have been made since September.

Young Women Needed For Mission Jobs

TORONTO — (CP) — The United Church of Canada is appealing for 125 young women annually to fill mission spots in the dominion and overseas, it was announced by Miss Leslie Bowman, secretary of the personnel committee for women workers.

Miss Bowman said that 450 women now are engaged in full-time church work in United churches in Canada and overseas. The additional yearly increment is needed for jobs in Christian education, medical and other church work in Canada and Angola, Central India, Japan, Korea, China and Trinidad.

The United Church maintains its own training school in Toronto to train women for the work of the church, other than the ordained ministry. The school operates in co-operation with the Anglican Women's Training College and the Presbyterian Missionary and Deaconess Training School. Principal of the United Church Training School is Mrs. J. D. H. Hutchinson.

At this school the course takes two years except for nurses and other specialists like laboratory technicians and home economists. The presen enrolment is 27, in addition to six young women on special scholarships from overseas.

Six Go To Japan

The admission requirement is a university degree or senior matriculation plus professional training and successful experience in some field such as teaching, nursing or business.

This year the school made six special appointments to Japan, two secretaries for office work and four teachers of English for Japanese high schools, all of whom will serve in Japan for three years.

Miss Bowman said the salaries for women church workers are "adequate," with pension plans and medical and dental benefits. Furloughs are provided every five or six years.

The greatest need, she stressed, is for women to serve in the field of Christian education.

Barbara Hudson Wed at Boulter To Lloyd Conroy

The United Church at Boulter was the setting Friday for the wedding of Barbara Grace Hudson, daughter of Mrs. Hudson and the late J. H. Hudson, to Mr. Lloyd Edward Conroy, son of Mrs. J. G. Conroy of Boiestown, NB, with the Rev. Mr. Wheeler officiating. Mrs. M. A. Armstrong was at the organ.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Edison Hudson. Her gown was of white slipper satin with full circular skirt extending in a long train, edged with Chantilly lace, and caught up at the hem in front with clusters of flowers. Her full length veil of embroidered French tulle illusion was caught to a headdress of orange blossoms, and she carried a cascade of American Beauty roses and bouvardia.

Bridal attendants were her sisters, Mrs. Lloyd Price as matron of honor, in mauve brocaded satin with matching headdress and mittens, and Miss Joyce Hudson as bridesmaid, similarly dressed in ice-blue brocaded satin. Each carried a nosegay of 'mums and roses. Little Bonnie Price was carrying the bride's train and was dressed in yellow brocaded satin Flower girls were Jacqualine Maxwell and Marjorie Bronson, nieces of the bride, wearing ruffled frocks of pink satin and carrying variegated nosegays.

Mr. Lloyd Price was groomsman and ushers were Allan Hudson and Harry Bronson.

A reception was held at Baum's Lodge, the bride's mother receiving, wearing wine satin with black velvet accessories and a corsage of white 'mums. She was assisted by the groom's sister, Mrs. John Graham of Toronto, wearing black silk faille and a corsage of 'mums. Guests were present from Peterborough, Toronto, Ottawa, North Bay, Timmins, and Belleville.

For travelling the bride chose a navy suit with wine accessories and she had an orchid corsage. The couple will live in Peterborough.

Life Members Put On Program For WMS Meeting

A special feature of the Tuesday afternoon auxiliary meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of George Street United Church was the nicely arranged program put on by the life members. Mrs. Ida Fanning and Mrs. W. H. Morton were joint conveners.

The scripture was read by Mrs. Fred Horton and Mrs. Arnold Mathews led in prayer. Mrs. S. Wildman and Mrs. H. Powers rendered a duet, accompanied by Mrs. Prust. Each life member answered the roll call by telling the story of their being made life members. Mrs. H. Vance and Mrs. G. Baird received the offering.

Mrs. Morton read and commented on Edgar Franks "Meditation Altars" and introduced a playlet entitled "Stewardship of Abilities". The ladies taking part were Mesdames S. Wildman, M. McIntyre, H. J. Crowe, H. Powers, R. Reynolds, I. Hales, J. Tinney, O. Williamson, W. H. Morton, A. E. Stinson, J. R. R. Cooper and Miss J. Schaefer.

Each one gave a short sketch of the life of a musician, a doctor, a missionary, a nurse, and the women from every day walks of life who have used their talents and abilities to extend the work of God's kingdom and not for material gains.

Mrs. I. Fanning and Mrs. Harry Dulmage pinned prettily decorated name cards on each life member as she entered.

Mrs. H. G. Walker and Mrs. J. W. Kelly welcomed the ladies at the door.

A very pleasant interlude was the presentation of two Life Membership certificates. Mrs. Ferguson became a life member and the president Mrs. E. H. Brown presented the certificate to her. Mrs. R. Parnall then spoke a few words to Mrs. Brown and on behalf of the WMS presented her with a life membership certificate, and Mrs. J. Fanning pinned her membership pin, which was a gift from a friend, the late Mrs. W. Flannery.

Mrs. J. Fanning was given a lovely pot of violets by Mrs. Brown in recognition of her untiring efforts for nine years as treasurer of the WMS. Mrs. Prust played soft music at the opening.

President Mrs. E. Brown conducted a short business meeting. Mrs. E. Burnham, supply secretary, urged the ladies to send in all the good used clothing they could for the bale that is to be packed next Monday at church.

Mrs. O. Hurrle and members of group eight wil be responsible for the December meeting. The slate of officers will be brought in at that meeting by Mrs. M. McIntyre, convener of the nominating committee.

Mrs. Brown introduced Mrs. E. Metcalf, president of Peterborough Presbyterial, who brought greetings and announced the Presbyterial will meet in the church in January, 1951.

Low-Calorie Dinner

Frenched Pork Tenderloin (4 oz 160 cal.) Spanish Sauce (2 oz 35 cal.)
Harvard Spinach (6 oz. 30 cal.)
Baked Pepper Squash (6 oz. without butter 25 cal.)
Fruit Salad in Lettuce Cups with Cottage Cheese (see notes)
Clear Coffee

✧ ✧ ✧

Directions

French Tenderloin with Spanish Sauce

Saute enough Frenched slices of tenderloin for 4 people in 4 tablespoons hot fat or oil just long enough to sear them—about 2 minutes. Lift them from frying pan to baking dish. To the fat in pan add, ½ cup chopped green pepper, ½ cup chopped onion, 1 finely chopped clove garlic and if you care to, ¼ pound sliced mushrooms. When these wilt and are a little golden, add 1 cup tomato paste (canned and to be bought in Italian grocery stores and large groceterias), 1 cup boiling water, 1 tablespoon chili powder, 1 tablespoon brown sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, simmer for 2 minutes, then pour over the tenderloin. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. covered for 30 minutes. Uncover and bake for a few more minutes before serving.

Harvest Spinach

Prepare by trimming spinach and rinsing it through six changes of cold water. Drain and cook in ¼ cup boiling water with 1 teaspoon salt, just until it wilts. Drain and chop. Add 1 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons each vinegar, chopped green pepper and minced canned pimiento. Heat through and serve.

✧ ✧ ✧

The Fruit Salad I have in mind is made of canned pineapple in pieces cut from crescents or sticks, halved and seeded large white grapes, sections of fresh grapefruit (not canned grapefruit for it contains too much sugar) and a few sections of canned mandarin oranges. This should be well-drained, then moistened with a little of either of the following dressings.

✧ ✧ ✧

Excellente Dressing

Three ounces white cream cheese or soft cottage cheese, ¼ cup grated seeded cucumber OR 1 tablespoon horseradish, 1 tablespoon minced chives, 6 tablespoons French dressing, ½ teaspoon salt, dash of cayenne. Mash the cheese with the cucumber or horseradish and chives. Mix in remaining ingredients beating very well. If desired chives may be left out and grated orange rind added.

✧ ✧ ✧

Lorenzo Dressing

(This is the favorite fruit salad dressing of my brother—whom we consider a fruit salad and fruit salad dressing expert.)

Two tablespoons current jelly, ¼ cup each salad oil and lemon juice, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon paprika, 2 tablespoon granulated sugar or honey, 2 teaspoons chili sauce. Crush jelly with a fork and beat until smooth. Add remaining ingredients, and beat with rotary beater until completely mixed. This is best on fruit, but many folks like it on a tossed green salad which contains plenty of crisp lettuce.

TIMBALES OF ONION, green pepper, butter, cheese and spaghetti make an attractive way of serving a commonplace dish.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Giving Variety to Spaghetti A Most Difficult Task

"300 Healthful Dairy Dishes," eighteenth title in the 24 cookbook series currently being made available to readers of the Examiner, has now been released. This extraordinary cookbook contains a wealth of information on how to make basic foods like eggs, cheese, milk and cream into tempting concoctions that will have the youngsters scrambling to the table with eager eyes and open mouths.

Here is an especially nourishing and tasty dish from the Dairy Book that can be used as a luncheon or Sunday night supper entree and that can be served with any cream sauce with cheese added.

Sphaghetti Timbales

3 tablespoons minced onion
¼ cup minced green pepper
¼ cup butter
3 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
1 cup grated Cheddar cheese
2 eggs, well beaten
4 cups cooked spaghetti

Cook onion and pepper in butter. Stir in flour and salt. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly; cook 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Add cheese and stir until it is melted. Add eggs and spaghetti. Pour mixture into greased baking dishes. Set dishes in pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) until firm, about 1 hour. Remove timbales from dishes and serve with cheese sauce. Garnish with a bit of pimiento. Serves 6.

Serve with mushroom caps broiled on tomato slices.

Like all the previous cookbooks in the series, you can obtain your copy of the Dairy Book by clipping a Cookbook Coupon from page 2 of any issue of this newspaper and presenting it to the Examiner Office or from your Carrier, at Braund's Home Food Markets or Dominion Master Market with 25c. Or send the coupon and 30c (5c additional for postage and handling) to Cookbook Department, the Examiner, Peterborough, and your Dairy Book will be mailed to you.

DOROTHY DIX

Suicide Coward's Weapon Threatened by 'Lovers'

DEAR MISS DIX: About two years ago I met a young girl my age and became very much infatuated with her. After knowing her only two weeks I asked her to marry me. She accepted. We could not afford to marry immediately and in six months I was tired of her and told her I did not want to keep company with her any more. She threatened to kill herself if I left her. That frightened me, so it broke down my resistance and I kept on going to see her. A number of times since then I have tried to break off with her and when I do she always makes scenes and says she will take her life if I give her up. Shall I marry this girl and sacrifice my life in order to secure her happiness?

ALBERT

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If you knew anything about women, you would know that there are a million chances to one that her threat of killing herself is nothing but bluff and that she has no idea whatsoever of ever injuring a hair of her head.

Method Has Worked

Tears and threats of suicide are the cowards' weapons that women have used on men since time immemorial, and before which men have surrendered even to this day. Millions of men have been floated to the altar on the tears of women they did not want to marry. Millions of men have been terrorized into marrying women they loathed by women flourishing revolvers or reaching for the poison bottle when the poor dumb males tried to make a getaway. The real shotgun marriage is not staged by outraged fathers. It is pulled off by astute femmes who are out to get their man.

It is only masculine vanity that causes a man to believe that it will break a woman's heart to lose him, and that without him life will be so valueless that she will throw it away. Most women's hearts are constructed of rubber instead of glass and stand a deal of punishment. The proportion of girls who die for love is so negligible that there is no cause to worry over any tragedy resulting from your backing out of an engagement you should never have gone into.

Of all the terrible mistakes and useless sacrifices that men and women ever make, the greatest is that of marrying, when they have ceased to love. No man can be a good husband if he is miserable and feels that his wife has forced him into marrying her. He is bound to take his resentment out upon her. And so for the girl's sake as well as your own, Albert, I advise you to refuse to let her bulldoze you into this marriage. You will be saving her as well as yourself a lot of grief.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 22 years old and have been married five months. Before I married, I joined a woman's club, attended several meetings and card parties, all of which I enjoyed very much. Now my husband refuses to let me go to meetings or to attend any social activities. I have no outside interests and I feel if I should have something to do to occupy a little of my time after my housework is done. Do you think I am wrong in asking for this little bit of freedom? T. H. S.

ANSWER: I certainly do not, and I think that your husband does not understand how cruelly tyrannical he is or else he would not withhold this bit of personal liberty from you. Just ask him how he would like it if the tables were turned and you refused to let him belong to any club or to spend an hour or two every week or so with a group of men. Just ask him how he would like to be shut up in a house all day with only his own thoughts for company and nobody to swap a bit of gossip with.

The wise man encourages his wife in belonging to clubs and in going places and having as many interests outside of the home as possible. This keeps her young and broad-minded and entertaining. She is a far more agreeable companion of an evening when she opens up the little budget of gossip she has gathered during the day than is the woman who has nothing to talk about but the high price of butchers' meat and how big the gas bill was and how troublesome the children are, and the new car the Smiths have, and why can't he make money like other men.

So for his own sake as well as his wife's I warn every bridegroom against making a doormat of his wife. She will always be there, but he will get so tired of her after awhile.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have adopted an illegitimate child. What should I tell it about its parents? R. K. Z.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Tell the child before it is really able to understand the full significance of it, that it is an adopted child, and that you took it because you wanted it and loved it and because its parents could not take care of it and had no home for it to live in.

Let the matter rest there until the child begins to ask questions and then answer these as vaguely as you can, and soften all the facts as much as possible. But don't lie to the child. Children never forgive having been deceived.

Dairy Cattle, Swine Judged At Royal

TORONTO, Nov. 15— (CP)—The Royal Winter Fair featured dairy cattle, sheep and swine judging today and the swing of trophies and prize money was expected to go to eastern farmers after the west, led by Alberta, garnered most of the early awards.

Two world championships were awarded Tuesday and both titles and reserve championships went to Albertans.

Thirteen-year-old Ricky Sharpe of Munson, Alta., turned the tables on the wheat world by winning the championship with his exhibit of Thatcher. It is the first time Thatcher—a rust-resistant wheat widely grown on the prairies—has won the world wheat title at the fair.

Runner-up to Rickey — who came second last year to Mrs. Amy Kelsey of Erickson, B.C.—was Howard Roppel of Rockyford, Alta. Roppel, like Ricky, is a junior member of a grain club. Mrs. Kelsey was sixth.

Wins Oats Title

John Eliuk of Hairy Hill, Alta., who earlier this week lost his 1949 barley crown, came back with a world championship victory in oats for the second successive year. He entered an exhibit of Victory oats. Matt B. Schnurer of Sangudo, Alta., was the reserve champion.

The other 1950 world champions, announced earlier, are: Albert Kessel of Rosetotwn, Sask., barley; Chris Morck of Dickson, Alta., rye; E. W. Doubet, of Hanna City, Ill., corn, and Arthur Budarick of Palmer Rapids, Ont., potatoes.

The winners get $100 each along with a trophy but the prestige of being king of the class brings them a much more remunerative return as a result of increased demand for seed the champions sell.

This year's fair was officially opened Tuesday night by Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian born publisher of the London Daily Express.

MacNamara, assistant chief commissioner of the board, said at the annual meeting of Saskatchewan wheat pool delegates that the board is prepared to assume full responsibility for the spreads. Farm organizations have attacked the price spreads as too wide.

Campbellford Rotary Hears Talk On Scotland

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 15 — (ENS).—Members of the Campbellford Rotary Club heard a very interesting talk by one of their fellow Rotarians at the luncheon on Monday. T. J. Craighead, who returned recently from a two months' visit to the British Isles, told the club of his experiences during his visit to Scotland.

Speaking of the many historical sights, Mr. Craighead said he believed there were more monuments to Bobby Burns than to any one else in the country. He described how two locomotives were required to pull the train up the twisting mountain paths near Stirling, where the Battle of Bannockburn was fought in 1314.

Much of the grain in the country was still in the fields, and as the wet weather had remained so long, much of it would be a total loss.

Mr. Craighead described the "electric brae," which many Scotsmen claim is an optical illusion, but which many others swear is a natural phenomenon. He described how he drove to the brae with a friend, and as they were going down the incline, the friend stopped the car, turned off the ignition and left the car in neutral with the brakes off. Mr. Craighead opened the door of the vehicle, and watched the car back up the hill about eight inches. Persons going up the hill on their bicycles, say hardly any energy is required to climb it.

Eggs, sugar, tea, butter, candy and meat are still rationed but the people appear cheerful. "The hospitality of the people cannot begin to compare with what we find in Canada," said Mr. Craighead. Total strangers will do all in their power to help anyone.

Dr. O. C. Watson moved a vote of thanks to the speaker, and President Art Loucks thanked Mr. Craighead on behalf of the club.

128 At Others Class Friendship Tea Party

"Others Class" of Murray St. Baptist Church, a group of about 50 women, has gone to considerable expense in attractively redecorating its classroom. To raise funds to cover the expense the members invited their friends to enjoy a social hour with them on Tuesday evening, making a small admission charge, which netted them $32.

This was the group's first entertainment of a social nature, and it was carried out handsomely.

Mrs. P. W. Johnson arranged a delightful musical program in which Mrs. Charles Holmes was heard in two vocal selections, "Valley of Laughter" and "Poor Butterfly"; Misses Phoebe Hardwick and Emmeline Reed were at the piano for two duets, "Valse Lente" and "Two Guitars"; Lorraine Bacon also played pleasingly "Clair de Lun" and "Rustle of Spring", and Mabel McLarnon sang Purcell's "Nymphs and Shepherds" and a selection from the Mikado.

Accompaniment for the singers was by Mrs. Johnson and Miss Leone Smedmor played background music during the tea.

The tea table was set with crystal plates and a bowl held bronze and yellow 'mums, which were highlighted by pale yellow tapers on either side. The tablecloth was cutwork linen, and dainty luncheon cloths were on the quartette tables, each of which was centred with yellow 'mums.

A doll's tea party had been arranged as the platform decoration owing to the success of the mothers in borrowing from their young daughters. Very much dressed-up dolls sat primly on small chairs which had been painted in pastel shades, and a white woolly toy dog was their special guest.

President Mrs. A. Harnden was assisted in receiving by Mrs. I. C. Morgan and Miss Marjorie Stenton was hostess in the tea-room.

Hot biscuits and tea cakes were a delicious feature of the refreshments, made by Mrs. H. Frise, Miss Clara Doughty, Miss G. Webber, Mrs. M. Hetherington, Mrs. R. McNaughton, Mrs. W. Kidd, and Mrs. H. Sellon, and the plates were decorated with relishes by Mrs. S. Malsch and Miss M. Knapp.

Serving were Mrs. J. Cuthbert, Mrs. Z. Anderson, Mrs. G. W. Kennedy, Miss S. Garrett, Miss A. Hardwicke, and Miss A. Johnson, with tea being poured by the guest assistants, Mrs. H. Tranter and Mrs. C. Boorman, wives of Sunday School superintendents, Mrs. J. Buchanan, president of the Young Married Couples Club, and Mrs. L. Ingram, president of the WA.

Miss Nell Stenton was making the tea and Mrs. H. Strickland replenishing the pots.

Mrs. A. Smedmor was assisted in convening the tea by Mrs. Strickland, and others who helpedd uring the evening were Miss J. McNaughton, Mrs. M. Haddow, Mrs. S. Rome and Mrs. N. Briggs. Also Mrs. W. Hardwicke, who was responsible for the decorations as well.

COBOURG, Nov. 15—(ENS)—Sponsored by the Cobourg Boy Scouts Association, a program designed to promote safety is being held at three p.m. on December 12 at the collegiate. Inspector R. COBOURG, Nov. 15.—(ENS).—The sum of $1,176 was raised in the campaign held locally for the Northumberland and Durham Children's Aid Society. The drive for funds started on November 1 and closed last Saturday.

Last year there was no organized campaign in Cobourg; instead, letters were sent out from the society's offices in Port Hope and the amount raised locally at that time was only $245. Chairman of the Cobourg campaign was Reg. Gardiner and treasurer was Willard Blakestone. Lillian Richards was in charge of the special names committee, and the campaign canvassing chairmen were Albert Greaves, Marg. Robertson, Ruth Bland, Bob Cooper Jr. and Art Steele.

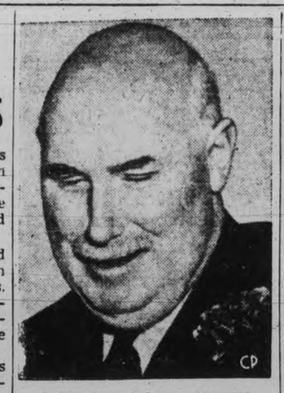
Women Listed Veterans Names

The Ex-Service Women's Branch, No. 452, of the Canadian Legion has completed a card index, in alphabetical order, of the men and women who have served in four wars.

"They've done a fine job," said Mayor Swanston Monday night in commenting on a letter from Mrs. Doug Vaisey reporting the completion of their undertaking. Secretary of the branch is Miss Grace Simpson.

Approximately 4,000 names have been filed. To Mayor Swanston's question: "What should we do next?" Ald. H. Dodds suggested that a typed roll should be prepared, "and check on the names printed."

"We'd have to arrange with the newspapers and see if they would publish the names without charge," Mayor Swanston said.



The present nominal list is not considered complete, but it is believed that any names omitted would be obtained from relatives or men and women themselves who saw service. It includes the names of a few men who have survived the years since the Northwest Rebellion, veterans of the Boer War, the two World Wars, and volunteers to the brigade going to Korea.

Sick Woman Removed As House Burns

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 15. — (ENS). — Damage estimated at several hundred dollars resulted on Tuesday afternoon when fire, which may have been caused by children playing with matches, gutted the interior of the upper half of a house on Rannie Street in Campbellford.

Owner of the house, Alex McInroy, had just come home for dinner. His five-year-old twins, Willie and Ward, were upstairs playing, but later rushed down to inform their father the house was on fire. Sharon Buckles, a neighbor's child, saw smoke and also reported it. An alarm was immediately turned in and the firemen responded promptly.

Most of the damage was caused by dense smoke. Water damage was reduced to a minimum when workmen from the Campbellford woollen mill arrived later with a company pump, and helped drain away the water.

Mrs. McInroy, who was recovering from a recent operation, was removed from the burning building and admitted to the Campbellford hospital. Her condition Tuesday night was reported as satisfactory.

The blaze, which started in a fur coat in a clothes closet in an upstairs bedroom, gained considerable headway at first. Neighbors helped remove most of the furniture and personal belongings. However, nearly all the clothes owned by the family and an electric range were lost. There was no insurance on the building or its contents.

Over-All Fire Loss In Canada Believed Heavier Than Last Year

By The Canadian Press

Canadians looking back on a season of heavy forest fire losses in the east and west—but of light damage in the central provinces—found the most spectacular development in a smoke pall that brought a daytime blackout to several eastern North American cities one weekend in late September.

The over-all fire loss in Canada is believed heavier this year than in 1949. Just how much heavier has yet to be calculated by provincial foresty department officials, still busy tabulating rangers' reports.

Estimates of the value of timber destroyed are available for only one of the 10 provinces, Alberta which lost $1,000,000 worth. In all Canada last year, the value of timber burned and the cost of firefighting totalled $9,017,706.

Losses were up in Saskatchewan, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, down in Alberta, a Canadian Press survey today showed. A wet summer made the fire season a light one in Quebec, Manitoba and Ontario, which have not yet placed a value on the damage. Details of the number of fires and their cost are incomplete in British Columbia and Newfoundland. Canada's smallest province, Prince Edward Island, has scarcely any forest.

The smoke that drifted eastward from bushfires in northwestern Canada the weekend of Sept. 24 blotted out the sun over a score of cities including Toronto, Chicago, New York, Washington and Buffalo, NY. The smoke made the moon appear blue over the British Isles and caused other weird effects in the Danish sky.

Picture of Losses

Here is the cross-country picture of losses:

Nova Scotia, which had $300,000 worth of forest fire damage last year, had heavier damage this year, most of it in a big early-season blaze that destroyed several hundred acres of cut-over spruce in the Musquidoboit area.

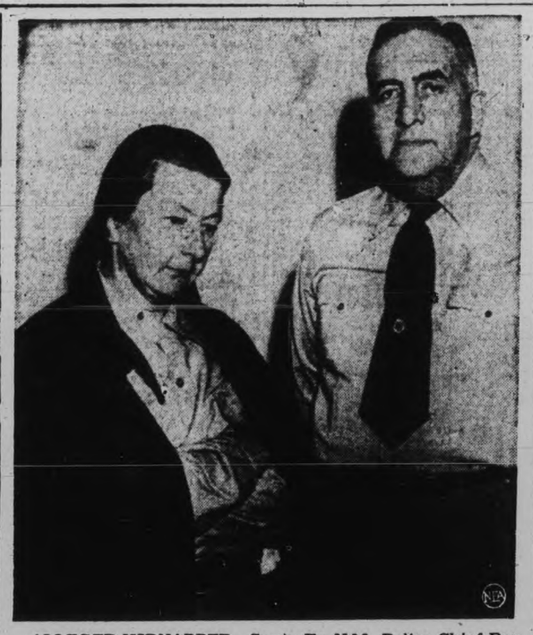
Spring fires also accounted for most of the damage in Saskatchewan. That prairie province estimated destruction at 85,746 cords of merchantable timber in 113 fires, compared with 52,661 cords in 221 outbreaks last year.

Late and early October were the worst forest fire periods in New Brunswick. Damage is described as the heaviest in recent years. At least 70 square miles, mostly in the northern part of the province, was blackened and the loss included young and mature soft and hard timber. Some of the areas had been swept previously by fires or had a covering of scrub growth. Last year fires burned through 4,864 acres, with loss of $12,740.

Better in Ontario

Ontario lost 1,412 acres of merchantable timber in the 957 fires that burned through 37,687 acres, compared with 3,527 acres of salable timber in 1,834 fires that swept 60,065 acres last year. Some 3,000 acres of burn has yet to be classified.

Quebec officials say fire losses were "extremely light." Most occurred during early spring before new growth appeared.



Manitoba this year had only 11 fires, covering 56,000 acres, as against last year's 383 fires in 168,760 acres. Lightning is blamed for many of the 1950 blazes.

In Newfoundland, forestry men say the fall was "the worst on record" for fires, with most of the destruction in spruce stands.

British Columbia fires numbered 1,514, compared with 1,701 last year, but officals say that this year "some were big ones."

Alberta authorities believe their fire damage will approximate $1,000,000, as against last year's $4,000,000. Merchantable timber losses were "negligible" compared with the destruction of 250,000 acres in 1949.

The Alberta fires followed a September heat wave and coincided with an 18-day drought. They were blamed for the smoke pall. However, Alberta officials think most of the smoke probably came from northeastern British Columbia, near the southern end of the Alaska Highway. Alberta had 35 fires at the time, but 65 bigger ones were burning in British Columbia.

ALLEGED KIDNAPPER—Santa Fe, N.M., Police Chief Ben Martinez questions a glum Dr. Nancy Campbell, who is accused of having kidnapped nine-year-old Linda Stamm for $20,000 ransom. The 53-year-old woman doctor, reportedly debt-ridden, admitted planning the whole thing alone, say police. Young Linda, imprisoned in a deserted ranch house for 30 hours, suffered from a cold but was otherwise unharmed.

Britain To Double Her Tank Production

LONDON, Nov. 15 (AP)—War Minister John Strachey said Tuesday British tank production will be "more than doubled" as quickly as possible.

He told the House of Commons this includes the output of the new 50-ton Centurion, claimed by British authorities to be the superior of any known Russian tank.

Strachey declined figures or other details but said production already is rising "pretty rapidly."

Fire Damages Hall

TAPLOW, Buckinghamshire, England, Nov. 15 (CP) Fire Tuesday damaged a concert hall attached to the Canadian Red Cross Memorial Hospital near here, but was quickly brought under control. Built by Canada, the building was a Canadian army hospital during the Second World War.

Permit Granted

Finance committee of the council gave its assent Monday night to the granting by the Trent Canal Department of a permit to Canada Packers Limited for the enclosure of the old Wolfe St. wharf, south of the CPR bridge. The permit is a form of license for use, and it is understood CPC wish to put a lock on the fence for the protection of their own premises. The company pays a nominal fee to the government.

Women Deny Murder Attempt

LITTLE CURRENT, Ont., Nov. 15 (CP)— Two women wounded by the same rifle bullet near here Friday said in an interview Tuesday it was "preposterous" and "ridiculous" to charge 29-year-old Herbert Deering, husband of one of them, with attempted murder.

Police accused Deering of firing the shot that struck his wife, his sister-in-law and a 10-month-old baby. The women were admitted to hospital here and the baby was taken to Sudbury for treatment.

Investigators said they believed the shooting incident was a sequel to a quarrel about going to a turkey supper. The women were driving away from the Deering home at nearby Ice Lake when the bullet ripped through the rear of the Deering automobile.

"Laying that charge against my husband is crazy," Mrs. Deering said. "I want to get out of here and get him the best lawyer I can."

Frost Names Foote To Cabinet Succeeds Hamilton

TORONTO, Nov. 16—(CP)—Premier Frost today announced the resignation of Hon. W. E. Hamilton as Ontario Minister of Reform Institutions and the appointment of the Rev. John Foote as his successor. Maj. Foote, 46, member of the Legislature for Durham and winner of the Victoria Cross as a Canadian Army Chaplain at Dieppe, was scheduled to be sworn in late today.

Mr. Hamilton, 48, will become vice-president and general manager for Canada of the Paul Revere Life Insurance Company of the United States. Premier Frost said Mr. Hamilton will remain in the Cabinet as a minister without portfolio and will continue to represent the riding of Wellington South.

He will be a member of the Ontario delegation to the Federal-Provincial conference which resumes in Ottawa Dec. 4.

Maj. Foote is resigning as Deputy Chief Commissioner of the Ontario Liquor Control Board.

Continue Work

Mr. Frost said that Maj. Foote, although retiring as Deputy Liquor Commissioner, "will continue to do the important work in which he is presently engaged relating to the cure and rehabilitation of alcoholics.

The new minister, said Premier Frost, "brings to this portfolio, which is so vitally concerned with the rehabilitation of men and women, great qualities of heart and mind and a wealth of human understanding."

Maj. Foote was born May 5, 1904, at Madoc, and was educated at the University of Western Ontario, London; Queen's University, Kingston, and McGill University, Montreal.

He was married in 1929 to the former Edith Sheridan of Brockville. He was elected to the Legislature in the 1948 general election.

In Cabinet Year

Mr. Hamilton, native of Guelph, has been in the cabinet since July, 1949. He resigned as branch manager of the Sun Life Assurance Company at Guelph to take the portfolio.

The Canadian head office of the Revere Company will be established in Hamilton but Mr. Hamilton will continue to live in Guelph.

Mr. Hamilton, whose wife is the former Jean Clarke of Ottawa, has four sons and a daughter. He is a graduate of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, and a former member of the Guelph Board of Trade.

He was an unsuccessful candidate in the provincial general election of 1943. Recently he had been mentioned for appointment as provincial treasurer, a post now held by Premier Frost.

UN Soldiers Advance 5 Miles In Storm

SEOUL, Nov. 16—(AP)—United Nations forces drove forward all along the cold North Korean war front today.

Smashing advances of as much as five miles in the northeast carried Americans to within 20 air miles of the Manchurian border.

On the northwest front, troops of three countries comprising the entire U.S. 1st Corps moved through a sleet storm. They advanced as much as four miles without firing a shot.

The Republic of Korea (ROK) 1st Corps stabilized the left centre of the front with short fighting gains.

In Thursday's biggest push the U.S. 7th Division fought five miles forward in the frozen Pungsan hills in the northeast against Red artillery, tanks and infantry.

The drive placed the 17th Infantry Regiment in force along the 41st Parallel, only 20 air miles south of the Manchurian border.

Smash Counter-Attack

In the extreme northeast, the ROK Capital Division broke up a North Korean counter-attack at noon. The ROKs then drove two miles ahead on the left flank.

U.S. marines clashed with a sizeable Communist force as they moved 2½ to three miles up the icy west side of the great Changjin reservoir in the centre of the peninsula.

Seventy miles to the southwest, the ROK 1st Corps hammered its way back into the town of Tokchon and recaptured positions along the road linking Tokchon with Kunu.

The ROK Corps is on the right flank of the U.S. 1st Corps which made Thursday's sweeping and unopposed advance in the far east.

South Korean, British and American forces, comprising this corps, advanced as much as three miles to the north, and stretched out their line to both the west

Give Extortionist 5 Years In Jail

NASSAU, Bahamas, Nov. 16 — (CP). — Convicted of attempted extortion and threats against the life of Lady Eunice Oakes and her family, Nicholas Musgrove was sentenced Wednesday to five years.

Chief Justice Oswald Bancroft also recommended that Musgrove be deported to his native Turks Island at the end of his prison term.

Musgrove was arrested in May after two threatening letters and two telephone calls, one of which was traced by police, were intercepted by Basil Sparrow, secretary to the widow of Sir Harry Oakes. Sir Harry, millionaire Canadian mining magnate, was murdered in 1943 and his killer was never convicted.

Musgrove took the stand in his own defence Wednesday and denied knowledge of the extortion attempts.

Brigade's Inspection To Be Held Nov. 23

FORT LEWIS, Wash., Nov. 16 (CP)—Brig. J. J. (Rocky) Rockingham says Canada's 10,000-man Korean brigade likely will be on parade for its first inspection as a major formation on Nov. 23.

The kilted commander of the Dominion's United Nations force gave this progress report Wednesday in an interview after inspecting an honor guard of 500 U.S. army combat engineers.

This was Brig. Rockingham's official welcome to Fort Lewis, where his force will be stationed for "formation training."

Force members, abandoning camps from Ontario to British Columbia, began pouring into Fort Lewis today by troop train.

After taking the salute Wednesday, the brigadier was received by Brig.-Gen. Leroy H. Watson, fort commander.

BONNIE PRINCE CHARLES was given a birthday buggy ride Nov. 14 through London's Green Park by nurse Mabel Anderson. The chubby child, who one day may be King of England, was celebrating his second birthday.

Ezinicki and Lynn Traded To Bruins For 3 Players

TORONTO, Nov. 16—(CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League today announced they had traded right wing Bill Ezinicki and left wing Vic Lynn to Boston Bruins for three players—defenceman Fern Flaman and forwards Phil Maloney and Ken Smith.

Ezinicki and Lynn, who have been playing with Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey League, will report to Boston immediately for service with the Bruins. The three Boston players will go to the Hornets, a Leaf farm team.

The Leafs also get the rights to an amateur player, whose name was not announced here. However, the Boston Club said he is Leo Boyvin of Port Arthur.

Clarence (Hap) Day, assistant manager of the Leafs, announced the deal, completed by manager Conn Smythe of the Leafs and general manager Art Ross of the Bruins, in New York for a meeting of the NHL board of governors.

Reserve Strength

Day said the Toronto club felt that if Ezinicki and Lynn were good enough to play in the NHL it shouldn't keep them in the minors. Another factor was that the Leafs gained reserve strength essential for the long NHL schedule and for Stanley Cup playoffs.

There have been rumors for months that Ezinicki would be traded. They were given fresh impetus when he failed to report to the Leafs camp for pre-season training. When he finally showed up, he was assigned to Pittsburgh to play himself into condition.

Hardest-hitting forward in the league, he has been a leader in penalties since he moved into the NHL in the 1945-46 season. A native of Winnipeg, he played amateur hockey with Oshawa Generals.

Lynn, native of Saskatoon, joined the Leafs in the 1946-47 season and was assigned to Pittsburgh when the present season opened.

New York Rangers have sent forward Dunc Fisher to Boston Bruins in exchange for Zellio Toppazzini and Ed Harrison, both forwards, Frank Boucher, manager of the National Hockey League club, announced today.

Boucher said it was a straight player deal with no cash involved.

6 In Ontario Cabinet To Attend Conference

TORONTO, Nov. 16 (CP). — Six members of the Ontario cabinet and 15 technical and departmental experts will represent Ontario at the forthcoming Dominion-Provincial Conference opening in Ottawa Dec. 4, Premier Frost said today.

Ministers on the delegation:

Premier Frost, Highways Minister Doucett, Attorney-General Porter, Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar, Public Welfare Minister Goodfellow, and William E. Hamilton, Minister without Portfolio.

New Attempt To Break Deadlock On German Arms

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16—(AP)—Another effort to break the German re-armament deadlock and get on with organization of a combined defence force for western Europe is scheduled in London next month.

The North Atlantic military committee expects to get together about Dec. 4 with the North Atlantic Council of Foreign Ministers' Deputies, now in session there.

The military committee, made up of top-ranking military officers of the North Atlantic Treaty countries, and the Council of Deputies are seeking a German re-armament plan on which the United States, and the other members, including Canada, can agree.

A deadlock between United States and French proposals for using western Germans led the North Atlantic defence ministers to postpone further steps toward organizing western Euorpe's defences and appointing an American—expected to be Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower—as their supreme commander.

(In Victoria Wednesday night, Brooke Claxton, Canada's defence minister and representative on the pact's defence ministers' committee, said that Canada, along with the other 11 pact members —will try to settle differences with France over western Germany's part in European defence).

The United States proposed the creation of German divisions. Its plan included guarantees that a German general staff would not be allowed to spring up, that German participation would not exceed 20 per cent, and that France's sovereignty would be protected fully.

The joint meeting of the military committee and the council of deputies in London is expected to be followed by a meeting of the North Atlantic defence ministers, who ordered the joint study of the German re-armament problem.

$90,000 Inn Fire Hinted Arson

PARRY SOUND, Nov. 16 (CP) —Investigation started today into the cause of a $90,000 fire that Wednesday night destroyed the Monteith Inn at Rosseau, 24 miles south of here.

The Ontario Fire Marshal and the Ontario Provincial Police were called for an inquiry into the destruction of the inn, oldest summer resort on Lake Rosseau in the Muskoka district.

Ardell Atkinson, town constable and fire chief at Rosseau, said today:

"It is almost certain this fire was stared by someone. Witnesses saw it burning in two places at one time. The inn has been boarded up since September.

"It was a very old inn, built of pine that was really dry. The whole place just went up like tinder."

Norway Would Boost Trade With Canada

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 16—(CP) —Norway faces an unfavorable balance of trade with Canada today, but is doing everything in her power to rectify the situation, Shirley G. MacDonald, Canadian Trade Commissioner to Norway, said today.

Mr. MacDonald is here to meet representatives of western Ontario industries interested in trade with Norway. He is making a coast-to-coast tour of Canadian industries before returning to Europe in January.

He said Norway exports only $1,000,000 worth of goods to Canada annually while she imports $20,000,000 from this country.

Egypt Ready To Cancel British Treaty

UK Officials Say Troops Will Stay To Guard Suez Canal

CAIRO, Nov. 16—(AP)—Egypt's government stated formally today it no longer regards its 1936 treaty with Britain as legal.

But although the speech from the Throne at the opening session of parliament made this assertion, and added "there is no other alternative than to decide its cancellation," the government stopped short of formal denunciation of the treaty.

The throne speech read by King Farouk indicated instead that Egypt hopes Britain will recognize its demands to remove British troops immediately from the Suez canal zone and permit the unification of the Sudan with Egypt under Farouk's rule.

A main clause of the 1936 agreement is its authorization to maintain British troops in the strategic Canal Zone until 1956.

First reaction of western observers was that the speech was drafted in diplomatic doubletalk which could—and probably would be—interpreted both as a cancellation and not a cancellation.

Political Move

Some thought the hint of denunciation was intended as a political sop to popular feeling which strongly favors British evacuation. Britain has been occupying Egyptian soil for 68 years.

Official British sources declined immediate comment. One source said the throne speech was "vague" on the subject.

Disturbances in Cairo's streets increased as the Egyptian leaders met in parliament. An estimated 1,000 police went into action outside the offices of the weekly opposition newspaper Akbhar El Yom after a mob attacked the building with stones and other missiles.

In London a foreign office spokesman said today Britain would not comply with Egyptian demands to pull British troops from the Suez Canal Zone—trade and defence lifeline to the east.

The spokesman told a press conference Britain did not recognize the Cairo government's right to upset the 1936 treaty which binds the two countries together for 20 years.

"The defence of the Middle East is an issue which directly affects the peace and safety of many countries," said the spokesman.

To Invest Young Lama With Full Powers

NEW DELHI, Nov. 16 (AP)— The 16-year-old Dalai Lama, spiritual and temporal head of Communist-invaded but still-unconquered Tibet, will be invested with full powers at a state ceremony in Lhasa Friday, a reliable Indian source reported today.

This source said the rites were advanced by more than a year to enable the Dalai Lama to try and unify resistance against the Communist Chinese invaders. Normally a regent is in control until the Dalai Lama is 18.

Simultaneously, it was learned that Tibet has named a delegation to carry the Himalayan country's apepal for United Nations intercession before that organization.

India is unofficially reported to have agreed to support her imperilled neighbor's case, but government sources today merely said the matter is "still under consideration."

Envoy May Lose Eye

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Nov. 16 (AP)—Lewis Douglas, the retiring U.S. ambassador to London, disclosed today he may have to have his left eye removed. He has had several operations on the eye since he snagged it with a trout fly while fishing near here in April, 1949.

APPOINTMENT OF THE Rev. John Foote as Ontario Minister of Reform Institutions was announced today by Premier Frost. He succeeds the Hon. W. E. Hamilton who has resigned.

Escaped Convict Captured In Toronto Taxi

TORONTO, Nov. 16 (CP)—Allen Francis, 27, who escaped Nov. 4 from penitentiary at Kingston, was recaptured here Wednesday night. He will be held here for a day or two before being taken back to Kingston.

"We want to investigate what he's been doing around here," a senior police officer said today. "When we're through, he'll go to Kingston to face a charge of escaping custody."

Francis was serving a four-year term for car theft, imposed here last January.

A native of Owen Sound, he fled with a fellow-prisoner, Jean Bernard, 24, whose home is in Sudbury. They slipped away from an eight-man work party at the prison farm and, police say, made their getaway in an automobile taken from the home of Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, commandant of the National Defence College in Kingston. The car was later recovered.

Bernard was arrested the night of Nov. 5 on the main street of Sydenham, near Kingston. He refused to give any clue to the whereabouts of Francis. Bernard was serving 2½ years for theft.

Trailed Taxi

Police Wednesday night arrested Francis after trailing a taxicab to an address on east-central Ontario Street. They snapped the handcuffs on him as he was about to step out of the car.

The Toronto officers had learned that Francis was in the city. Det.-Sgt. A. Payne and Detectives Frank D'Driscoll, Charlie Cook and Jack Kenneth followed him in a cruiser.

Francis' wife is said to be living on Sherbourne Street in east-central Toronto.

Last week-end, Francis was the object of a widespread hunt throughout southeastern Ontario. More than 100 Kingston police, Provincial Police and RCMP officers combed the Kingston district and every police officer in that section of the province was put on the alert.

Summer Interim Boost Has Been Doubled Across Ontario, Quebec

Increase Means 21% Addition In Revenue For Phone Company; Costs To Be Heavier In Larger Cities

OTTAWA, Nov. 16—(CP)—The Bell Telephone Company of Canada today was given authority for new rate increases which will jump domestic and residential local charges in Ontario and Quebec for the second time this year. The Board of Transport Commissioners authorized a long series of increases of varying amounts — effective next Jan. 1—aimed at giving the company an additional $25,700,000 a year in gross revenue.

Most of this amount, slightly more than 20 per cent. of the company's annual intake, had been provided for in "interim" increases awarded by the board July 9. That judgment sent up long distance, private line and other miscellaneous rates.

Today's final judgment—dealing with an application filed by the company a year ago—applies chiefly to local charges for domestic and residential services, which in the July 9 decision had been boosted by 50 per cent of the amount sought by the company. Now, Bell has authority to increase them by the other 50 per cent it sought.

This means that domestic and business charges for local calls will go up again by the same amount they rose last summer.

Effective at New Year

Immediately after the decision came down, Bell officials announced they were ready to put the increased rates into effect Jan. 1, giving 30 days' statutory notice.

While the over-all effect of the board decisions means a general boost of about 21 per cent in company revenue, the increases vary widely from a matter of cents to some dollars a month.

Generally, they are heavier in the big cities, scaling down grad-

Just Back From Korea Saves Girl In Fire

NEW YORK, Nov. 16—(AP)—A sailor just back from action in Korean waters plunged into a burning house early today and rescued a girl, but five other members of her family perished.

Edward Kane, 25, returned only Wednesday on a 26-day furlough after his ship, a minesweeper, suffered enemy damage.

Escorting a girl friend home, he saw flames in the home of George Olsen, 45, a shipyard foreman.

While the girl ran to a fire alarm box, he climbed through a window and dragged Dorothy Olsen, 15, to safety. He tried to enter again but was blocked by fire and smoke.

Olsen died with his wife, May, 42, and Dorothy's three sisters, Ruth, 21; Florence, 13; and Evelyn, 8.

Canadians Finding Japan Bargain Hunters Paradise

TOKYO, Nov. 16 — (CP)— Tired of the cost of living? Come to Japan and get away from it all.

It is one continuous Christmas for Canadians here. Every day you see them staggering back to their hotels and homes under a load of parcels, bragging to each other how little they paid for this or that.

The main shopping street for foreigners here is the Ginza.

On tthis teeming thoroughfare are the big department stores and select shops that deal usually in just one item each. For instance, if you want good china, you select a store that deals only in that. A good 91-piece set costs about $45. You'd pay at least $200 for it in Canada.

Cultured pears that would cost $600 at home can be picked up here for $80. Silk brocade, unobtainable in Canadian stores, sells for around $2.70 a yard. Cameras can be purchased for about half the Canadian price.

One Canadian recently bought a good dressing gown, two shirts, two kimonas, several ties, a pair of shoes, three towels, stockings and winter underwear. Total outlay: $45.

The Ginza is a fascinating street. There are not only the stores, but hundreds of persons set up booths on the sidewalks to hawk their wares. Their stuff is not nearly as good as one can find in the stores, but occasionally one lights on a bargain.

At one time the sidewalk traders nearly ran the big stores out of business. Now they are not allowed to open their booths until 4 p.m. They close around 9 p.m. Sunday is a work day here and the Japanese take Monday off.

Hope To Bury Crash Victims In French Town

CROIX DE LA PIGNE, France, Nov. 16. — (CP). — Maj.-Gen. George Vanier, Canadian ambassador to France, today said permission will be sought to bury the victims of the Canadian Pilgrim air disaster at the nearby Church of Notre Dame de la Salette.

"We shall consult the relatives of the victims to see if they are in agreement with this decision," he said.

There were 14 Roman Catholic priests among the 58 persons killed when the chartered four-engine airliner crashed into a high peak of the French Alps Monday. There were also 36 Holy Year pilgrims from Quebec Province, a Canadian crew of seven and one American aboard the ill-fated craft.

Mayor Elected Despite Inquiry

PORT ALBERNI, B. C., Nov. 16 (CP).—Despite a biting government report on his administration released on election eve, Loran Jordon today was back as mayor of this Vancouver Island city.

Mayor Jordan, who resigned after an investigation into civic administration of this city of 8,500, polled 879 votes Wednesday night in a by-election—173 more than William Johnstone, the alderman who resigned to contest the mayoralty. The vote was the biggest ever recorded here.

Mayor Jordon's supporters expressed bitterness over the provincial government's timing in releasing the investigation report of B. C. Bracewell, deputy municipalities minister.

The report, among other things charged Port Alberni civic officials with "insufficient recognition of the responsibility and obligation of municipal administrators, both individually and collectively."

Allied Tanks, Troops Reinforcing Berlin

BERLIN, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Western powers today brought British tanks and American troop reinforcements to Berlin and announced they will arm German police here with sub-machine-guns and automatic rifles.

As German school children waved welcome, eight 33-ton Comet tanks rolled from a freight train to the British armored force depot. Shortly afterward 200 American soldiers also arrived by rail.

The Allied kommandatura (the three Western commandants) announced it would equip and train the 13,800 police force in West Berlin with sub-machine-guns, automatic rifles and rifles.

This is "in the interests of Berlin security," the kommandatura said. It described the weapons as "types normal to a modern police force."

U.S.-Canada Plan Civil Defence Meet

Want Co-operation At Federal Level Between 2 Countries

OTTAWA, Nov. 16—(CP)—Canadian and American officials are going to meet shortly to begin work on arrangements for co-operation at the federal level between the two countries in their planning for civil defence, it was learned Wednesday.

The meeting, initiated by the Americans, will be held in Washington next Tuesday, with Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, Canada's coordinator of civil defence, heading this country's delegation.

Officials at defence headquarters could not elaborate until the Americans forward a proposed agenda.

It appeared, however, to be a move to work out a broad blueprint so that any regional or local arrangements could be fitted into it.

The Washington meeting follows a recent meeting at which representatives of a number of American states moved forward with a plan for defence co-operation among themselves and adjoining Canadian provinces. The states border on Ontario, Quebec, and New Brunswick.

Have National Plan

In Canada itself, the federal government has worked out a national plan and reached agreement with the provinces on a division of responsibilities. The provinces, in turn, are co-operating with the municipalities. Ottawa is expected to issue a booklet giving cities tips on how to set up local defence arrangements.

In a number of cities and areas, however, such as Windsor, the problem of neighborly co-operation involves not other Canadians but Americans.

The Washington meeting is looked on as an effort to lay down broad outlines for the co-operation that must spring up under such conditions.

Gen. Worthington will leave here next Monday with Richard Wright of the cabinet secretariat and in Washington will be joined by A. L. Wright, Defence Research Board liaison officer there, and an official from the Canadian Embassy.

Russia Protests Jet Menaces Thorez Plane

BERLIN, Nov. 16 — (AP) — Gen. Vassily Chuikov, chief of Soviet forces in Germany, charged Wednesday night that an American jet fighter endangered a Russian hospital plane carrying French Communist leader Maurice Thorez to Moscow. American officials promptly denied the charge.

Chuikov sent a formal protest to US High Commissioner John J. McCloy. It said the jet flew within 10 yards of the Soviet plane, despite advance notice to the American authorities that the flight was being made over Germany.

A US Air Force spokesman in Frankfort said the Soviet plane failed to make contact with the Rhine-main airport when it approached the Frankfort area, en route from Paris to Berlin last Saturday.

Failed to Make Contact

He said when the Soviet plane did not make this contact a US plane approached the Russian craft to identify it so other planes in the area could be notified. He said the jet did not fly closer than 500 feet from the Soviet plane, and that it left after identifying the Soviet craft.

Thorez, reported to be suffering partial paralysis, was accompanied by his wife and a Russian doctor and French Communist physician. The Communist Party newspaper Pravda said in Moscow Wednesday that he arrived safely and is undergoing treatment in a sanatorium under the observation of Soviet and French doctors.

Gen. Chuikov said the jet fighter made threatening passes at the Russian plane and that the Soviet ship escaped a collision only because of the dexterity of the pilot.

and east. Even patrols reaching far in front of the advance were unable to make contact with solid enemy positions.

Thursday's advances the full length of the slanting line came the day after heavy Red assaults dented ROK-held sectors around Tokchon and on the northeast coast.

More Reinforcements

Meanwhile, more UN reinforcements were reported coming up to the front. A British spokesman said the Commonwealth 29th Brigade was assembling near Seoul, South Korean capital. This is a newly-identified unit in the UN force. The Commonwealth 27th Brigade has been in action for some time. It is made up of British and Australian troops.

American naval guns and planes came to the rescue of the battered Republican Capital Division on the northeast coast. North Korean attacks, including an amphibious landing behind the South Korean lines, had ripped holes in the South Korean front and shoved the right flank back.

Eight-inch guns of the U.S. cruiser Rochester and rockets of marine and naval planes wiped out half of a Communist battalion which made the amphibious landing.

Made Five Holes

The Red battalion, made up of North Korean marine officer cadets from a training school at Chongjin, landed from small boats to bulwark a heavy land attack along the 15-mile, snow-covered north-eastern front. Communists punched five holes in the South Korean line before they were checked.

Temperatures on the western front rose from near zero to above freezing. This was the signal for the advance, despite the driving sleet.

On the extreme left flank, the South Korean 1st Division moved up nearly four miles along a four-mile front, taking over high ground west of Pakchon.

TORONTO, Nov. 16.—(CP). — Most Rev. George F. Kingston, primate of the Church of England in Canada, spent a "fair night and a fair morning," hospital authorities said today. in this wind-swept and bleak mountainous area of southwestern France. The 55 bodies recovered were brought down 3,000 feet to this hamlet Wednesday in a cable-way normally used for logging.

The Most Rev. Maurice Roy, archbishop of Quebec, who arrived Wednesday from Rome, was attempting identification today.

Village women, shawls over their heads, stood in slush and sleet as the remains were carried to the schoolhouse, where Msgr. Roy bent over them. They were then taken to the candle-lit church, where a special service was held this afternoon.

French aviation officials have opened an inquiry into the crash. One said today that the aircraft was flying at 9,000 feet "and only a navigation error can account for the disaster."

ually through the towns and villages.

The one-party residential rate in Toronto and Montreal now will be $4.75 a month, up $1.50 from the rate before July. The increases in this type of service are graduated down to a low of 85 cents a month for phones in the smallest exchanges.

For communities such as Peterborough, there is an increase from $2.75 to $3.75.

The decision also removes a differential between wall phones and hand sets, whereby the older type phones cost less than the hand sets. They now will be charged the same rate per month.

In all, about 1,700,000 telephones in the two central provinces will be affected by the new rates.

Besides the domestic and business charges, the Transport Commissioners also authorized increases of varying types, to the amount sought by the company, for these classes of service:

1. Temporary business two-party line service, which now is in effect in Hamilton, London and Windsor pending installation of a "measured" service, based on number of calls per month.

2. Suburban zone service, a measured service operating around Montreal, Toronto and Quebec City.

3. One-way extended area service, a special type in effect for some exchanges adjoining Ottawa such as Aylmer, Que., and Gatineau, Que., and also in Shawinigan Falls and Grand'Mere in Quebec.

4. Extended local service, which is optional to the one-way service at Shawinigan Falls and Grand'Mere.

5. "Locality rates" for a few exchanges near Niagara Falls, Ont. and Montreal.

6. Three and four-party line service, in use in only about five exchanges in the Joliette area of Quebec.

7. Service station systems, in which the Bell Company charges small connecting companies for use of Bell's switchboard facilities.

Woebegone Major Reaches Coast

Perhaps Major Jack Peterson of St. Thomas, formerly of Peterborough, and the 2nd Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, has reached the Pacific Coast.

A news item at the beginning of the week referred to training at Petawawa Camp, and mentioned the former officer of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders as follows:

"Then there was Major J. F. Peterson, DSO, mayor of St. Thomas. He was looking very woebegone, with his head in his hands. He had just been inoculated for typhoid and he felt grim. He was in battle dress and skeleton equipment. A few hours later he was seen leading his men on a 15-mile route march."

Major Peterson offered the council of St. Thomas his resignation, but the aldermanic body preferred to give him leave of absence to the end of the year. He was so deeply impressed by the Communist menace on war fronts that he retired from the mayoral post and also left in other hands the radio station he had established in St. Thomas.

Major Peterson has many friends in Peterborough. At one time he was staff photographer for the Examiner.

They were trained and coached by Edward A. Summers, agricultural representative in Durham county, recognized throughout the province for the many victories his young teams have won in inter-county and inter-province competition.

Peterborough Interested

Peterborough was interested through its two Otonabee boys, Murray Pimmett and Francis Welsh, in the beef judging title. They had won the Ontario championship. Two young men from Borden, Sask., Donald Dyck and Algar Thiessen, won the beef honors in competition with teams from all the provinces except Newfoundland. Second place went to Vernon Butterfield and Roy Vold of Ponoka, Alta.

Saskatchewan teams placed second in dairy cattle, swine and poultry.

Dairy cattle judging title was taken by two Ontario girls, Molly Bennett and Mary Armstrong of Spencerville.

Industrials Sag On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Nov. 16—(CP)—Industrials sagged in quiet trading as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

From a mixed opening the list grandually began to weaken with losses ranging to a point. Steels, papers, retail stores and manufacturing companies showed a majority of losses in the groupings.

Base metals declined following three days of strong advance. Anacon, East Sullivan, International Nickel, Quemont, Sherritt Gordon and Steep Rock were some of the leading issues that were lower. Two leaders, Noranda and Consolidated Smelters, bucked the trend, however, with gains.

Golds drifted downwards with penny losses. Dome, Kerr Addison and McIntyre led the senior group and Akaitcho, Newlund, Pickle Crow, Windward and Campbell were lower among junior producers. Western oils declined quietly.

Seek To Widen High Street

City Engineer Chalmers was authorized by the property committee of the council Wednesday to consult the executors of the Bert May estate about the widening of High St. It has been little more than a lane on the west side of the city, but in the last ten years its importance has been increased with the general development of that southwest area.

High St. is now rated as a traffic line stemming from Lansdowne St., and its widening has become a necessity.

Council opinion is that both the city and property owners will benefit from the effects of proposed widening. The steep ascent of High St. to Sherbrooke St. will probably divert traffic easterly toward Monaghan Road and Park Streets by was of Frank and Chamberlain Streets and Lundy's Lane.

Bert May who died a few days ago was a son of the late George May who built the old family home at the corner of High and Lansdowne Streets. Part of the property between the house and the C.P.R. was used years ago as a source of sand for the building trades in Peterborough. In that sense of participation it may be said that George May had a hand in the building of hundreds of buildings in this city.

JOHN DALTON And Color Blindness

Undoubtedly there have been color blind people from the beginning of time, but it remained for John Dalton towards the close of the eighteenth century to give to the world the first published account of this peculiarity.

Dalton was a schoolmaster, chemist, and devout Quaker. Sometimes he would attend Sunday meetings in flaming red stockings — whereupon other members of the congregation would remonstrate with him over his unseemly attire. He replied that to him the stockings appeared to be green, not red. Dalton made a study of the subject and found that he himself was able to distinguish only three colours: blue, purple and yellow. Other colours seemed to him shades of yellow or yellow-green. Following Dalton's investigations of the subject, it soon became apparent that good colour vision was of the highest practical importance to painters, dyers, chemists, botanists, geologists, physicians and railroad employees.

So far science has not found a way of remedying defective colour vision. Colour blindness is rare. Only eight out of 100 men are colour blind or suffer some deficiency in colour perception.

3 Cars Damaged At Intersection

A three-car accident at Hunter and George Streets Wednesday evening resulted in a total of about $800 damage to the three cars.

Two of the drivers said the third driver, Mrs. Harry Cherney, 204 O'Carroll Street, drove through a red light going north on George Street.

One driver, E. Hatherly, 265 Reid Street, driving west on Hunter Street, intended to turn south on George Street. He had stopped to wait for John E. Sayure, 109 Sophia Street, driving east on Hunter Street, to go through the intersection. Both drivers said they had the green light.

Mrs. Cherney, driving north, met in collision with the two cars. Her car ended up sandwiched between the two other cars near the centre of the intersection.

About $200 damage was done to the right front fender, right front wheel, hood, and front spring of the Sayure car.

Hatherly escaped with about $10 damage, when only his right headlight was broken. But the Cherney car had a smashed grill, front fenders, headlights, and hood and front of the frame was twisted. The damage amounted to about $500.

Constable Andre Dalton investigated.

To Fight Communism

TORONTO, Nov. 16 (CP) — The Canadian Council of Churches Wednesday decided to set up a committee to battle Communism on the spiritual level after the Rev. E. G. McKay of Saskatoon said "we in the church can come up with some very fine intellectual answers for Communism but we don't see it working. We need to clarify our thoughts and express them at the same level as Communist propaganda."

Obituary

SISTER MARGARET MARY

The death occurred on Wednesday of Sister Margaret Mary (Elizabeth Ryan) at St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough. Although she had been a sufferer for upwards of thirty years, the end came unexpectedly. She was but two days in the hospital when death brought a merciful relief to the sufferer of so many years. The early years of her religious life were spent in teaching; she taught with marked success at Peterborough, Fort William and Sault Ste. Marie.

Sister was a member of a family well-known and highly respected in Peterborough. Her deceased brother John Ryan was for years an honored citizen, as are his son Edward and daughter Mary the present occupant of the homestead. Vincent Lynch, a nephew is Reeve of Marmora; another nephew, Brother Camillus of the Christian Brothers of Toronto is now engaged at Marydale Farm. Sister St. Edward at present teaching at St. Joseph's Academy, Lindsay, is a niece, as is also Sister Aniceta who is a member of the Community of the Sisters of Providence of Kingston. The only surviving member of her immediate family is Sister St. James of Mount St. Joseph, Peterborough.

The quiet unobtrusive little invalid will be long and prayerfully remembered by the members of her Community and by her many interested relatives who always visited and encouraged the silent sufferer by unremitting acts of kindness. Outstanding among these relatives is a favorite nephew John Ryan of Lakefield. Sister Margaret Mary, served her Community well in the early difficult days of its existence half a century ago, when the harvest indeed was great but the laborers few.

He was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Norwood.

He is survived by his wife, three daughters and three sons, Mrs. Russell Thompson (Margaret), Norwood, Mrs. Gerald Trumble (Frances), Gunter, Mrs. Stanley Scully (Jean), Gilmour, Gordon of Schumacher, John of Peterborough and Frank of Gilmour; also two brothers, John Baldock of Creemore, Sask., and Laverne Wright of Gilmour.

Training On Foreign Soil

The entire Canadian Special Force is receiving its advanced training for combat duty in the United States. That is remarkable evidence of the steps that have been token to integrate Canadian and American military services. It is the first time in Canada's history that her troops have trained as a body on foreign soil in peace time.

• • •

The bias towards American training methods and equipment began during the last war, when Canada's reliance on British methods, armament and techniques was realized to be dangerous. In both the World Wars the life-line to Britain became tenuous; to depend on British guns, parts, and services threatened not only Canadian safety but Canada's ability to help Britain. With the rise of the U.S.A. as the chief western world power, the fact that the U.S.A. is our nearest ally, and that the two countries together and unitedly must defend this continent, co-ordination of arms and techniques between Canada and the United States has been speeded. Interchangeability is demonstrably necessary. The Canadian-American joint effort is but a phase of a larger co-ordination which is slowly being effected among the arms of all the western nations.

• • •

Many may regret that the facts of modern war and geography are changing the pattern of Canadian armed services from the British to an American model, in uniforms, equipment, service regulations, machinery, guns and even military vocabulary and formations. Canada need not give over entirely her British traditions in these matters, and, indeed, the United States can find much in the British-Canadian systems to adopt. In leaning towards the U.S.A. as we are now doing we need not lose the distinctly Anglo-Canadian temper of our military services, and basic matters such as discipline and esprit de corps. Much as Canadians admired the equipment, character and friendliness of their American brother-in-arms overseas during the last war, they had a special comradeship with the British. In off-duty hours, at the clubs and in the towns, Canadian soldiers easily fraternized with the Americans. But in battle under service conditions, their highest regard was for the British troops; they and the Britons were more alike then than were Canadians and Americans. Canadians and British fought well together under the same systems and sharing common traditions. They were more at home in each other's ranks than were Canadians with Americans or Americans with British. This affinity between the British and Canadian services, of such great value and so effective, must not be lost in Fort Lewis in the State of Washington.

The Death Of Julia Marlowe

It is almost forty years since Julia Marlowe appeared in the Grand Opera House in Peterborough, and yet the thoughts of many mature playgoers in this city must have turned nostalgically toward her vanished beauty and her lovely voice when her death was announced last Sunday. She had the ability, possessed by no modern actress whom we can name, to create an illusion of beauty greater than her own very considerable beauty of face and figure. Not only was she a joy to look at; she was a joy to hear, and she seemed, as Rosalind, as Portia, as Beatrice, as Juliet, to be made of the very spirit and essence of romance.

With her husband, E. H. Sothern, she was for many years at the head of an excellent company, devoted chiefly to the performance of Shakespeare. "Sothern and Marlowe" meant, for many playgoers, not only a fine combination of talent, but also a marriage of unusual devotion and fidelity. It is interesting, therefore, to recall that Sothern divorced the beautiful Virginia Harned, and Julia Marlowe divorced Robert Taber, and that their fame as touring stars was made before their marriage in 1911.

Julia Marlowe was a link with a theatre long dead. One of her earliest successes was as Parthenia in Ingomar, a drama translated from the German and dead as a doornail. In The Hunchback, by Sheridan Knowles, she greatly increased her reputation; how many playgoers now have ever heard of this play or its author? But her greatest reputation was made after she was forty, in the plays of Shakespeare.

There is a special sadness attaching to the death of the great ones of the stage. They leave nothing behind but memories, which blaze suddenly, like meteors, in the minds of those who saw them, sometimes fifty years afterward. The beauty of Julia Marlowe will endure just as long as there is a single playgoer who remembers her.

Peterborough Helps Windsor

When a city like Windsor has problems about the enforcement of its law and the propriety of its order, it would naturally look to an orderly, law-abiding place like Peterborough for example and even assistance. Last month a man who for nearly two years had much to do with this county's orderliness was sent to Windsor to take over the running of its police force in this time of crisis. Although Inspector McNeill of the Provincial Police cannot be claimed as a man to the Peterborough manner bred, he headed the O.P.P. detachment in this city long enough to be stamped with the respected seal of Peterborough.

Thirty years ago Windsor sought and found in Peterborough another man to take charge of its police. Peterborough Chief Dan Thompson was appointed Chief of Police of Windsor in November 1920. Thirty years ago this week he began his work of reorganizing the border city's police department. Perhaps the trouble in Windsor came about because it coasted along too many years on the organization set up by Dan Thompson and did not have the wit to come back soon enough to Peterborough for another good man when Chief Thompson's term was ended.

The Old Vic Shines Again

It is good news to learn that London's famous Old Vic theatre re-opened on Tuesday night. All during the war the company and organization which belonged to the Old Vic operated under difficulties at another London theatre; after the war new glories were added to the theatre's reputation by visits to the U.S. and Australia, and by a series of brilliant seasons. But now the Old Vic company is back in the Old Vic theatre, the building in the Waterloo Road which is the oldest theatre fabric in London. Damaged by a land-mine in 1940, it has now been restored.

Shabby though it sometimes was, the Old Vic had great charm. Its fawn and gold decorations, and a beautiful ornamented roof designed in 1812 by Rudolf Cabanel, gave it a very special quality; to see a play in such a theatre was to know what the great theatres of the nineteenth century had been like.

It was in this theatre, for the first time in history, that all the plays of Shakespeare were presented under one roof. It was in this theatre that most of the best actors and actresses in Britain served part of their apprenticeship; it was in this theatre that stars were first recognized. Here the public could see Shakespeare, Shaw, Ben Jonson, Goldsmith and Sheridan for as little as six pence a seat. It was of the Old Vic that the American critic, the late Robert Benchley, said: "At its worst it is always interesting, and at its best it is one of the few really important theatres in the world."

It is good to know that the Old Vic company is back in its historic home.

The Passion For Respectability

The Canadian passion for respectability—meaning the appearance of virtue—was neatly exemplified in the petition of the residents of Philander Street, in Sault Ste. Marie, to have the name of their place of residence changed to Pinecrest Avenue. Three men live on Philander St. and they feel that the name is a slur on their characters.

Philander is a Greek word which means 'fond of men' when applied to a man, 'fond of her husband' when applied to a woman. In English the word philanderer has come to mean a man who has, in his time, loved many women—an unthinkable approach to the Canadian Male who, like the late Prince Consort, loves one only and cleaves to her.

Philander is also the name which zoologists give to the Australian bandicoot, a creature which looks like a rat, eats insects, and lays eggs. In fact, a mammal with some of the characteristics of a barnyard fowl. Any bandicoots on Pinecrest Avenue?

NOTE AND COMMENT

There are members of a South American tribe who can count no higher than six. All of them golfers, of course.

This is National Onion Week. But we want to know how, having encouraged onions in one week, you keep them from spreading over into the next?

In Britain today a cigarette costs about twopence, and enough tobacco to fill a pipe runs to sixpence. Most of this money goes in taxes. The tobacco taxes in Canada are rugged, but still well below the English level.

Robert Louis Stevenson

By J. B. PRIESTLEY

STEVENSON, who was born a hundred years ago Monday, died in 1894, the years in which I was born. I grew up in the R.L.S. slump period, when the literary climate was as unfavourable to his reputation as our sleet and fogs had been to his frail body. Those were the Shaw-Wells-Bennett days, and triflers in velvet jackets were out. But even then, though perhaps in secret, I could not help reading Stevenson. He insisted upon being read, even if it meant you took off the iron crown of intellectual snobbery, frankly enjoyed yourself, and joined the mob who never looked at "The New Age." Since then the brushers aside of Stevenson, like George Moore, have themselves been brushed aside, fashion has followed fashion; but there has been no sign of a return to the R.L.S. worship of the nineties. Yet, as the trade will thankfully confirm, he has been increasingly bought and read.

✧ ✧ ✧

NOW any writer whose seventy-year-old books are bought and read by all kinds of sensible people, whose lightest works have survived the social earthquakes of our time, has his place in the grand procession and cannot be sneered out of it. We can celebrate his centenary without feeling that we may be wasting our diminished stores of enthusiasm and affection. But it seems to me that certain misconceptions, born of the sharp reaction against him that I remember from my teens, still cloud his reputation. We are haunted by a false idea of the man and the writer. And it is time we took another and better look at him, and began doing some justice to his memory.

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR example, there is the idea that he arrived mostly by luck and a syrupy charm, that he was a sort of fortunate playboy of letters. And it is wrong. He wrote most of his best work in conditions that would prevent you and me and his severest critics from writing anything at all. He brought to his tasks a will like a steel rod. Whenever I consider what he did and how he had to do it, I feel a mere poached egg of an author. To take only one instance: while bedridden he wrote "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" in two different versions, amounting to more than 60,000 words between them, in six days. This is authorship on the heroic scale. His later work especially was written in an atmosphere of blood, sweat and tears. If ever a writer earned his rewards, it was Stevenson. Indeed, it could be argued that he brought too much conscience and will to his professional labours, as if he were building lighthouses. Now and again, when he splashed about and had some fun, as he did with young Lloyd Osbourne in "The Wrong Box," the result was glorious.

✧ ✧ ✧

THEN we are apt to believe that his style was nothing but a pretty little box of tricks, assorted milk-chocolate, when indeed it was nothing of the kind. Perhaps it was in the early essays, and unfortunately these have been quoted too often. (Some critics seem to read nothing but anthologies, almanacks and Christmas cards.) But in his major works the writing is like some lightweight champion in perfect fighting trim; it is clean and hard, streamlined, sand-blasted. The later letters in which he discusses prose style show us a fastidious reader, a severe judge. He was a master craftsman as well as a Scots sorcerer. A valuable little book could be made out of the critical judgements and observations to be found in his letters, and every young writer would be better for reading it.

✧ ✧ ✧

AGAIN, we used to be told that his attachment to romance was so much play-acting. It is hinted that he enjoyed himself, and fooled the public striking a few picturesque attitudes. And this is monstrous, especially when it comes from writers who would regard a visit to Bournemouth as an escapade. Outside the few writers who were adventurers first, no other author of the last 200 years lived romance as Stevenson did. A man with such biography, with its desperate early Bohemianism, its reckless love and marriage, its emigrant trains, cattle boats, schooners in the South Seas, its games with leper children and feasts with cannibal kings, is entitled to create a few swashbuckling heroes, and to tell us that our back-street civilization is rather shabby. We may not want a Romantic—that is a different line of criticism—but if we do, then Stevenson is the real thing, in life as well as in letters.

✧ ✧ ✧

YET here we must be careful. For it is easy to imagine now that Stevenson merely took a popular form of fiction and gave it style and distinction. We look back at the nineties and see them cluttered up with Stevensonian romantic tales. But he did not follow this fashion, he created it. A young novelist in the eighties, who knew Meredith and Hardy and Henry James, was not moving alone any line of least resistance when he wrote sharp, clear narratives of action and romantic fables. He was, in fact, being wildly original, as much his own man as Meredith and Hardy and James were. Then Q. and the rest followed him; although he was always far ahead, touching in his later South Sea tales the grimmer world of Somerset Maugham.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE truth here, I think, is that his contemporary admirers, led by Colvin, did him some disservice by accepting too easily his own valuation of his work, standing in awe before the eighteenth-century romances and some of the essays and sermonizing, and dismissing as rather unworthy trivialities or dubious experiments some of his masterpieces. (Even a recent critic devotes a whole chapter to "Kidnapped" and shrugs away "The Wrong Box" in a tiny paragraph.) Many of us now admire the man as much as they did, but would reverse most of their judgements about his work, believing that he was often most happily himself, and our benefactor, when he was larking on paper with Lloyd Osbourne or trying something odd over which Colvin and Gosse shook their heads.

✧ ✧ ✧

WE prefer to the other Stevensons the impish magician, with his alternate bright and dark glances, who like a true Scot was on nodding terms at least with the Devil. Give such a fellow the skill and conscience of a master craftsman, and a style so picked and clean that it defies decay, and you have work that endures, bringing delight to generation after generation. "They pass and smile, the children of the sword." But this one, still smiling, remains with us.

Letters To The Editor

TELL BRITAIN ABOUT CANADA

Sir: I read with interest your leading article on the population of this country, and especially on the subject of immigration. As a fairly recent "immigrant' myself (what an ugly word, immigrant!) might I be permitted to make a few obseryations of the situation as seen in the Old Country.

(i) There is great ignorance about Canada. we usually thought of as a far-off snowy land, mainly populated by Mounties and Redskins. Do not blame us entirely for this—there is very little attempt made to tell England about Canada by Canadians. As an example of what I mean, many are deterred from coming here by reports of the climate. They do not realize that they will probably feel the cold far less than in England owing to the efficient systems of indoor heating that have been evolved.

(ii) Currency restrictions are a very severe handicap to a man with a family. Could not the Dominion Government make a bargain with the U.K. Treasury to free more capital for immigrants to bring with them?

(iii) Australia is at the moment absorbing the bulk of British immigrants, and in most cases is assisting them in the provision of passage money. Added to that there are no currency restrictions, as Australia is on the sterling bloc. If Canada really wants more immigrants she must be prepared to compete with Australia.

The conclusions from this are that the publicity sections of the appropriate Government departments must be drastically improved, and that the financial restrictions must be eased, if Canada is to attract the best type of settler. One thing must be remembered—the honest truth about Canada should be told. Any attempt to "build up" Canada as a paradise on earth will incredably result in an increased percentage of returned immigrants, embittered against Canada because she failed to live up to extravagant ideas that she is a land whose streets are paved with gold. So let us not go to the other extreme!

Finally I would like to say that in spite of the difficulties that beset a settler in this year of Grace, my wife and I have settled down happily here and have made many good friends, without whose kindness I am afraid we should be very much worse off than we are at present. This is our home, and we are staying with you, and we like you.

Yours etc.,
"IMMIGRANT".

WERE THE APOSTLES ROMAN CATHOLICS

Sir: Referring to Non-Disturber's letter entitled "Anglicans and Catholic Dogma".

He is wrong when he says there were no non-catholics till Henry VIII's time.

When our Lord ascended to Heaven he left the Apostles and believers to carry on His work, they were not Roman Catholics, but true followers of the Christ.

Some centuries later the Church of Rome brought in indulgences and other heresies, that have no Bible foundation.

When Martin Luther studied the Word of God he returned to the faith of the fathers of Christianity, so it was the Church of Rome who did the breaking away.

Further the legend about Mary was condemned by Pope Gelasius in 494 when it appeared in a book entitled "De Transitu Virginis Mariae Liber". So Popes don't all agree.

Not one word in the New Testament lifts Mary above the rest of humanity; she offered a sacrifice for her cleansing after the birth of Jesus, same as any other Israel mother and in her song rejoiced in God her Saviour, no need for either if she was sinless.

The Bible says, "There is none righteous, no, not one, for all have sinned and come short of the Glory of God".

God alone is to be worshipped.

(MRS.) R. BONNEY.

Havelock.

THE BOTTOMLESS BARREL

Sir: In his recent speech Graham F. Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, warned that only by higher taxes will the people of this country be able to curb inflation and pay for an expanding defence program which may have to be maintained for many years to come.

In his forthright speech Mr. Towers noted that to prevent upward pressure on prices, the increase in defence spending will have to be matched by a decrease in spending by individuals, business and government. Mr. Towers' warning of a need for elimination of non-essential government spending is of particular importance.

Money spent by governments finds its way into the purchasing stream just as surely as money spent by individuals. There is little use in pouring more tax money into the top of the Ottawa barrel if that barrel is leaking at the bottom.

Sincerely,
J. L. RUTLEDGE,
Chairman,
The Canadian Unity Council.
Toronto.

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity.

And he laid his hands on her: and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God. And the ruler of the synagogue answered with indignation, because that Jesus had healed on the sabbath day, and said unto the people, There are six days in which men ought to work: in them therefore come and be healed, and not on the sabbath day.

The Lord then answered him, and said Thou hypocrite, doth not each one of you on the sabbath loose his ox or his ass from the stall, and lead him away to watering? And ought not this woman, being a daughter of Abraham, whom Satan hath bound, lo, these eighteen years, be loosed from this bond on the sabbath day?

And when he had said these things, all his adversaries were ashamed: and all the people rejoiced for all the glorious things that were done by him. (Luke 13: 11-17.)

Unconsidered Trifles

The Smithsons went away for their winter vacation and gave Jane, their maid a month's wages.

On their return, four weeks later Jane demanded higher wages.

Mrs. Smithson was horrified.

"Gracious, Jane," she exclaimed, "you've only just had a holiday with full wages! You should consider yourself very fortunate."

"That's just it," said Jane. "You paid me that money for doing nothing, so it isn't fair to expect me to do all the work for the same wages."

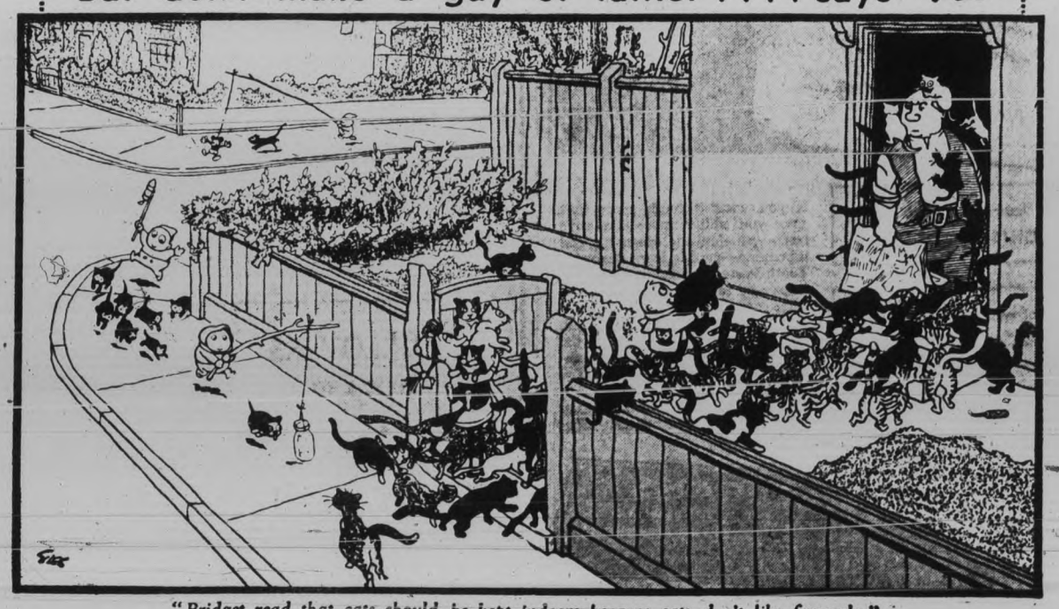
The old lady was very much against smoking, and took every opportunity of speaking against it. Seeing an old gentleman obviously enjoying his pipe, she couldn't resist telling about the evils of tobacco.

"It knocks years off your life," she finished. "Just think of that!"

"Well, madam," replied the old gentleman, "look at me—never been ill a day in my life. I have smoked regularly since I was sixteen, and I'm sixty now. What do you say to that?"



"What do I say?" thundered the old lady. "Why, man, if you hadn't smoked, you might have been seventy by now!"

Britons Like 'Flutter' Much Gambling

Gambling thrives in Great Britain with much the respectability of an afternoon garden party, John D. Leonard writes from London to The New York Times Magazine. Turf accountants—as the British bookmaking firms are called—operate openly with the law behind them, like any ordinary enterprise; in fact, a well-known young peer, a member of one of Britain's oldest families, recently announced his intention to give up an army career in a smart brigade of Guards to join a big firm of bookmakers.

Football Pools

Football (soccer) pools, a family type of "flutter," especially popular among working-class Britons, are advertised on London's buses, which are part of the nation's nationalized transport system. You can go to "the dogs" in a dinner jacket and dine quietly behind glass partitions; the waiter places your bet with the "tote"—the pari-mutuel window—discreetly located in the rear.

Admittedly, a Royal Commission on Betting, Lotteries and Gaming has been taking a long, hard look at gambling here. But this inquiry has been mainly concerned with the anomalies of Britain's antiquated gambling laws. A distinction made in some quarters in contrasting the British and American operations is that in this country gambling seems to have only a marginal connection with the underworld.

Part of Life

Gambling is almost as much a part of normal British life as a cup of tea. It is a more common topic of conversation in Great Britain than in the United States. More than 14,000,000 of the 36,000,000 British adults participate in some form. Last year they shelled out an estimated $2,030,000,000 on various games of chance. That was substantially below the record total for 1947, but this is no indication that Britons are losing their fondness for a "flutter." As one bookmaker recently explained, "It's only that there's less money about." Actually, attendance at the greyhound tracks, is growing, as is participation in the football pools.

This vast clientele has made gambling Britain's seventh largest industry. It provides jobs for two to three hundred thousand persons and contributes heavily to the public welfare through taxes. More than 20,000 of its workers are employed by the nine big football pool firms. Littlewood's, the largest one, and Liverpool's leading industry, has nearly 12,000 on its payroll.

How It's Split

Its operators guarantee to pay back in winnings 80 percent of the total amount placed in bets, less taxes. Since the tax is 30 percent, this means that the firm pays out well over half its receipts in winnings and operates on about 14 percent of its gross.

There are 44 major race courses and more than 200 greyhound tracks in the country, and the gambling bug has spread to other sports and amusements—pin ball, fly casting, hound trailing and "coursing" (hare racing). In Northern England bookmakers have found a lucrative business taking bets on children's foot races. Together, these minor gaming enterprises account for about $28,000,000 of Britain's annual wagering.

Some ascribe the present gambling fever to a revolt against the planned economy of the Labor government. The reasoning is that many Britons hard pressed by high taxation and other measures designed to equalize incomes resort to gambling as a means of supplementing their regular earnings with tax free winnings on games of chance.

Quirks In Law

While betting is legal in Britain, the law which provides the necessary authority is full of loopholes which lead to several anomalies. If a Briton writes the name of his favorite horse in a particular race on a piece of paper, slips a shilling (14 cents) inside it and hands it to a street corner bookie, it is a breach of the law. However, the judge who may later fine the bookmaker for street betting can slip into his chambers and legally place a bet over the telephone with a credit bookmaking firm. Britons must not send money through the mail in order to place a bet. But a bet may be made on credit and may be collected or paid through the post. Such 'discrimination' comes in for a good deal of criticism, especially among working class folk who cannot afford credit betting.

Set Cotton Record

MANCHESTER, England (CP)—The United Kingdom cotton indutsry achieved a post-war record with a weekly cotton output of 21,840,000 pounds in the second week of October. Up to that point the year's output was 823,000,000 pounds against 770,500,000 in the same period last year.

Big Lumber Order Expected From U.K. For 1951

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 —(CP)—Substantial shipments of Canadian lumber will be made to the United Kingdom next year, informed quarters disclosed Wednesday.

Orders already have been placed for 500,000,000 board feet of west coast varieties to be delivered during the first half of 1951, the informants said, and negotiations now are going on for the shipment of east coast spruce.

The Maritime negotiations, still in preliminary stages, are expected to cover timber movements to Britain for the whole of 1951.

"This would indicate that Britain is very interested in Canadian timber," the informants added.

They were commenting on a dispatch from London Tuesday which stated that the select committee on estimates advised the British government to go all out to get its much needed timber from countries where no currency difficulties exist.

That would mean getting more supplies from such sterling-area countries as Norway, Sweden and France and less from such dollar countries as Canada.

Informants here "doubted very much" that these sterling-area countries could supply all of Britain's timber requirements that was why the Canadian market for timber in the UK appeared "strong" at least for 1951.

IOOF Juniors Open Season With Impressive 7-0 Win

Off to an impressive start, the junior Oddfellows defeated Belleville Rockets 7-0 last night at Civic Arena.

Triple Links flashed plenty of speed and outplayed their rivals every period to win a rugged encounter, with 15 penalties, mostly for minor offences, as the referees ruled firmly.

Goalie Shines

Red Wasson earned his shutout too, for though not as busy as Barclay over the route, he was called upon to make many clever saves and twice in the final chapter outguessed rival sharpshooters from close in.

Morow put Oddfellows one up early on a neat back-hander. Don Clapper, up for his first year junior, got his first goal midway in the period when he smacked home a hard low one from the let. Ab Buckton, hard-working left-winger drew an assist.

Pace Steps Up

Continuing with increased tempo in the second frame Links held a fair territorial margin with all lines working fast and the defence of Shearer and Wasson, Armstrong and Clapper proving impregnable. Finally Bill Stewart, who teamed with the Robinson brothers in a smart game batted home Shearer's pass. The big winger repeated again from just inside the blue line on a sizzler as B. Robinson fed him a pass. Veteran Bob Wyatt clicked then on a scorching 15-footer for the final tally of the period.

Play reached a torrid place in the final stanza as Rockets shot the works and gave their all in a desperate attempt to stave off the pressure of Links. But Army Armstrong led his mates in bumping the flying Rockets hither and yon. Army also whizzed a dandy 20-footer past Barclay early in the frame from short right wing and West made it lucky seven from Morrow to wind up the scoring.

It was a fine win for Oddfellows but Belleville were better than the score indicates.

Mohawks Tie Bisons Sharing First Place

By The Canadian Press.

Cincinnati Mohawks moved into a first-place tie with the idle Cleveland Indians in the American Hockey League's western division Wednesday night, coming from behind to earn a 4-4 tie with Buffalo Bisons.

In other games, Hershey inched nearer the top of the eastern division downing St. Louis Flyers 4-2 and Pittsburgh Hornets shaded Springfield Indians 3-2.

Lindsay Kin Juniors Edge Port Hope 9-8

LINDSAY, Nov. 16 —(CP)— Lindsay Kin Juniors, with Eddie Shore looking on, made their debut in the Central Ontario OHA Junior B League a winning one by edging Port Hope Panthers 9-8 in overtime in a rugged game Wednesday night.

Lindsay, which has a working agreement with Shore's Springfield Indians of the American League, trailed only once during the wide-open contest played before 1,000. Vic Corley paced the winners with three goals while Ken Schinkel and Gary Vasey fired overtime markers. Bud Downey turned the hat-trick with three goals and assisted on three others for the Panthers.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Last spot of football in Peterborough for this year of grace and topsy-turvy weather will be Saturday aft in the Oval. The COSSA sudden-death junior final between Welland and PCVS. Coach Alex Londry's local Garnet and Greys will be seeking their third straight COSSA crown, something never accomplished before by a junior PCVS team. And they have a fair chance of annexing the title, having compiled an enviable record all season. Bev Goulding's senior PCI-ers are also in the COSSA final this week-end, but have to play it in St. Catharines. Hence, the juniors will draw the big fan following.

* * * * * *

Couple of colleens' cage contests on tap tomorrow eve in the YWCA gym. At eight, Nurses Srs. play Nurses Jrs., and it is followed by Lindsay Grads vs. Black's at nine. Both scheduled hoop fixtures with oodles of action and form shown. The House Loop goes at the YMCA Saturday in the gloaming when Fords meet Buicks at seven, followed by Monarchs vs. Meteors. We don't mean to say any of these well-known makes has to follow the other—not on the road, that is, but so 'tis written in the schedule. Must have had a garage man drawing up the list in this loop, huh? Jim Thorburn and Bill Edger did some high scoring in the opening games.

* * * * * *

Those Petes And Eagles

Petes play Eagles at 8.30 Friday night in Civic Arena. Yes, sir, and ma'am, it's Petes vs. Eagles again. That one sells itself right away and assures a full house. In their only OHA senior "B" meeting so far this campaign, these oldtime local puck rivals fought it out to a 2-all overtime draw. You can't come closer than that. But we have a hunch it won't end in a tie tomorrow. One team or the other will absorb its first loss of the young season. But not before staging a furious fight as these teams really shoot the works against each other, and both have many noisy backers in the stands. Should be another redhot, memorable melee.

* * * * * *

Looking over the averages, we note where Arn Dugan leads the Petes at bat with 13 scoring points in six games. Chum Fryia is next with nine, Honey Tompkins and Junior West have eight each, and Jake Wade seven. The Eagles have played just four games to date, Bill Crowley leading the sniping parade with nine points. He is closely followed by line-mate Joe Rochetta with eight, as Bob Parnall has five, and three players (Andy Milne, Dootch Vitarelli and Keith Montgomery) have four each. Some players have seen more action than others, but this will give you an idea of where the present punch lies on both squads.

PMHA-ers Set To Start

A valuable job is done each winter here by officials and coaches of the Peterborough Minor Hockey Association. They funnel the teen-agers into healthful and enjoyable competition in a game which teaches them much and may in later years prove a vocation for many. The 12-team setup goes every Thursday eve in Civic Arena, and the schedules are in tonight, along with the list of referees and their hours on duty. Starting at seven tonight, it's SPS vs. Trojan midgets, Clapper's vs. Lakefield juves, SPS vs. bantam Wolves, Martin-Hewitt midgets vs. Marines, and IOOF juves vs. Trojans. One six p.m. tilt tomorrow: Marines vs. Trojan bantams.

* * * * * *

Bun Kingdon's fast-stepping IOOF-ers got off to a fine start here last p.m. as they opened their OHA junior "B" schedule with a 7-0 shellacking of Belleville Rockets. Goalie Red Wasson earned his shutout with consistent work in the nets and his defence was solid all evening. The three front lines toiled effectively going and coming to hold down the Rockets, who battled back hard. The score could easily have been closer, and the Quinte crew will prove no setup over the long haul. But the Triple Links were impressive in their debut and flashed a lot of speed and fight. A total of 15 penalties, most of them of a minor nature, the ref being strict and wisely so to start off the season. Links trek to Oshawa on Saturday.

PCVS Prepare For COSSA Against Saints

Since August, Coach Bev Goulding has been putting his senior PCVS Garnet and Greys through drills for this Saturday's game, the COSSA championship playoff.

St. Catharines Collegiate Tricolors are once again the opposition for the PCI'ers and well the senior lads from PCVS remember the Tricolors. Last year in the final game they smeared the Garnet and Grey on the Oval's gridiron 25-1 for the COSSA title. That was the first time in four years that the annual prize didn't find its way into the halls of PCVS.

Last year, the Tricolors popped into Peterborough for the final game unscouted. Little did the PCVS footballers know the power packed into Coach Jim McNulty's two-team grid system. This year things are different. With newspaper coverage and special scouting by the local Collegians the power can be seen before the game begins Saturday afternoon at Sports Park in St. Catharines.

Good Record

The Tricolors' record is more impressive than last year's. This year they overpowered the Guelph Collegiate team in the Red Feather tournament and strutted their stuff for tournament honors. They waltzed through their Niagara district and sank Welland for the whole district's honors 22-6. Last Saturday they broke through in the last half to stem Orillia's hopes 17-1. The young, light and inexperienced Georgian Bay representatives forced the Tricolors to the limit.

One Steve Oneschuk, no stranger in Peterborough for his lacrosse and football, is still the king-pin of the Tricolors performance. But he is backed by such players as Max Wooley, Emil Uhrynuk, Thompson, Milligan, Buchanan, Neuman and Nelson.

It Would Be Nice

A win this Saturday would please Coach Bev Goulding beyond words. Besides winning COSSA honors, it could clear away the dark cloud left by the East York Goliaths 62-6 pasting in Toronto. With St. Kitts victors of the Red Feather over East York, the win Saturday would be a double-victory for the Garnet and Grey.

Except for that one game, PCVS' record is just as impressive as the Tricolors. In nine games they have only been downed twice, by East York 62-6 and by Scarboro 10-8. They made several fair showings against Toronto teams, Runnymede and Western Tech, but should have piled up the score in both games.

PCI's test for strength was in the Trinity College fray which they won 29-11 in one of their best games this year. The college went on to win the Little Big Four honors for the first time in years.

PCVS' opposition in the Lakeshore district can be seen from the scores with Oshawa, 46-0 and 29-5. These games were merely practices. The same applies to the semi-final COSSA series with the Belleville Collegiate Redmen, 32-1 and 32-11.

If you're taking bets on Saturday's game, a word of advice is: bet even money, it's anyone's game.

CURLING NOTES

By HERB MARTIN

The notice on the blackboard reads: six more rinks are needed to fill out the entry for Saturday's all-day Canada Packers Trophy bonspiel.

Gar. Braund is skipping a rink today in the Galt bonspiel.

After a couple of days layoff the ladies continue with their schedule games tomorrow.

Group No. 2 plays at 7.00 o'clock this evening and Group No. 3 plays at 9.00 o'clock.

After having a nice lead over Wally Harvey's rink, R. F. Downey had to go into overtime before he won out. The Harvey rink helped themselves to a big four on the last end and that tied up the old game.

Strange as it may seem, there has been an extra end game every night since the schedule began.

Hypnotism Fails Rangers Dumped By Bruins 4-3

By The Canadian Press

New York Rangers can relax—without the benefit of hypnosis—in the National Hockey League cellar, knowing their luck can't get much worse unless it's being there alone.

After what happened to them Wednesday night in Madison Square Garden they also have reason to suspect the hypnotic powers of one Dr. David F. Tracy, also a psychologist, who hours earlier had given them a treatment on how to relax.

The Rangers emerged from the treatment psychologically pepped up to chalk up their second victory of the season. Whether or not they followed the doctor's orders, they ended up with their eighth defeat.

Boston's punchless Bruins, operating on their own little supply of steam, knockd hockey's first hokus-pokus experiment into a cocked hat by waltzing off with a 4-3 triumph—their second of the season. The loss dropped Rangers into a tie for the cellar with the Bruins, both with eight points.

Very Small Crowd

If the Ranger front office figured the stunt of hiriding Dr. Tracy to restore the team out of its slump would draw more customers, that strategy also misfired. The smallest NHL Garden crowd in 10 years—6,856—saw New York trail all the way.

Boston withstood a last-minute attempt by the Rangers to prove their psychological experiment would work. They yanker goalie Chuck Rayner out of the nets, sent him back after Boston scored, and pulled him out again.

But they must have been relaxing when they should have been scoring, for the strategy just didn't work.

Ross Lowe put the Bruins ahead 3-2 after 28 seconds of the third period, and Lorne Ferguson tallied the eventual winner at 19.18 during one of Rayner's two trips to the sidelines. Edgar Laprade closed out the scoring with 12 seconds of play left.

Opens Scoring

Centre Paul Ronty had opened the scoring in the first period and centre Jack McLeod tied it for New York. In the second, defenceman Murray Henderson tallied for Boston and defenceman Pat Egan tied it up.

NHL governors and club owners met in New York Wednesday without making any statement on the business discussed. But a spokesman said an announcement was expected today on a "minor trade" between Rangers and Boston.

There has been speculation recently about Toronto Maple Leafs trading Bill Ezinicki and Vic Lynn, wingers with their Pittsburgh Hornets farm club in the American League, to the Bruins.

Argos Oust Hamilton, Favored To Cop Eastern Title

TORONTO, Nov. 16 (CP). — If the long-shot bettors are banking on Toronto Balmy Beach's knowledge of Argonaut plays to get the underdog Toronto Rugby Football Union champions to the eastern Canada title, they'll draw little comfort from what happened at Toronto's Varsity Stadium Wednesday.

Hamilton Tiger-Cats, who had played Argos five times previously this season and presumably could reach coach Frank Clair's mind, found theoretical knowledge no help to them as the Toronto club swept to its 13th Big Four title with a convincing 24-6 victory before 23,349.

The Cats, who arrived with a two-point edge from their 13-11 triumph in Hamilton in the first game of the total-point finals on Saturday, should have been able to draw diagrams of every Argo defensive play. But the Argos passed them dizzy and ran them ragged as they piled up a 23-point lead in the first three quarters and hung on to take the round 35-19.

The Beaches, who operated this season as an Argonaut farm club in the ORFU, knocked off their opposition with a modified version of the same attack under playing coach Gerry Tuttle and assistant coach Dwight Follin, both of whom did their early-season training under Clair.

Formidable Line

Some experts rate Tuttle the equal of Argo quarterback Al Dekdebrun, whose ball handling and varied passing attack mystified Hamilton's defenders Wednesday. Follin heads a formidable first-string line and Negro backfielder Carl Galbreath is a deceptive speedster who ranks with Argos' Ulysses Curtis.

Few fans concede the youthful Beaches a chance in next Saturday's tastern final. The spectacle of Argos dealing with a carbon copy of their own attack will hold some academic interest, but it will be a copy in a fainter type.

Clair confirmed Wednesday night that the Beaches have been using his basic system all season to fit the young Beach players for spots on the Argo line-up in future years. Tuttle and Follin will be free to vary the system Saturday, and their youthful club probably won't lack enthusiasm.

But Beaches lack a kicker like Joe Krol, whose consistent punting was a potent ground gainer in both Hamilton games and who kicked three singles Wednesday.

Better Outsides

Their outsides can't match big Marvin (Stretch) Whaley, who caught four Dekdebrun passes — one for a touchdown—or fiery Jack Wedley, the veteran who generally blocks at least one kick a game and set up an Argo touchdown against Hamilton with his specialty.

Their ground attack consists of youngsters who are considered a year or more behind such Argo home-breds as Bob Westlake and Ted Toogood, each good for a major Wednesday. And young George Watson will need a good day to match Nick Volpe, the Sculler's placement expert, who racked up a field goal and three converts.

The statistics showed the effect of the Argo onslaught on the Tiger-Cats, who got only one first down in the opening half and three by three-quarter time before launching a last-quarter drive that netted them their only touchdown.

They were disorganized when Edgar (Special Delivery) Jones, the Big Four's scoring champion, was injured early in the first quarter and returned only to kick the convert after quarterback Stan Heath threw a touchdown pass to rookie Bob McDonald late in the game.

Bill Gregus, their plunging ace, was given a deferment by the draft board that had ordered him to report to the United States army. But he was unable to break loose until the final quarter, when his plunging set up the Hamilton major.

LITTLE GIRL, BIG JUMPER—Vicky, 7, may b diminutive but that did not stop her from capturing the hearts of the crowd attending the Royal Winter Fair horse show Tuesday afternoon when she won the Junior Jumping Stake. She is the daughter of Col. Umberto Mariles, captain of the Mexican jumping team shown holding the Pfesident of Mexico Trophy Vicky will present to one of the international teams at the conclusion of the horse show.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

It looks as if old Murph (Hardrock) Chamberlain may be out of work.

In Charlottetown Wednesday night, officials of the local Maritime Senior Hockey League said the former National Hockey League veteran was granted his release to coach Vancouver Cougars of the Pacific Coast League. However, in Vancouver Canucks owner Coley Hall denied that Chamberlain had been appointed coach.

There had been negotiations but they were broken off a week ago, he said, and Chamberlain "is not at the moment coach of the Canucks."

At any rate, Murph could probably get his Charlottetown job back. Officials of the Islanders team expressed regret at his leaving, but granted his release to let him better himself.

In London, England, a secret inquiry into Tommy Farr's latest comeback fight lasted three hours Wednesday but no results were announced. The British Boxing Board of Control listened to Farr's version of his disputed three-round knockout of Belgian Piet Wilde at Leicester, England, Nov 6. Also involved in the hearing were the referee, representatives of Wilde, the timekeeper and the promoter, Joe Jacobs.

Farr has fought and won twice since he started his comeback. His next fight is scheduled for early December.

Forty-two horses probably will face the barrier Saturday in the Manchester November Handicap, the last big race of the English racing season. Among the favorites for 1½-miles test are Mush, Parbleau, Promotion and Prince Royal.

In Chicago, Pete Zurlinden, executive director of the National Caddy Tournament of the United States Professional Golfers' Association, has announced that caddies from Canada may compete in next year's annual tournament.

The tournament, which awards college scholarships to the winner and runner-up, will be held next Aug. 20-25 at Columbus, O.

Re-Elected Chairman

LONDON, Nov. 16 (Reuters)—The council of the Royal Institute of International Affairs Wednesday re-elected Sir Clement Jones as chairman. The Institute, founded in 1919 by a group of statesmen at the Paris Peace Conference, gathers and makes available accurate information on international affairs. But it is non-political and is precluded by its charter from expressing opinions.

Phoenix, Arizona Hailed Wonder Place of America

By JACK SCOTT

One of the stories that people in Phoenix, Arizona, like to tell is about George Borg, a big noise from Wisconsin, who flew down here into the valley of the sun to look over a factory that was for sale.

Borg arrived, investigated and wired back to his associates that the plant was not suitable. This was the last heard of him for some considerable time. Five months later they got a short, simple wire: "If you want to see me you'll have to come down here." Mr. Borg, it seems, had liked Arizona real fine.

On a more modest scale, something along the same line has happened to us.

In Phoenix we never had it so good. Phoenix is a brisk little city in the desert, smothered in motels and trailer courts, all trying to outdo each other in splendor and the size of their swimming pools. One minute you are driving through wastes of cactus. Next you're tootling down a broad avenue flanked by quaint auto courts with luxurious lawns, bright beach umbrellas, sparkling green pools and the traveller's welcome, the sign that says "vacancy."

Let me tell you about the trailer park we're in. Our caravan door opens on a cool cement patio. Beyond that we have our own private square of lawn. Twenty-five feet away is a swimming pool, the size of Maple Leaf Gardens.

We have been here now four days and have had this magnificent bath exclusively to ourselves. The temperature hovers around 85 degrees through the day, but people here seem to go by the calendar. It is "winter" and so they don't use the pools. Only we foreigners gather, panting happily, around the water holes.

Each night we have a conference about pressing on westward. Each morning finds us, like Mr. Borg, still in the vicinity.

Phoenix is a kind of capsule version of the amazing vitality of the American west. There are more classic examples of this in California, but Phoenix will do.

It surprises you to hear that the population is only around the hundred thousand mark. There seem to be at least that many citizens on view in various activities. Even on a week day you see tanned people at play everywhere, driving golf balls on practise ranges, playing tennis, roller skating, riding horseback. The high blue sky is filled with the sound of sports planes buzzing about.

The number of snack-bars, drive-ins, hamburger kiosks, dine and dance spots and cocktail bars seems staggering for a city of this size. The drive-in theatres at night are crammed with the strange spectacle of rows of cars, a veritable forest of aerial rods, facing on the big silver screen (even stranger was the sight of a politician standing before one of these screens earnestly addressing automobiles).

You wonder if these hustling people have any home life at all. Glance at the entertainment pages of the newspapers and you're confronted with a dazzling choice.

At the moment you may go square dancing or shake that thing to a rhumba band imported from Mexico. Harpo Marx is here in person with a troupe. So is Dizzie Gillespie, the bebop guy. The Arizona state fair is going full blast. Joie Chitwood is busting up new Fords in head-on crashes and leaps through flames. There are greyhound races and horse races six nights a week (including Sunday), a world premiere tomorrow of "The Sound and Fury," and a local company is playing "Lily, the Felon's Daughter" in the Western Saloon. In a half a hundred bars people are sipping drinks, including one called "The New Alibi," and gazing up into the television screens. Kirsten Flagstad is due in tomorrow.

The whole aspect of the city is fun-loving and while it might take a long time to feel that you belonged it takes no more than a day to feel that you're invited to the Phoenix party.

It is probably a ridiculous comparison—it is a ridiculous comparison—but I have been thinking of the incredible difference between this Arizona city and the cities I visited last winter in England. This is not merely like another world, but another planet.

The whole thing, to my mind, is a matter of energy. These people seem to radiate virility—and why not? Here is the good red meat of hamburger at seven for a buck, oranges and grapefruit and watermellon, a horn of plenty spewed out at bargain prices.

A nickel in a slot produces fresh orange juice or hot, buttered popcorn or candy confections as elaborate as their cocktails. You can even get a block of ice from a serve - yourself slot machine.

And to contemplate this display of vitamins with the recent memory of England's potatoes and brussels sprouts, to look at this bustin'-out-all-over vitality, remembering the tired English, makes you wonder if what we really need is not a one world politically, but a one world of orange juice.

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 (CP) — Prices for farm products declined slightly in September, due largely to lower grain prices, the Bureau of Statistics reported Wednesday. McGill's Redmen Dominate All-Star University Team

By MEL SUFRIN, Canadian Press Staff Reporter

TORONTO, Nov. 16—(CP)—McGill University's outstanding performance in intercollegiate football this season is reflected in its domination of the league's 1950 all-star team. The Redmen, who led the league right through the six-game schedule, placed eight players on the mythical squad, announced today.

University of Western Ontario Mustangs, who earned a post-season playoff with McGill by defeating them in the final game of the season and finishing in second place, contributed three players while the last-place Queen's Golden Gaels had one.

The team, selected annually for the Canadian Press by football writers and coaches in the League's four cities, was void of University of Toronto Blues, an underdog outfit that surprised by finishing in third place.

Balloting for the all-star team was weighted to give equal voting strength to each of the four cities—Montreal, Kingston, Ont., Toronto and London, Ont.

Here's the 1950 team:

Flying wing — Fred Wilmot, McGill
Half — Bob McFarlane, Western Half — Pete Robinson, McGill
Half (secondary) — Doug Gray, Western Quarter — Harry Irving, McGill
Snap — Bob McLellan, McGill
Inside — Wally Kowal, McGill
Inside — Vince Capogreco, McGill
Middle — Dave Tomlinson, McGill
Middle — Bill Ford, Western Outside — Jim Mitchener, McGill
Outside — Tip Logan, Queen's

Several Repeaters

It was the third all-star selection for two Western players—London-born Bob McFarlane, 192-pound halfback who led the league in scoring, and team-captain Bill Ford, 24-year-old 190-pound lineman, also of London.

Other repeaters are Tip Logan a 22-year-old 189-pound native of of Fort Erie, Ont., who handled placement kicking duties for Queen's as well as starring at outside; 21-year-old Jim Mitchener from Vancouver, a six-foot, 180-pound end, and Wally Kowal, a Montreal-born inside at 214 pounds. The three were on last year's all-star squad.

Four From Calgary

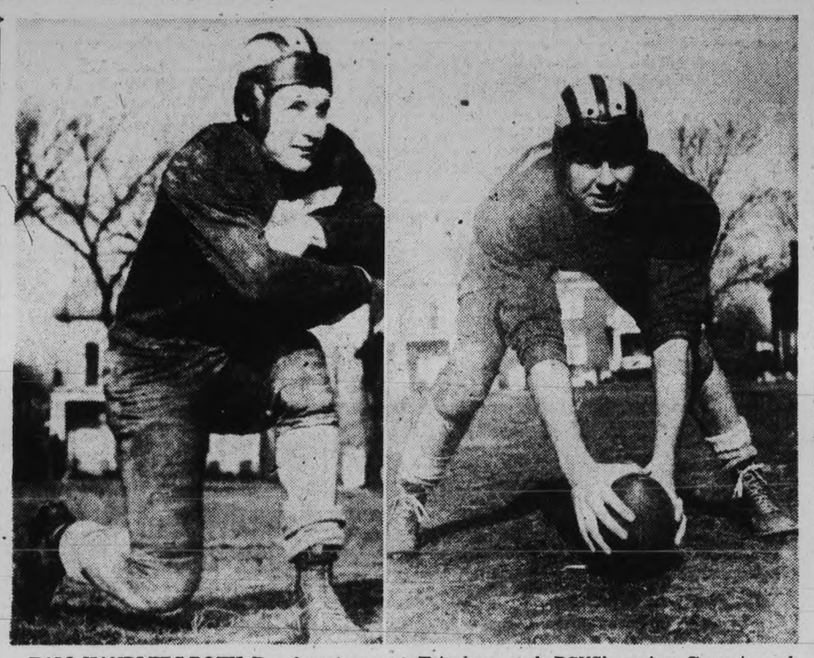
Calgary Stampeders of 1948, a star-studded Grey Cub winning team, contributed four of the players who made McGill an intercollegiate power this year and who were named to the dream team.

They include Mitchener, quarterback Harry Irving, middle Dave Tomlinson and flying wing Fred Wilmot. Irving, a 170-pounder, and understudy of Stampeder quarterback Keith Spaith, called the plays for McGill last year.

Vince Capogreco, a hefty 200-pound lineman from Ottawa who plays lacrosse in the capital in the off season, was a tower of strength at middle for McGill this season.

Bob McLellon, the centre on the team and a native of Toronto. He weighs 200 pounds, is 20 and stands six foot, two.

Pete Robinson, known as Pixie by his teammates, was one of the best running halves in the league, particularly on off-tackle plays. He is 170-pound Montrealer.



The other backfielder is Doug Gray, a native of Sarnia, Ont., who has far more power than his 155 pounds would promise. Gray may be best remembered for his performance in the playoff between McGill and Western at Toronto last season when he replaced the injured Jack Parry although injured himself. Gray, who helped Western win the championship, played with his injured arm drugged to kill the pain.

Closest to unanimous selection for the team was popular Bob MCFarlane who received 45 of a possible 48 points in the voting.

COSSA FOOTBALL HONORS ride on Saturday's game between St. Catharines Tricolors and PCVS' Garnet and Greys being played in the Garden City. Coach Bev Goulding has his aerial attack pivoted on Bryan Young, LEFT, quarterback, while Hubert Lowes, MIDDLE, will be supplying the necessary blocking. Bus Jensen, RIGHT, backfielder for the seniors, has been having a stellar year with the PCI'ers, both running and receiving passes.

—Examiner Staff Photos

BALL HANDLERS BOTH, Roy Armstrong, RIGHT, and Paul Frise, LEFT, will have to have glue on their hands Saturday. They will both play major roles in the COSSA final game in St. Catharines between the Tricolors and PCVS' senior Garnet and Greys. Armstrong plunges long and hard for the PCI'ers while Frise, the 215-pound snap, has a three-man position which requires snapping, blocking and tackling.

Childs Returns To Help Tabbies Down Dutchmen 5-4

By The Canadian Press.

An old friend returned to the Hamilton Tiger lineup Wednesday night.

Art Childs, the ancient and acrobatic goaltender who played Olympic hockey before the war and sparked the Tigers to several Ontario Hockey Association Senior A titles before his retirement last year, filled in for the injured Bruce Dale in the nets, and his mates presented him with a victory.

Childs, one of the last of the "tired old men" who fought their way to the Allan Cup finals in 1946, looked rusty in the first period, when Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen scored four goals, including a couple of cheap ones.

But he was his old unbeatable self in the later stages as the Tabbies roared back to grab a 5-4 decision and a triple tie for first place in the major series with Toronto Marlboros and Toronto St. Michael's.

Tom Smelle scored twice for the winners, including the tie-breaker. Murray Comfort, Frank Liscombe and Doug Maher added single tallies. Kitchener marksmen were Don Oberholtzer, Art Hurst, Mickey Roth and Bob Wrightsell.

Defeat Teepees

Barrie Flyers took over first place in the tightly-packed junior A race, defeating St. Catharines Teepees 4-2 to lead them by a single point in the standings.

Another point back, tied with the idle Toronto Marlboros, are Windsor Spitfires, who walloped Guelph Biltmores 7-1, and Oshawa Generals, who defeated Galt Black Hawks 6-3.

Doug Towers ruined the Teepees, pumping home three of Barrie's four goals. Lionel Barber got the fourth, while Ted Powers and Wayne Brown were the lamp-lighters for St. Catharines. Five of the six goals were scored with the opposition shorthanded through penalties.

A couple of rhyming centremen —Eddie Joss and Erwin Grosse— had a good night against Guelph, accounting for five goals between them. Joss scored once in each period and Grosse tallied twice in the second frame. John Offidani and Jim Anderson completed the Windsor total, while Doug Blair was the lone Guelph marksman.

Oshawa fired 48 shots at Clarke Sommerville in the Black Hawk nets as they overcame a 2-1 deficit at the end of the first period. Lou Jankowski, Stan Mills, Rene Leroux, Alex Delvecchio, Mike Delich and Bob Attersley counted for the Generals. The Galt snipers were Pete Conacher, Ron Trussell and Ken Wharram.

Winnipeg Bombers Plan To Train For Grey Cup At Western Univ.

By AL VICKERY

WINNIPEG Nov. 16 (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers leave by train Saturday night for London, Ont. to get ready for the Grey Cup final at Toronto Nov. 25.

Bomber president Ralph Misener announced at an executive meeting Wednesday night that the team will train on the University of Western Ontario gridiron.

The last time Bombers competed in the Grey Cup final was in 1947. That year they trained at Hamilton. Other years they worked out at either Hamilton, Ann Arbor, Mich., or Appleby College in Oakville.

No reason was given by Misener as to why the club chose Western. It is known Bombers received offers from numerous other colleges, universities and eastern football teams.

One official said: "We haven't been so lucky of late. We need a change."

The Bombers will meet Toronto Argonauts or Balmy Beach in the Grey Cup classic at Varsity Stadium a week from Saturday. It will be Winnipeg's eighth clash with a Toronto club in the east-west final—and they'll be seeking their first victory.

Toronto fans will have difficulty in recognizing the 1950 edition of Bombers. Guard Bud Irving is the only member of the 1947 team which lost 10-9 to Argos. Another familiar face, however, will be around the Bomber bench. Bob Sandberg, whose performance in the '47 final was rated by many as the best ever put on by an individual, is a backfield coach with the club this season.

Winnipeg fans will get approximately 4000 tickets for the final, Bomber manager Scotty Kennedy said.

The executive also decided last night the method of distribution for the precious ducats.

"Owing to the heavy demand already received by the club, it has been decided that the tickets will be allocated on a priority basis to season ticket holders and members of the club in order of the receipt of their request," he said.

Approve Gas Tax

QUEBEC, Nov. 16 (CP)—The Quebec Legislative Assembly, by a vote of 71 to 8, Wednesday night approved a government bill providing for a gasoline tax increase of two cents to 13 cents a gallon to finance a three-year, $600,000,000 highway program.

Asks For Manslaughter Verdict

PICTON, Nov. 16 (CP)—Defence counsel R. E. Nourse, in a 2½-hour plea Wednesday, asked a Supreme Court jury to return a verdict of manslaughter as the second trial of James Fosbraey on a charge of murder moved toward a close.

Fosbraey, an RAF veteran, is accused of the fatal stabbing of his wife, June, in a snowbank at Napanee Nov. 28, 1949.

Mr. Nourse said the jury had a second alternative of "not guilty because of insanity," but he did not press this suggestion.

At Fosbraey's first trial in Napanee, Mr. Nourse asked for an insanity verdict. The manslaughter verdict was ruled out by Chief Justice J. C. McRuer, and it was on this ruling that the appeals court granted Fosbraey a second trial.

Crown counsel K. S. Ham asked the jury to consider the fact Fosbraey had purchased a hunting knife a few days before the slaying, and that he had carried it in his belt. He also had written in a letter that he "knew five days before it happened that I would hang for it."

The case will go to the jury after a charge from Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven.

Would Revise Rural Education

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 — (CP). — Delegates to the 12th annual convention of the French-Canadian Association of Education in Ontario were told Wednesday that Canada's system of rural education should be revised.

Jean Baptiste Lanctot, secretary of the Canadian Society of Rural Settlement, said that school books should be revised to make them more attractive and appropriate for rural schools.

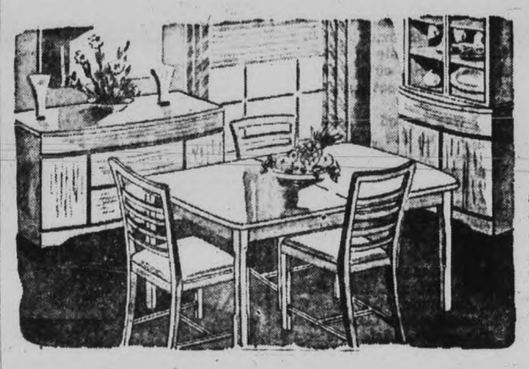
Miss Lauretta Levesque of the Association of French-speaking Teachers of Ontario said salaries of French-speaking teachers of Northern Ontario are far ahead of those of other parts of the province.

She noted that the minimum annual salary in Northern Ontario districts has been boosted to $1,500. In Eastern and Southern Ontario, there had been some progress, but it still was "too slow."

FORMER CHAPLAIN KILLED—Msgr. J. Alderville Bureau, former Candian Army chaplain, was one of the victims of the crash of the airliner "Canadian Pilgrim" in the French Alps Monday. Msgr. Bureau, 47, a former dean of canonical law at Laval University, was recently attached to the Quebec Archbishop's palace.

Rubber Companies Ask Injunction

TORONTO, Nov. 16 — (CP) — A group of 24 rubber companies announced Wednesday that they will seek an injunction Monday, restraining Thomas D. MacDonald, commissioner under the Combines Investigation Act, for making a report to the Federal Government on the results of his investigation into the rubber industry. The companies claim that Mr. MacDonald is not the commissioner named under the Act to conduct the investigation and that he has no authority to make his report.



The investigation was authorized in September, 1947, by Commissioner Fred A. McGregor and was taken over by Deputy-Commissioner Ian M. MacKeigan a year later. Mr. MacDonald took charge following Mr. MacKeigan's resignation in December, 1949.

The Mozart Story Music, Filming Reputed Notable

A story of Mozart's life, loves and music in film, "The Mozart Story" is being sponsored at the Centre Theatre, Peterborough, by the Jeanette Scott Chapter, IODE. This noted movie will be shown at a matinee beginning at 2:15 and at one evening screening at 8:15, on November 22.

The film, distributed by the Screen Guild, is reported to be one of the finer musical adaptations and beautiful films of recent years.

Produced by Abraham Haimson and directed by Frank Wisbar, it tells the tragic and unhappy story of the famous composer, Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, and contains many of his outstanding compositions.

Splendour of Court

Scenes of splendor, depicting the court of Emperor Joseph II of Austria, and beautiful settings showing portions of Mozart's operas "The Magic Flute," "Marriage of Figaro," "Don Giovanni" and "Abduction from the Seraglio," lend colorful and authentic backgrounds to the melodies of the great composer.

"The Mozart Story" tells the story of the persistent efforts of Salieri, composer and conductor of the emperor's court, to thwart the recognition that Mozart so justly deserved. Mozart's love for two women, his wife, Constance, and her sister, Louise, talented opera singer, only further frustrate and involve his life. His sufferings and hardships are suggested in his beautiful music.

Finally discouraged by the attitude of the nobility toward him and his music, Mozart writes a popular opera which is performed in a barn and is given tremendous ovation. Salieri regretting the wrongs he committed against Mozart, arrives too late to receive his foregiveness.

The Cast

Talented Hans Holt portrays Mozart, who although a child prodigy, acclaimed throughout the Continent, knows only defeat and poverty in his maturity. His wife, Constance, is played by Winnie Markus. Irene von Meydendorff, with a glorious voice, makes an appealing Louise. The supporting cast is headed by Wilton Graff, Edward Vedder, Rene Deltgen, Rosa Albach-Retty and Anita Rosar.

VIETMINH VICTIM — A wounded French soldier is assisted from a plane in Hanoi, Indo-China, after being evacuated from the fighting zone. The soldier was one of 150, wounded by the Vietminh Communist rebels, who had been under Communist care. They were flown to Hanoi under a special Red Cross-sponsored truce in French planes.

Rush Sailor To Ailing Son

TORONTO, Nov. 16 (CP) — LS. Gordon E. Taylor, on manoeuvres in the Azores barely 24 hours ago as a naval armorer on the HMCS Magnificent arrived here Wednesday night to be at the beside of his 18-months-old son, Gary, seriously ill with a bowel obstruction.

Given special leave and assisted by United States Military Air Transport and RCAF officers, Taylor was flown to Toronto and joined his wife at the Hospital for Sick Children, where officials reported Gary in fair condition.

Taylor, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Taylor of Niagara Falls, Ont., had established his wife and Gary at Dartmouth, N.S. Gary was brought to Toronto for special treatment when his illness developed.

Following receipt of a message that the child's condition was serious, Canadian and United States forces cut red tape to help rush Taylor to his son's beside.

Express Regret

TORONTO Nov. 16 (CP) — The Canadian Council of Churches has sent a wire to Archbishop Maurice Roy of Quebec expressing regret at the death of 50 Canadian pilgrims to Rome in the crash of an airliner in Southern France last Monday.

To Re-assess All Norwood Firms Court Decides

NORWOOD, Nov. 16 (ENS)—All business establishments in the village of Norwood will be re-assessed in the near future, as a result of an appeal by G. S. Sparling, Peterborough county assessor, against the business assessment section of the assessment roll at the Norwood Court of Revision Monday night.

Mr. Sparling explained to members of the court that on a review of the business assessment, it was found that a number of assessments were incorrect according to Section 8 of the Assessment Act. He recommended that all business assessment be deleted from the assessment roll and a new and correct assessment be made.

Mr. Sparling stated that in order to avoid confusion, he would also recommend that the court pass a bylaw to allow this to be carried out according to Section 124 of the Assessment Act. This section provides that business assessment be made and the tax thereon be collected in the same year.

Court Accepts Recommendation

A motion was passed by the court that Mr. Sparling's recommendation be adopted and that all business assessment would be deleted from the present roll and a separate roll for business assessment be prepared in 1951.

Assessments were confirmed in the following cases: Bertha Baker, Peterborough St.; J. F. Pearce, and Florence Brockies, Queen St., Elm St. and Ridge St.

Following an appeal of the Sutherland Construction Co. that the Finlay factory properties were assessed too high, the motion was passed that the assessment on this property be placed at $500 for land and $100 on such buildings as now remain thereon.

A motion was passed that the assessment on the Bell Telephone building be reduced by $25 and the balance of the schedule be confirmed. This motion followed an appeal by Pauline Weir.

Reeve Rork S. Ferguson acted as chairman of the court.

Teen Town In Hall

The "Teen Town" group was given permission by the Norwood council to use the town hall on the 1st and 3rd Mondays of the month for their regular evening programs, at the council meeting Monday night. The motion was passed that the group be allowed to use the hall at this time provided they co-operate with Mr. Parcels and Mr. Dean when the hall is required for other purposes.

Members attending the council and court of revision were Reeve Rork S. Ferguson and Councillors Garden, Webb and Nixon.

CAVE-IN CASUALTY, Stanley Pucilowski, 40, of Toronto, suffered a broken leg and shock, but not suffocation, as a sandy sewer excavation on which he was working on Cameron St., caved in on Wednesday afternoon. Examined 600 Children At Hygiene Centres

Total attendance at child hygiene centres during October was the largest to date, Dr. R. A. Kelly, city medical officer, reported to the Board of Health Thursday.

At 17 clinics, 600 infants, and pre-school children attended in October, compared to 457 at 12 clinics for the same month in 1949.

25 Cases of Disease

Dr. Kelly reported also that 25 cases of communicable disease were reported during the month.

Seven were of chickenpox, two of German measles, five of measles and 11 of whooping cough. He said he believed whooping cough was more prevalent than the figures indicated.

Sanitary Inspector R. M. MacPherson reported that there had been six cases of rat infestation, and that all had been or were being dealt with.

Supervisor of public health nurses, Miss Gene Clark, reported that visits to individuals by public health nurses totalled 914, and 158 new homes were visited.

The nurses reported a total of 48 visits made to home of Separate School pupils, 34 of which had not been visited before. Eighty-one classroom inspections and 143 others were made during the month.

DP Caught As Sewer Caves Escapes With Broken Leg

Cries of warning from fellow workers may have saved the life of Stanley Pucilowski of Toronto late Wednesday afternoon. While laying a sewer along Cameron St. the Toronto laborer was caught by a sand cave-in and escaped with only a broken right right leg and a severe shaking up.

With two other workers Mr. Pucilowski was laying the tile sewer pipe along the south side of Cameron St. just west of Monaghan Rd. Suddenly cries from above sent them scattering for shelter as a portion of the roadway collapsed sending down hundreds of pounds of sand and pavement.

Seconds late in moving Pucilowski was caught and a large hunk of oiled gravel from the roadway hit him on the right leg, breaking it. The weight of the saturated sand, caused by the rainfall of the day, doubled the worker over. He was covered except for his head.

Free In Minutes

Quickly workers retraced their steps and had Pucilowski free in two minutes as they cleared wet sand aside. Other workers, fearing the worst, had called the Peterborough Fire Department and several ambulances. Only one ambulance was required.

First aid was given the worker lying in blanket on the ambulance's stretcher. An improvised splint held the broken leg straight while he was carried up the eight-foot embankment to the ambulance.

Foreman of the crew said after the incident that recent rains saturated the sand and roadway causing the cave-in. The Mohan Construction Company of Toronto is laying the piping.

The 40-year-old Polish DP was reported by St. Joseph's Hospital this morning to be in satisfactory conditjon. He has a broken right leg and is suffering from shock.

Home Phone Rates Increased Locally To $3.00 and $3.75

Beginning January 1 Peterborough residents using a two-party line will find their monthly bill increased to $3, from $2.25 in June. One-party line rates are up from $2.75 to $3.75.

These are just two items in a general increase in monthly telephone rates granted today in Ottawa by the Board of Transport Commissioners.

Last July an interim increase of approximately 16 per cent was allowed by the Board pending further study of a 20.6 per cent boost requested by the Bell Telephone Co. With a few minor exceptions the Board upheld this application.

E. G. Baker, manager of the Peterborough branch of the Bell Telephone Co., explained the increase this way:

1. The last confirmed increase was in 1927 and since then Peterborough has moved into a higher grouping (group 6—10,001 to 20,000 phones). There are now approximately 11,000 phones here. As the grouping goes up the cost per phone also rises.

2. There is the increase authorized by the Board because of the higher cost to the company of materials and labor.

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 (CP)—Following are new Ontario and Quebec local monthly rates authorized today by the Board of Transport Commissioners, showing in brackets the rates before an interim increase granted last July. In some cases, the former rates are approximate, because of changes in groupings:

Fossil Found Millions Of Years Old

MARMORA, Nov. 16 (ENS). — A piece of fossil discovered by W. B. Wilde, Marmora, in 1932 is reported by the Royal Ontario Museum, Toronto, to be four hundred million years old.

Mr. Wilde found this fossil at the big rock cut just west of the village when Highway 7 was built. This summer he gave this fossil to Mrs. H. W. Walker, a vacationist in this district from Toronto. Mrs. Walker took the fossil to the Department of Paleontology of the Royal Museum for classification.

Dr. Fritz of this department, classified this fossil as an Isotelus Gigas. It lived in the Ordovician Seas which covered the area. These seas left sediment behind which later consolidated into rocks in which some of the shellfish which lived in these ancient seas became entombed as fossils, four hundred million years ago.

Dr. Fritz stated that this piece of fossil should be of great value to the high school students of natural history.

Mrs. Walker is bringing the fossil back to Marmora in the near future with the hope that it will be placed on exhibit.

BUFFET SUPPER

A general meeting and buffet supper for the members of the Businessmen's Association and their wives will be held November 29 at the Empress Hotel. James Wharry, sales manager of the Quaker Oats will be the speaker.

BACK TO NORMAL

The extensive repair job at the fire hall appears to have been held up more or less through the epidemic of hunting, and has expanded into action again since that fever subsided. That was an impression from the meeting of the property committee of the council Wednesday.

GETS SIX MONTHS

A Lindsay jury has found John Morris Forget, 18-year-old Oshawa autoworker, not guilty of motor manslaughter but guilty of dangerous driving. Mr. Justice Spence, presiding at the current Victoria county assizes, sentenced him to six months in prison. The charge followed an accident September 2 at Coboconk when Charles Henry Booth was killed. Results of a blood test taken on the morning of the accident were ruled inadmissable by Justice Spence as Forget had not been properly warned.

PATH TO GROVE SCHOOL

The Board of Education want a cinder path laid down the side of now-unpaved Erskine Ave so school children won't have to wade through mud on their way to Grove school. Walter E. Bannon chairman of the Property Committee, Board of Education, will interview the Board of Works to see what can be done.

Pipe Shortage Delays Mains To Next Year

Water mains serving the Cobourg Lumber Co. housing development on the High St. Hill, and Grove School, at Erskine Ave. and Cameron Sts., are unlikely to be laid this year. That's the immediate prospect as seen by the Utilities Commission.

A shortage of pipe is holding the Commission back from laying water mains as fast as they would like.

"We've got our last pipe until 1951," Ross L. Dobbin, general manager, reported at Wednesday's commission meeting. "The steel market has tightened, and we have been told that our recent delivery will be the last this year."

Outdoor excavation is abandoned when the frost gets into the ground. Utilities workmen are expected to "knock off" further digging for the winter about Christmas time.

Mains on Cameron and Steele Streets, for new houses in the southwest end of the city, will be completed first. Priority of listed jobs, the short market in pipes, and the weather may hold up the High St. lines until spring.

At present Grove School is supplied with water from a well on the premises. The school was built before that part of the south end was annexed by the city.

Peak Load Up 4 Per Cent

In his reports for October, Mr. Dobbin said the peak load of electricity increased 900 h.p. from 26,600 to 27,500 h.p., or four per cent; and kilowatt hour consumption was up 21 per cent or 1,616,400 k.w. hrs. from 7,823,600 to 9,440,000 kw.. hrs.

The department placed 44 new street lights throughout the city in October.

Domestic distribution lines were built as follows:

McFarlane Ave. to serve the new Highland Heights, subdivision in Ashburnham.

Engleburn Ave. to Arnold Steele's housing group.

Braidwood Ave., east of Lock St., to the P. Koster houses.

Manor Hill Ave., a new primary line erected.

A transformer stand was constructed at Peterborough Lumber Co. Permanent fences were placed around the transformer stands at Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co.; Civic Hospital and sewage disposal plant. The transformer stand at A. Wander Co. was rebuilt.

Circuits were rebuilt on London St. from Aylmer to Bethune; Frank St. from High to Monaghan Rd.; Ford Ave. from St. Mary's to Lansdowne. On Sophia St. from Mark to Armour Road the poles were replaced. Nine transformers were changed and four new ones were set up.

Other work details included: 52 new three-wire and three new two-wire services were connected; 25 services were changed from two to three wire; 42 water heaters were connected to give a total of 3,170.71 kilowatts.

Union Rejects Company Offer

Local 527, United Electrical Workers, are pressing the Raybestos Co. for an even larger wage increase after the company offer of six cents an hour was turned down as not enough.

The union is asking for a 25-cent-an-hour wage increase, reduction of the work week from 45 to 42½ hours with no loss of take-home pay, improved vacations plan, and a number of other revisions. Affected are 126 production workers.

On December 7 the present contract expires.

Negotiations have been going on with the company since early in October. Besides the wage boost of six cents an hour, the company is reported to have offered a one-way escalator clause to meet the upward swing in the cost of living: a one-per cent. increase matching each point rise in the cost of living.

The union turned down this provision.

At present the lowest labor rate for men at Raybestos is 96 cents an hour, and for women 85 cents.

Negotiations are continuing.

Imming Bailed For Trial In $100,000 Fraud Of Toronto Finance Firm

Paul Imming, 25, Lake St., in police court was today committed for trial by a higher court the first week in December for his part in what police described as a $100,000 car finance swindle. His alleged partner in the swindle, Aubrey S. Hancock, who pleaded guilty to forgery and false pretence charges, was sentenced by Magistrate W. R. Philp KC May 4 to three years in penitentiary. He was present in court but was not used as a witness by the Crown.

Nine charges have been laid against Imming, five of forgery and four of false pretences. He pleaded not guilty to all nine. He was remanded on $5,000 bail on one charge and $1 bail on each of the others.

Contracts allegedly signed by Imming were entered as evidence in each of the charges. Further evidence was presented in each of the charges. Further evidence was presented in only one charge; a charge of forgery concerning a contract involving an Isadore Neiman.

The contract was a conditional sale agreement with the Colonial Finance Co. of Toronto in which the finance company was lending Neiman $1340.

Accountant Testifies

Colin Wallis, accountant for the Colonial Finance Co., testified he had checked the figures on the sales agreement when it came to the office and made out a cheque for $4,368, part of which covered the $1,340 the company believed it was lending to Neiman. Wallis said he handed the cheque to Imming.

Harold Powell, former accountant with the Peterborough branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, produced records of a declaration made by Imming that he was sole owner of Ideal Auto Body. He showed a record of a deposit made in the Ideal Auto Body Account for the $4,368.

Melvin S. Ostman, Kaladar, Ont., testified that he owned a 1949 car such as described in the sale agreement produced in court, but said he had not sold it until this year and had bought it August, 1949, two months before the sale agreement was drawn up.

A photostatic copy of the registration record held by the Ontario Department of Highways was produced. It recorded a description of the car identical with that described in the Neiman conditional sale agreement except for the serial number. The description was that of Ostman's car, and recorded that Ostman was the owner.

Detective Informed

Aaron Neiman, 290 Rutherford Ave., told the court he received a letter from the Colonial Finance Co. addressed to Isadore Neiman, 181 Brock St. He opened the letter, saw that it did not concern him and took it to Detective Sergeant W. A. (Bud) Clarke of the city police force.

Shown the conditional sale agreement, he stated that he had not signed it and the signature did not resemble his signature. He said none of his names were Isadore.

Handwriting Expert

John A. McKone, handwriting expert, testified he believed that the same man signed the conditional sale contract as Paul D. Imming had also signed four receipt slips as P. Imming. Detective Sergeant Clarke testified he had witnessed Imming sign the four receipt slips for articles he collected at the police station some time after his arrest.

Detective Sergeant Clarke testified the letter given to him by Neiman contained a copy of a contract with the Colonial Finance Co. and a book of payment coupons. He was unable to locate any Isadore Neiman at 181 Brock St. or anywhere else in the city.

Representing Imming, W. J. Arthur Fair K.C., offered no defence and offered no argument against Imming being committed for trial by a higher court other than to say he thought there wasn't sufficient evidence to warrant committal.

Remand Brother

Hugh Imming, Paul's brother, charged with being an accessory after the fact and making a false statement to the Department of Highways, was remanded to Dec. 18.

Russell Riches and his wife, both charged with being accessories after the fact, were remanded to the same date.

Press Handouts Rapped Sharply

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 16 (AP)—United States newspapermen were urged Wednesday to use more initiative in reporting and to stop accepting at face value the flood of "handouts" from government press agents.

A criticism of government press releases was contained in a report to the 17th national meeting of the Associated Pressmanaging Editors Association. The report was prepared by a sub-committee on domestic news. V. M. Newton, Jr., of the Tampa, (Fla.) Tribune is sub-committee chairman.

Russell Brines, who heads AP's Korean war staff, was today's principal scheduled speaker. Brines is chief of the AP bureau in Tokyo and accompanied Gen. MacArthur on his trips to the Korean war front.

Hamilton Milk To Jump Cent

HAMILTON, Nov. 16 —(CP)— Milk in Hamilton and district will probably jump in price from 19 to 20 cents a quart as the result of a milk arbitration board award, released Wednesday by T. H. Ward, managing-secretary of the Hamilton Milk Distributors' Association. Local dairies are expected to pass along to consumers the higher price they have to pay producers for their dairy requirements.

The award was made by Judge H. E. Fuller, of Welland, chairman of a three-man arbitration board which included Mr. Ward and Roy F. Lick, secretary of the Ontario Whole Milk League.

"The arbitration board has awarded an increase of 12½ cents a hundredweight for milk purchased from producers," Mr. Ward said. "This is for all the milk which we need for dairy requirements."

According to the terms of the award, "dairy requirements" would mean "all milk used in fluid milk sales, chocolate milk sales, buttermilk sales and retail sales of skim milk."

Speaking as a member of the board, Mr. Ward declared: "I am not in agreement with the decision. And consequently I will refuse to sign the award". The signatures are necessary to make the award effective.

Before the current negotiations between farmers and dairies broke down and went to arbitration, the wholesale price of milk was $4.15 a hundredweight. The increase will mean that it will jump to $4.27 ½ a hundredweight.

We All Know women who seem to have been "born" with a talent for cooking. But good cooking is not just a happy "knack"—it's something we can all do. The simple secret is to "know your flavour tricks"! And one of the simplest, most economical ways I know to give food exciting, "This-is-delicious!" flavour is with tangy, beefy-good BOVRIL. Yes, once you've enjoyed Bovril as a hot drink, you'll want to add its meaty, deep-brown flavour to all your cooking . . . in stews and soups—or as a cracker spread. M-mmm!—delicious Bovril is chuck-full of the mouthwatering flavour of good roast beef, with a special spiciness added. No wonder it's such a "flavourite" with so many good cooks! Stretching Your Budget is a problem these days of rising prices, isn't it? Just staying within your allowance calls for an eagle eye on household and general expenses. As for getting together a few extra dimes 'n' dollars for "specials" like a smart new bonnet . . . well, that really calls for stern measures. That's when a Savings Account at the BANK OF MONTREAL can be so helpful. Such a convenient, safe place to keep money out of temptation's way! Personally, I put every cent I can squeeze into my B of M account. It's surprising how quickly small savings mount up when left to themselves. Just try it . . . open a Savings Account at a convenient branch of the B of M . . . and start squeezing those pennies for that personal "special" you want so badly.

"I'll Take Canada" said Terry Eaton! New Yorker Dick Brengle did too, after their honeymoon in Terry's native Nova Scotia! But Terry's petal-soft skin gives credit to more than the Nova Scotian climate . . . she keeps it sparkling with extra-mild WOODBURY FACIAL SOAP—the soap with the beauty cream ingredient. It's the same softening oil used in rich face creams! So take a tip from a Canadian Woodbury bride—try the "beauty magic" of Woodbury's extra-mild, creamy lather for yourself. Daily facials with Woodbury Facial Soap will keep your complexion satin-smooth and glowing. Use Woodbury Soap in your bath, too! Just 10c a cake!

Today's High Food Prices needn't bother your budget! For—here's the good news . . . you can make the most appetizing, economical meals imaginable . . . with luscious CANNED SALMON as the star! Here, for instance, is just one of my many favourite Canned Salmon dishes:-

Canned Salmon Puffs:- Flake 1 lb. salmon and add 1/2 tspn. salt, a dash of pepper, 3/4 cup bread crumbs, 1 tspn. lemon juice. Add 3 beaten egg yolks; mix thoroughly and then fold in 3 stiffly beaten egg whites. Place in greased custard cups. Set in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven 300 deg. F. for 40 minutes. Unmold on a hot platter, garnish and serve with a tartar sauce.

Yes, once you've discovered Canned Salmon—you'll find dozens of delicious ways to use it as a main course dish. And, of course, it's always grand in sandwiches and salads. So economical, too! For, you see, Canned Salmon is all cooked and ready to eat—it's all food—there's absolutely no waste!

If You Watch Your Pennies as closely as I do these days, you'll welcome this tip . . . 5-Minute "CREAM OF WHEAT" gives you FULL VALUE—in both goodness and nourishment! So why not do as so many Canadian families do—get that "Cream of Wheat" habit! 5-Minute "Cream of Wheat" is so easy to prepare—cooks to delicious digestibility in just five minutes of boiling. M-mmm! So smoo-oth and good—and so good for you! For it contains Iron necessary for good red blood—and Calcium and Phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements. Yes, I always feel I'm getting a lot for my money when I buy a "family supply" of 5-Minute "Cream of Wheat".

Get Green Light On Developing Labrador Ore

CLEVELAND, Nov. 16 (AP).—The Iron Ore Company of Canada announced Wednesday it has completed arrangements for financing of a $200,000,000 development of Labrador-Quebec iron ore deposits.

George M. Humphrey, president of the new iron company, said it probably will be the largest initial development ever undertaken in a mining venture.

Under the plans, construction of railroad, mining and handling facilities will start immediately.

Humphrey, also president of the M. A. Hanna Company here, said ore shipments are expected to start in 1955 and reach 10,000,000 tons annually in a short period.

He declared the company's drilling program this season has proven existence of more than 400,000,000 tons of high grade open pit ore. There also are prospects of large additional tonnages, he added.

Exploitation Vital

Exploitation of the deposit has been considered vital because of the dwindling supply of high grade ore in the Mesabi Range in Minnesota.

Humphrey said the deal demonstrates "the steel industry's determination to be prepared to fulfil requirements of the United States and Canada for this vital raw material regardless of the emergency or demand."

At present, he said, it is planned to move 5,000,000 tons of ore annually on canal boats and 3,000,000 tons by rail from Montreal to the Youngstown and Pittsburgh areas.

Cheese Skyrockets

LISTOWEL, Nov. 16 (CP) — Cheese skyrocketed to 45½ cents Wednesday—the highest figure in the history of the Listowel Cheese Board—as the first open market was held since lifting of export restrictions. A record of 66 bids were made for 1,341 boxes by buyers representing six companies.

Sister of Iranian Shah Bossing New Royal Charity

By ROBERT HEWETT

TEHERAN —(CP)— A pretty, blackhaired princess runs Iran's biggest public enterprise, which is Imperial Charity.

The Royal family, which owned one-fourth of the nation's farm land 10 years ago, has given up its vast properties. All income from the lands now goes to support hospitals, clinics and schools established by the Imperial Organization for Social Service.

Guiding hand of the Imperial Charities is 31-year-old Princess Ashraf, vivacious twin sister of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi.

Under her direction 53 hospitals and clinics have been put in operation to give free medical treatment and public health services to thousands of Iran's needy.

"Something had to be done to improve living conditions in Iran," Princess Ashraf explains. "Everyone knows that the way to keep the independence of the country is to make a better life for the people.

"Iran desperately needs better medical facilities. We feel this can be provided by an independent body, like the Imperial Charities, in a much better fashion than by government agencies hampered by red tape and politics."

The Imperial Charities began in 1941 when Shah Reza abdicated to put his son, Mohammed Reza Pahlevi, on the throne. The young Shah immediately renounced his title to all the crown lands and ordered all revenues from the properties turned over to the government for use in public health and education.

Parliament Takes Hand

Government management was not very successful during the first few years. Funds from the former estates were diverted to other channels of government. Last year the Majlis (parliament) passed a law providing that the funds go directly to the Imperial organization.

The Shah is nominal president of the charities organization but the actual work of supervision has fallen to his sister, Princess Ashraf, who is vice-president. About 40 leading Iranians serve on the central committee.

Princess Ashraf, who has brains as well as beauty, is not a figurehead. She has taken an active role in setting up charitable organizations and devotes a considerable amount of time to business meetings and inspection trips.

Most important of the organization's activities is the operation of hospitals and clinics. Sixty foreign doctors and nurses, mostly from Germany and Austria, have been recruited to direct the work in isolated communities.

Public health campaign against tuberculosis, trachoma and scabies are being waged.

Beggars Problem

One of the biggest problems in Teheran, the capital, has been the beggars. Many have never had useful work. The organization took over an old army barracks where 2,00 persons, ranging in age from four to 60 years, are being taught such trades as carpet weaving and metal work. Children go to daily classes.

Iran is short of trained nurses. A nursing school with a three-year course graduates 60 nurses a year. It is being doubled in size with the help of a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation.

Maternity care centres have been set up for expectant mothers. Fifteen hundred women a month are cared for in the maternity centres and food and clothing is provided for the babies.

School Child Needs Subject of Address

BRIDGENORTH, Nov. 16 — (ENS)—F. B. Smitheram of Peterborough Normal School was guest speaker at the November meeting of Bridgenorth Home and School held Tuesday evening. "What do I want the school to do for my child?" was the theme of his message and he answered the question with the statement that we should look on the school to lead the child regardless of his age and to look upon the child as an immature being. The best of help that is available is expected from the school.

There is an unwritten law, "The Charter of the Rights of Childhood" that says a child must have a sense of security and of being wanted and needed and the feeling of successful accomplishment, Mr. Smitheram said. Mr. Smitheram spoke also on the curriculum of the school and stated that every school works its own curriculum out according to its own location and ability and no two schools would be alike in carrying out work.

Three students who spoke at the public speaking contest held at Bridgenorth last month, spoke on their chosen subjects, namely Barbara Ann Scott, The Canada Goose and Precious Gems. Donna Doughty, Alice McKay and Sylvia Nicholls were the three participants.

Reports were given by Mrs. K. Blewett, Mrs. G. Ray, Sr., and Mrs. G. Heard.

Bruce Patterson, principal, spoke for a few minutes on the teachers' convention held recently. Mr. Smitheram was introduced to the audience by Mrs. B. Patterson, and thanked by Mrs. C. Payne.

Mrs. A. Connors and her committee served a delightful lunch.

Community singing closed the evening with Mrs. C. Telford at the piano.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Christmas Baking Season Opens With Rich Fruit Cake

A lightweight cross I have to bear is the lament of my friends who hesitate to invite me to their homes because they think of me as an expert cook. It seems I might stoop to mental criticism or at least cool appraisal of their meals—when all I am really, is a plain hungry friend.

That friendliness is what I hope sticks out all over me—not cookery-expertness.

Claims to having produced a masterpiece I seldom make. But today finds me feeling like an experienced fruit cake baker, so I am going to come out bold and fearless and declare this year's dark rich fruit cake a prize-winner. You will want to make a less rich cake than it is too, but if you have some hoity-toity relatives that you are determined to impress, this cake is just your dish, chums.

✧ ✧ ✧

Emem's Dark Christmas Cake

One-half pound each sifted flour, butter or margarine, brown sugar (well-packed), blanched almonds, 1 teaspoon each baking powder, cinnamon nutmeg, ½ teaspoon each cloves and salt, 6 eggs, 1 pound each fresh, moist citron peel, and washed and dried currants, 1½ lbs. candied green and red cherries, 3 pounds seeded or seedless raisins, 1 can crushed pineapple, 1 or 2 teaspoons almond flavoring.

Slice the citron and cherries thinly; wash the raisins and currants and dry them; blanch and shred the almonds; mix all of these together. Sift flour once and measure it (1 cup unsifted bread flour weighs 5 ounces); sift the measured flour with the baking powder, salt and spices. Sift it over the mixed fruits and spices and mix it in roughly with wooden spoon.

Cream the butter until it is a pale color then add the sugar to it and cream until they are both light and fluffy. Add the egg yolks and beat them in. Do not shorten beating time if you do not have an electric beater; if your arm is tired call in other strong members of the family. Add the crushed pineapple and flavoring alternately with the fruit and flour mixture and stir until mixed. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Line four average-sized bread pans with unglazed paper and grease this thoroughly. I strongly recommend using butter for this. Fill pans about three-quarters full with the cake batter.

If possible steam the cake for 2½ hours and bake out of steamer in oven for ½ hour longer. If your steamer arrangements will not accommodate this much cake stand the cake on your broiler pan, which contains about ¾ inch boiling water and bake in oven of 275 deg. Fahr. 3 to 3¼ hours, adding water as needed.

Other flavorings may be used, but we find almond the most popular.

Store the cakes when baked and cool, wrapped in many thicknesses of waxed paper, in airtight containers.

I will continue to give you Christmas cake, cookie and pudding recipes, but if there are any recipes you require in particular please let me know at once.

Light fruit cakes next week.

Crippled Girls Go In Business With Telephone

TORONTO —(CP)— Two suburban Toronto girls unknown to each other until after separate accidents paralyzed them both from the waist down, soon will head into a new venture made possible by well-wishers.

Nancy McComb, 22, of Long Branch and Doreen Taylor, 19, of Weston are going into business for themselves by organizing a telephone answering service. It will be conducted from a building being erected as a combined home and office from contributions of money and material.

They became acquainted while convalescing at Lyndhurst Lodge in Toronto. Doreen permanently injured her spine in May, 1946, when she fell from a bridge over the Humber River. Seven months later Nancy was struck down by a truck.

Public-spirited citizens in New Toronto, adjoining Long Branch, formed a committee to aid Nancy, then only 18 and second youngest of eight children whose mother was dead. Their father died a few months after Nancy's accident.

Raised $6,000

The committee raised $6,000, nearly half of which went towards medical teratment. The remainder is going to be used to help build the new home and office for the girls. It is planned to raise another $8,500 and the Canadian Paraplegic Association intends to lend money to get the building started.

Doug Taylor, the builder, and Don Russell, New Toronto druggist and chairman of the committee, are soliciting material and volunteer help for the structure. Several builders and construction supply firms already have responded with materials.

Nancy's brothers and brothers-in-law plan to help on weekends and any other free days to get the building finished.

The girls hope to move in early in January. The one-storey building will have special ramps running from the street level to the doors so they can enter in their wheel chairs without assistance.

The building will have five rooms—two bedrooms, kitchen, living-dining room and office.

All St. Luke's Auxiliaries Take Part in Huge Bazaar

Forty days before Christmas it was quite appropriate that the tea table in connection with St. Luke's Church bazaar of Wednesday afternoon should be set with tall red candles and a centrepiece of evergreen, silver bells and red ribbon, and tea pourers, Mrs. R. Turner, Mrs. J. J. Turner, Mrs. Chris Hughes, Miss A. Curtis, Mrs. R. Krant, Mrs. E. Lee Sr., and Mrs. W. J. Gilling, were wearing Christmas corsages as they presided.

An exquisite hand-made lace cloth was on the central table with beautiful silver trays and tea services at each end. Quartette tables with dainty covers, centred with small evergreen branches tied with red ribbon, made tea time a time for relaxation.

Evening Branch of the WA, now two years old, was in charge of the tea room, and president Mrs. H. Choate and tea convener Mrs. John Gemmell as hostesses were kept busy finding accommodation for the large crowd.

Attention was called to the bale which this group has prepared for sending to WA House in Toronto for distribution to the mission field as needed. Materials which cost more than $100. have been made up into six complete layettes, each accompanied by a patchwork crib quilt. In addition they have 24 suits of pyjamas for two to four year olds, a dozen pairs of mittens, a lovely knitted dress and four sweaters. Some additional money will be used to buy extras, such as safety pins, talcum powder and baby oil. Mrs. Leslie Thomas had arranged the articles for display and was in attendance.

Tea room decoration was by Mrs. Roy Davidson and those who served were Mesdames M. Mesley, D. Worboy, W. Merrett, J Rogers, W. Gates, A Fields, K Hamley, H. Steen, D. Menzies, W. R. Halstead, C. Mrs. S. J. Pammett was receiving admission fees at the entrance.

Bazaar Tables Laden

Taffy apples, prepared by Mrs Leslie Moore of St. George's parish, attracted a crowd of children to the bazaar room. They were dispensed at the candy table which was most plentifully supplied through the organization of convener Mrs. Fraser Watson, working in the interests of the Church Year. Her assistants at the table were Mrs. W. Wilshire, Mrs. E. Ferguson and Mrs. Wm King.

Afternoon Branch of the WA had a home cooking table featuring Christmas cakes and puddings, done up as gifts, mincemeat for baking, as well as already made up in delicious tarts, also a quantity of cakes, pies, cookies, and tarts. Mrs. D. Wyatt was the convener and her assistants were Mrs. Jack Taylor, Mrs. J. Trennum, Mrs. E. Clark, Miss Muriel Curtis and Mrs. H. Rogers who looked after the fruit cake which proved to be in short supply.

The Chancel Guild had the material to stock up the larder with potatoes, apples, eggs, candy, cake, jam, fruit, and they added fancy work and potted plants, summing it up as a "general store." Mrs. C. Hamilton was in charge and Mrs. W. Purcell and Mrs. H. P. Laing were assisting.

Show Handiwork

Mothers of St. Luke's Cubs and Scouts operated a table where attractive felt hats and matching bags were the drawing card They were also offering embroidered pillow cases, dainty tea aprons and woollen mittens of their own make. The president, Mrs. D. Walker and Mrs. L. Lipsett, Mrs. R. Hayden, Mrs. R Tuck and Mrs. W. O'Neill were attendants

Sun dresses for little girls, stuffed animal toys, print aprons, pot holders and felt jewelry were made by the Girls' Auxiliary for their table, on which there was a gay Christmas tree to catch the eye. Christmas greeting cards and some donated items were also displayed. Their leader, Mrs. G. White was in charge and girls who came to assist after school were Marilyn Vint, Velma Weaver and Wanda Grills.

The Choir table featured a miscellany of costume jewelry, aprons, books, potted violets and cacti. Mrs. F. N. Biddle was on hand to transact the sales.

Wide Variety

The Anniversary Committee, now engaged in building up a fund for next year's celebration, took over a large space to display "white elephants." The donations to this ranged from a patchwork quilt, a wedding gift that had never been unfolded before, to a selection of men's ties—also probably gifts that had not been unfolded, and from china and glassware to rustic baking tins. Mrs. F. Storey and Mrs. D. Grills were the salesladies.

Plying needle and thread with accustomed skill on the prettily patterned quilt stretched on a frame set up in the Guild Room were three members of the church who are continually spending their time in this way, and selling their products to build up the anniversary fund. They will take orders for any pattern and make up any size quilt from crib to double bed dimension.

Proceeds from this event were roughly estimated today at close to $350. and door receipts showed more than 200 attended.

St. James' Bible Class Tea Nets Good Sum for S.S. Work

The Excelsior Bible Class of St. James United Church held a tea and bazaar on Wednesday afternoon to which more than 200 ladies came in spite of weather which was somewhat unfavorable. Many who had bought tickets were unable to come but their contribution swelled the proceeds which is put in a fund and given out in donations for Sunday school work when needed.

Decorations for the occasion were carried out in green and yellow. The tea table was centred with yellow 'mums in a silver basket and yellow tapers in silver holders and had a handsome lace cover. The small tea tables for guests had unusual centrepieces of apple-shaped plastic dishes in yellow and green. Flags also decorated the tea room.

Through the afternoon music by recordings was greatly enjoyed.

Class president Mrs. R. Bell and the teacher Miss Jessie Martin were in the receiving line and Miss Martin later took her place at the tea table and poured the tea.

Tea convener Mrs. C. Davis was serving assisted by Mrs. W. Mantell, Mrs. E. Williamson, Mrs. G. English, Mrs. A. Fife and Mrs A. Phillips. The plates and tea pot were replenished by Mrs. C Porter, Mrs. G. Cuffe, Mrs. C. Palmer and Mrs. W. Cripps.

There were four bazaar tables, well laden with interesting items for sale and there was a fish pond. Another table displayed the five complete layettes that have been made by the class members and which will be given for welfare work.

The candy and Christmas card table was attended by Mrs. E. James and Mrs. J. Chamberlain. Fancywork and children's wear was sold by Mrs. R. Wilson, Mrs. R. Armour and Mrs. H. Fife. Mrs. L. Gardiner, Mrs. M. Robinson and Mrs. E. Draper sold the home baking. Mrs. J. Simmons attended the layette display.

Mrs. S. Keating was taking tickets at the door.

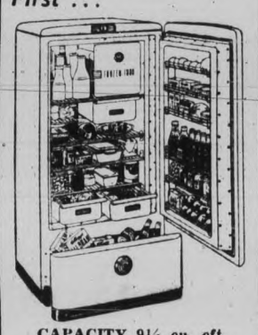
Home and School

HOME AND SCHOOL COUNCIL



Peterborough Home and School Council regular meeting of Wednesday evening was addressed by Mrs. M. Kelso of Toronto, who is a member of the Provincial committee on parent education and is also vice-president of the Toronto Home and School Council.

Speaking on "parent education," she stressed the need for training to understand children in the different stages of their development. For the Associations which do not have organized study groups on this subject she suggested having panel discussions or readings of articles by experts on the subject included in the general meetings.

Spicing her talk with humorous style, Mrs. Kelso held attention and her enlightening and constructive ideas will bring benefit as parent education study

DOROTHY DIX

Boy Husband Kept by Wife Told to Earn Own Living

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 20 years old. Have been married nearly a year to a woman who is six years older than I am and things are not going so good. It seems that my wife and I cannot agree on anything at all. My wife had a little money, but I didn't have anything, not even a job, so she bought a little business for us. Everything went along all right until business began to fall off and my wife had to draw money from the bank to keep from losing the business. Then she started raising cain with me as if I could help it. Do you think that her having to spend money on taking care of me is the trouble? And what is the best thing for me to do?

K. G. T.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Well, son, I should think the best thing for you to do would be to run back home to Mama and wait until you grow up and get able to support a wife before you tackle matrimony again. Maybe your present wife will like you well enough to want to have you around when you are a man and not a kid. One of the reasons you and your wife can't agree is because there is too much disparity in your ages. Six years' difference between a man and a woman doesn't matter much if they are both in their thirties and their tastes and ideas are formed, but when the boy is just out of his teens and the woman is in her middle twenties, it is a different matter.

She is Grown Up

A woman of 26 is as grown up as she will ever be. She is mature. But the boy of 20 is still a child. He is changing every day. He wants to play. He isn't ready to settle down. He is full of impractical plans and ideas, and he is bound to get on the nerves of a mature woman. Only a mother has the patience and understanding to endure the vagaries of an adolescent boy.

Then, son, it is a strange thing, but true, that there are very few happy marriages in which the woman is the purse-bearer. It is all right for the husband to be rich and the wife poor, but when the case is reversed and the woman has money and the man has nothing, it is almost sure to cause trouble.

Somehow money and love do not seem to mix when a rich woman tries to cook up a romance with a poor boy. So my advice is to let your wife keep the money that is dearer to her than you are and for you to get a job and support yourself.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I was engaged to a girl with whom I was desperately in love. Just before we were to have been married she met a stranger with whom she became infatuated at sight and whom she married three months later. I was terribly cut up and to spite the girl I married her best friend. Now after a year of marriage I am fed up. My wife is all that a man could ask for in a wife and she is crazy about me, but our life is a regular hell on earth, and she refuses to give me a divorce.

Don't you think that a woman would have more pride than to stay with a man knowing that he loathes her? What do you think I should do? BOB

ANSWER: You certainly are having to pay for marrying for revenge, but it seems to me the punishment more than fits the crime. The silliest and the craziest thing that anybody ever does is to rush into marriage with somebody they don't care for because someone they love has married somebody else, but because you have committed this folly should not condemn you to a lifetime of misery with a woman you have come to hate, and who must be as unhappy as you are in a marriage that is a mess from start to finish.

I cannot understand why she wants to hold you against your will. She is just as much to blame for your spite marriage as you are and is as responsible for its consequences. She cannot be considered an ignorant victim because she knew that you were in love with another woman and did not care for her, and that you were marrying her out of pique. Hence she would not hold you to your bargain if she had much pride or self-respect, so under the circumstances I think you would be perfectly justified in leaving her even if she will not give you a divorce. One false step taken in anger should not ruin a whole life.

DEAR MISS DIX: What is love? A. B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your correspondent sends this beautiful definition of love, and it was written by an old bachelor, none other than Saint Paul, in his letter to the Corinthians. It says: "Love suffereth long and is kind. Love envieth not and vaunteth not itself. Is not puffed up. Love seeketh not its own and is not easily provoked. It thinketh no evil. It rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in truth." You can't better that definition of love.

British MP's Have Trouble Getting To Talk

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Nov. 16 (CP)—One of the big drawbacks about British parliamentary democracy, it develops, is that the ordinary rank-and-file member has a hard time getting a word in edgewise.

There are 625 members in the House of Commons and every time a big debate comes along (or so it seems) there are 624 who want to unburden themselves on the subject. The 625th is the speaker, who can put his oar in any time.

Front-benchers naturally get first call. So the little fellows who want to take part just have to wait, poised to spring up.

The Eyes Have It

The other day, for instance, one member's patience wore a little thin. Mrs. Elizabeth Braddock, Labor member for a Liverpool division, rose and asked point-blank:

"What exactly do you have to do to catch the speaker's eye?"

She said she had sat through a debate on housing from 2:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. without success.

The speaker, Col. Douglas Clifton Brown, said there are many ways of catching his eye. You can write a letter "but he wishes you wouldn't or ask him personally or interview his secretary.

Col. Brown said the guiding principle is to make the best possible debate from the list of those who want to speak.

Canadian parliamentary backbenchers face precisely the same problem as their British counterparts, except that there are fewer of them to catch the speaker's eye—262. Generally, on major debates in the Canadian Commons, the speaker keeps a list of those who have indicated they want to have a say, and he tries to rotate speaking turns by parties.

Rostocky, parent education convener, announced a series of lectures on parent education which will be given on Monday and Tuesday next, November 20 and 21, commencing at 10 o'clock each morning in the Public Library. They will be conducted by a child psychologist from Toronto and will deal with adolescents from 12 to 18 years.

The refreshments enjoyed at the close of the meeting were provided and served by Queen Alexandra Association.

These stickers will serve as identification marks signifying membership in the Chamber of Commerce.

Lift Suspension

MONTREAL, Nov. 16 (CP)—McGill University officials Wednesday lifted a two-day suspension of the student newspaper, The McGill Daily, and also a suspension imposed on four top members of the student executive. The suspensions were ordered Monday because of "exaggerated publicity" in the daily concerning an "extravaganza" held last Saturday to raise funds for the students-sponsored combined charities campaign and as a result of the sale of liquor at the event.

GINGER PRINCE, star of the new, all-colour film, "The Prince Of Peace" who sings "Holy, Holy, Holy" in the choir of her Uncle Mark Wallock's church. It is one of four songs Ginger sings in the film which opens at the Capitol theatre, on Monday. Ginger stars in the modern story which surrounds the biblical scenes of the life of Jesus Christ.

First Passion Play Pageant Has Over 3,000 Players

Transporting their huge color cameras to the foothills of the Wichita mountains, producers Kroger Babb and J. S. Jossey accompanied by a crew of trained technicians spent several months photographing the annual Passion Play Pageant as presented every Easter Sunday morning to hundreds of thousands of spectators, from all over the world.

First presented by the Rev. Mark Wallock some 20 years ago with a cast of thirteen, the present Wichita Mountain Passion Play Pageant has a cast of more than 3,000 players, every one being "non-professional" hometown folk or from small communities in Oklahoma. In the filmization of "The Prince Of Peace", the role of Christ is played by Millard Coody a bank-teller; the Virgin Mary is played by Darlene Bridges, housewife; Simon-Peter is played by A. S. Fisher, Oklahoma oil-man; Mary Magdalene by Hazel Lee Becker, schoolteacher and so on through the complete cast of over 3,000 people. Many members of the cast have being playing the same religious roles for more than twenty years.

In the "modern" sequences of "The Prince Of Peace" depicting the life of the Rev. Mark Wallock in the town of Lawton, Oklahoma, the role of 'The Little Minister' is played by the veteran stage and motion picture actor, Forrest Taylor. Screen mother to the 6 year old Ginger Prince is played by sweet and charming Gwyn Shipman.

Early engagements of "The Prince Of Peace" throughout the United States have been so well received by heads of school boards, principals and teachers it seems quite certain the film will be seen by more school children than any other picture ever made. More than 60,000 children in the Greater Cincinnati public school system were afforded the opportunity of attending special matinees.

Hollywood Stars Now Wearing Hair Longer

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 16 (AP)—The glamor girls of Hollywood are letting their hair down.

Reaction has struck the short haircut craze that swept and blighted the country a couple of years ago. Now Jane Russell, Joan Crawford and many other Hollywood names are allowing their locks to resume normal length. Most of them admit the men demanded it.

But Claudette Colbert adds a note of caution. She is the screen's most noted devotee of the short cut and has stuck to her bob despite the whims of fashion for these many years.

"I think many women should think twice before they let their hair grow back," she says.

"I like long hair on some women—particularly young girls whose hair looks silky and soft. But on some women it just looks messy. There is nothing more unattractive than long, stringy hair that looks as though a comb had never been run through it.

"The best thing about the short haircut is that it makes a woman look neat. And a lot of women could stand looking neater."

Talk of the Town

The feud being whipped up between Bette Davis and Tallulah Bankhead over Bette's portrayal in "All Above Eve" (neither taking the whole thing seriously)...

The raps received by "The Miniver Story"...

The renewed feud between NBC and CBS over the Jack Benny time (with NBC putting costly artillery into "the big show" opposite the fiddler)...

Hugh Stewart's Colts Bring Four Figures at Big Auction

Top price of $1,400 is reported by Hugh Stewart in the sale of ten colts from his Hilltop Stock Farms at the Standardbred Horse auction at Harrisburg, Pa. Also in four figures were others at $1,300, $1,175, and $1,000. The next highest was $750, and the whole consignment from Peterborough was so satisfactory to the owner of Hilltop that before returning home he applied for sale placing of 20 to 25 yearlings in 1951.

"To appreciate this Harrisburg auction you have to see it," Mr. Stewart told the Examiner. "It is really luxurious in its appointments. This was not my first trip, but from the recent sale of my first consignment I think I'm in the business for the future.

They sold 1,205 horses, from weanlings up. The only Canadians were entered by my brother Alex of Port Hope who had seven, and myself. We were in the last 30 to be sold, but before I came away I get a definite understanding that if I was to consign more than 20 next year we should get a fair chance by including our horses in the first 600.

5,000 Attended

The maximum crowd in attendance was 5,000, but there were only some 200 left when our Canadian horses were offered. When you consider that fact, I think we did exceptionally well.

One of my horses was bought by Vic Fleming the great driver of Billy Direct when he made the world record of 1:55 for pacers. Fleming is the man who won three $25,000 stakes in ten days with Grattan Bars. I don't mind saying that I suggested to the auctioneer not to hold out as long as he might have done when I saw Vic Fleming wanted my horse.

Another was bought by Bowman Brown of Harrisburg, owner of the Harness Horse magazine, and a partner-manager of this annual sale of Standard Breds. At least several, maybe five, of our colts are headed for the Grand Circuit under Curly Smart known to horsemen as handling the horses of some millionaires in the United States.

About half the horses from Hanover Shoe Farms, who have a top price of $72,000 to their breeding credit, did not bring as much as our Hilltops.

Lasted Five Days

The sale started on the Monday at 10 a.m., continuing until 5 pm. with time out for lunch, and then went on at night from 7 to 10 o'clock That was the daily program until the last sale about 4.30 on Friday.

George Swynbord, the greatest auctioneer of horses in the world, one of seven handling this sale, said of his own accord, from the ring: "We have never had a nicer looking lot of colts than these from Canada; never had any nicer finished and better presented."

Mr. Stewart said he was earlier offered $2,000 privately for the colt that sold for $1,400, but he refused to step outside the course of the sale.

"We received many favorite comments on our colts, and the best encouragement was to see men like Brown and Fleming buying for themselves."

WI Hears Address On Health

MILLBROOK, Nov. 16 (ENS)—Millbrook Women's Institute held its November meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles Thornby on Saturday. The president, Miss Mary G. Widdis, was in the chair. The secretary-treasurer Mrs. W. Hilton called the roll.

Mrs. Wm. Armstrong read a poem "Let us be friendly" and a paper on health.

Pasteurization of milk, the most important health problem in Canada today, was discussed. It has been so effective in saving the lives of infants and small children.

It is upon the example, guidance and understanding of parents that children's health depend most. The parents' responsibility is not one that can be met by expressing love and affection only; but by informed good sense and the necessary action, Mrs. Armstrong said.

Mrs. John Lunn presented the gift of a pearl necklace and earrings, handkerchief and a beautiful birthday card with the Millbrook Women's Institute names written on to Miss Widdis on her birthday.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Wm. Armstrong, Mrs. Allie Fallis, and Mrs. Delbert Olan.

Quebec Plans Services For Plane Dead

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT

QUEBEC, Nov. 16 —(CP)—The Roman Catholic population of Quebec—still deeply shocked by the swift deaths Monday in a plane crash of members of its clergy and respected citizens—is preparing to pay final tribute to the victims Sunday.

Church bells rang out joyfully last Sunday as worshippers here joined in prayer with their friends in Rome for the beatification of Marguerite Bourgeoys, who centuries ago founded the congregation of Notre Dame on Quebec soil.

Next Sunday in all diocese churches, by proclamation of Bishop Omer Garant, the tragic chant of the 'Libera Me" will be intoned by priests in mourning black.

Thursday, a solemn requiem high mass will be sung at the Quebec basilica.

In the centre aisle of the basilica there will be the catafalque, flanked by six tall candles, in memory of those who last Sunday fulfilled the dream of a lifetime and then died in the French Alps.

Blessed State

In sermons preached in churches along the north and south shores of the St. Lawrence river —five of which have lost their parish priests, four their vicars—the stress will be on the blessed spiritual state of the pilgrims' souls. A few minutes before taking off for home, they were blessed by Pope Pius.

Nearly all those who died in the plane crash were prominent in their communities.

Oscar Paquet, of lower town St. Sauveur parish, was the main choir singer there. Antoine Dussault, of the same parish, was manager of the local Credit Union. Charles-Eugene Gagnon was secretary of Quebec diocese's leagues of the Sacred Heart. He was a former Quebec newspaper man.

Roger Ellyson, 33, of St. Celestin in Nicolet county was president of the Temperance Cercles Lacordaire and Ste. Jeanne d'Arc Society.

Union President

Arthur Pelletier was president of the Catholic Union of Textile Workers in the textile town of St. Gregoire de Montmorency. He is survived by a widow and seven children.

Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Michaud of Plessisville left 19 children. Arthur Lavallee, of St. Ubald, was a promising young farmer decorated by Premier Duplessis with the Order of Pioneering Merit at a ceremony here in September.

For Quebec City's parish of St. Jean Baptiste the loss was severe.

The Rev. Edgard Martel, the cure, and Ulysses Demers, professor of pharmacy at Laval University and chief churchwarden of the parish, were aboard. With Mr. Demers was his wife.

Blow To Diocese

The loss of Msgr. J. Alderville Bureau, distinguished 47-year-old prelate and former dean of the Laval University faculty of canonical law, was also a deep blow to the diocese. An expert in church law, he served as a padre with Quebec units during the last war.

The Rev. Paul-Emile Giroux, vicar at suburban Chateau-Richer, left three brothers and two sisters, both in religious orders, one of them a missionary in Nyassa, Africa.

In all, Quebec province lost 12 members of its clergy, 40 of its citizens. A French-speaking priest from St. Victor, Sask., the Rev. Antoine Poirier, was also aboard.

Tuesday and Wednesday, telegrams of sympathy poured into the archbishop's palace. They came from Prime Minister St. Laurent, James Cardinal McGuigan, archbishop of Toronto, Archbishop Legar of Montreal, Mario Distefano, Italian ambassador to Canada and many others.

SPECIAL BRIGADE — Some of the 1,400 men of the second battalion of the Royal 22nd Regiment embark for Fort Lewis, Wash., from their training camp at Valcartier, Que., 15 miles north of Quebec City. Bidding them "bon voyage" are officers of the first battalion and eastern Quebec padre Maj. Armande Coulombe, wearing his Roman collar.

Mining Company Sees 300 In UK

LONDON, Nov. 16 — (CP) — A Canadian mining company hung out the help-wanted sign in London Wednesday. It said 300 "young and virile" miners are needed to work around Porupine, Ont.

An announcement from Ontario House quoted H. M. Ferguson, superintendent of Hollinger Gold Mines, as saying the company is interested less in experienced miners than in young men aged between 20 and 32—and preferably married.

Immigrants who take jobs will be paid 98 cents an hour for a 48-hour week, with an increase after two or three months. Bed and board arranged by the company, would be provided for $12 to $14 a week, and every effort would be made to obtain suitable housing for wives and families, expected to arrive six months to a year later.

The announcement said the company is prepared if necessary to advance passage money, which would be repaid by salary reductions in the first year of employment. Details of company-sponsored insurance, saving, medical and hospital plans also were given.

Ontario House did not say why the miners are being sought in Britain. But a dispatch from Toronto, published recently in the Daily Graphic, said the company wants men who are not afraid to face life in a bush city.

Wine Price Boosted 5-50 Cents A Bottle

TORONTO, Nov. 16 —(CP)—Price increases ranging from five to 50 cents a bottle for wines will go into effect in Ontario today, the Provincial Liquor Control Board announced Wednesday.

A five-cent boost is general for brands now selling at from 65 to 80 cents. These brands are increased 15 cents and two sparkling wines are up 50 cents.

Brig. J. G. Spragge, comptroller of the board, said the hikes are the result of increases to the board by Ontario wineries.

Six Killed At Crossing As Car and Train Collide

SIXTY-FIVE YEARS AGO, the couple in this picture were married in St. Luke's Anglican Church. They are Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Yelland, of Peterborough. This year, they spent their 58th summer at their cottage on Stoney Lake, and as Mr. Yelland was ill this spring, he was unable to do any fishing—once his favorite sport.

2 Big Planes Collide, 13 Airmen Die

TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 17 (AP)—A collision in flight of two giant planes engaged in the United States Air Force's newest refuelling operation ended Thursday in flaming death for 13 airmen.

Ten others parachuted to safety after the four motored craft smashed together 50 miles west of Tucson over the Southern Arizona desert.

The planes, engaged in a routine refuelling operation, were seen to erupt in flames and plunge to the ground. The tanker is believed to have exploded.

Deluged By Gas

Some of the crew members jumped and might have reached the ground safely but were apparently caught in a deluge of flaming gasoline that sprayed over the area.

Another, caught flat on the ground after making a successful jump, was crushed to death by a piece of falling wreckage.

There were indications all of the men attempted to get out of the flaming craft.

Their blackened and smashed bodies, most of them wearing portions of parachutes, were scattered over a half-mile area around the crash scene. Bits of flaming debris were found as far away as a mile.

An air rescue team rushed to the scene found the dazed survivors.

Social Credits Retain Seat

OLDS, Alta., Nov. 17 (CP)—The Social Credit government retained its Olds seat in the Alberta Legislature in Thursday's provincial by-election, but its winning margin was reduced from the 1948 provincial election.

Fred Niddrie, 60-year-old farmer, of Mound, Alta., was the successful Social Credit candidate. A veteran of 14 years as a municipal councillor and 25 years as a school board member, he defeated Liberal candidate Martin Winther of Huxley, Alta., a 58-year-old farmer.

Incomplete results—38 of 41 polls— gave Mr. Niddrie 2,032 votes to Mr. Winther's 1,399. There were about 7,500 eligible voters.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Yelland Married 65 Years Ago

Married 65 years ago Nov. 18 and still going strong are Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Yelland, of Peterborough. On Saturday, they will celebrate their anniversary with a quiet family dinner at the home of their daughter, Mrs. R. G. Gavine, Bethune St.

They were married in St. Luke's Anglican Church in 1885, and that day the mud was so thick that their carriage was stuck. They don't believe a rainy day is a bad omen for marriage.

Mr. Yelland, who is 91, is the sole surviving member of the Peterborough Volunteer Fire Brigade, which disbanded in 1904. He remembers when there were no houses in the city north of McDonnel St., and only a handful of stores on George St.

Helped Build Gates

He spent most of his life in the city, but worked with various mills in Montreal and Fort William. He was one of the workers who helped build the lock gates at Young's Point, and he contracted most of the wharf and pier building in that district.

His father, William Yelland, came to this country in 1851 when he was 19, and worked in Smith township at $6 a month for several months.

Later, Mr. Yelland's father returned to the city, and eventually was elected mayor, serving for two terms. He ran a carriage shop on George St.

Mrs. Yelland was born in Emily township in 1865, and spent her younger days near London, Ont., until she was married at the age of 19. Then, she and her husband came to Peterborough to live.

60 Summers At Lake

In the past year, Mr. Yelland has been forced to give up his daily walk and his favorite sport of fishing. However he and his wife spent last summer at their cottage on Stony Lake. It was their 58th summer at the cottage, and they have spent more than 60 summers at the lake.

A bit hard of hearing, as is her husband, Mrs. Yelland is still fond of knitting and crocheting. Though both were formerly fond of walking, they seldom go out nowadays.

They have nine children, all of whom are living. They are: Stanley and Allan of Vancouver, Wilbert of Penetang, Harold, Alvin, and J. C. of Peterborough, Mrs. R. Gavine (Edna), of Peterborough, Mrs. F. S. Boskill (Olive), Winnipeg, and Mrs. L. L. Smith (Gladys), Niagara Falls. They have 23 grandchildren and "a number" of great-grandchildren.

Russia Hints Use Of 47th Veto

NEW YORK, Nov. 17—(AP)—Russian threats vie with American promises today as the United Nations Security Council meets to debate the question of Chinese Communist intervention in the Korean war.

Russia's Jacob A. Malik charged Thursday night that the United States has been attacking China on land, on the sea and in the air. He threatened to cast the Soviet Union's 47th veto to prevent passage of a Security Council resolution demanding that Communist China withdraw troops from Korea.

American delegate Ernest A. Gross immediately countered these assertions by reading a statement from President Truman stressing American friendship for the people of China and stating that the United States has no intention of invading that country.

Delegates today took a cautious attitude, waiting for the answer to this question: Will all-out Russian diplomatic support encourage Peiping to continue and enlarge its military operations in Korea, or will the American assurances result in a withdrawal behind the Manchurian frontier?

Siren Drives Off Bank Thieves

WHITBY, Nov. 17 — (CP) — Safecrackers fled empty-handed from the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Brooklin, six miles north of here, when they inadverdently set off a siren alarm during a break-in Thursday night.

It was the fourth time in five years that thieves have tried unsuccessfully to rob the Brooklin Bank.

Two villagers whose home is about 100 yards from the bank said they heard the siren but did not notify police because "it goes off every time the lights flicker and there have been so many false alarms that nobody pays any attention any more."

An unideitfied Uxbridge man returning from work in Oshawa about 4 a.m. noticed a back door open and called police.

Shots Outside Cafe Where Princess Dines

LONDON, Nov. 17 (AP). — Raymond Emmett, 37, was charged today with firing six shots at another man outside a Soho restaurant where Princess Elizabeth was dining with friends.

Inspector A. J. Usher, her bodyguard, rushed out and took part in the police chase after Emmett.

The man shot at was Charles Cozens, 29, who was walking with a girl. Three bullets went through his pants and three through his overcoat, but he was not wounded. Police gave no clue to the reason for the shooting.

Hitting Their Stride

Europe's Industrial Output Hits Peak Thanks To ERP

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP) —The Economic Co-operation Administration told Congress today that western Europe's industrial and agricultural production have climbed to an all-time high because of Mashall-plan aid.

However, ECA said in its quarterly report, Europe "must maintain and extend" these gains to cope with "the threat of intensified Communist aggression."

"The required expansion in military production cannot be achieved," it added, "unless Europe's economic base is further strengthened."

The report was the ninth and by far the most cheerful given to the United States Congress since the Marshall Plan was approved in April, 1948.

Industrial output in the 16 countries under Marshall Plan, it said, has reached a record—24 per cent higher than any pre-war figure.

Agricultural yield for 1950-51 is expected to surpass the post-war high of last year and for the first time exceeded pre-war levels.

As a result of such gains, ECA said that western European democracies have "restored the confidence of their people in the ability of free democratic institutions to cope successfully with the economic and political problems facing them."

Tanks Blast Way Out Of Red Trap

Enemy Dead Litter Northern Hills, Planes Finish Job

SEOUL, Nov. 17—(AP)—An American tank column blasted its way through a Red trap in a far North Korean mountain ravine today. Then it rolled northward in a blazing bid to reach the Manchurian border in four days.

Communists opened up on the 17th Infantry Regiment from the hillsides as the tanks rumbled along a narrow road in northeast Korea. A three-hour battle ended with 125 Communists dead on the hills and Marine planes firing on the fleeing remnants.

This was about 23 miles south of the Manchurian frontier.

The commander of the column said his force would reach the border early next week and if fired on from Manchuria—

"We will shoot hell out of them."

Elsewhere on the front:

The South Korean capital division clawed 3,000 to 4,000 yards forward on the extreme northeast sector;

U.S. Marines probed mountains around Changjin reservoir in the centre of the peninsula;

Patrols Unopposed

Patrols of the U.S. 24th division roamed unopposed more than six miles north of Pakchon in the northwest.

American troops hunting down guerrillas far behind the lines reported inflicting the biggest death toll of any battle action this week More than 500 Reds were killed. Red raiders retaliated by setting an entire town, Kapyong, ablaze. More than 8,000 villagers fled.

Along most of the front Communists avoided any major engagement. But they were building up forces in the mountains. A spokesman estimated 100,000 Reds are available in the northwest—armies equipped with American artillery captured by Chinese Communists from Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists and now supplied by American-type shells manufactured in Red Manchuria.

Fire Stronghold

Planes, striking out in front of the spearheading advance of the 17th infantry regiment's tank column in the northeast set ablaze the Red stronghold of Kapsan, the 10th corps announced. Kapsan is the U.S. 7th division's immediate objective.

The 17th's too-day toll of 370 Reds was topped by anti-guerrilla actions in the rear.

The U.S. 25th Division reported it killed 537 by-passed Communists Thursday in battles 50 miles south of the northwestern front.

A Red guerrilla command post was blown up by artillery and an ammunition depot in a cave was captured. Three hundred thousand rounds of mortar and artillery shells were in the cave, 20 miles east of Pyongyang, former North Korean capital.

Charge Funds Misused Ohio Mayor Suicides

WOOSTER, O., Nov. 17 (AP)— The mayor of Wooster shot and killed himself in his office a few hours after the county prosecutor accused him of misusing polio and hospital funds, police reported today.

Mayor Francis H. Hillen, 46, fired one bullet through his temple last night but his death was not disclosed until today. The coroner ruled the death a suicide.

Prosecutor Jack Critchfield said he filed charges Thursday that Hillen had misused the city funds. Critchfield estimated the shortage at about $3,600, but said no audit had yet been made. The prosecutor said Mayor Hillen was to have been asked to-day to resign.

The mayor's post here pays $3,000 a year and is a full-time job. Hillen supplemented the income with part-time work as an embalmer in a local funeral home.

Unwelcome Visitor

BILOXI, Miss., Nov. 17—(AP)—Barber Anthony Taranto was cutting hair Thursday when he glanced up and saw a 7½-foot Boa constrictor crawling in the front door. The barber and his customer fled from the shop while the snake slithered to the rest room. They called Jack Adam of Gulfport, Miss., who captured the Boa constrictor. Adam, handler of wild animals and reptiles, said it probably had escaped from some show in this area.

Fosbraey Gets Life Sentence For Wife's Death

PICTON, Nov. 17 (CP)—James Fosbraey, who said he stabbed his wife to death in a jealous rage when she told him she was going to live with another man, has been sentenced to life imprisonment for manslaughter. Fosbraey's second trial for the slaying of his estranged wife ended here Saturday when a Prince Edward county jury, after deliberating four hours and 15 minutes, returned a verdict of guilty of manslaughter and recommended "no mercy." Mr. Justice R .W. Treleaven pronounced sentence.

The 10-day trial ended a year less 11 days after the body of June Fosbraey, 25-year-old mother of a four-year-old daughter, was found in a blood-spattered snowbank 100 yards from her home in the eastern Ontario town of Napanee.

Fosbraey, 28-year-old R.A.F. veteran from Sittingbourne, Kent, England, who had just returned to Canada from a trip to the United Kingdom, was arrested and charged with murder.

He was convicted by a Lennox and Addington county jury at Napanee June 16 in a verdict brought in after only 45 minutes' deliberation. Chief Justice J. C. McRuer had ruled out manslaughter as a possible verdict, however, and this was the basis of an appeal by defence counsel R. E. Nourse of Picton.

Successful Appeal

He successfully submitted that the Chief Jutsice should have admitted the possibility of provocation and therefore a manslaughter verdict. Later Mr. Nourse also won a change of venue, contending that it would be impossible to select an unprejudiced jury in Lennox and Addington county.

Defer Sentence In Mail Theft

KITCHENERA, Nov. 17—(CP) —Sentence was deferred one week by Magistrate Hugh Polson here today in the case of Robert Hyatt, 32, of suburban Kingsdale who pleaded guilty to theft of $10,000 from the mails.

Evidence showed Hyatt, driver for a contractor trucker of the Kitchener post office, fabricated a story of a hold-up Monday night and took the money from a bag of registered mail.

The accused, found slumped over the wheel of his truck about a mile from the C.N.R. station, told police he had been held up and slugged while en route to the station from the post office.

Under police questioning Hyatt, a few hours later said his story was a hoax. He led police to a field near where the truck was found and the money was recovered.

Gordon Mackay, defence counsel, told the court that on the day of the theft, Hyatt's three children were ill and he had learned one would have to undergo an operation.

Crown Attorney W. P. Clement suggested the accused had been under a financial strain which might have accounted for the "sudden brainstorm."

Magistrate Polson indicated that but for the special category in which theft from the mails has been placed, he would not hesitate in granting suspended sentence.

Man Aboard Lost Barge, Search Lake

Scow Breaks Loose From Tug During Severe Storm

ST. CATHARINES, Nov. 17 —(CP)—Baldie Serrio, 26, of Kingston, N.Y., is missing on Lake Ontario aboard a barge which is believed to have foundered in a storm on Lake Ontario Thursday night.

Loaded with 700 or 800 tons of scrap steel for the steel mills in Hamilton, the barge was being towed by the John E. Matton, of Matton Lines, Albany, N.Y., when the cable broke three miles west of the mouth of the Niagara river.

Captain Bill Gazaw, a relief captain who was in charge of the tug, said that at the time the wind was between 50 and 60 miles an hour and the waves were breaking over the wheelhouse.

The barge, the Ted, owned by Reliance Marine Corporation, of Kingston, N. Y., was picked up by the tug at Oswego, N. Y., and was being towed across the lake to Hamilton.

Breaks Under Strain

About 10 p.m. Thursday night, in the midst of the storm, the crew of the John E. Matton felt the stern of the tug being dragged downwards by the tow cable, until it broke under the strain. At the time the barge was at the end of 1,300 feet of cable.

The tug used radar equipment for five hours in searching for the barge, but did not make contact, and finally put into nearby Port Weller early this morning. U.S. coast guard vessels and aircraft from the Niagara Falls naval reserve have been combing the area since daybreak.

Her captain, William Gazaw, said "it was one of the worst storms I have ever been through" as he explained how the tow line parted. Marvin Shear, cook from Fort Plain, N. Y., said "it was rougher than the ocean."

Toronto Lawyer Killed Hunting In Grove

TORONTO, Nov. 17—(CP) — Nicholas Romanick, 55-year old Toronto lawyer, was shot and killed Thursday while he and a friend were target shooting in a wooded grove north of Toronto. Police Chief William Skidmore of Vaughan township said death was accidental.

Romanick's companion, Joseph Renaud, 47, told police they had each fired one shot. He said he was setting up a target on a tree when he heard a shot and saw Romanick falling, his face torn away by the rifle blast. Romanick's death occurred within 100 feet of a sign which said:

"Shooting and hunting prohibited by order of Vaughan township police."

Warm Spell Over

TORONTO, Nov. 17—(CP) —A warm spell Thursday in northern Ontario and northwestern Quebec was ended today when cold air swept down from the north. Weather men here attributed the mild day to warm air from southern Ontario being carried northward by air currents associated with a storm centre. The surge of warmth sent the temperature to 55 degrees in Sudbury, for the balmiest Nov. 16 on record, and to 40 at Porquis Junction and 46 at Senneterre, Que.

Sioux Reaches Port Safely Badly Battered

HONG KONG, Nov. 17 (CP)— The Canadian destroyer H.M.C.S. Sioux was battered by the worst gale in her sea career in the China Sea last week and came into this naval base with port side guard rails twisted out of shape, steel ladders bent and watertight doors warped out of shape.

The Sioux was in company with the British light fleet carrier Theseus when she was hit. Though the ships adjusted their course to avoid the centre of the gale, the waves were reaching heights of 40 feet by midnight on Nov. 9.

One veteran of 10 year's sea experience said he had never seen anything like it.

The Sioux's port side bore the brunt. All that remained of the port whaler was a small part of the bow.

Buried To Funnel

The huge waves which repeatedly buried her up to her funnel snapped a wire funnel stay an inch in diameter. Steel watertight doors were warped out of shape and a spare gear locker on the upper deck burst under the incessant pounding.

A starboard carley float was ripped from its lashing and was carried 150 feet aft, where it finally wrapped around some stanchions.

Lieut. Robert Peers of Victoria said that during his watch there were times when the rudder was hard over but the ship couldn't answer her helm.

No one was allowed on the upper deck. What traffic was necessary was confined to a catwalk some 10 feet above the main deck. But officers and men walking there often found themselves waist deep in foaming seas and ordinary seaman Vernon Briskham of Mission City, B.S., described that once while he was going forward along the catwalk, a huge sea buried the ship up to the bottom of the Meaple Leaf on her funnel.

Petty Officer Bill Steele of Ca[illegible] said he didn't know how far the ship heeled over at times, but it was "a long, long way".

Below decks lose gear and men were thrown about. Some lieing in upper bunks were tossed into lower bunks opposite them.

Fail To Win Race With Freight

Report Car Rolls 30 Feet Down Embankment

BEETON, Ont., Nov. 17 — (CP)—Six persons died Thursday night when an old-model automobile collided with a fast moving freight train at a rainswept level-crossing near this Simcoe County community 35 miles northwest of Toronto.

They were identified as Roy Morrison, 35, formerly of Woodstock; George Pether, 38, of Creemore, 25 miles north of here; Edwin (Ted) Hewitt, about 30, of Glen Huron, Ont.; Mrs. Inez Rushton, 35, whose estranged husband lives in La Have, N.S., and her daughters, Marion, 10, and Joan, 7.

Police said Morrison, thought to have been the driver of the 1936-model sedan, had a wife and two children in Woodstock.

Mrs. Rushton, who came to Ontario from Millvale, N.S. nine years ago, had three other children. A daughter, Myrna, 15, has been working in a restaurant at Collingwood, Ont. A son, Bud, 13, and another daughter, Ruby, 12, live with their father. Mrs. Rushton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Purdy, reside in Millvale.

Living In District

Morrison and the Rushtons had recently been living in this district, police said.

Pether's widow, Frances, and a 13-year-old daughter, Sylvia, are in Creemore.

Hewitt was described as a Second World War veteran trying to make enough money to get into business for himself.

The men were employees of the Arnott Construction Com-

2 Women Hurt In House Blast

WINDSOR, Nov. 17 — (CP) — Several blocks of west-end Windsor were rocked today by a heavy explosion which injured two women and wrecked their home.

Fumes from either a coal furnace or gas cooking installation were blamed for the blast, which demolished all four walls of the top storey of the house.

Injured were Mrs. Edward R. Rowe and Mrs. Telesphore Faubert, who live on either side of the double house. Neither were seriously hurt.

Mrs. Rose was upstairs in her section of the house.

"There was no warning," she said. "I didn't smell anything. There was a horrible blast and everything went black."

"Smoke started billowing about me and flames burst in front of me. I only thought of getting out of there because I was alone, so I ran out of the house."

A small fire which began on the scene was extinguished by firemen.

Keeping Eye On Things

RCMP Has Plans Ready To Curb Reds

OTTAWA, Nov. 17 (CP)—Justice Minister Garson said today that plans and precautions of the RCMP to deal with Communists in Canada are "well matured" and "some of them are now in operation."

He added, however, that it would be contrary to the public interest to disclose what these plans are since such a disclosure would be of vital assistance to the Communists themselves.

The minister in a statement referred to an article by T. G. McManus in a recent issue of Maclean's magazine. McManus, a former Communist who renounced the party, said Communists in Canada were prepared to strike at Canada's internal security if an emergency arose.

Mr. Garson said he had been asked what precautions the government, and in particular the RCMP had taken to deal with these intentions of Canadian Communists to commit treason against Canada.

Changed Attitude

The minister recalled the actions and attitudes of the Canadian Communist party following the signing of the non-aggression treaty between Hitler and Stalin. They opposed Canada's entry into the Second World War but changed this attitude when it was in Russia's interest to do so.

But until this change, he said, Canadian Communists had "carried on a campaign of obstruction, disaffection and other subversive and illegal acts.

"This campaign, however, was not very successful; for the RCMP at that time gave a pretty convincing demonstration of its ability to deal with these Communist activities.

"The RCMP have long realized that if a war were now to occur between the free countries and the Communist states, the Communists in this country would again be loyal to Russia rather than to Canada, and would again attempt to carry on a campaign of subversion and treason.

"The precautions and plans of an enlarged and more experienced RCMP to deal with such a campaign are well matured.

"Some of them are now in operation.

"But quite obviously the publication of these precautions and plans would be of vital assistance to the Communists themselves. For since these plans are mainly directed against traitors, there are none in Canada more anxious to know what these plans are, or who would be helped more by such knowledge than these traitors."

Assure Reds No Threat Against China

Truman Promises To Protect Interests In Korea

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 — (AP)—The State Department radio today beamed into Communist China President Truman's assurance that the United States has no intention of invading Manchuria, and will help protect China's interests along the Korean border.

Department officials, deeply concerned over a possibility that war will spread beyond Korea, privately expressed hope that Communist China's leaders would consider the President's statement, issued at a press conference Thursday.

Truman said a professed belief that the U.N. forces in Korea would carry the war into China was the "pretext" on which the Chinese Communists intervened in Korea.

Insofar as the Chinese actually have such fears, the president's statement was designed to reassure them in the hope that they might then withdraw their forces and permit an early peace in Korea.

Use Other Methods

Normally such a declaration would be transmitted to another government through diplomatic channels. But the United States does not recognize the Red regime at Peiping. Officials said the United States is relying on "Voice of America" broadcasts and on regular international channels of news to reach the Peiping authorities.

The president's statement came a day after State Secretary Dean Acheson and assistant secretary Dean Rusk had offered similar assurances. They also warned that the situation growing out of Chinese intervention in Korea is extremely dangerous.

Acheson and Rusk made it clear that the U.S. does not know for certain what caused the Chinese Communists to act as they have or what objectives they seek. If they are trying simply to protect their own territory and the Yalu river hydro-electric power installations or other so-called legitimate interests, the U.S. stands ready to negotiate a settlement through the United Nations.

On the other hand, if their purpose is to prevent a final U.N. victory in Korea, grave danger of a more general war is seen here.

In his statement Truman pointedly noted that there now is before the U.N. Security Council a resolution which promises to protect legitimate Korean and Chinese interests in the frontier zone, to keep the Chinese frontier secure and to withdraw U.N troops as soon as Korea is stabilized under a democratic government. On the other hand, the resolution calls upon the Chinese to withdraw their forces immediately. The president said the U.S. fully supports this resolution.

Canada Clamps Secrecy Ban On Defence Plan

OTTAWA, Nov. 17—(CP)—A lot of Canada's defence activities have passed into the twilight or full darkness of secrecy under the impact of Korea and the half-war with Russia.

The theory behind it all is keyed to the natural wish to tell the Russians as little as possible about what is going on in a preparedness program without peacetime precedent in this country.

Compared to Russia's own disclosures, a veritable stream of revelations pours out steadily from defence headquarters here through speeches, press releases, statements to parliament and news stories.

But these are among recent developments which show the way the winds of security-consciousness are blowing in an effort to keep vital disclosures as scarce as possible:

Troop movements: The Army's Special Force has been moving to Fort Lewis, Wash., under a security blackout on times, departures and arrivals. Officials say this precaution is observed generally around the world now, that it could be construed as a move more as an exercise in such movements which could be valuable as experience if war comes.

Affects Many Projects

Jet engines: It was announced in the U.S. this week that an American jet engine has been built with a device to ward off ice, a major problem for jet propulsion. A year or so ago the National Research Council made no bones about the fact it was working on the same problem. Now, however, the N.R.C. says it's not saying what is going on. This blackout on scientific activities for defence has extended to numerous other projects, despite science's natural aversion to secrecy.

Anti-tank weapons: Defence Minister Claxton recently disclosed that Canada has completed development of two anti-tank projectiles. That's as far as officials are prepared to go. They won't say even broadly what kind they are, whether they are going into production, whether the special force will use them.

The north: For some time, officials say, Canada's northland has been divided into two general security groupins — areas wheer the bars are less strict. At some northern bases there is a complete ban against all but military people and their associates.

Dollar Unchanged

MONTREAL, Nov. 17 (CP). — The American dollar today opened at 3/4 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, unchanged from Thursday's close. That is, it took $1.03 3/4 Canadian to buy $1American. The pound sterling was $2.90 1/2, also unchanged.

PCVS Plans Parade For Junior Tilt

Practicaly every means of transportation will be employed to take football teams and fans to the Oval Saturday afternoon. The occasion is the Students Council-sponsored parade prior to the Welland-PCVS COSSA junior championship football game.

A spokesman for the council said today that all students are asked to meet at the collegiate at 1:30. Then they will pile into or on top of vehicles which will take them to the game. Transportation already provided includes an old-fashioned bus, jeeps, trucks, cars, a horse and wagon and even one student will be going on horseback.

The students plan to let everyone know that the game is being held. Car horns, sirens and even alarm clocks will be used to screech out the parade's path up George St. to Park Hill Road and across to the gridiron.

Plans for the after-game parade are hazy. But whether PCVS wins or Welland wins, both teams will be paraded like kings downtown.

After the excitement dies down, the teams will be banqueted in the collegiate by the Girls' Friday Night Supper Club at 6 p.m. Later in the evening a victory dance, sponsored by the Boys' Athletic Association, will be held in the school gym. Before the dance is over, it is hoped the senior Garnet and Greys, playing for the COSSA senior title in St. Catharines, will join in the festivities.

Labor MP's Form "Task Force"

LONDON, Nov. 17 (Reuters)—Welsh Labor members of parliament have formed themselves into a "task-force" to attack Conservative centres of resistance in Wales.

Each weekend about 10 of them will swoop on one Welsh constituency, and then scatter through the mountain valleys, urging villagers to suppoet the Labor government.

The "task-force" will direct its main oratorical fire against "marginal constituencies," where neither Labor nor the Conservatives have a large majority.

If the idea is successful, the party may adopt it elsewhere in Britain.

Peace Congress Told U.S. Heading For War

WARSAW, Poland, Nov. 17 — (Reuters)—Five-thousand World Peace Congress delegates today cheered for 15 minutes when French scientist Frederic Joliot-Curie told them the "American conception of civilization" was leading to war.

Calling for support of the Russian plan to control the atom bomb, he said expenditure on "war preparations," should be used instead to aid suffering humanity.

Joliot-Curie, former French atom chief, is president of the world peace movement.

Dr. Leopold Infeld, Polish-born former physics professor at University of Toronto, issued a call to scientists the world over to work for peace.

Tanks Blast

These actions were in the Pyonggan - Chorwon - Ichon triangle where guerrillas have opened a "second front" patterned on tactics perfected by Chinese and Russian Communists.

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters in Tokyo said North Korean Reds, by-passed in the United Nations sweep northward, have been reorganized under a central command. They are carrying on coordinated guerrilla raids to disrupt UN supply lines and keep themselves equipped. There are believed to be 10,000 by-passed Communists in the triangle.

Intelligence officers were not so sure about the significance of Communist strategy on established battle front.

Reds fought fiercely around Tokchon, centre of a road network on the right flank of the western front, and on the northwest coast 90 miles south of the Russian border. They staged new attacks in both areas.

Constant Threats

Elsewhere they pulled back. But Red build-ups in the north central mountains posed constant threats.

American marines moving up the west shore of Changjin reservoir reported killing 75 Chinese Thursday in clashes with a Communist force in the mountains to the west.

U.S. 10th Corps officers reported another 3,000 or 4,000 Chinese entrenched on the northeast shore of the reservoir. Enemy tanks also have been reported in this area, but have not been in action.

Between the marines and the 17th Regiment, patrols of the 31st Infantry Regiment fought off Red attacks on the slopes of towering Shajitsu Peak.

No Will To Fight

Northeast of Pujon reservoir, the main body of Communists pulled out. Maj. Carl G. Witte said they retreated "because they had no will to fight. They were surprised at the resistance they found. They were in good positions too. They left in an orderly manner."

On the right flank of the western front, two regiments of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division advanced about 2 1/2 miles to positions northeast and northwest of the 15th-century walled city of Yongbyon.

Cavalry patrols already roamed freely over that area.

To the east of the cavalry, South Koreans fought see-saw battles with Communist troops trying to relieve an isolated Communist force atop a hill near the Tokchon-Kunu road.

Fail To Win

pany, which is building a bridge in Essa township near here. Morrison was the cement foreman on the project and the other men worked in his cement-mixing gang.

Provincial police said they believed the car was bound from Beeton to Alliston, about eight miles north of here. The construction men lived in trailers on the bridge campsite near Alliston. Mrs. Rushton and her two children also were said to be staying in a trailer nearby.

Didn't See Train

Basil Wansbrough of Toronto, engineer of the southbound Canadian Pacific Railway freight train, said it was his opinion that the occupants of the car did not see the approaching train.

"We were going between 35 and 40 miles an hour," Wansbrough said. "There wasn't much we could do. I saw the car coming and thought it was going to stop. . ."

The car was about half way across the tracks when the engine hit it, Wansbrough said. He stopped the train but the six occupants of the car were beyond aid when he reached them. The car itself was carried more than 200 feet along the right-of-way and then rolled down a 30-foot embankment.

The county road slopes gradually before meeting the tracks, CPR spokesmen said. The tracks are about 10 to 15 feet higher than the surrounding ground.

Woman Inside Wreckage

The woman's body was found inside the crumpled wreckage of the car. The bodies of two of the men had been thrown clear and were found about 10 feet from the wreckage. One man had been decapitated and a foot was torn off one of the children.

Motorists who came upon the crash scene within a few minutes after the collision—which occurred about 11 p.m. EST — said there was no trace of an accident at the crossing itself. But, starting a short distance from the crossing, wreckage was strewn along the right-of-way.

District residents said there have been several fatal accidents in recent years at the crossing. From the south the road approach is tree-lined and the tracks themselves are elevated.

The crossing is about 20 miles south of Camp Borden, big Canadian army training base.

Provincial police from Alliston, eight miles to the north, and from Bradford, about 15 miles east took charge of the investigation. They threw up road blocks to keep back spectators. All available ambulances and hearses in the district were sent to the scene.

500 Lose Jobs As Prices Board Closes April 30

OTTAWA, Nov. 17 (CP). — The Prices Board, with most of its vast wartime powers gone, will shut its doors for good April 30 next.

The wartime controls structure has been a long time dying. Its ranks decimated and its work sharply clipped in postwar years the board has been limping along sustained only by import and rent regulations.

Import controls on consumer goods will end Jan. 2. Rent controls, despite protest in some quarters, end April 30 next, and that will mark the demise of the board.

Its withdrawal from the Canadian peacetime scene will mark, too, the end of some 500 jobs, all that remain of a wartime peak of more than 6,000. About 100 jobs will be wiped out Jan. 2.

Gradually Absorbed

Many of those remaining, such as stenographers and clerks, already are being gradually absorbed by other government departments and by industry. But Many others, particularly on the executive side, still are looking for new positions.

At its height, the board's widespread powers encircled almost every aspect of Canadian life.

It controlled prices of foodstuffs and wearing apparel, regulated the flow of goods to the Canadian home, rationed scarce items and generally made things tough for those with big dinner table and department store appetites, But this all was necessary to win the war.

With the end of the war, the board's powers quickly began to diminish. Price control was lifted just a few months later. Because of the great demand and scarcity of homes, rent controls lingered.

Last Of Seven Fined For Theft

Harry Woodbeck, 282 Romaine St., was found guilty in police court Thursday of stealing electrical equipment from the Canadian General Electric Co. and was fined $60 and costs.

Woodbeck was the only one of seven CGE employees charged with stealing from the company, who pleaded not guilty. The other men were sentenced to one month in jail.

Woodbeck's defence was that he took only a few pieces from the trash barrel of the small motor department where he worked. He used the parts he said, to repair the motor of his wife's washing machine.

Defending him, W. J. Arthur Fair, KC, argued that the parts Woodbeck took was no more than scrap metal and as such worth only about 45 cents.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, said because of the small value of the parts taken, he would fine Woodbeck rather than give him a jail sentence.

Children To Present Around World Story

"Around the World in Stories" will be presented by a group of children at 5 p.m. over CHEX on Saturday. This radio broadcast will be the climax of Young Canada's Book Week activities at the children's department of the Public Library.

The script for this presentation was written by Mrs. M. E. Phippen, a member of the library staff. But the entire presentation will be done by children.

Keeper of the magic carpet that takest he children around the world will be Joan Smith, 12, a student of Queen Alexandra School. The narrator will be Sandra Edkins, 12, of Queen Mary school.

Industrials Advance To New High Ground

TORONTO, Nov. 17 (CP)—Industrials advanced to new high ground in the fourth straight day of quiet trading on the Toronto stock exchange today.

Sales were few but where they were made they ranged upwards to more than a point. Papers, agricultures, textiles, banks, and retail stores showed a majority of gains in the groupings.

Base metals were irregular. Consolidated Smelters, Noranda, Quemont and Waite Amulet advanced while East Sullivan, New Calumet, International Nickel, Sherritt Gordon and United Keno Hill were lower.

Senior golds showed a solid list of fractional declines while junior producers were mixed with gains and losses limited to pennies. Western oils were mixed with Home, Pacific Petroleum, and Commoil Petroleum ahead.

Two Men Adrift On Ice Floe, One Perishes

HAY RIVER, N.W.T., Nov. 17 (CP)—One man is dead and a second is recovering from exposure and shock after being adrift on an ice floe in Great Slave Lake for two days.

The victim, Standis Bielecky, died as rescuers reached him. Douglas Bullard is expected to recover.

The men left Hay River, on the south shore of Great Slave Lake, Nov. 10 to catch fish through the ice for their dogs. After darkness had fallen they found the ice they were on had broken away from the shore pack.

The first night, to keep warm, each man slept on his toboggan with four dogs on top of him. The next day they drifted shoreward. With their icebar, they cut a piece of floe about 20 feet square and attempted to paddle into shore. They lost the poles they were using as well as mitts

Driven Back

An offshore wind drove them back to the original ice floe. The next day they drifted directly opposite the Hay River townsite, 525 miles north of Edmonton, and were spotted by an Indian who built a signal fire and notified police.

A rescue party in a canoe battled through floating ice for seven hours before reaching the men. As the canoe neared, Bielecky attempted to walk on the thin ice and broke through several times. The last time he was hauled back by Bullard. He was unconscious and did not recover.

Cobourg Weekly Publishes First Copies

COBOURG, Nov. 17 (ENS) — Cobourg's new weekly paper, "The Times" published its first issue yesterday with a press run of 2,000 copies. The arrival of the new paper was awaited with interest and news stands were sold out quickly. Repeated requests from the news dealers for extra copies soon exhausted the remaining copies on hand in the Times office and an extra run of several hundred was necessary.

Publishers of the paper are Robert Cooper, who came to Cobourg last year as recreational director and Ed. Haynes of Cobourg. The latter has had several years newspaper experience. The paper is printed by the photo-offset method and in spite of the fact that the staff were not used to the process, the first issue made a good impression with the public. This brings the total of papers published in Cobourg to two weeklies. When the Sentinel Star bought out the World it left the town with only one weekly paper. Later the Port Hope Guide opened an office in court, the daily being printed in the Guide's plant in Port Hope. The Guide still maintains an office in Cobourg.

Get New Clubrooms

COBOURG, Nov. 17 (ENS)— Cobourg Kinsmen Club will shortly have their own clubrooms as a result of the generosity of Reg. Wenn, member of the club, who has donated the rooms over his store on Division Street for use of the Kinsmen. As the club constitution does not permit it to use funds collected and raised for purposes other than originally specified, the Kinsmen have to finance their new club rooms out of their own pockets with the aid of donations in the way of furnishings.

His Luck Out

FRANKLIN, Ind., Nov. 17 (AP) —With luck like this, Denvard L. Russell, 36, of Glencoe, Ala., should give up driving. Police said he lost control of his car Thursday while passing the police station and sideswiped a parked car belonging to the chief of police. Then Russell's car knocked a fender off a car belonging to a military policeman. Careening across the street, the Alabaman's auto finally brought up against another parke car—this one belonging to a policeman.

All Reported Quiet On Election Front

COBOURG, Nov. 17 (ENS) — There are no election rumblings as yet and there appears nothing to stir up any election interest. So far, John D. Burnet, present mayor, is the only one to indicate what his intentions are, Mr. Burnet announcing this week that he would be running for mayor again because of a number of projects which he said he would like to see brought to completion.

The Allied Labour Council has held meetings to sponsor a candidate for council, but apart from those pre-election moves, the election pot has not even started to simmer.

The motto of the club is "Willingness to do when asked," which was pledged by all members present.

Deny Charge

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP)— The United States denied in the 13 country Far Eastern Commission Thursday a Soviet charge that American forces have been using Japanese "military personnel" in the Korean fighting. Maxwell Hamilton, United States representative, advised the commission that the charge has been rejected by the State and Defence Departments and by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 — (AP)—President Truman attended a symphony concert Thursday night—his first social night out since the Nov. 1 attempt on his life. He and Mrs. Truman attended the Boston Symphony's concert in heavily-guarded Constitution Hall.

Western Ewes Come To Ontario

Seven farmers of Brant county recently bought 100 western ewes for their sheep breeders' club. Oxford reports some sales of dairy heifers for meat purposes. The fall wheat crop has put on good growth for the coming of winter. Potato prices are still depressed. Georgian Bay orchards have yielded 210,000 barrels of apples.

Field work on Ontario farms is close to completion. Much of the turnip crop has been harvested, and about all that is left is the digging of mangels and gathering the hybrid corn crop.

Most of the dairy cattle of the country has moved into winter quarters. A Muskoka comment to the Ontario Department of Agriculture in its weekly review says: "Farmers generally throughout the district are gradually changing from beef to dairy cattle in spite of the high beef prices.

Weanling pigs in Frontenac are selling at $12 to $14 each. Ontario is nearing the end of the fall plowing chore. Carleton reports that of 300 DP's placed on farms there since May 90 per cent. have remained. "This is the best record so far."

The Hospital Bylaw

At the civic elections on December 4 the ratepayers will be asked to endorse a bylaw authorizing the City Council to issue debentures for $300,000 in order that work may be completed on the new Civic Hospital. We have received the impression that this bylaw is unpopular with a large number of ratepayers, and that it stands in danger of defeat. Let us look at this matter as fairly as we can, and see whether anything can be achieved by the defeat of the bylaw.

• • •

The first thing to be made clear is that the blame for this third appeal for money does not lie at the door of the Hospital Board; it is the responsibility of the City Council, which authorized the Board to spend the money. The Council apparently assumed that the old Nicholls Hospital building would sell more readily than has been the case, and that it would be possible to raise $200,000 by its sale. Doubtless with this money in mind, the Council permitted the Board to spend $170,000 which the Council did not have. The Board acted in good faith, and the Council must have known that the $170,000 was an overdraft.

• • •

What about the other $130,000 which is to be asked for? It represents another miscalculation on the part of the Council; it was advised that this sum would be needed, but did not include it in its last request for money for the Hospital. The Council undoubtedly acted in perfect good faith, but it acted unwisely; it permitted money to be spent which it did not have. But it is not the first Council to count its chickens before they were hatched. The vital point is this: the money has been spent and the bills must be paid.

• • •

If the ratepayers refuse to support the Hospital Bylaw, they will, in effect, have passed a vote of censure on the Council. Some citizens may feel that this is worth doing. We cannot agree. To put the Council to shame now would merely be an act of spite, for the money has been spent, and the Hospital Board has spent it on our behalf. The Council is guilty of nothing more than haste and overconfidence.

• • •

What happens if the bylaw is defeated? The Council will then have to go to the Municipal Board and say that the people of Peterborough will not support them in payment of certain debts relating to the Hospital Board. The Council may get a scolding from the Municipal Board, but it will also receive permission to pay those debts without further reference to the people of Peterborough, and the debentures will be issued just as certainly as if the ratepayers had supported the bylaw.

• • •

Notice should be taken of the fact that the Council could have gone to the Municipal Board in the first place, without appealing to the ratepayers at all. But the Council chose the more straightforward course of appealing first to the people from whom they derive their power. They are honourable men, and they have chosen to face the music.

• • •

There is one point upon which the Council should declare its intentions before the civic elections; it relates to the money which the City hopes, some day, to get for the old hospital building. It will not be $200,000, and we shall be lucky if we can get half that sum. But whatever we get should not go into the City funds, to be spent on anything and everything. It should go into a special fund to be used in retiring the Hospital debentures; that is where it properly belongs. If the Council will declare themselves on this point before the elections they will abate some of the resentment which is felt against them at present because of their handling of the Hospital finances.

• • •

It is not long ago since one or two councillors, in a dispute with this newspaper, were loudly declaring that they were business men. The management of the Hospital finances has been on a level which would be ruinous if applied to private business. But to defeat the Hospital Bylaw in order to censure the Council will have no useful effect. It will merely force the Council to get authority from the Municipal Board to pay debts which it has permitted the Hospital to incur. Nobody will have gained anything, and the only result will be a nasty slap in the face for the Hospital Board, which is not guilty, and a somewhat harder slap for a Council which has, all things considered, served the City well. The money will still be owing, and it will still have to be paid by the ratepayers of Peterborough. Face-slapping at this point will only make a bad matter worse. The best thing therefore, in our opinion, is to support the bylaw and take care in future not to spend money until we have it.

An Undeserved Black Eye For Canadian Aviation

We have already commented at some length on the wreck of the plane Canadian Pilgrim on Mont L'Obiou in the Alps. We cannot refrain, however, from saying something more about it, for we see a tendency in some newspapers to treat it as an unavoidable tragedy.

To judge from the reports which are now available about it, the wreck of Canadian Pilgrim was nothing of the sort. The plane was carrying 58 people and their baggage—a heavy load. And yet it seems that the pilot decided to leave the Rome-Bastia-Corsica-Marseilles-Lyon-Paris course to take a short cut over the Alps—the highest mountains in Europe. A fortnight before another plane had been wrecked not far from the place where Canadian Pilgrim was destroyed, and the pilot must have known it.

The company to which Canadian Pilgrim belonged is not one of the recognized air companies of Canada. We can state with confidence that no pilot working for Trans-Canada, Canadian Pacific or any other recognized company would have dared to alter his course in this fashion; a pilot who did so would be grounded for life. It is important that the investigation of this affair should reveal (a) why a small airline without facilities for ensuring the safety of its passengers was making flights to Rome and (b) who authorized the pilot to take this dangerous short cut, if any authorization was given. It is vital that nothing of this sort should be allowed to happen again.

It is a pity that the plane bore the name Canadian Pilgrim. That name, and the accident, will put a black mark against all Canadian flying in the eyes of the world. Canadian airlines which have worked with the utmost caution to establish a fine reputation for safety and proper regard for the lives of their passengers will suffer. There is something odd and irregular about the fact that Canadian Pilgrim was ever allowed to make such flights, and the irregularity should be found out and set right.

No Longer A Slush Fund For Brides

The unemployment insurance fund which has been building at an amazing rate since it was instituted ten years ago, is now temptingly vast. It is approaching the total of a billion dollars, since there has been no depression and little unemployment to make a significant drain on it. There are always people eager to try to nick the fund, however. They tell themselves that they have been paying into it for several years and want to get something out, even if they really do not become unemployed. Brides have been notorious among these.

Brides quit their jobs to get married. They marry. And at the same time they put in a claim for unemployment benefits. Strange as it may seem, these brides have until now legally been able to cash in. A nest egg for the new home, it was. That time is gone. Henceforth the trick will not work. The regulations, or their interpretation, have been altered and technically for purposes of Unemployment Insurance, a bride who voluntarily quits her job is not to be considered eligible for insurance payments from the Fund. The reason is that she has neither been fired nor become involuntarily unemployed.

A bride who quits her job and thereafter honestly looks for work but cannot get it, is of course entitled to draw unemployment insurance. But such brides as those in the past who quit to marry, never had any intention of looking for or taking another job but put up a show (on paper) that they were unemployed, have had their insurance fund pay-days. They can no longer sit in their new homes drawing unemployment insurance as long as their term for it lasts or until officers of the Fund find them out in their pretty little game.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Mr. Graham Towers says that higher taxes are the only answer to world security. The only answer our pastors and masters at Ottawa seem to have for anything.

"When they start making clothes from wood the women will likely spruce up with fir," remarks the waggish Kitchener-Waterloo Record. Yes, and when they pine for a new garment, and it isn't oak with the boss, many of them will balsam. (This is just to show that we relish acorny joke as well as anyone.)

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

DEAR ALPHA: Yesterday (Wednesday) I was listening to the radio program "What's your beef?" on C.B.L. at 11.30. One of the persons being interviewed gave his name as Morley Tennyson and when the MC asked him if he was any relation to the great poet he replied there was a monument in Peterborough to his aunt on which it stated she was a relative of the great bard. I think he said a grand-niece but am not sure. Do you know anything about such a monument and to whom it was erected?

ANSWER: There is a monument in Little Lake Cemetery over the grave of Mrs. John Graham Weir, whose maiden name was Lavina Victoria Tennyson. On this stone is recorded the fact that she was a grand-niece of Alfred, Lord Tennyson, the poet. Mrs. Weir died 26 years ago next Sunday: November 19th, 1924. Her husband was Irish, strongly Protestant, and a chief figure in the local Orange lodge. He farmed in Otonabee, near the present Roman Catholic school and church there, on the Keene Road, before coming to live in retirement in the city on Romaine St. Mrs. Weir was living on Romaine St. at the time of her death.

SIR: Is it still possible to legally banish Canadians from Canada?

ANSWER: No. The law of banishment was abrogated in 1841. Earlier the punishment was much in vogue. People were deported for life and at their own expense, and given eight days to get out. The usual country to which banishment was ordered was the U.S.A., especially from Upper Canada (Ontario). Most Canadians now would not feel that punishment too severe.

Numerous prominent persons were deported in 1838 as political offenders during the insurrections of the year before. For instance, Georges Cartier, and D. B. Viger were ordered to go to Bermuda and never set foot in Canada again. They did return and lived to play prominent roles in the development of this country.

SIR: Why do people say "to die in harness", meaning to die on the job?

ANSWER: It originally meant to die on the field of battle gloriously in armour (in harness). Harness was another name for armour. But on this continent, where men are expected to be work-horses, not gallant men in armour, the phrase has suffered a metamorphosis from Shakespeare's. "At least we'll die with harness on our back" (Macbeth) to "At least we'll die with our hands to the plough, the time-clock or the cash register". We'll die with our boots on; still at the job. The 'boots on' phrase is again military, of a later, cavalry, date.

ALPHA: A great many of the gentry around Peterborough in the early days seem to have been colonels. Why did so many colonels emigrate to this district?

ANSWER: They were not colonels when they settled here. Most of the British exofficers who secured grants of land in these districts were of quite junior rank; few were above that of lieutenant. They became colonels in the Canadian militia, and there was plenty of room for colonels after 1847.

As Mr. Pammett in a recent article points out, in 1847-48 the district militia was reorganized into seven battalions. Every battalion would have one officer of the rank of colonel. When he retired, he would still be known as colonel, and there would be another colonel in his place. Peterborough, with all its increased population now hardly supports even one battalion. I would guess that in the 1850's there were almost as many colonels in the area as there are now. And now we have colonels from both World Wars and from the two peace-time decades.

ALPHA: Is it possible for a Canadian to enlist in the American army and still remain a Canadian citizen?

ANSWER: I do not think so, unless the U.S. authorities provide a special oath of service which does not require the Canadian to forego his primary allegiance to Canada and its King. In wartime, however, laws governing these things were often disregarded; many Americans enlisted in Canadian ranks, for instance, and were not rejected on their return to their own country.

In 1865 a Canadian was fined $200 by a Montreal court for enlisting in the U.S.A. army.

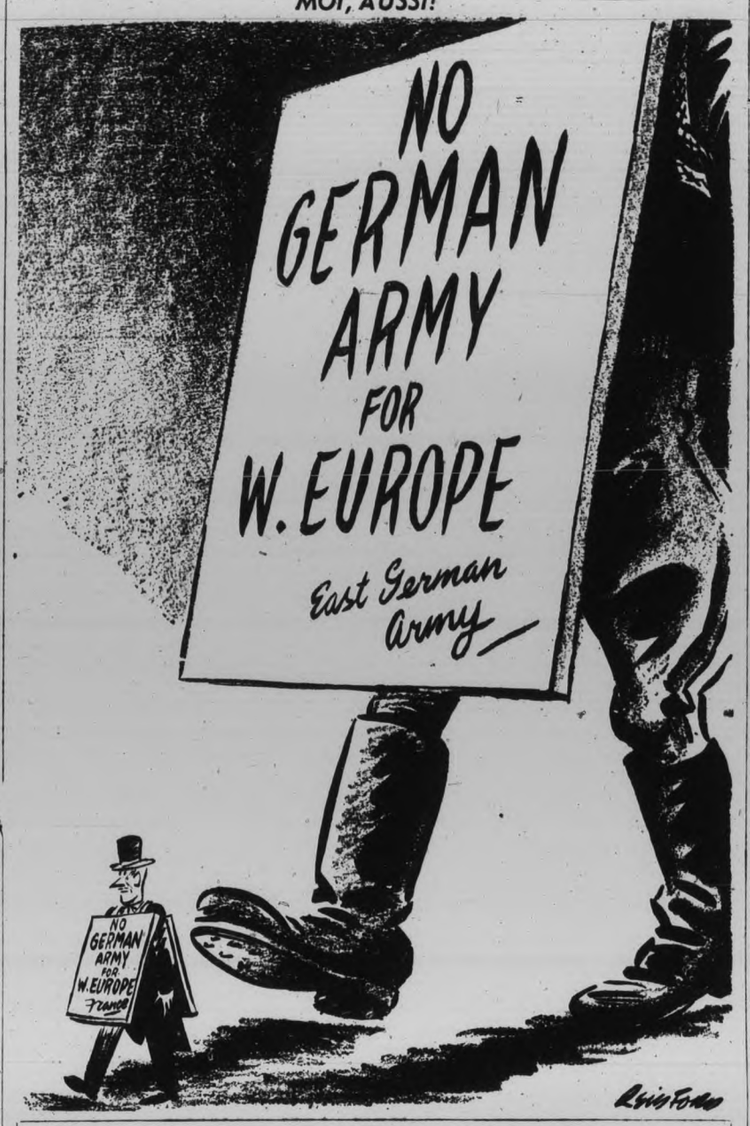
DEAR ALPHA: When was slavery abolished in Canada?

ANSWER: In 1793 throughout Upper Canada (Ontario), in 1803 in Lower Canada. The last slave transaction took place on August 25th, 1797, at Montreal when Emmanuel Allen, a 33-year-old negro was sold at public auction for $180.

◇ ◇ ◇

ALPHA: In what country is the peso the unit of currency?



ANSWER: In most South American countries which were founded or settled by Spaniards. The monetary unit in Spain is a peseta. For instance, the following use the peso: Argentine Republic, Chile, Colombia, Cuba, Dominican Republic, Mexico, Philippine Republic, Uruguay.

For your further information here are other foreign units of currency: Australia—pound; Austria—schilling; Belgium—franc; Bolivia—boliviano; Brazil—cruzeiro; Czechoslovakia—koruna; Denmark—krone; Ecuador—sucre; Egypt—pound; El Salvador—colon; Ethiopia — dollar; Finland — markka; France—franc; Greece—drachma; Guatemala—quetzal; Honduras — lempira; Iceland—krona; India—rupee; Iran—rial; Iraq—dinar; Italy—lira; Lebanon—pound; Luxembourg—franc; Netherlands—guilder; Nicaragua—cordoba; Norway — krone; Panama — balboa; Paraguay — guarani; Peru — sol; Syria — pound; Thailand—baht; Turkey—lira; Union of South Africa—pound; United Kingdom—pound; United States—dollar; Venezuela—bolivar; Yugoslavia—dinar.

The Danger of Talks With Russia

By SEBASTIAN HAFFNER

FIVE years of bitter experience have taught Western statesmen automatically to look for the catch in Russian diplomatic proposals. In the case of the present Russian notes, asking for a Four-Power Conference on the demilitarization of Germany, the catch is unusually obvious.

The Western Powers are at this very moment engaged on the task of building up a system of defence and security in Western Europe. They have come to the conclusion that for such a system to be effective a German military contribution is essential. They have, therefore, embarked on the delicate diplomatic operation of making such a German defence contribution, under reasonable safeguards, acceptable to the German Federal Government as well as to the other Western European Governments, especially the French. This operation is now at a critical stage. It obviously has to overcome misgivings and suspicions, not only on the French but also on the German side.

If in the midst of the delicate negotiations now in progress with Germany, while the Western Powers are carefully nursing the still new and tender growth of mutual understanding and confidence, they were suddenly to sit down with Russia to talk once more, as if nothing had happened during the last five years, about the demilitarization of Germany, they would at one fell stroke kill Germany's confidence in the honesty of their intentions beyond possibility of revival.

Talking with Russia about demilitarizing Germany would mean that the West were still regarding Russia as its ally and Germany as its enemy. In 1945, Russia was an ally and Germany was an enemy; hence it was quite possible, even if it was perhaps unwise, to talk with Russia about Germany demilitarization at that time. The whole point about the present situation is that now Russia is very clearly a potential enemy, and Germany is an essential ally, if Russia is to be kept in check. If the Western Powers were to agree to talk with Russia about German demilitarization again, that would amount to a public declaration of a reversal of these roles and would destroy any prospect of German alliance with the West. It would thereby also destroy any prospect of an effective Western European defence, which is impossible without Germany, and would virtually amount to the writing-off of Western Europe, —all this without Russia changing her hostile policy in the slightest or making any counter-concession in return. Obviously, this would be suicidal. And it must be particularly noted that the mere fact of negotiating with Russia about German demilitarization would be suicidal, quite regardless of the outcome of these negotiations and their—highly probable— futility.

A GOOD many people think that negotiations with Russia are a good thing in themselves, on the argument that as long as there are words, there are no blows. This is over-estimating the danger of immediately coming to blows with Russia. There is no indication that Russia intends to make outright war on the West now, while American atomic superiority is still overwhelming and Russia's own armaments programme still in an immature stage. The danger of Russian military aggression will be real and urgent in about 1953-54, when the Russian post-war rearmament programme will be at full flood-tide and when her own atomic stockpile will be sufficiently increased to neutralize the American one to a serious extent. If that danger is to be prevented, the remaining time must be used for building up another effective deterrent to Russian aggression. This can only consist of equal or superior military power in Europe, and such power implies the full revival of the military power of Germany. If the West, fearing the unlikely danger of Russian aggression now, fails to rebuild that power in time, it will lay itself wide open to the likely danger of Russian aggression in three or four years from now—a danger towards which Russian economic and defence policy at home is clearly pointing.

Other people think that German demilitarization is a good thing in itself; they point to German aggression and misuse of military power in the past. But this is a naive interpretation of history. History does not show that any one natoin is inherently more aggressive than any other. It does show that every nation tends to become aggressive if and when it possesses temporarily overwhelming power to which other nations offer no adequate check. Nearly all European nations have had periods in their history in which, owing to an unchecked, or inadequately checked, temporary exuberance of strength, they succumbed to aggressive temptations. During the first forty years of this century, this was the case with Germany. All the signs are that now the danger of aggression threatens from Russia. If this danger is to be checked, part of the check must clearly be provided by Germany.

AN historical parallel suggests itself. After the defeat of Napoleon in 1814, when Russian armies had also overrun Central Europe in the course of hostilities, a similar danger of Russia overwhelming and dominating Europe arose. During the Congress of Vienna, the statesmen of Britain and Austria did not hesitate to enter into a military alliance with defeated France, regardless of her fresh Napoleonic record, to check Russia; and peace was saved.

The basic fact to keep firmly in mind is that peace, as long as there is no world government, can only be based on a balance of power. Such a balance is incompatible with the creation and maintenance of artificial power. Such a balance is incompatible with that agreement with Russia about a European settlement will become possible only when a balance of power in Europe—a balance in which Germany has to play an important part—is first thoroughly established.

That Heroic Gent!

(Prince Albert Herald)

We were stopped on Central Ave. by a man who said: "I can see you are scared, or just plain too gutless, to publish my letter."

And so, cringing and wincing miserably at having the state of our innards exposed in such a public fashion, we returned to the office and dug out the masterpiece submitted by this brave exponent of the dangerous life.

Guess what? Yes, that's right. The heroic gent who deplored our lack of courage was himself without sufficient of it to sign the letter he sent us. Until he revealed himself through a chance meeting, we had no idea who it was wrote the letter in question.

The Unpermanent "Permanents"

(La Patrie, Montreal)

Permanent civil servants certainly have rights, but the principle should not be established that the government has not itself the right to reduce their number and that it should keep under its wings until the hour of retirement all the individuals which exceptional circumstances have brought into its service. In a dynamic economy like that of our country, the civil servant who finds himself dismissed after a brief period of service should not hang onto the State with desperation, but have confidence in his own initiative and ability to find employment in private enterprise.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Hear my prayer, O Lord, and let my cry come unto thee.... My days are like a shadow that declineth; and I am withered like grass....But thou art the same, and thy years shall have no end. The children of thy servants shall continue, and their seed shall be established before thee. (Ps. 102: 1, 11, 27, 28.)

◇ ◇ ◇

The light of the body is the eye: therefore when thine eye is single, thy whole body also is full of light; but when thine eye is evil, thy body also is full of darkness. Take heed therefore that the light which is in thee be not darkness. If thy whole body therefore be full of light, having no part dark, the whole shall be full of light, as when the bright shining of a candle doth give thee light. (Luke 11: 34-36.)

◇ ◇ ◇

The hearing ear, and the seeing eye, the Lord hath made even both of them. (Prov. 20: 12.)

◇ ◇ ◇

I know that, whatsoever God doeth, it shall be for ever: nothing can be put to it, nor any thing taken from it: and God doeth it, that men should fear before him. That which hath been is now, and that which is to be hath already been; and God requireth that which is past. (Eccl. 3: 14, 15.)

Unconsidered Trifles

The minister so thoroughly bored the members of his congregation with his sermons that they finally asked him to leave.

"Give me one more chance," he pleaded.

The congregation turned out in force the following Sunday and heard the minister deliver, the most inspired sermon heard in the district for years.

After the service, everyone shook his hand warmly. One man, a prominent member of the church, said: "You must stay with an increase in the stipend, of course."

The minister accepted. Then the man said: "That was the greatest sermon I have ever heard. But tell me one thing. As you began to speak you raised two fingers of your left hand, and when you finished you raised two fingers of your right hand. What was the significance of those gestures?"

"Those," answered the minister, "were the quotation marks".

◇ ◇ ◇

"Have you any family?" asked Mr. Parker of the young woman sitting opposite him on the train.

"Yes—one son."

"Indeed! Does he smoke?"

"No, he has never touched even a cigarette."

"So much the better madam. Tobacco is a poison. Does he belong to a club?"

"He has never set his foot in one."

"Then I congratulate you. Does he come home late at night?"

"Never. He always goes to bed immediately after dinner."

"He's a model young man. How old is he?"

"Seven months today."

Lord Buckmaster's Defeat

(from Obiter Dicta, the Osgoode Hall magazine)

"If one step, why not fifty? Yet if a house be, as it sometimes is, negligently built, and in consequence of that negligence the ceiling falls and injures the occupier or anyone else, no action against the builder exists according to the English law, although I believe such a right did exist according to the laws of Babylon...."

Lord Buckmaster in McAlister (or Donoghue) vs. Stevenson, (1932) A.C. 562.

In Babylon they did upon
The builder foist a duty:
That if his new-built tower, tomb or temple chanced to totter
He would at law make recompense for all
resultant slaughter;
By hieroglyph, with sanction stiff
They penalized the rotter.

Not so by Albion's wise decree!
Would such rights not infinite be?
Hence Anglia's artisans were exempt, or
Gleefully pleaded "caveat emptor".

But in the case of Donoghue,
(Supra, A.C. 562)
The House of Lords has had its say.
"What! Snails in ale? And all decay?
The manufacturer must pay!"

Thus did the corpse of one crustacean
Undo the laws of puissant nation,
Enraged its Lords, usurped tradition—
O what a salutary mission!
Bridged countless aeons to unite
Britannia with Babylon;
Littleton with old Sargon;
The Legal with the Right.

THE THIRD STRAIGHT—That's what PCVS Juniors will be battling for Saturday at the Oval when they meet Welland High School for the COSSA Junior Football Championship. Prepped for action along the line are Left to Right (TOP) Larry Forbes, Creighton Johnston and Hugh Outram. In the backfield PCVS has carrying the mail: Reg Fowler, Dave Langhorne and Murray Grafstein. — Examiner Staff Photos.

WORKING FEVERISHLY Saturday afternoon at the Oval will be Bill Stewart, quarterback and kingpin of the PCVS Juniors. Upon his judgment decisions will be made for nearly every play as the Junior Garnet and Greys meet Welland High School in the COSSA Championship game. He's also quite a forward passer.—Examiner Staff Photo.

Plan Winter Trips

OTTAWA, Nov. 17 (CP). — Immigration department officials are canvassing air and shipping companies to find out what passage rates can be obtained on the movement of immigrants this winter, it was learned Thursday. In the past, the tendency has been to bring in most immigrants in the spring and summer months. However, the need for more manpower is considered so great at this time by department officials that plans are being made to bring in immigrants during winter.

PCVS Juniors All Ready For Big Fray

PCVS chances for the third straight junior COSSA championship are good. Alex Londry's junior Garnet and Greys have played nine games this year without a setback, a fine record to meet the Welland High School team with Saturday afternoon at the Oval for the annual honors.

Information on this year's competition from the Niagara district is scarce. But they must have a stronger squad than the PCI'ers met last year at Port Colborne. For this year Port Colborne had most of last year's team in the lineup again and Welland downed them for the group honors. The locals edged the Ports last year 8-7 in the dying minutes for the COSSA championship.

Last Saturday Welland outpointed Barrie Collegiate 15-10 in a sudden-death game for the COSSA semi-final. Barrie had shown power the week before when they trounced Midland 53-5 for the Georgian Bay district.

One Close One

Only once this year has the PCVS junior team been threatened with a loss, then in Lindsay the last game of the regular schedule, 11-all. In their first meeting the locals won hands down, 26-5. Oshawa took two severe handlings 22-7 and 28-5 while St. Peter's seniors fell twice 11-0 and 12-0. Grove School's team made the Garnet and Greys go full out for a 28-18 win.

In group playdowns the junior "B" victors, St. Peter's High, failed to challenge and PCVS went into the COSSA semi-finals against Belleville. Again the old cheer "We play Belleville just for practice" rang true with 17-0 and 24-0 victories.

Coach Londry has an all-round team this year. His backfielders are strong, his front wall firm and his reserves prepared. Returning to the lineup this week will be plunger Reg Flower and snap Creighton Johnston. In Fowler and Murray Grafstein, PCVS has two plungers who will prove difficult in wet or dry weather. Lanky Bill Stewart, the quarterback, will be in throwing position if the weather proves right.

Anyone wishing to see future PCVS senior COSSA champions in action should see Saturday's game at the Oval.

Shore Likes Present-Day Hockey But Not Coaching Methods

LINDSAY, Nov. 17 (CP). — Eddie Shore, one of hockey's all-time greats, says he likes hockey the way they play it now, but he doesn't think much of the coaching.

"Some believe the old game had more pretty passing plays and better body checking," Shore said Thursday at the wind-up of a three-day hockey school here.

"I think today's game is better because the puck travels faster. However, the plays have not kept up with the puck. We have lost the power of reasoning, and few coaches take the time or have the knowledge to correct players' mistakes or find out what they do wrong."

Shore, owner-manager of Springfield Indians, of the American Hockey Association and a veteran defenceman of 19 years in pro hockey, said he thinks coaches have misconstrued the word "streamlining."

"The game today is all go, go, go, and players are bending over in attempts to gain more speed." However, this had the effect of slowing down some players.

Last Longer

"A player who skates in the straight-up position will last from five to 10 years longer in professional hockey and will be able to add from $25,000 to $50,000 to his earning power. It is to our advantage to teach this style of skating and to the players' advantage to learn it."

He said that with few exceptions the outstanding players of the past skated in the upright position, including the late Howie Morenz, the Cook brothers, Frank Boucher and Ching Johnson.

"Nobody can tell me today that anyone could skate faster than Morenz, said Shore. "It is not humanly possible. Howie was an upright skater and when he brought those knees up he really flew. He had terrific power and wonderful grace."

Shore tempered his liking for present-day hockey with the observation that there are "only five really outstanding stars in the NHL," although there are 70,000 hockey players in Canada. He didn't name the five.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Ezzard Charles, world's heavyweight boxing champion, must shave off his moustache before fighting Nick Barone of Syracuse, N. Y., in a title bout in Cincinnati Nov. 28.

The City Boxing Commission so ruled Thursday. Charles and the boys who boss the sport in that city have been fussing over the question for days. Charles is real proud of the thing.

"This rule applies not only to the champion, but to all boxers who fight in Cincinnati rings," Paul Cain, commission chairman, announced. "The rules say the fighter must be clean shaven, and the examining physician for the commission has recommended that clean shaven means without any hirsute adornment whatsoever."

Toronto police say they intend cracking down on Grey Cup ticket-scalpers. They say ducats for the east-west football final Nov. 25 are reported being offered by some speculators for $40 a pair.

The Canadian Rugby Union sold tickets by mail-order for $3.90 and $2.60 a pair.

Last year detectives posed as prospective ticket-buyers in downtown Toronto hotel lobbies but only a few scalpers were picked up.

Murph Chamberlain, released at his own request as coach of Charlottetown Islanders of the Maritime Senior Hockey League, says he has three "good offers" from clubs outside the Maritimes.

The former National League star said Thursday he is still negotiating with the three teams, none of which he named. He intends spending a few days on the farm before accepting any offer.

St. Peter's Victors

St. Peter's opened their bantam PMHA schedule last night at Civic Arena with a 4-2 win over Otonabee Wolves. Tate and Towns scored for them in the first, the latter and Garvey each having an assist. St. Peter's: Hickson, Flynn, Blodgett, O'Connell,. Towns, Reid, Moher, Garvey, Tait, Whitton, Hickey, Philcox, Crough, Coombs, Hawthorne.

Wolves: Beath, Ellison, Godfrey, Lloyd, Heron, Fitzgerald, Lang, McCarthy, Bethune, Shearer, Carey, Mills, Barker, Chambo.

Marines Triumph

Marines yanked out a 2-0 PMHA midget decision over the Martin-Hewitt squad last night to start their season. Though Delahaye had the only shutout of the evening, Hobart also shone in the losers' net. But for that it would have been a much higher count. McGrath and Turner got the goals in the first frame, with Frizzelle, Burns and McGillen each earning an assist in a clean tilt. Teams:

Marines: Delahaye, Burns, Spencer, McGrath, Frizzelle, Dodds, Kearns, Ball, Turner, Corbett, Bethune, Strickland, Ash, McGillen, Aldren, Holden.

Martin-Hewitt: Hobart, Miller, Parry, Mongraw, Brooks, Chambers, Gardner, Drury, Moffatt, Hunt, Cournyea, Stewart, Pagett, Woodhouse, Blodgett.

Clapper's Get First

Clapper's edged Lakefield Lions 2-1 to begin their PMHA juvenile season last evening here. All the tallying came in the second from, Ferguson and Killen counting for Clapper's, who looked good, with Mongraw and Sanders getting the assists. Coyle hit the mark for Lakefield, Heffernan and Sloan both being in on it. There were four penalties handed out. Teams:

Clapper's: Tyndall, Jones, Parry, Killen, Richardson, Mongraw, Batley, Ferguson, Cupoli, Seabrooke, Murdock, Sullivan, Harris, Sanders.

Lakefield: Wingett, Pue, Twist, Sloan, McCracken, Coyle, Sabatino, Rowley, Allan, Holland, Hunter, Pearson, Heffernan, Henry, Woodgate, Curtis.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Interest is plenty high now in football as playoffs loom on many fronts. Even the Beach-Argo game will draw well this week-end, while the Grey Cup final is always a sellout. Cobourg Ghosts—who finish up in London on the morrow—drew 2,800 fans at home. St. Kitts' seniors expect more than 4,000 there when Bev Goulding's PCVS pack arrive Saturday. And there should be a big crowd at the Oval tomorrow aft at two when Welland and Alex Londry's junior PCI-ers clash in their sudden-death COSSA final. Yes, indeed, grid interest is high at the moment before football bows off the autumn scene.

The basketeers are just getting warmed up for a long season of it, running till out in the spring. Two girls' games at the YW tonight, starting at eight: Nurses Srs. vs. Nurses Jrs., and Lindsay Grads vs. Black's. Whoops, hoops and oops! At the YM tomorrow evening, commencing at seven, the House Leaguers have a twin bill: Fords vs. Buicks, and Monarchs vs. Meteors. Meantime, the OABA-ers are drilling regularly — and most of their players are in the house loop, too. PCVS and SPS cagers will be swinging into action when the football season finishes. Some girls' activity at Collegiate, too.

Ye Olde Pucke Rivals

Hockey followers will be out in force, and that's for sure, by 8.30 in Civic Arena tonight. Because it's Petes vs. Eagles in their second OHA senior "B" clash of this campaign. They went to a 2-all overtime tie in their first meeting, but both teams are promising it won't end in a draw this scrap. Some wagering is being done, we hear, but it's at strictly even money as the clubs appear exceptionally well-matched at this stage of the race. Neither has met defeat to date, but one is likely to lose out this e'en ere 11 bells, landlubber time. Yeah, there should be a hot time in the arena when these oldtime rivals tear into each other before a huge and noisy gallery.

* * * * * *

IOOF-ers, Petes and Eagles play one or two games away each week in the OHA season, and we'd like to see them win a lot of those away tilts. Games won now won't have to be picked up later. We'd like to see the three local clubs adopt the motto "only the game fish swim upstream". Usually, it is figured the home team stands the better chance, the visitors being on ice with which they are not so familiar. Size of the rink, contours, the trip, hostile crowd — all that is supposed to bother them. But winning clubs don't take their rinks with them. They pull down verdicts at home and away. They usually fight harder on foreign ice just to show the so-and-so's. Only the game fish swim upstream.

PMHA-ers Begin Play

PMHA-ers started it off at Civic Arena last night and lots of hockey action was dished up in each tussle. Some of the teams aren't in the pink yet, having had but a few workouts, but the kids don't take long to round into shape. St. Peter's bantams beat Otonabee Wolves 4-2, Marines took Martin-Hewitt midgets 2-0, Oddfellows won a juvenile joust over Trojans 5-2, and Clapper's juves edged Lakefield Lions 2-1. Marines and Trojans have an early bantam tilt tonight. Half a dozen games schedule again for next Thursday at the arena, that being minor hockey evening throughout the winter. It's a lively young loop.

* * * * * *

Intermediate "A" hockey starts tonight for Lindsay, Port Hope, Bowmanville and Cobourg, the Lakefield entry being idle yet. Red Creighton's Port Hopers dropped an 8-3 decision to the local Brintons the other eve, though Legrow, Casey, Griffin and Marshal are reported to have turned in a good chore with the Hopers. Brintons figuring in on the scoring were Anderson, Riches, Wilshaw, Mortimer, Lawson, Birch, Richlark and Huard. Byers was in goal for them while a chap named Graham tended the twine tepee for the Creighton crew. It could be an interesting circuit in the cold months ahead. Haven't any dope so far on the Lakefield squad, but that'll come soon.

Reds Whip Flyers

By The Canadian Press.

Three goals in two minutes Thursday night gave Providence Reds a 5-3 victory over St. Louis Flyers in the American Hockey League. Cincinnati Mohawks, topping the league's western division, whipped New Haven Eagles 4-2. The Eagles are in last place in the eastern division. Leading Mohawks scorers was Fern Perrault with two while Jack Gordon and Frank King got the others.

Argos Given Edge To Take Beaches

By The Canadian Press

There's a familiar "foregone conclusion" feeling around Toronto as Argonauts and Balmy Beach prepare for Saturday's Eastern Canada senior football final at Varsity Stadium.

The feeling is familiar because it crops up about this time every year when the perennially-underdog O.R.F.U. champions come up against the highly-rated Big Four winners.

Ask just about any football fan who he thinks will meet Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the Grey Cup final Nov. 25 and he'll say Argos are a cinch. But then just watch the smile when he adds sheepishly: Wouldn't it be funny if the Argos' farm club, Beaches, were to upset them?

That about sums up the sudden-death playoff. Argos, who eliminated Hamilton Tiger-Cats in convincing fashion Wednesday, appear to be in. But the Beaches, with some players who would have been good in the Big Four this season, might pull a big surprise.

May Have Last Laugh

In general, it could be last-laugh weekend on several football fronts.

The college league winds up Saturday with McGill University Redmen, beaten only once in the six-game regular schedule, playing host to University of Western Ontario Mustangs in a post-season sudden-death playoff.

The McGills must be rated as favorites in this one as a result of their regular-season performance, but Western, winning 21-11, proved last week that the Redmen can be beaten.

That victory gave Mustangs second place in the four-team conference and earned them the right to play the league leaders in the final. Under college rules the second-place team must defeat the first-place finisher at least once in the season to force a playoff.

Take a look at the Beach backfield which includes Carl Galbreath, one of the best all-round backfielders in Canadian football. The only reason Hamilton let Galbreath go this season was that they had to choose from among such American imports as Bill Gregus and Special Delivery ones as well as Galbreath.

Odds On Choices

Then there's quarterback Gerry Tuttle, who can toss a pass like a bullet, accurately too. If it weren't for import Al Dekdebrun who holds down that spot with Argos, Tuttle probably would have been the man at quarter for the Big Four champs.

Tuttle and lineman Dwight Follin, both imports, did wonders with the Beaches after they took over part way through the season. The team is unbeaten since then and the Beaches would like more than anything else in the world to knock off their big brothers Saturday.

The reasons Argos are odds-on choices, however, are obvious. They include eagle-eye Dekdebrun, ever-dangerous Ulysses Curtis, big booter Joe Krol, little Billy Bass and the rest of a smooth-working backfield fronted by a line that showed Hamilton how to overcome size with fight. And don't forget Frank Clair, the coach. He's not taking the game for granted and he's trying his darndest to see that Argos don't either.

Oddfellows Win

The juvenile IOOF team took a 5-2 PMHA verdict against Trojans last evening to open their schedule, penalties hurting the losers' cause. Gooley scored from Floyd in the first for IOOF, as R. Dunn and Seabrooke counted for Trojans, Foster and Scriver getting an assist apiece. Floyd tied the count in the second, and he got one more in the third with Hope scoring a pair, aided once by Floyd. Teams:

IOOF: West, Kimball, Church, Floyd, Spencer, Hope, Buchan, Gooley, Caravaggie, White, Brian.

Trojans: Evans, Farley, Chapman, Griffin, E. Dunn, Lockie, Brioux, Patterson, R. Dunn, Foster, Hooper, Seabrooke, Scriver, Whatley, Doris.

Legion Darts League

Tommy Eason, captain of the Kawartha team in the Legion Darts League, played a bangup game to take two out of three from Selkirk's. Tommy, who became daddy of a baby girl this week, took Jack Gainey's weekly prize with a score of 137. Another member of the Paudash family of Hiawatha turned out last night to make the third one playing regularly. Jim Trotter and Tom Eason are regular players from Keene. Anyone interested in playing in this loop should contact Chuck Telford or Jaek Rogers at the Legion. Standing:

CURLING NOTES

By HERB MARTIN

We were talking to some of the boys yesterday from down Keene way and they tell us that the Keene Curling Club expects to have close to 200 members this season, 16 ladies' rinks and 30 men's rinks, and we were glad to hear that piece of news. This club has come a long way in the last two or three years, after being idle for a long time.

Many of our old time curlers will remember that in days gone by when we used to hire the Brock St. skating rink to help us out on our all-week open bonspiel, when we had had as many as 56 rinks entered, we could always count on six or eight rinks from Keene. They were loyal supporters of this club and we wish them all the success in the world.

We could also depend on several rinks from Norwood. We understand that they are making a come-back this year. We hope they make it.

The same goes for the Lakefield club. They were always sure to send down as many as 10 rinks, and we believe that there is a movement on foot to build a new rink there. Good luck to you Lakefield.

And if we could see Millbrook back again we could sing "Happy days are here again."

Irish Strongman To Test Marvel

Timothy Ceohagen, the Irish strongman, meets the Masked Marvel next Tuesday night at the Brock Arena in the main event of the three-bout wrestling program. The huge Irishman, boasting a degree at University of Dublin, has been headlining bouts lately in Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto, and this will be his second appearance here this season. He proved a most impressive matman in his showing of a month or so ago here, but will probably need all his strength, knowledge and hypnotic power to subdue the wily Mask and his masked manager.

The Marvel has recovered from his recent grappling injury and will be his usual secretive and villainous self, getting assistance in the corners from his hooded second. This week brought out the largest crowd of the season, and this card, headed by Geohagen and the Mask is expected to pack in even more mat fans.

Habitants Crush Leafs 5-2 In Worst Defeat of Season

By The Canadian Press.

Gaye Stewart is making crafty John Adams, manager of Detroit Red Wings, look pretty good as a master dealer in hockey players.

The speedy left-winger from Fort William obtained in a National Hockey League five-for-four player deal with Chicago last July, scored two goals Thursday night as the Red Wings walloped the Black Hawks 5-1.

It was the Wings' eighth straight game without a loss and their second over Chicago in as many meetings this season. That gives Adams a pretty strong argument that he got the best of the deal in his trade with the Hawks.

The victory, recorded before 15,488 fans—largest Chicago week night crowd of the season—also enabled the Wings to close ground on the league-leading Toronto Maple Leafs who were tripped 5-2 by Montreal Canadiens.

Detroit now has 17 points, two back of the Leafs who have played two games more than the Wings.

Have Worst Defeat

In Montreal, a Forum crowd of 14,583 saw Canadiens consolidate their fourth-place position by handing the Leafs their worst defeat of the season.

The Canadiens, who hadn't been able to crash the win column since the Leafs tacked a double defeat on them on successive nights early this month, rained 40 shots on Turk Broda in the Toronto nets. The Leafs fired only 18 at goalie Gerry McNeil.

Floyd Currie tallied twice for Montreal and linemate Calum MacKay once. Leo Gravelle and Billy Reay counted the others.

Tod Sloan and Fleming Mackell scored for the Leafs.

Fifteen penalties were called, including a major to Maurice Richard of Canadiens for walloping Bill Juzda with his stick and a 10-minute misconduct to Mackell for sassing referee Bill Chadwick. None of the penalties figured in the scoring.

Rough At Chicago

Action also was rough at Chicago, 19 penalties being called. Detroit took a 2-0 advantage in the first seven minutes on goals by Gordie Howe and Stewart. Bill Mosienko scored the Hawks' lone tally in the middle frame when Detroit's George Gee also scored.

Jim McFadden and Stewart closed the scoring in the finale.

Terry Sawchuk in the Detroit nets was called upon to handle 45 shots, Harry Lumley 21.

Chief Requests 17 Revolvers

In an attempt to have the whole police force equipped with the same type of revolver, a .38 calibre Police Positive, Chief Constable John Thompson Thursday asked the police Commission permission to buy 17 revolvers.

He reported his police officers were now using six types of weapons. This required buying six kinds of ammunition.

The Chief proposed that the department buy a shell loading machine with which the department could pack its own ammunition for target shooting.

The machine, costing about $100, would only be practical if all the officers had .38 calibre revolvers. He said shells now cost about six cents each, but could be packed with the machine at a cost of about one cent each.

He proposed that the department buy its revolvers from the Canadian army at $35 each.

The police commission, in favor with the idea, suggested that the chief include the machine and revolvers in his estimates for 1951.

Tries Experiment In Closing All Brothels January 1

By HARRY WHYTE

ISTANBUL, Nov. 17 (Reuters) The government's decision to close all brothels by Jan. 1, 1951, marks Turkey's second experiment in the abolition of legally-tolerated, medically-supervised prostitution.

The first was made in 1932 when it was decided to close all licensed houses. But, said Dr. Faik Fargici, Istanbul's director of public health, "the incidence of venereal diseases rose so suddenly and alarmingly in the course of the next nine months that the government decided to restore the old system."

The present step was taken at the request of the World Health Organization of the United Nations. The recommendation aroused considerable discussion in Turkey as to whether such a step could be taken without danger to public health.

"As a public official," Dr. Fargici said, "I can express no opinion on the subject. If I were to give an opinion as a doctor and a citizen, however, it would not be in favor of closing the tolerated houses in the present period of social and cultural development in Turkey."

More Outspoken

The Turkish press has given an even more outspoken answer.

Columnist Dogan Naoi recently wrote: "A story of yesterday which is still fresh: in the United States they prohibited the sale of liquor. All America set out to drink various kinds of poison. And the gigantic American police organization was unable to cope with the situation. Now there arises in Turkey the question of closing the tolerated houses. What an overwhelming task would face our policemen who cannot even manage to make a couple of taxi-cabs obey the rule of the road!"

Other newspapers said that despite the existence of medically-supervised and licensed houses, police now have a big job tracking down and raiding clandestine houses of rendezvous.

The evening newspaper Son Saat estimated that there are 1,500 illegal houses in Istanbul—which has a population of 1,000,000. One such house of ill fame was recently reported to have been raided by the police for the 27th time.

Legal brothels in Istanbul at present total 69, employing some 500 women, said Dr. Fargici.

Conduit Requested For Alarm System

On Detective-Sergeant W. A. Clarke's suggestion, the Police Commission decided Thursday that it would ask the city council's building committee to have an electrical wire conduit installed in the new city hall for a burglar alarm system.

The system now in existence hooked up in the sergeant's office is paid for by the stores and businesses in the downtown area who subscribe to it.

Maintenance is handled by Detective-Sergeant Clarke at no expense to the police force or the businesses involved. The system uses Bell Telephone circuits as far as the city hall building.

In the new building going up beside the Public Library, a conduit will have to be laid from the Bell Telephone lines in the street to the sergeant's office. So far no provision has been made for it.

Would Ban Report

TORONTO, Nov. 17 (CP). — The Canadian Council of Churches Thursday adopted a resolution asking the government to ban entry into Canada of the forthcoming Kinsey report on sexual habits in the human female, except for the use of medical personnel. In another resolution, the council requested provincial authorities not to allow showing of films on sex education and venereal disease unless supervised by "a competent agency like the Health League of Canada." The council reaffirmed its opposition to any extension of "legalized facilities for gambling in any form."

RCAF Men Doing Excellent Job Of Navigating Over Pacific

By F.O. AL MARSHALL

TOKYO, Japan, Nov. 17—The Pacific airlift operations of the RCAF's 426 Thunderbird Squadron are a cross between a navigator's dream and nightmare, according to Flight Lieutenant R. E. (Ted) Ratcliffe, DFC, of Kingston, navigation leader of the squadron.

Nothing delights an air force navigator more than the chance to make full use of his complex bag of tricks, and on the Pacific run they do just this. At the same time, seemingly unpredicable winds and bad weather often make the trips a "sweating out" process for the slide rule and sextant boys.

The long trip, which takes nearly 25 hours flying time between McChord Field and Japan, is done about 95 per cent of the time above cloud, and with long over-water stretches. The men who navigate the big four-engine North Stars use combinations of such aids as Loran (long range aid to navigation), astro-navigation, radio bearings, and pressure-pattern flying methods. On the long haul from Shemya in the Aleutians to Tokyo, more than 2,100 statute miles, the navigator has his busiest time as continuous position fixes are sent out, to let ground stations know the aircraft's position.

Can't Be Interfered With

Astro-navigation — shooting the stars—is the mainstay of the RCAF navigators, and follows the same basic principles used by master mariners of hundreds of years ago. Although it cannot be used under certain conditions, astro has the big advantage of being one of the few navigational methods with which the enemy cannot interfere.

About 100 miles out of Shemya the 426 crews find they have suddenly run out of today smack into tomorrow, as they cross the international date line, a fact that lends to the general difficulties. It's not a serious problem to the navigators, but it has played havoc with the birthdays of several of the squadron's aircrew, who missed theirs while on the western flight.

Flight Lieutenant Ratcliffe, responsible for the squadron's navigational standards, is a veteran himself, having gone overseas early in 1942 and served in North Africa before joining the famed 6 Bomber Group in Yorkshire. He served with 426 when the Thunderbirds flew Lancasters on the Berlin "milk run," and won his DFC on these operations. After the war's end Ted flew for 2½ years with TCA on North Atlantic flights, doing more than 100 crossings. He re-joined the Thunderbirds in 1948 and has been navigation leader since the airlift began.

Shares Credit

Sharing the credit is Flight Lieutenant Micky Queale of Victoria, squadron navigation leader before the airlift. F/L Queale stayed behind, his skill being needed for operational training given fresh navigators going to the squadron as it built up to its present strength of 12 aircraft.

Under his direction the squadron's navigators are doing a fine job under difficult conditions, where a slight error might well mean disaster.

Squadron navigators on the airlift:

S/L H. A. (Harry) Forbes, Tatamagouche, N.S.; F/L P. F. (Ted) Lee, Belleville; F/L H (Hal) Spector, Toronto; F/L E. J. (Ed) Boland, Montreal and Ottawa; F/L H. J. (Torchy) Weeden, Halifax; F/O Abe Finklestein, Ottawa; F/O A. S. (Spoof) Logan, Pictou Co., N.S.; F/O J. W. (Jock) Rodger, Montreal (Verdun); F/O B. L. (Bert) Ray, Vancouver and Montreal; F/O R. S. (Bob) Reid, Toronto; F/O J. C. (Jack) Flemming, New Westminster, B.C.; F/O A. (Eric) Glustein, Montreal; F/O J. W. (Wilf) Michaud, Montreal; F/O E. H. (Gene) Moberg, Saskatoon; F/O J. A. (Art) Gauthier, Ottawa.

(Note: F/O Moberg and F/O Gauthier are post-war RCAF entrants.

Pay $239,500 In Player Deals

CINCINNATI, Nov. 16—(AP)—Thirteen major league clubs paid a total of $239,500 today as they drafted 25 players from the minor leagues, 22 of whom were picked up from the Triple-A circuits—two from Toronto and one from Montreal.

Chicago White Sox led in the selections by picking up four players, while St. Louis Cardinals, New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers did not claim any player.

Three selections were made from the eighth place Kansas City club of the American Association, the Yankee farm being the hardest hit of any of the minor league clubs.

A year ago, 21 players were selected at a cost of $192,500.

The White Sox grabbed one Toronto Maple Leaf, Harry Dorish, while New York Yankees took Max Peterson of the Toronto team.

Omar Lown, Montreal Royal pitcher, was drafted by Chicago Cubs of the National League.

SANTA IN TIME — Three-year-old Gary Turnbull, of Winnipeg, suffering from cirrhosis of the liver, had his Christmas party Nov. 13 because doctors said he hadn't long to live. "Come back next year to see me," Gary shouted to Santa, who came along with a pile of gifts for a party arranged by a suburban East Kildonan service club. Two days later Gary died.

Foreigner's Life In Japan Comfortable

By DAVE McINTOSH

TOKYO, Nov. 17—(CP)—If the Japanese have had to swallow their pride with the white man patrolling their country, they give no sign of it. But at the same time they know the white man is boss.

This realization and their natural politeness makes life in Tokyo comfortable for the foreigner.

In the Marunouchi Hotel, for instance, one gets service unexcelled probably anywhere in the world. The hotel is for commonwealth forces, and Canadian airlift pilots live there on their 48-hour lay-over in Tokyo.

The hotel is similar to a Canadian hotel except that wash basins are set low for the shorter Japanese.

The desk clerk speaks excellent English and keeps his composure through a harried day, translating destinations for cab drivers, looking up addresses on maps and generally answering every conceivable question a foreigner might ask in a strange city.

The day starts at 7 a.m. with the ceremonious arrival in the rooms of two maids, one carrying tea, the other bearing cream and sugar.

Mostly Western Dishes

Service in the dining room is perfect. The food is good—I found the roast beef better than at home—and there is no waiting between courses. The dishes are mostly Western, with some Oriental ones now and again.

There are two lounges and a ballroom where drinks are sold until 11 p.m. or midnight. A Scotch and soda costs 18 cents, a rum or a beer seven cents.

For rooms and meals, plus laundry, the cost is $4 a day.

There are at least three official currencies in circulation in the hotel—the Japanese yen, the occupation dollar and the pound sterling.

In Japan, no American currency is used. You change your money at the bank for occupation money, at the same rate. It is all paper and the cent money—five, 10, 25 and 50—is about half the size of a Canadian bill.

The $1 and $5 bills are slightly larger than the cent bills, while the $10 bills and up are as long as the Canadian dollar but a bit narrower.

This scrip is used in all military establishments and the British personnel use the pound in their places as well.

Yen is used in dealings with the Japanese. You pay the cab driver and the merchant in yen. The Japanese are not supposed to have dollars, pounds or scrip, and there is practically no black market in money. One American dollar gets you 360 yen.

Oshawa Dinner Honors GM Production

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

What a lot has happened in our time!

The Oshawa Chamber of Commerce gave a dinner Thursday night to mark the fact that General Motors of Canada Limited, has turned out its 2,000,000th motor vehicle.

And sitting there was the man most responsible for building car No. 1, who within his own lifetime has seen the whole motorcar industry come into being, and who has, in essence, seen all 2,000,000 of his own company's cars come out.

He is, of course, Col. R. S. McLaughlin, chairman of the board of General Motors of Canada and its president up to 1943.

Near him were 28 other men who were there when No. 1 was made, the men who still call him "Sam" when he walks through theplant. But of them all, he has the longest service—63 years.

And so Col. "Sam" told the story, and others fitted in pieces here and there, of his father's carriage plant which moved to Oshawa from nearby Enniskillen in 1879; how they made their first car in 1907. A McLaughlin-Buick Model F; of the fabulous early days of a fabulous industry.

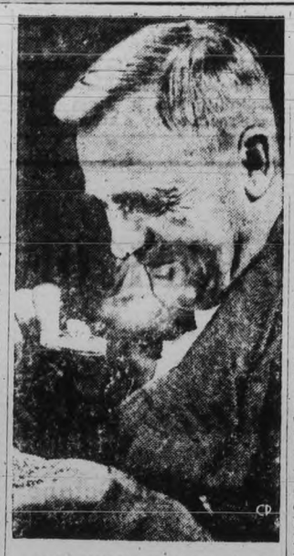
It is General Motors of Canada Limited now, but it was the McLaughlins who brought them in, with the switch-over coming in 1918 with Col. McLaughlin as president.

Can't Be Separated

To a visitor, in fact, it seems that the McLaughlins, General Motors and Oshawa are too mixed together to try to separate.

D. M. Storie, chairman of Thursday night's dinner, expressed it by paraphrasing the tribute to Sir Christopher Wren in St. Paul's Cathedral. Said he of Col. McLaughlin:

"If you want to know what he has done for Oshawa, look about you."



As to what General Motors means to Oshawa:

Well, the story of the city, although it now has many other industries, is essentially the story of G.M.

The greater city has some 37,000 people, and 9,000 work for G.M.

While Thursday night was the story of one company in Oshawa, with others of its plants elsewhere in Ontario—Windsor, St. Catharines, London—it was also the story of Canada's industrial growth in the last decade or so.

For instance, while it took the McLaughlin's and General Motors 31 years, from 1907 to 1938, to produce their first 1,000,000 motor vehicles, it took only 12 years to produce the second million.

RYE KING—Chris Morck, of Dickson, Alta., is the new rye king, winning the world championship at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto. The 62-year-old farmer, who came to Alberta from Denmark in 1905, is shown examining a sample of Danish fall rye, similar to that which won him the title on his first try for the crown.

Establish Ontario Legal-Aid Clinics

TORONTO, Nov. 17 (CP)—The Law Society of Upper Canada said Thursday it will set up "legal-aid clinics" throughout Ontario to assist persons unable to pay lawyers' fees.

The society, regulatory body of the legal profession in Ontario, said the plan calls for "clinics" in each county and district. Each will be administered by local law societies, with W. Earl Smith secretary of the Upper Canada society, the over-all director.

Drawn up by a committee headed by R. M. W. Chitty, of Toronto, the plan is scheduled to be in operation next year. Each "clinic" will have a panel of volunteer lawyers to take the cases—both civil and criminal—of persons unable to pay anything. Disbursements may be set by the Law Society. The volunteer lawyers may accept token fees if the client is unable to make some payment.

Members of Mr. Chitty's committee were Gordon D. Conant, Toronto, Master of the Ontario Supreme Court; D. Park Jamieson, Sarnia; S. L. Springsteen, Windsor; A. R. Willmott, Cobourg; W. B. Common, Toronto, Director of Public Prosecutions for Ontario, and C. F. H. Carson, treasurer of the Law Society.

Harvard Appointment Given To Canadian

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 17—(AP) — Harvard Thursday announced the appointment of Ontario-born Robert W. Pound as associate professor of physics.

Now 31, his wartime discoveries in microwave technology were applied to radar and later to television transmission.

He was born in Ridgeway, Ont., and studied at the University of Buffalo. He did much of his microwave work at Massachusetts Institute of Technology's radiation laboratory.

Acquit Quebec Man In Manslaughter Case

OTTAWA, Nov. 17 — (CP) — Hector Lavigne, 21, of nearby Breckenridge, Que., was acquitted Thursday by a court of King's Bench jury of a charge of manslaughter arising from the traffic death last March of Kenneth Kelley, 19, also of Breckenridge.

Kelley was a passenger in Lavigne's car when it rammed the rear of a parked truck.

The jury recommended that Lavigne's driving licence be suspended.

Use T.V. Technique

MONTREAL, Nov. 17 (CP). — Kinescope recording—a technique whereby a television image and sound are recorded on film — will probably be widely used when television programs are first transmitted in Canala, J. E. Hayes, of Montreal, assistant transmission and development engineer for the CBC, said Thursday night. During the initial stages, he said, French language programs will originate in Montreal with most English ones being staged in Toronto.

May Purchase Camp

NASSAU, Bahama, Nov. 17 (CP).—A director of Butlins Bahamas Ltd., said Thursday a group of three or four Americans is interested in taking over the vacation camp established by Billy Butlin on Grand Bahamas Island. The camp closed early this year because of financial difficulties and winding up proceedings now are before the courts.

Strange Disease Kills Chickens

LAUREL, Nov. 17—(CP)—A mysterious fowl disease akin to typhoid has resulted in the death or destfuction of about 2,000 chickens on four poultry farms near this Dufferin county village, 40 miles north of Guelph.

Reports are that the spreading disease might be Newcastle disease which has leap-frogged from the United States or British Columbia.

Birds were blamed by some farmers for spreading the disease which hit the four farms almost overnight. Birds suddenly became listless, heads and legs turned a greyish color and excessive thirst developed.

Some 500 pullets, nearly 200 hens, and a score of cockerels were destroyed by inspectors on the farm of Clifford Duncan. Also destroyed were 99 dozens of eggs. Mr. Duncan estimated his loss at $1,250.

An estimated 1,000 birds died or were destroyed on the three other farms.

Utilities Report New Mains Laid

Water mains laid in October by the Utilities Commission were: Western Ave. from New Chamberlain St. to Lansdowne St., 2,232 feet of 8-in. pipe; and one hydrant set.

Park Hill Road from Snelgrove St., easterly, 216 feet of 8-in. pipe.

Riverside Drive from Monaghan Road to Cameron St., 1,000 feet of 6-in. pipe.

Cameron St. from Spruce St. to Riverside Drive, 500 feet of 6-in. pipe; 62 new water services were laid; and two hydrants were changed.

Riverside Drive extends along the north side of the river easterly from Monaghan Road at Crawford's Grove. It is probably second to Crescent St. in length of direct water prospect, and was a realty improvement effected by Bruce Johnston and Alex Archibald.

Maximum pumpage in October was at the rate of nine million gallons a day; daily pumpage was down 188,000 gallons from October last year, and total pumpage for the month was also down 6,027,000 from 135,650,000 gallons.

Gas Use Increased

Mr. Dobbin also reported an increase of 28 per cent in propane gas production last month. The volume was 6,84,000 cu. ft. as against 5,139,000 cu. ft. in October last year, an increase of 1,445,000 cu. ft. in production. Plant alterations as proposed by the Department of Labor were completed. Thirty-nine stoves and heaters were connected.

Must Determine

CALGARY, Nov. 17—(CP)—A trial to determine the meaning of the word petroleum began here Thursday. Michael Borys, Leduc farmer, is asking the Alberta Supreme Court to declare that he is the sole owner of the natural gas found under his 160-acre farm. The Canadian Pacific Railway and Imperial Oil Ltd., have laid counter-claims that they have the right to carry away from the land all petroleum, including natural gas. Borys contends that petroleum and natural gas are separate and distinct items.

A Difficult Job

TORONTO, Nov. 17— (CP) — Printer J. M. McDowell of the United Church of Canada publishing house is breathing easier today. He has just finished setting type for a 598-page book—in Eskimo. It is the Book of Common Prayer printed for the Church of England in Canada, for Arctic missions. McDowell said he had to memorize the 12 Eskimo characters, each of which can be used four different ways, before he started. The printers had to buy an entire new font for use on monotype machines.

New Refrigeration Technique Used In Unique Heart Operation

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 17 —(AP)— The case of the youngest child ever to undergo successful surgery for a usually-fatal heart condition in infants was reported today.

Dr. Chester P. Lynxwiler of St. Louis University School of Medicine said an 11-week-old girl, poerated on last week, now is ready for discharge from St. Mary's hospital here.

The primary condition involved was coarctation, or virtual blockage of the main heart artery —complicated by a growing failure of blood-pumping vessels within the child's tiny heart. The blockage is a congenital condition in some infants—that is, they develop it while still in the mother's womb. Its cause is unknown.

Dr. Lynxwiler said the majority of infants having such a blockage do not develop the complication of heart failure, and reach early childhood without ill effect.

90% Fatal

But of those who develop the complication in the first half year of life, he said, about 90 per cent die within the year.

Attempts at surgical operation in such cases have failed to prevent death in all instances except the St. Louis one and possibly one other on which he has a hearsay report, the doctor said.

Dr. Lynzwiler said the St. Louis child, Linda Weber, has the prospect of a normal life expectancy as far as heart trouble is concerned.

The surgery was performed by Dr. Sidney Smith of St. Louis.

Working on a blood vessel whose total circumference was "about the size of the inside of a cigaret holder", the surgeon removed a small segment at the blockage area, then sewed the remaining ends together.

Refrigeration Technique

One feature of the operation was the use of a relatively-new refrigeration technique designed to slow the whole body's activity temporarily.

The child was wrapped in a special rubber mattress through which cold water flowed, reducing the body temperature from 98.4 degrees to 93.

Dr. Lynxwiler said that, when possible, surgeons like to wait until a child is nine or 10 years old before attempting to correct the coarctation of the heart's main artery—the aorta. That is because the aorta has grown to maximum size by then.

New Jet Engine Wards Off Ice

LYNN, Mass., Nov. 17 —(AP)— The first jet engines equipped to ward off ice and also carrying an extra kick for power spurts will go into a new all-weather fighter, the General Electric Company announced Wednesday with Air Force permission.

The plane is the North American F-86D (formerly known as F-95), a modification of the F-86 Sabre, holder of the world speed record at 671 miles an hour.

The F-86D has a redesigned nose incorporating radar for searching out an enemy in the dark. The fuselage has been lengthened to permit an afterburner or jet booster in the tail. Such boosters add as much as 40 per cent more power.

The engine, the General Electric J-47-17, has several new features announced at the first public showing of the company's jet engine laboratory and production facilities. These include:

An electronic control system which designers said gives the pilot single-lever control for both the engine and the afterburner.

Hot-air heating of critical parts in the nose of the engine to eliminate the danger of loss of power due to icing.

The new engine is expected to give the F-86D extra power for interception operations, which call for a high rate of climb.

Marmora Girl Hunter Bags 190-Pound Deer

MARMORA, Nov. 16—(ENS)—Gladys McCurdy, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McCurdy of Cordova Mines has added her name to the list of lady hunters who have been successful this deer hunting season. Joining her father and several other men in the Lost Lake area, she bagged a beauty which weighed 190 pounds.

Doctors Benefit

WELLINGTON, N. Z. (CP).—Health Minister J. T. Watts told parliament that one doctor received more than $45,000 in a year from the social security fund apart from private payments. Efforts now are being made to control earnings by doctors under the government payment plan.

Salmon Increase

NORTH BAY (CP)—Increase in number of ouananiche, or land-locked salmon, in Trout Lake was revealed by a recent check. More than 300 were netted during October and 90 per cent put back, but from the remainder enough spawn was stripped to provide 45,000 eggs now being cared for in the hatchery.

Legendary Windigo Back In Northern Wilds Fur Trader Asks Lands Office Stage Hunt

KENORA, Nov. 17 —(CP)— The legendary Windigo has returned, this time to the wilds of far-northwestern Ontario.

The tale of the strange monster was related by the Ontario Lands Office here. It said its information came from Leif Mammen, a fur trader at Poplar Hills Post, 200 miles north of here on remote Berens lake.

The Windigo, in the northland, is what Ogopogo or Cadborosaurus is to British Columbia. But unlike the coast's sea serpents, a Windigo has no set shape.

Leif Mammen's Windigo is supposed to have been seen first several months ago. He had an artistically-minded Indian draw him a picture. The Windigo resembles an alligator.

The story is it comes out of the water, makes a sharp turn and slithers underwater again. The Indians claim it tears their fishing nets.

The land office says Mr. Mammen wants an all-out hunt to capture the monster. He says native trappers are giving Berens lake a wide berth and not trapping the area as they should.

The original Windigo of Indian legend was a transformed human—a sort of werewolf who stalked hungry hunters and killed and ate them.

Farm Forum Discusses Woodlot Management

NORWOOD, Nov. 17 —(ENS)— The Donegal farm forum met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gideon Brown on Monday evening, with an attendance of 36. The topic under discussion was "Forests—Slash or Save." Although the woodlots in the area are small, it was agreed that a young healthy woodlot could be kept properly managed. To do this, harvest trees only at maturity, culling out the poor growth, and thinning out only to allow sufficient space for the healthy young trees to grow. Slashing for quick cash is definitely a poor investment.

Following the discussion euchre and crokinole were played Mrs. John Starke and Mr. John Starke were the prize winners at crokinole. Mrs. Jack Brown and Mr. Barnard Relf won the ladies' first and gents' first prize for the euchre. Lunch was served by the hostess.

Scarboro Man Killed In Crash With Truck At Chemong Turn

Loaded Truck Out-of-Control On Reaching Highway Smashes Into Car With 3

Two Other Passengers Taken To Hospital
One Seriously Hurt
Accident Occurred Four Miles From City

Claude Lindstrom, 43, of Scarboro, was instantly killed Friday afternoon when his west-bound car collided with an out-of-control dump truck with six tons of asphalt. The smash-up was at the Chemong turn on iHghway 7, four miles northwest of the city. Injured and in Civic Hospital are the two passengers in the Lindstrom car — his widow, May Lindstrom, 42, and John W. Dexter, 26, of Levack, Ontario. Mrs. Lindstrom's condition is "just fair," hospital authorities said today. She has severe head lacerations and additional cuts on one thumb and both legs.

Dexter is reported to be much improved and may leave hospital later today. He has severe cuts on his face, head, and one hand and one knee.

The driver and owner of the truck, 20-year-old Allan Dillon of Oshawa, was uninjured.

Breaks Don't Hold

The accident occurred at 3:25 p.m. as the car rounded the turn going northwest toward Lindsay. At that moment the southbound truck came out of the Chemong road with Dillon vainly trying to apply the brakes as the heavily-loaded vehicle rolled down the slight incline.

Details of the accident are still not known. But it is believed the left corner of the steel and wood box, containing the load, caught the left side and top of the Lindstrom car, ripping it open.

The Lindstroms have been living at the Nepheline Mines recently, where the fatally-injured man had a job as painter at the new housing development. He

Machine Guns Five Wounds Three Attacking Family

VINELAND, N.J., Nov. 18—(AP)—In a crazed tour of three homes, a "pleasant faced" young man Friday night machine-gunned to death five members of his estranged wife's family, and wounded her and three others. He was captured 4½ hours later by two New Jersey State troopers after an automobile chase down a country lane. The 25-year-old gunman, Ernest Ingenito, was taken under guard to state police barracks for questioning.

Drawn and haggard after his arrest, he made no statement and refused to admit the shootings, police said.

Authorities pieced together the story of the horror-filled moments that brought death to:

Michael Mazzoli, 44, Ingenito's father-in-law; Mrs. Pearl Mazzoli, 45, Ingenito's mother-in-law; John Pioppi, 46, uncle of Ingenito's wife; Mrs. Theresa Pioppi, grandmother of Ingenito's wife; Marion Pioppi, 28, John's wife.

Wounded were the gunman's wife, Tessie, 23; a nine-year-old cousin, Jean Pioppi; Frank Mazzoli, 35, Michael Mazzoli's brother; and Frank's wife, Hilda, 34.

Emergency Operations

Frank Mazzoli and Jean Pioppi underwent emergency operations shortly after being taken to hospital. All wounded except Mrs. Ingenito were listed in critical condition.

The shootings occurred less than 20 miles from the scene of another massacre. Sept. 6, 1949, Howard Unruh walked grimly down Camden's River Road, killing 13 victims—all strangers—with a Luger pistol. Unruh now is held in a hospital for the insane.

Police said Ingenito was heavily armed when captured by two State Troopers.

The two spotted a car answering the description sent out when Ingenito fled the scene of the slayings. The policemen forced the car to the side of the road and held Ingenito at the point of a sub-machine-gun as he climbed out of the car.

Lots of Guns

In his belt, Ingenito had a .38-calibre pistol. In the car were a German-type automatic weapon, a .32-calibre pistol and a .32-calibre carbine. Police said the automatic had an attachment with extra bullets which made it, in effect, a sub-machine-gun.

"I'm the one you're looking for," Ingenito said calmly as he surrendered without a struggle.

On Ingenito's left wrist were slight razor wounds. On the car seat was a barber's-type razor. Police said he had tried to commit suicide.

Police reconstructed this chronology of the shootings:

At 9 p.m. EST, Ingenito went to the home of his father-in-law and asked to see his two children,

Canada's Sales To U.S. Firms Reach Record

OTTAWA, Nov. 18 — (CP) — Canada's 1950 sales to the United States, riding at record-shattering heights, are more than offsetting the sharp downward drive in sales to the United Kingdom.

The Bureau of Statistics reported Friday that Canada's exports to the United States during the first nine months of 1950 reached a record $1,453,700,00, a climb of more than $400,000,000 from $1,038,900,000 in the same period last year.

That gain in sales was big enough to overbalance the drop in sales to Britain to $345,900,000—down about $183,000,000 from last year's $529,200,000.

Canada's exports to all countries reached a peacetime record of $2,248,000,000 in the nine months, but her imports of $2,259,500,000 climbed to the highest in history, leaving her with an unusual deficit of $11,300,000. In the same period last year she had a surplus of $93,100,000; and in the year before, $261,600,000.

Imports from the United States ran to a high of $1,525,100,000 for the nine months, compared with last year's $1,470,600,000. Imports from Britain stepped up to $290,400,000 from last year's $240,700,000.

The net effect of Canada's buying and selling in the traditional trading triangle was a surplus of $55,500,000 with the United Kingdom—sharply down from last year's $288,400,000—and a deficit of $71,400,000 with the United States—another downward sweep from last year's $431,700,000.

Truman Urges Yugoslav Aid

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—(AP)—President Truman has called for emergency action to keep drought-crippled Yugoslavia and its powerful armed force from falling back into the Moscow fold.

And officials said today he may ask Congress when it meets Nov. 27 for some $85,000,000 to further strengthen the morale of tha one Communist country that has broken with Russia.

In a message to key Congressional leader of both parties, Truman said Yugoslavia's premier Tito "controls the largest fighting force in Europe, except the Soviet Union, and these forces constitute an important element in the defence of western Europe against Soviet aggression."

Since Tito broke with other Communist countries in the Moscow-controlled Cominform group he has sided with the west on a number of issues while frankly asking western powers to help him combat Russian pressure.

Anglican Primate Said Holding Own

TORONTO, Nov. 18 —(CP)—Most Rev. George F. Kingston, 61-year-old primate of the Church of England in Canada, who suffered a heart attack last Monday, still is "seriously ill" but is "holding his own," his doctor said today.

Dr. Cameron Gray said there has been no change in the primate's condition for several days.

"He is no better but he isn't slipping either," said Dr. Gray.

Archbishop Kingston's son, the Rev. F. Temple Kingston, padre at the navy base at Cornwallis, N.S., arrived here Friday by plane.

Don't Expect India Take Further Action

NEW DELHI, Nov. 18 (AP).—Foreign ministry officials indicated today that further action by India in connection with Communist China's invasion of Tibet may be limited to supporting the Tibetan appeal to the United Nations.

Officials studying Communist China's reply to India's second protest of the Tibetan invasion apparently have agreed it would be pointless to send another note.

Gunman Fires Shots At Cashier

TORONTO, Nov. 18 (CP)—A gunman Friday fired three shots into the cashier's cage of an east-end theatre when the girl cashier refused to hand over the money he demanded.

Police believe the bandit, armed with a German Luger, is the same one who earlier held up a cigar store, scooping up $2,500 in bills from the till.

The vicious gunman, thwarted in the attempt to hold up the Allenby Theatre, made his getaway from the cigar store after threatening to shoot children in the street if the proprietor gave chase.

It was Mrs. Betty Dodds who foiled his attempt at the show. When he demanded the money, she said it was on the floor. She bent down and cowered on the floor. Angered by her evasion, the thug fired the three bullets toward the floor of the cage, but all missed the frightened cashier. Description of the man given by Mrs. Dodd of a man with pock-marked face tallied with one given by Albert Rocket, whose cigar store was held up.

Willie Gallacher Not Seek Re-election

LONDON, Nov. 18—(Reuters)—Willie Gallacher, chairman of Britain's Communist party will not again seek election to parliament, it was announced today. For many years he was the only Communist member of the House of Commons.

The fiery 68-year-old Communist leader represented the Scottish constituency of West Fife from 1935 until last February's general election when he was defeated by a Labor Party candidate.

Abbott Surplus 363 Million

OTTAWA, Nov. 18—(CP)—Finance Minister Abbott, aiming at a $15,000,000 budgetary surplus in the current fiscal year, has chalked up a credit of about 25 times that amount in the first seven months. But the April-October surplus of $363,100,000 announced Friday, higher than the $303,800,000 in the same period last year, is likely to shrink sharply before the end of the fiscal year rolls around next March.

Past experience has shown that most of the heavy government expenditure develops near the end of the year, when annual accounts are closed and bills come up in batches for government payment.

Mr. Abbott's treasury statement of revenue and expenditure showed an increase in spending for defence, old-age pensions, unemployment insurance and family allowances.

Revenues Higher

Expenditures for the first seven months, at $1,171,900,000, were about $35,000,000 higher than the $1,138,500,000 in the same period last year.

Defence spending climbed to $229,165,900 from $172,158,700; old-age pensions to $49,800,000 from $39,700,000; family allowances to $179,200,000 from $172,000,000, and unemployment insurance to $28,200,000 from $23,300,000.

The increase in spending was more than offset by higher revenues. At $1,500,000,000 for the first seven months, revenues were about $90,000,000 greater than the $1,440,000,000 in the same period a year ago.

Revenue increases were noted all down the line, from corporation tax which jumped to $371,500,000 from $336,900,000 to customs import duties which climbed to $147,800,000 from $127,900,000.

Income tax deductions at source ran to $156,800,000, compared with last year's $147,900,000; excise taxes to $327,200,000 from $305,500,000.

5 Cars In Highway Crash Three Held In Hospital

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 18—(CP)—Three persons were detained in hospital here today following a five-car pile-up on No. 2 Highway one mile east of Beachville. The highway was blocked for two miles on each side of the accident scene at one time. In hospital are Gerald Nott, 20, of Beachville, Alexander Giles, 36, of Woodstock, driver of one of the cars, and L. J. Killick of New Zealand. All three suffered lacerations and shock. Killick was a passenger in a car driven by Henry Liska, 34, of Chicago, while Nott was riding in Giles' auto.

The pile-up followed a collision between Giles' car and one driven by Clair Strahm, 32, of Tavistock. Two passengers in Strahm's car, Lloyd Strahm, 36, and Carol Strahm, 14, both of Tavistock, suffered lacerations and shock.

Drivers of the three other cars involved were identified as Liska, Wallace Murray, 40, and Marie Anne Reinhart, 22, of London.

The second accident happened when the Reinhart car struck the stopped Liska vehicle, catapulting it into the car driven by Murray.

Altogether eight persons were treated in Woodstock Hospital, but only three were detained for further treatment.

Will Strengthen B.C. Defences

VANCOUVER, Nov. 18—(CP)—Military defenses of the Pacific Coast, land, sea and air, will be strengthened shortly.

Defense Minister Claxton in an interview here announced plans include:

Seven new naval vessels: a new radar station, 12 Mustang fighters for the Vancouver 442 RCAF Squadron, and two more anti-aircraft batteries for Victoria.

He said of the $80,000,000 allocated for ships in Canada's defense program, $20,000,000 will be spent on the west coast. It will be used for refitting of ships, reconversion, anti-submarine installations, minesweepers and gate vessels for blocking harbors.

The minister, now on an inspection tour of Pacific defenses, said it would be impossible to build an aircraft-tight wall of radar defense about the North American continent.

Enemy Vanishes As Allies Nearing Border

SEOUL, Nov. 18 (AP).—Communist resistance evaporated today ahead of United Nations forces slogging through new snow in northeastern Korea.

But on the western end of the slanting 250-mile front 100,000 Korean and Chinese Communists were reported digging into a low mountain defence line south of the Yalu river's international power sites on the Manchurian frontier.

The Red objectives appeared, on the basis of intelligence reports, to be:

1. Let U. N. forces get ahead under harassment into the higher mountain gaps in the northeast, where they might be tied down through the bitter-old winter at the end of snowbound supply lines.

2. Resist on a 60-mile line running through uplands from Taechon on the southwest to the Tokchon and Chongchon river area.

Canada Favorable To Emigration Scheme

LONDON, Nov. 18 (Reuters)—Sir Frank Whittle, British turbo-jet aircraft engine inventor, today said Canadian government officials were "quite favorable" to proposals he made for large-scale emigration to Canada.

He was referring to a report from Ottawa that Canada's External Affairs Department had asked its London office to inquire about a reported statement by him "on the possibilities of mass emigration in case of war."

On his return from Canada at the beginning of October, Whittle said, he made a confidential report to the council for the new era of emigration, of which he is a member.

Whittle denied a report that had said Escott Reid, Canada's undersecretary of state for external affairs, opposed his idea.

"What I actually said was that his attitude was one of helpful criticism," Whittle said.

Quebec Hoping Fly Bodies Home

QUEBEC, Nov. 18 (CP)—Arthur Cloutier and Sons, Quebec firm of undertakers, today tried to hire trans-atlantic aircraft to bring to Quebec the bodies of victims of last Monday's crash of the "Canadian Pilgrim" in the French Alps.

The undertakers said they had made their first approach to Trans-Canada Airlines hoping to engage a cargo plane that could take off Tuesday from Dorval airport and return later in the week with the bodies of Quebec province victims.

(In Montreal, a spokesman for T.C.A. said the airline's only cargo planes are twin-engined aircraft unable to make such a flight.)

At first it was announced here that all the victims would be buried near the shrine of Notre Dame de la Salette, near Corps, in the Alps. But it appeared that this decision, taken after a meeting of victims' relatives, was based on first reports that most bodies could not be identified.

Young Soprano Wins Hearts In Emergency Met Debut

NEW YORK, Nov. 18. (AP) — All dreams came true Friday night at the Metropolitan Opera for pretty, dark-haired Roberta Peters.

With only last minute notice, the little 20-year-old soprano walked onto the Met's huge stage and sang her way to a triumph as Zerlina in Mozart's "Don Giovanni."

It was three lifetime "firsts" for Miss Peters, who is hardly out of school. It was her first stage appearance, her first concert, and her first opera.

And, after her performance, it guaranteed her a first contract.

Last January, the Met's new manager, Rudolf Bing, heard Miss Peters sing in an audition, liked her voice, and added her to the roster for some tentative work.

Friday, only a few hours before the Metropolitan's first "Don Giovanni" of the season, Soprano Nadine Conner was stricken with food poisoning and had to cancel her appearance.

Bing summoned Miss Peters backstage and asked her if she coul dsing the part of the pretty little country bride who manages to escape the clutches of the lady-killing Don Giovanni.

While the clock raced, she crammed for the role, which she knew fairly well from seven years' hopeful singing practice.

First the stage director to show her cues, then the artistic director for costuming. Finally, just an hour before curtain, conductor Fritz Reinder sat down at the piano and gave her a quick musical rehearsal.

Zerlina has three big numbers —the duet with the wicked Don, "La Ci Darem la Mano" and two tender solos, "Batti, Batti, O Bel Masetto," and "Vedrai Carino."

With each one the applause grew and grew, until after the last she got a real ovation — the biggest demonstration of the evening — and was brought back for four curtain calls, blushing and smiling.

Immigration Camp Flies Flag Of Mutiny

COWRA, Australia, Nov. 18 — (Reuters)—The black flag of mutiny fluttered today over an immigration camp where 400 Europeans are on a hunger strike.

The immigrants lowered the Australian flag and raised their home-made standard in protest against a change in rations.

About 3,500 other inmates of the camp threatened to join the strike unless grievances were remedied.

A camp official denied rations had been cut.

576,000 Casualties

PARIS, Nov. 18 —(Reuters)—French casualties in the Second World War totalled 576,000, the government announced today. This included 198,000 killed in action from 1940 to 1945, 9,844 shot for resistance activities, 37,006 killed in Maquis operations, 59,225 air-raid victims and 182,000 political or racial deportees who died in captivity.

100-6 Outsider Takes Handicap

MANCHESTER, England, Nov. 18—(Reuters)—D. J. Thompson's Coltbridge, a 100-6 outsider in a 37-horse field, today galloped off with the Manchester November Handicap, final feature of Britain's flatracing season.

Ridden by veteran Joe Sime, Coltbridge took the lead in the final furlong to finish going away, two lengths ahead of Lord Derby's North Cape. Belsay Castle was a head-away third.

Northern fans were shouting the popular black-and-white Derby colors home when North Cape took the lead about a furlong from home in the 1½-mile gallop through Manchesters' customary mud. Then Sime shot his mount clear of the pack to challenger and gain supremacy.

First to show in front had been soccer star Stanley Matthews' Parbleu as the field broke from the tapes.

2,000 At Winnipeg Station To See Blue Bombers Off

WINNIPEG, Nov. 18—(CP)—About 2,000 persons are expected to jam the Canadian Pacific Railway station rotunda tonight when Winnipeg Blue Bombers entrain for the east.

The 1950 Western champions, awaiting the Grey Cup final, will arrive in Toronto early Monday morning, and will continue to their training camp at the University of Western Ontario in London.

The management expects to have its full complement of 31 players in Toronto for the Dominion final Nov. 25—but only 24 will dress under Canadian Rugby Union regulations.

Twenty-seven players and numerous officials will leave tonight. Holding Young Miner In Alleged Murder

MONTREAL, Nov. 18 (CP)—Montreal police said today they are holding a 25-year-old miner here pending investigation of an alleged murder that resulted from a fight in a mining camp at Mayo, Yukon territory, some months ago. His name was not disclosed.

The man was arrested after his actions appeared suspicious to police officers. He then allegedly told police that he was involved in a fight and that a man died as a result of it.

Papers found on the man's person showed he had travelled through British Columbia, Manitoba and Ontario and indicated that he had no fixed address.

His case was turned over to RCMP for investigation.

Canada To Give 100 Ships To Atlantic Pool

OTTAWA, Nov. 18 — (CP) — Canada will contribute 100 or more ships to the new wartime merchant shipping pool of the North Atlantic pact nations, it was learned Friday.

Plans of the Canadian Government are to make available to the pool, set up in Washington this week, Canadian-owned vessels which have been transferred to the British flag under an arrangement made a year ago with the United Kingdom government.

Up to now, 95 deep sea ships totalling 610,000 gross tons have been transferred to British registry to cut down their operating costs and enable them to meet world competition.

Authority has been given for the transfer of another 28, and expectation are the number of vessels involved in the plan eventually will go well over 100.

Millon Tons

Should Canada take up the full number of authorized transfers, roughly 1,000,000 tons of shipping then would be committed for the pool, which in wartime would be directed by a controlling agency set up by the North Atlantic group.

The new organization, called the Defense Shipping Authority, will have no effect upon the operations of the pool's vessels in peacetime.

Purpose of the pool, on whose preliminary preparations Canada has been working actively for more than a year, is to give the North Atlantic countries a reserve of merchant shipping—some 75,000,000 tons—which they can put into co-ordinated action promptly upon the outbreak of a war.

Launch Inquiry In House Blast

WINDSOR, Nov. 18 (CP). — A thorough investigation by fire department inspectors into cause of the blast that wrecked a two-family brick home on Wyandotte Street West Friday continued today.

Members of the inspecting party that spent most of yesterday in the ruined house said they are certain the blast occurred in the basement of premises occupied by R. E. Rowe. They said the furnace provided the igniting spark for whatever substance was responsible for the explosion.

Contrary to reports following the explosion, gas mains on Wyandotte Street immediately in front of the Rowe residence were charged with gas. Officials are not entirely discontinuing the theory that gas seepage from this source might have played its part in the disaster.

Captain Emmett Bryne, one of the inspecting party, said charred wood in the basement and melted metal indicated "a most intense heat" in the vicinity of the original blaze. He said the subfloor between basement and first floor was entirely burned out.

Although the furnace door in the Rowe basement was closed, pipes leading to the upper floors were knocked down. This, he said, could have been due to explosive force.

"There must have been a lot of whatever blew up," he said grimly.

Mrs. Ingenito told her husband he was prohibited under a court separation order from seeing the children.

Ingenito then shot his father-in-law, mother-in-law, and wife With the smoking weapon still in his hand, he dashed across the street to the Pioppi home. His wife's grandmother, Mrs. Theresa Pioppi, had heard the shots and was standing at her doorway.

Two Women Dead

Ingenito turned the gun on Mrs. Pioppi and also on Marion Pioppi, who came running to the door at that moment. Both women fell dead.

The crazed gunman stepped over their bodies and walked to the kitchen. Seated around a table were three children—Jean Pioppi, 8, Armando Pioppi, 6, and Tessie Pioppi, 1½. Sitting nearby was the children's great-grandfather, Armando Pioppi.

"I cleaned out the other family," Ongenito shouted. "I came here to get you."

Schools Ban "Beboppers"

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 18 (AP)—'Teen-age "beboppers" are finding themselves unwelcome in the Milwaukee schools. They became objects of unfriendly attention yesterday by both Public and Parochial (Separate School officials and even a group of student leaders joined in a campaign against "beboppism."

About 50 student council representatives of 14 Roman Catholic High Schools met with Msgr. Edmund J. Goebel, Archdiocesan Superintendent of Schools. He said the group decided on a ban against "all dress that goes with bebops."

Such youths are said to wear sloppy army field jackets for both sexes; rainbow-hued drape pants, loud sports jackets and "ducktail" haircuts for boys, and long, tight skirts, babushkas and saddle shoes for girls.

Harold S. Vincent, superintendent of Public Schools, said after a meeting on the subject with principals that their goal is "proper decorum." Items of dress would be left up to the principals.

Msgr. Goebel told 200 Roman Catholic parents that bebop leaders made members perform "vicious or obscene acts."

Enemy Vanishes

United States intelligence sources estimated about 28,000 Chinese in three division-size task forces are on the Taechon-Tokchon line with about 70,000 North Koreans. Other units are in supporting positions. There was no reported evidence of any Communist pulling back to the Yalu in that area 45 miles northwest of Taechon.

Greatest Worry

The Yalu river site area apparently is the point of greatest sensitivity for the Chinese Reds

On the northeast battle lines there were no indications of any new Red build-ups to stop advancing U.N. forces.

Observer and intelligence reports indicated nothing but snow lay between tank forces of the American 7th division and air-struck and burned-out Kapsan in the northeast. Kapsan is 21 air-line miles short of Manchuria on that tack through valleys among steep mountains.

AP correspondent Tom Stone, on the Kapsan front, reported the 7th's advance was delayed three hours Friday to let Sherman tanks wheel off the road and help clean out entrenched Reds The Communist ambush was lodged in the hillsides above the mountain gap road.

The tanks were supported by artillery fire and allied air attacks. After the skirmish 128 Reds were counted dead, more were wounded and American casualties were assessed as comparatively light.

Then the 7th went ahead and kept going Saturday after an all-quiet night.

No Signs of Enemy

Air observers reported no signs of enemy life clear up to the Yalu river. The 7th expected to reach the near side, opposite Manchuria, not later than Monday on a slow march with an eye cocked for ambushes such as it encountered Friday.

The clogging snow was accompanied by milder temperatures—a rise above freezing at some places from near-zero early in the week. But the respite for the troops is expected to be brief. The prediction was "clear sky with large drop in temperature."

The 7th division's 31st and 32nd regiments held to positions between Pungsan and the Pujon reservoir, 35 miles southwest of Kapsan, and a sector south of the great north midland power sites that send electric energy to Manchuria and the Siberian frontier.

A 31st regiment intelligence officer said Chinese Reds who withdrew from contact with his unit apparently fled north "because they lost the will to fight."

works for John W. Bavington Ltd. a Toronto paint contractor. Their home is in Scarboro.

Dazed, though physically unharmed, Dillon told the Examiner his hydraulic brakes would not hold when he applied them while nearing the intersection.

"I was hauling asphalt for the Bennett Construction Co. who are paving the roads in Peterborough," he said. "I was pumping the brakes at just about that road there (pointing to the laneway into Blewett's farm, some 200 yards north of the intersection on the Chemong Rd.) But nothing happened. I guess it was the rack (pointing to the dump portion of the truck) that hit them."

No Accidents

Dillon is a former Maynooth resident. He said that in his previous seven months of driving experience he had never so much as scratched a fender.

A number of veteran truck drivers, who had seen their share of accidents, said the wreck was one of the worst they had ever inspected. The hood was ripped from the spinning car and flung to one side; the engine was smashed into a jumble of metal, and the frame of the all-but-demolished windshield was pushed forward into the two front seats.

The circular handgrip of the steering wheel was torn away, leaving the three metal spindles of the wheel bent like a tripod, pointing at the driver's midriff.

As the out-of-control dump truck glanced along the side of the car, the protruding rack, laden with the six tons of asphalt, sheared away the whole left side and top of the car. The tangle of metal was left dragging behind the rear wheels of the shattered vehicle.

Truck In Ditch

After colliding with the Lindstrom car at the "Y", the truck plunged across the highway and ran into the south ditch where it stopped, inches away from a tree, at a 45-degree angle parallel to the road.

The box containing the asphalt was partly torn from the frame, spilling part of the load in the ditch. It stopped about 60 feet southeast of the point of impact and some 30 feet from the wrecked car.

Coroner Dr. H. G. Carleton pronounced Lindstrom dead.

Investigating the fatality were Provincial Corporal Lloyd McClure, and Constables Peter McIntyre and A. C. Russell.

UK Shipyards Boost Production

LONDON, Nov. 18 (Reuters)—British shipyard workers, still waiting the outcome of their demand for wage increases, have stepped up the tempo of production in British yards, busiest in the world.

British shipbuilders now are at work on a record £26,500,000 worth of orders, with civilian and naval contracts continuing to roll in.

Both management and workers in main yards say the men are working faster than at any time since the end of the war, and that stepped-up tempo of production is a factor in keeping the order books filled.

Workers' demands for an increase of £1 weekly from the present average weekly wage of about nearly £6 have gone to arbitration, and a decision is expected shortly. Yard owners say if wages go up Britain may have to price herself out of the shipbuilding business, with contracts going to European yards whose costs are lower.

Plan Special Fuss For Young Wheat Champ

TORONTO, Nov. 18 (CP)—The kings come today to the scene of their triumphs.

Five of the six world champions — one of them a 13-year-old Alberta boy — will visit the Royal Winter Fair and be officially crowned by picking up the trophies they won for prize-winning seed exhibits.

All will get red-carpet treatment, but a little extra special fuss is going into the welcome for young Ricky Sharpe, the Munson, Alta., schoolboy whose sample of Marquis wheat was judged best in the world, here are a few things in store for him.

He'll be welcomed by Agriculture Minister Tom Kennedy of Ontario, taken to the biggest hotel in town for breakfast, then to Toronto's traffic-stopping Santa Claus parade, to the fair and the vice-president's box at the horse show, and even to see Niagara Falls.

Other Champions

Other champions to get their trophies are E. W. Doubet of Hanna City, Ill., for corn; Arthur Budarick of Palmer Falls, Ont., for potatoes; Albert Kessel of Rosetown, Sask., for barley; and Chris Morck of Dickson, Alta., for rye.

At the fair Friday, Ontario farmers took the play away from the west by cleaning up in nearly all breeds of sheep. Practically their only competition came from the United States. The westerners picked up a few ribbons in palomino and percheron horses, but it wasn't the west's day.

About the most exciting show of the day was the international jumping competition, where Great Britain's Lt.-Col. Harry Llewellyn lived up to all the rave notices about him from Europe by sending his fine jumper foxhunter over the nine-jump course in winning style.

It took four tie-breaking jump-offs to do it—a record for international competition in Canada—but his victory over second- and third-place Mexican riders gave Britain its second victory in four nights. The Mexicans, long the world's best at this business, also have two wins. Other countries competing are Canada, the United States, the Republic of Ireland and Chile.

Dwarf Horses Found In B.C.

VICTORIA, B.C. — (CP) — Five fully-grown horses the size of great dane dogs, two of them born in captivity, browse quietly on an up-island farm.

They are true horses, not ponies, the only ones in Canada and among the few in the world. Only difference between their type and an ordinary horse, except for size, is that the head is slightly larger in proportion.

Their history is unique. Many years ago three horses strayed and became trapped in a cul-de-sac in the Grand Canyon of the Colorado River. They survived and multiplied, but through years of inbreeding and shortage of food they gradually became stunted in size.

It is understood they are considered a national rarity, and can no longer be exported from the United States.

Ponies are fairly common in Canada, especially in the east where they are widely used in sleigh teams, but as far as is know there are no other little horses in this country.

24 Rifles, Shotguns Prove Game Wardens Been On Job

By NICK NICKELS

The only chance of finding a game warden at home these days is when he calls for a clean shirt. On Friday afternoon Bob Trotter and Ray Simpson roared into the former's home at Apsley in their new flying-squad jeep. They unloaded several confisctaed firearms, a deer carcass or two and a couple of bulging briefcases of important looking papers. Because the deer season closes today does not mean that they can hoist their tired feet to the top of the cook-stove. They expect another full week of work in the bush and two weeks following this preparing departmental forms of all kinds.

In Trotter's backyard was some evidence of confiscated game: a fawn and a doe hanging on a rack side by side with a 700-pound elk, all shot by mistake, so their killers said. There were also several tethered hounds baying at passing traffic on the main street.

To get any information from them on the general progress of the hunt was a slow process. About road blocks, for instance.

Two-Hour Check

They finally consented to study their records and quote some figures from a two-hour check point set up, one evening, above Havelock last week. From 5 to 7 p.m., a total of 114 hunters revealed trophies of 24 bucks, 23 does, 16 fawns and two bears; this figure works out to more than one deer to each two hunters. It will be a few weeks yet before the department in Queen's Park will be able to release district figures for the whole province, they said.

Queried as to the number of bear shot this season in excess of last, the game wardens gave the following explanation. Last year's deer season was staged later than this, at a time when bears had denned up for the winter. There were consequently very few of them shot. This year caught bruin and his natural brood increase rambling in the woods before holing up and many more fell to hunters' rifles.

Fire On Accidentally

What about the rumour that Trotter got his hair parted with a bullet. Nothing to it but rumour, he said. He and Simpson and Douglas McEachern of Haliburton, on a patrol in Methuen township early this week, were fired on accidentally by some trigger-happy hunter but all of them agreed that no one was trying to take an avenging shot at their party.

Noticing that the game wardens had brought a few guns in their jeep, the reporter asked where their season's collection was. They went in to Mr. Trotter's house and after several trips stacked up 24 rifles and shotguns to prove that they had certainly been on the job.

In discussing the elk carcass hanging in the yard, it was learned that a Peterborough man had shot it, reported it and turned it in to the warden. Prosecution for this breach of game laws—elk are protected in the Kawarthas—was not discussed at all.

Lost And Strayed

The number of kennelled hounds about the property led to a discussion of lost and strayed animals. Apparently Mrs. Trotter has taken on the job of pound keeper and said she has harboured more than 15 stray dogs since the opening of the season. Some hunters who came to claim their animals thanked her, others paid her a fair amount for her trouble in kennelling them. Her husband said that he had kept some hounds for a year after the season closed and no one claimed them. It cost him money to feed them and when the tax collector came around demanding that he pay dog tax the ensuing arguments could be heard all over the village. Another hound pound is being operated by Bob Beal at Burleigh who has already had half a dozen stray boarders and still some to be claimed.

How did the game wardens like their new flying-squad jeep? It was the doe's nose, they agreed. Apparently they were able to drive it everywhere in the deep bush except the wet swamps and the perpendicular sides of Blue Mountain.

"It saves a lot of walking," they both agreed, "but unfortunately we have to turn it back to headquarters in a few days' time. "A jeep the year round would give them a decided jump on violators, they stated with regret.

32-Yr.-Old Song On Hit Parade

TORONTO —(CP)— An old song written by Bob Wilson, Toronto veteran of vaudeville, promises to climb high on the current hit parades. Wilson, now 74, carried the song in his pocket for 32 years before recording companies began racing to get it on wax.

Wilson says he got the idea for the song "Smile, Smile, Smile" while playing in vaudeville in a small Saskatchewan town in 1918. Now London records has recorded three versions, and others are coming from Victor, Columbia and MGM.

The cheerful white - haired Wilson has been in Canadian show business for more than half a century. He was born at Somerville, a village in Ontario's Kawartha Lakes district, and came to Toronto as a small boy. He started as a youngster in amateur opera companies and turned professional with Jimmy Fax, show veteran who died five years ago.

His own company toured Ontario, western Canada and the United States for many years, during which he composed a number of songs. It wasn't until less than a year ago that he thought of trying to get any published.

He is saddened by the eclipse of the old Canadian Chatauqua groups. "There were a lot of good songs lost, strictly Canadian, when those old-timers went," he said.

MISSIONARY PRAISES NORTH—Miss Monica Storrs, 63 is returning to her native England after 21 years as an Anglican missionary in northern British Columbia—"the finest country in the world." She is shown here aboard the Cunard-Donaldson liner Ascania on the ship's last sailing from Montreal this season. Miss Storrs said when she first went to Fort St. John, B.C., there were only 70 families. She settled with a pioneer family and later built her own log house. Now there are 15,000 inhabitants. She is sorry to leave the 3,000-square mile parish, but feels a younger person should carry on and that new missionaries should be Canadians.

Silver Mountain May Again Yield Valuable Metals

PORT ARTHUR —(CP)— Is there still silver in Silver Mountain? A Toronto mining company wants to find out.

A recent dynamite blast at the mountain, 38 miles west of here, blew the bottom out of a shaft in an old silver mine that hadn't been disturbed for 60 years.

It was another stage in attempts by McWilliams-Beardmore Mines Ltd. to find more of the high-grade silver ore that was taken from the mine before the turn of the century.

From these workings 50 and 60 years ago were removed many tons of rich silver ore, some of it selling for as much as $1,000 a ton.

There were about 20 silver mines operating in this area at the time Silver Mountain mine was at its peak.

D. B. McWilliams, president of the company, says if the mine still contains silver the aim is to get it into full-scale production and permit exploitation of fluorite, zinc and lead known to exist there.

Fluorite Deposit

Mr. McWilliams says he is sure there is enough fluorite alone in the mine to pay operating expenses and provide a small profit. Silver or other metals would be "gravy." One of the things that influenced the decision to test the mine's hidden secrets is the growing importance of fluorite. In the old days it was not recognized but today it has many uses, including a part in the manufacture of atomic bombs.

He said geologists estimate the deposit of fluorite at Silver Mountain is the second largest in the world. In addition, the demand for silver, now selling at about 77 cents an ounce, is increasing.

There are 10 men working at the mine. The ore is ground into concentrate and barrelled for shipment to the smelter at Trail, B.C.

The story of Silver Mountain is linked with a colorful era in the history of this district.

Oliver Dounais discovered the Silver Mountain mines after he married into an Indian tribe. The Indians had been in possession of trinkets made from solid silver. At first they refused to reveal the location of their findings because of a superstition that they would be punished by their gods.

Dounais is reported to have been paid $175,000 for one of the mines plus a one-eighth interest in the company.

And Now—No Colour In Cheese

The Rt. Hon. James G. Gardiner, the Dominion Minister of Agriculture, recently told the cheese-makers and cheese buyers of Canada that in future all our cheese must be white; the use of the vegetable colour which gives cheese its pleasant orange tint is henceforth forbidden. Why? Because we export a lot of cheese to England, and English buyers do not like coloured cheese.

* * *

Canadians, however, do like coloured cheese and buy it in preference to white which, they say with considerable justification, looks like cheap soap. Why should Canadians be denied what they want because of an English preference? Surely it is a simple matter to arrange that cheese for export should be white, and cheese for domestic sale should be coloured?

* * *

Because Canadians like coloured cheese and buy it in preference to white, coloured cheese from New Zealand is now being imported into this country. Think of it: here we are in a country which produces some of the best cheese in the world, importing from another country and exporting our own, and all because of a matter of colour! The situation is ridiculous. The New Zealand cheese comes to Canada at 47 cents a pound; our old Canadian cheese (white) goes to the retailer at about 36½ cents a pound. The difference seems a lot to pay for a small amount of orange colouring.

* * *

Is there more in this than meets the eye? Is the ban on colour for cheese to be followed by some new attempt to ban the colouring of margarine, or even the sale of colouring material with margarine? There must be something more in this ban on coloured cheese than appears on the surface, and we should like to know what it is. Eastern Ontario is a particularly fine cheese-producing area and anything which depresses the manufacture and sale of cheese is of deep interest here. And certainly a regulation forcing the sale of white cheese is going to increase the demand for imported cheese and strike a sharp blow at the domestic market for our own cheese. Somebody must stand to benefit from this arbitrary ruling, and as it is obviously not the Canadian consumer, we suggest that Mr. Gardiner would be wise to think again.

Five Financial Years

Mr. Graham Towers, Governor of the Bank of Canada, quickly surveyed in a speech given earlier this month in Toronto, aspects of international financing since the war as they have touched on Canada. His review shows a remarkably complex and difficult situation met in five years with unbelievable success. For instance, the rest of the world is now approximately in balance with the United States, in terms of current finance and trade, and this great change from 1945 has taken place without serious economic upheavals.

By the end of the war plans had been made to deal with the problems of finance and reconstruction that would face the world. These resulted in the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Organization (UNRRA), the International Bank of Reconstruction and Development, and the International Monetary Fund. Canada took part in each, and in addition, in 1946, made large loans chiefly to Britain, as did the United States.

By 1947 it was discovered that the magnitude and difficulty of the task had been underestimated. (The Russian tactics in the Cold War begun then sealed off normal trade channels and supplies—one instance of the unforseen difficulties. Another was, of course, Russia's failure to take her part in the work of reconstruction.) The crisis of 1947-48 was met by the splendid Marshall Plan, but it did not directly assist the Middle East and Far East, mainly parts of the sterling area. The United Kingdom was unable to meet all her own and other sterling countries' post-war needs. This led to a new foreign exchange crisis, and 30 per cent. devaluation of sterling took place in September 1949. The most recent major event disturbing finance and trade has been the outbreak of hostilities in Korea.

As Mr. Towers pointed out, however, through all these disturbances North American business has never faltered (except briefly in the U.S. in 1949) and capital development has been on a scale never before attained. There was a tremendous excess of exports over imports from the United States which reached a peak in 1947 and made the dollar shortage acute. (The U.S. surplus in merchandise trade that year was nearly $10 billions.) But owing to recovery in other countries, Marshall Aid, import restrictions imposed against American goods (as Canada did when her dollar shortage came to a critical point), and the United States' vast program of re-arming, and helping underdeveloped countries, the United States surplus has wilted, and her current account transactions are now close to a balance.

Another cheerful fact of international trade, with the U.S. at its centre, is that Canada's position has improved vastly. Before the war Canada always had a very large trade deficit with the U.S. which she balanced by her surplus from British trade. Britain no longer had the means to pay in dollars after the war; there was no chance of a payable British surplus to balance the American deficit. The peak was reached in 1947 with a deficit of $1,135 millions with the United States, and a surplus of $1,155 millions with the sterling area and a group of Western European countries. What is the situation this year? Mr. Towers thinks it likely that our current account deficit with the U.S. will be down to about $200 millions and our surplus with the sterling area and Western Europe will not more than offset this deficit.

It is a healthy position. Mr. Towers cautiously said: "While it would be rash to assume that the future is all plain sailing, or that we shall never be plagued by the United States dollar shortages on the one hand, and embarrassing curtailment of our overseas exports on the other, it can be said that the extreme fears which were so commonly expressed a year or so ago have not yet been justified. For this, we have to thank in large measure the high level of United States business, and the energy and initiative of our people." We must ruefully add, that we must also thank the march of Communism and the war in Korea, which have strongly stimulated industry and business.

Irish Partition And U.S. Labour

The department of external affairs of the Eire government in Dublin keeps us informed of views and news by a weekly bulletin. The latest at hand reports on a resolution unanimously adopted at the 669th Annual Convention of the American Federation of Labour, meeting at Houston, Texas.

Here is the resolution:

"WHEREAS, The American Federation of Labour in their national conventions of 1949, recorded their opposition to the continued Partition of Ireland, and

"WHEREAS, History records that whenever foreign powers have seized countries and attempted to force their rule on peoples has led to nothing but strife and discord, thereby usurping the right of the majority of people to govern themselves, and

"WHEREAS, The money of the American freedom-loving men and women, collected through taxes, is being disbursed in the form of European Recovery Aid to England, which, in turn, is subsidizing minority form of government in Northeast Ireland which is contrary to the wishes of the majority of the Irish people, therefore, be it

"RESOLVED, That this convention of the A. F. of L., respectfully request the American Federation of Labour delegates to the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions to bring to a successful conclusion the end of the Partition of Ireland."

The variety of avenues along which union conventions travel in their discussions and resolutions is staggering. Who would have thought that away down in Texas, labour men would bother their heads (or voices) about the perennial state of dear, old distressful Ireland? Ah, but labour union officials are politicians, and the power of the word Ireland, and of the Irish expatriate prejudice in the U.S.A. must not be underestimated. Britain's Minister of Defence, Emanuel Shinwell, recently eyed it for what it is. When asked by a Washington reporter to comment on the partition of Ireland, he replied: "I do not intend to mix in U.S. domestic politics."

NOTE AND COMMENT

A homey touch is provided in U.S. politics by the news that President Truman has an afternoon nap in his underwear. Yet a candidate who revealed that he napped raw might, shall we say, outstrip him?

The Toronto Star publishes the curious information that the pressure of a kiss is two pounds to the square inch. People with particularly large kissers are in serious danger of being stove in by sheer weight of affection.

Mr. George Drew, speaking from London, says that Canada is buying much from the U.S. which she could buy in Britain. Yes, and Britain is buying a lot of wheat from Russia which she could have bought from Canada. What about that? Imperial ties are expected to work both ways.

The Marchbanks Correspondence

To Samuel Marchbanks, Esq.

Dear Mr. Marchbanks:

I have just finished reading a book by the eminent child-psychologist, Dr. Blutwurst Susskind, in which he makes it clear that what children want more than anything in the world is parental love. It is this desire, he says, which makes children ask questions at inconvenient times, wake their parents up early in the mornings, kick them on the shins, and in general behave in a way which thoughtless parents call "making a nuisance of themselves", Dr. Susskind says that an eager child should never be rebuffed. The parents should say: "I love you dearly, but I haven't time to attend to you now", or something of the sort.

Now I have a scheme which I would like you, as an internationally-known lover of children, to assist me in popularizing. It is based upon the old system of Sunday School cards which you will remember: a child got a small card for each visit to S.S.; when it had ten small cards it could exchange them for a large card; when it had ten large cards it could get a Bible. Now my idea is that a parent should have a stock of cards saying: "Love you dearly; busy now", which it could hand to the child which interrupted at an inconvenient moment. Ten such cards could be exchanged for a large card saying: "Dote upon you madly; go away". Ten of these large cards could be exchanged for a visit to the circus, a picnic, a soda-guzzle or some similar treat.

The cards, I feel, could most effectively be sold through the Home and School Clubs; the whole scheme could be financed for a beggarly $10,000 and it is for this laughable sum that I confidently turn to you.

Yours with complete confidence,
MINERVA HAWSER.

To Miss Minerva Hawser

Dear Miss Hawser:

How lucky that your letter reached me when it did! I was just about to write to you about a scheme of my own for the improvement of the lot of children, which is a notoriously hard one in our age. It has been my observation that many children suffer real hardship because they want to listen to all (not just a few) radio programs, but they are of such a restless bodily composition that there are times when they simply have to get up from their seats near the radio, and run about. This means, of course, that they lose many desirable half-hours of listening-time.

I have devised a small battery radio which any child can wear concealed in its hat; electric wires running down from the hat into the child's shoes keep the battery constantly charged by the energy which the child generates as it runs. Thus the child may play and listen-in at the same time, without missing a thing.

As it happens I also need $10,000 to launch this scheme, and had decided to turn to you for it. We can both go on with our work, therefore, without even troubling to exchange cheques.

With thanks for your valuable help,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

To Samuel Marchbanks, Esq.

Dear Sam:

I was reading a new book about the eighteenth century a few days ago, and came upon some references to Dr. Samuel Johnson and his cat Hodge; the author remarked that however out of temper the great Doctor might be, the appearance of Hodge was enough to put him into a good humour. I send you, therefore, the following poem, which I have called "Remarkable Power of a Cat to Soothe a Raging Philosopher".

Dr. Johnson's cat Hodge
Was up to every feline dodge:
When the Doctor shouted "Sir!"
Hodge would disarmingly interject "Purr".

Rather good, don't you think?

PILGARLIC.

To Chandos Fribble, Esq.

Industrious Fribble:

Can you tell me why there seem to be so few young men in Hollywood? The supply of girls under thirty seems to be inexhaustible but the men are sore stricken in years. Last night I saw a trailer for a film in which the big heart-throb was Humphrey Bogart; he was called upon to kiss a young woman, and as he approached her with stooped shoulders and trembling hands I was irresistibly reminded of Donald Wolfit as King Lear, pressing a palsied embrace upon Cordelia. What do you make of this? Respect for the old is a fine quality, but don't you think Hollywood is overdoing it?

SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

To Waghorn Wittöl, Esq.

Dear Wittol:

I understand your position exactly. When strange men call on the phone and want to know where Mrs. Wittol is, or to describe to you their feelings toward Mrs. Wittol, it must be very boring for you. But why do you not develop a technique for such callers?

For years I have used a variety of methods for discouraging phoners who are nuisances. The simplest, and one of the best, is to pretend that you can't hear, and demand repetitions, which you interrupt with cries of "It's no use; I can't hear a word you say". But it is also a good idea to lay the phone down gently, and then to go elsewhere and read a book. You can get one of the children to replace the instrument on its hooks at some later time. Sneezing and coughing into the instrument are also effecive, when followed by a muttered "Excuse me", and another blast, or perhaps a groan. And you can always pretend to be talking to someone else in the room with you, so that the phoner gets an impression of divided attention.

There are dozens of ways to discourage telephoners. You must learn to protect yourself. Regards to your wife—if she is still yours.

MARCHBANKS.

To Big Chief Marchbanks

How, Marchbanks:

Lucky thing I in jail, Marchbanks. Awful sick. Last week I make little drink. Save breakfast prunes and leave in sun. Ferment fine. Then I think I give drink extra kick, so put in few jail beans. Make nice foam on top of prunes. Then I drink. Yow, Marchbanks! But then I feel terrible. Happy hunting ground stare me in face. Cold hand grip me in heart. I shriek. Jail doctor come. Feel me very personal. Aha, he say, you got Poor Man's Thrombosis. What that, I say. Gas pains, he say.

I lucky Indian to be in jail when woods full of paleface hunters. They shoot anything that moves.

How again,

Prosperity for World's Loneliest Island

By JOHN WORRALL

THE grant of £130,000 from the British Colonial Development Corporation to a South African company now developing fisheries at Tristan Da Cunha "the world's loneliest island," in the South Atlantic, is regarded here as recognition of the work of this company in rehabilitating the impoverished islanders.

Two years ago this company was formed to put the island fishing industry on a commercial basis. The charter of the company lays down that it must undertake much of the responsibility for re-organizing social life on Tristan De Cunha. The islanders' condition was so pitiable that it was once thought they would have to be removed totally to South Africa. Now they have free medical, educational and other services. From their catches of fish—mainly crawfish which are in demand in the United States—they are earning good money. Previously they had existed on meagre sums, mainly from missionary and Government grants.

* * *

THE charter gives the company exclusive fishing rights round the islands of the Tristan group. About the middle of 1951 Tristan Da Cunha will get its first regular shipping service. An £80,000 vessel now being refitted in Holland will ply between Tristan Da Cunha and Cape Town. It will be fitted with cold-storage and deep-freezing equipment for the transportation of crawfish tails to Cape Town for the European and United States markets.

Hitherto the islanders have relied for mails and stores on a naval vessel from Simonstown which called once a year.

In a year the islanders have exchanged a bare subsistence economy for a reasonable living standard.

Besides fishing resources, there are vast growths of seaweed round the island which may be exploited for its alginic acid content which is much in demand for industrial and surgical purposes.

The island's potatoes have also been found to be free of virus, which is likely greatly to benefit the Union's potato-crops. The Tristan Company, while financial control is now in the hands of the Colonial Development Corporation, will continue to exercise managerial control.

(Special to The Examiner from the London Observer.)

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ. But we have this treasure in earthen vessels, that the excellency of the power may be of God, and not of us.

We are troubled on every side, yet not distressed; we are perplexed, but not in despair .... Always bearing about in the body the dying of the Lord Jesus, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our body ...

We having the same spirit of faith, according as it is written, I believed, and therefore have I spoken; we also believe, and therefore speak; knowing that he which raiseth up the Lord Jesus shall raise up us also by Jesus, and shall present us with you ....

For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory; while we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen: for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal. (II Cor. 4: 6-8, 10, 13, 14, 17, 18.)

* * *

For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens. (II Cor. 5: 1.)

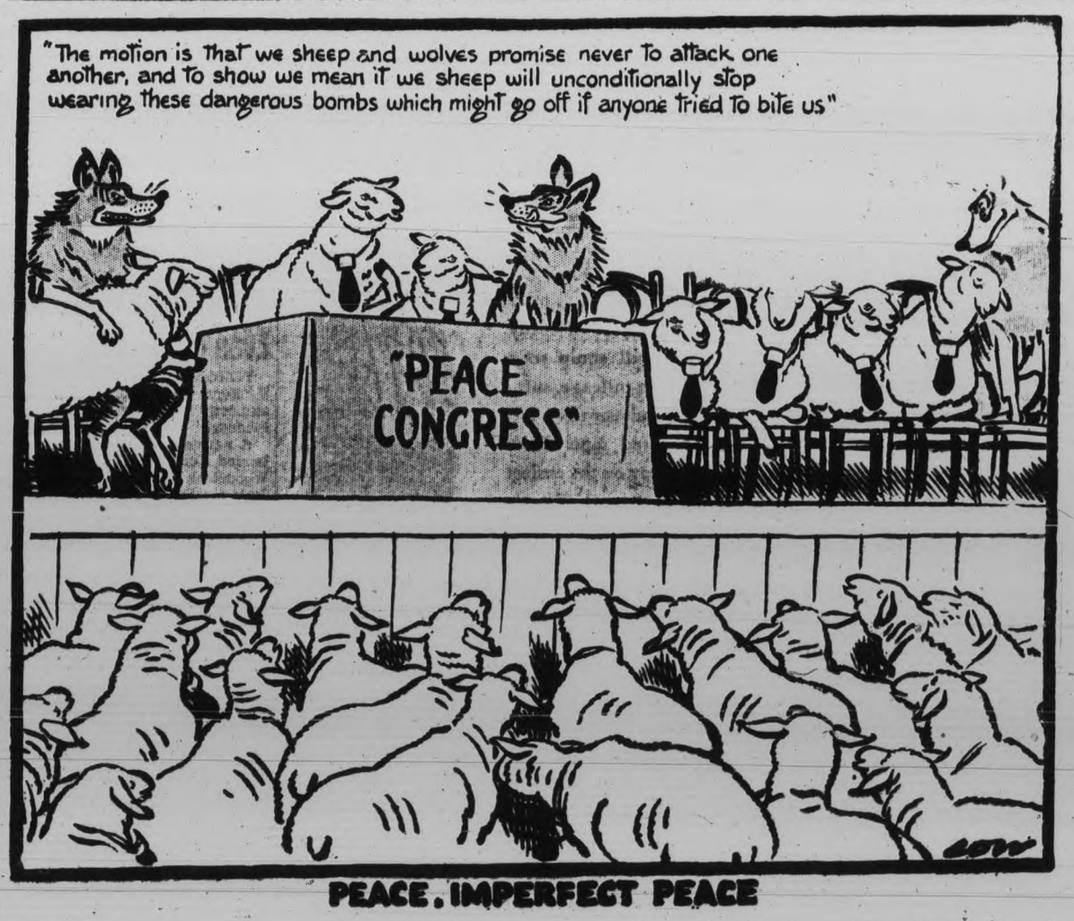
(John E. Gibson in The Chicago Daily News)

It sometimes happens that a terrifically funny story may produce such paroxysms of laughter that internal injury may result. Not long ago Cincinnati's Vice-Mayor Edward Waldvogel, told an excruciatingly funny story to one of his acquaintances, a humour-loving gentleman named Joseph Alberts. Alberts laughed so hard he suffered a lung injury in the process. Physicians diagnosed the injury as spontaneous pneumothorax, and charged the victim $400.

Unfortunately, raconteurs who would give an eyetooth to add a joke of such terrific calibre to their collections are doomed to disappointment. For both Waldvogel and the victim confess that in the flurry of excitement that followed the incident, both forgot just which joke it was that did all the damage.



WINGED RICHES

"Riches," said the teacher, as he was reading to his class, "take unto themselves wings and fly away. What kind of riches does the writer mean?"

Blank looks met his gaze.

"Surely someone can answer a question like that. You, Brown, what kind of riches did the writer mean?"

Brown hesitated for a moment, and then plunged. "Ostriches, sir."

The Fellows in Forestry Green are more than having their hands full these deer-hunting days, especially at the road blocks. A week ago Wednesday at the Burleigh-Buckhorn Y, they exposed a number of violators falling into such categories as: (a) not having metal tags attached to carcasses; (b) in possession of firearms not covered by authority of a deer hunting license; (c) the possession of does or fawns not matched up with bucks killed; (d) loaded firearms in cars. Not new, but greatly enlarged on this year, are their flying patrol squads in jeeps whose two-man crews are able to drive into the roughest type of backwoods country, camp by the wayside, and where driving becomes impossible, to continue through the woods on foot. These jeep squads also throw up surprise road blocks anywhere and officials say it is working out very well. Overworked conservation officers are not unmindful of the illegal whitefish poaching going on at the present time in the Kawarthas, nor of the jacklighting for pickerel down Rice Lake way.

Weekly Mails From The Woods

Contemporary G and M's Bob Turnbull has twice mentioned the source of valuable information he receives each week from Lands and Forests Province-wide district offices. He mentions the artistic cover sketch which faces the weekly report from Geraldton done by gifted Yjorki Fiskar, district forester. I know Yjorki for being a man of many facets but his art work is a new one. I flew with him out of Long Lake, Geraldton way, a year ago, and drove his car 160 miles to Heart with Stanley Hall (MPP, Halton). I have been getting these reports for some time, also, together with McGillen of The Tely and Murdoch of The Hamilton Spec. This week's report from Kapuskasing has a item with a Peterborough slant.

It said that their district forestry mechanic is attending a course at the Outboard Marine plant in this city. Outboarder Don Wood tells me that they have been holding a fire motor session all this week for forestry maintenance men from Sioux Lookout, Fort Frances, Kenora, Port Arthur, Geraldton, Kap, Cochrane and Temiskaming. It is nothing new, about ten years old now, and the northern men are getting a lot of practical knowledge in a short time, says Don.

The second and final season for partridge closes tonight and wing shots are claiming a very satisfactory shoot. To tell why they are numerous might be explained that a pair of adult birds, producing an average of eight chicks a year and the subsequent production of those chicks, adds up to a staggering 1,250 birds in four years time. Supposing that due to natural death, predators and hunters, only three out of each hatch survive, the increase over an 8-11-year cycle still produces a sizeable population. The decline of the partridge cycle is engineered by Nature in the form of flock disease so that their large numbers will not get out of hand. By the way, their other name is RUFFED Grouse, not ruffled that is so often misquoted. The ruff has to do with their peculiar formation of neck feathers, not a state of perpetual agitation.

They'll Be Comin' Round The Mountain

This week a bearded boy friend for two Himalayan Tahrs—Asiatic mountain goat does—arrived rather ingloriously in a crate from Toronto's Riverdale Zoo, at Blue Mountain. He was a very large beast, handsome, too, with a fine rack of curled swept-back horns. Shipped to the Peterborough Fish and Game boys in care of hardwareman Charlie Kingdon, he was delivered to the preserve finally in one of Frank Coyle's ore trucks. His two lonely girl friends were introduced to the Kosh country about ten years ago and have been constantly fed and protected by the miners at the Nepheline. Finally getting around to the obvious fact that the herd had never increased over that period of time, the jolly Tahr was secured. Blue Mountain miners are already planning a goat creche for the kids come Spring.

DEERSTALKERS' TALES: Two Lakefield parties have brought down the greatest number of deer reported so far. Their members totalled 24 hunters and they got an animal apiece. Good hunting . . . Age places no limit on veteran hunters. Archie Tedford, 81, of Cottesloe, hasn't missed a hunt in 60 years or so, nor getting his deer either, for that matter. He brought home his usual trophy this year from up in the Haultain country . . . Neither has sex anything to do with being a crack shot. Two Annie Oakleys of Apsley, Mrs. Art Earnshaw and Mrs. Sid McCauley shot three deer this season, the former getting two of the total of five bagged by camp mates . . . Peterborough's Magistrate, W. R. Philp, on the occasion of a "no docket" court day, was quoted as saying that even criminals must have taken time off to go hunting . . . A certain British car manufacturing firm would have given a good deal to have seen one of their standard models wheeling through the city a few days ago from the deer country with four deer carcasses strapped to the body PLUS a bear on the roof. It was a case of game on wheels with every inch of the upper-structure, except the windshield, covered with hunting trophies. The car bore an American licence plate . . . Two items of interest from Purdeyville, west of Coe Hill. (1) George Robertson's camp, besides bagging four deer, shot a bear reputed to go 400 pounds. (2) The crossroads garage keeper decided to get himself a deer, found and shot one near his pigpen, in the record time of ten minutes . . . A few hunters with an eye to Christmas are tying small evergreen trees to their cars as well as deer carcasses . . . Hunter Hugh McColl has been gathering cranberries from a marsh west of Apsley, several sacks of them. He sells them by six-quart basket lots for $2.50 and although a nickel a pound more than imported Maine varieties, he claims they are more tasty . . . Nimrods noted much beaver activity in the Eagle-Copper Lakes district . . . "If it moves, shoot it," is the rule for some trigger-witless sportsmen, according to a hunter coming out of the bush near Buckhorn with a freshly-shot deer over his shoulders. You guessed it; someone took a crack at the-deer-that-walked-like-a-man but hit neither hunter nor trophy.

Ladle In A Pot Of Gold

Intimations of Immortality

Our birth is but a sleep and a forgetting:
The Soul that rises with us, our life's Star,
Hath had elsewhere its setting,
And cometh from afar;
Not in entire forgetfulness,
And not in utter nakedness,
But trailing clouds of glory do we come
From God, who is our home:
Heaven lies about us in our infancy!
Shades of the prison-house begin to close
Upon the growing Boy,
But He beholds the light, and whence it flows,
He sees it in his joy;
The Youth, who daily farther from the east
Must travel, still is Nature's Priest,
And by the vision splendid
Is on his way attended;
At length the Man perceives it die away,
And fade into the light of common day.

Progress of Peterborough: XLV

Opportunities Of 1850's Started Some To Fortunes

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M.A.

The 1850s were a period of optimism and opportunity in Peterborough. Many young men started their rise to fortune in the town then: Thomas Hazlitt came in 1852, started a general store at George and Hunter Streets, married Dickson's daughter and became a leading local financier; Arthur Rutherford came the same year and became rich as a builder and contractor; Wm. Toole came from Emily in 1851, started a planing mill and made a fortune in construction; Giles Webber came in 1851 as a cooper at 75c a day, then worked for Lawson making fanning-mills, and became a wealthy property-owner; Wm. Yelland came in 1851 and worked in Hutchinson's wagon works before starting on his own; Thomas White came in 1850 with his father starting a boot and shoe business, and in 1853 with R. Romaine promoted the Review newspaper which he took over in 1857; Richard Winch after 1850 clerked in Snyder's store at £15 a year, then with his father grew rich in the cattle business; George Schneider started a grocery in 1855 and later went into real estate; T. Fitzgerald came in 1856 as an apprentice carriage maker with Douglas, and soon started his own business; George Cox came in 1858 and within twenty years was wealthy as a promoter. The council was putting down wooden sidewalks on all the main streets, and by 1860 was talking of building a bridge over the Otonabee at Smith Street, and lighting the streets with gas made from burning sawdust; it was also, incidentally, running the town far into debt.

Ashburnham:

According to Mr. Mark Burnham, Hon. Zaccheus Burnham originally owned all the village site north to Douro St. and east from the river to Concession (Armour Road), but before his death in 1857 much of this property had been sold. Although named "the Scotch Village" a majority were of Irish origin, especially after 1840 when Douro people moved into the northern section. The population was 200 or 300, in 1851, and the following were in business: P. Ayres, axe and auger maker; J. Clancy and Wm. Leach, blacksmiths; John McDonald, tailor; J. Craigie, Wm. McGregor and D. Taylor, carpenters; Arthur Peck, brewer; Jas. Haney and John Mowry, foundry machinists; R. D. Rogers, miller and grocer; Wm. Swanston, baker and grocer; N. Wortzer, woollen mill.

According to Miss Annie Gow (born 1841, recounting at age 93), most of the people were grouped along Elizabeth (Hunter) Street from the bridge to Concession Armour Road) and south along Lake (Burnham) Street to Hartwell's Wharf. Elizabeth St. was a dirt road on which eastbound traffic travelled to the top of Armour hill, turning north or south along Concession Street. In the old Armour House on the Westclox site lived Robert Shaw, who ran the stageline to Lindsay. Armour hill was covered with pines, where the villagers went berry-picking. John Robertson lived on the northwest corner of Hunter and Concession, Wm. Arnott on the southwest corner, and west of Arnott were the Bird and Jackson homes. At the southeast corner of Hunter and Rogers lived the Gow family, and on the northeast corner P. Sargent. On the northwest corner lived Sam Brown, and three houses westward was McDonald's tailor shop where the Orangemen met. West of McDonald was Boss Moore, a shoemaker.

Other houses of which we have record were (1) the McFarlane house on Concession north; (2) the Orde house built in the early 1850s near the river at the end of Hazlitt Street, burned in 1864 (in Orde's coachhouse at 107 Hazlitt lived Wm. Thompson from 1860 for eighty years); (3) Verulam House, on a knoll west of Burnham south of Hunter, sold in 1855 by G. F. Order; (4) Rev. Mark Burnham's house overlooking the Otonabee, to the south, built in 1853-4. Downer's British Hotel (on the site of the later Maple Leaf Hotel) and McFadden's Hotel just east of Lake Street, were the most prominent.

To Outgrow Peterborough

When the C. & P. Railway built its station (D. Sutherland, agent) on Elizabeth Street local optimists were sure that Ashburnham would outgrow Peterborough, and a shortlived boom began. At a public meeting that year 1854, the village was named ASHBURNHAM in honor of the Burnham family. In 1855 Henry Calcutt came from Cobourg at age 18 and started up Peck's Brewery on Little Lake again, advertising "Cash for Barley." In 1856 P. Glover, butcher, raised money by subscription to build a three-foot plank sidewalk along the south side of Elizabeth St. from the bridge to the railway station; later one was built along the north side also. R. D. Rogers built a new brick store and post-office at the corner of Driscoll Terrace (on which the date "1856" can still be seen); in this store prominent men like J. Z. Rogers, W. A. Scott, H. T. Strickland and T. Menzies got their start in life.

The Rogers raceway ran south from the dam at Douro Street, midway between the river on the west and Driscoll Terrace and Lake St on the east; a branch turned west to the river opposite the northern island, but the main raceway went straight south. The Rogers Flourmill was just east of the raceway north of Elizabeth St., and the Rogers Sawmill & Shinglemill were opposite on the west bank of the raceway; operated up to 1854 by McGregor Bros.; from 1856 the sawmill was leased by 'Ludgate, the shinglemill by Vanalstine & Austin. The Rogers land between and north of these building was piled with lumber. Near the riverbank north of Elizabeth St. was Mowry's Foundry, making "Threshing Machines of Best Quality" etc.; also his axes were famous in the north woods.

Opposite Mowry on the south side of Elizabeth St. was Wortzer's Woollen Mill, taken over by D. Doran in 1857; east of it was Hurley's Bedstead Factory, and by the raceway was Clarke's Tannery. In 1856 Samuel Dickson, who had sawmills at each end of his London St. dam, moved into the Rogers-Burnham domain by building a large steam sawmill on Little Lake near the foot of Rogers Street.

The highest possible stage in moral culture is when we recognize that we ought to control our thoughts.
Charles Darwin (1809-1882)
DYING YEAR

Incorporated 1858

The Dispatch of January, 1856, announced: "Inhabitants of the Scotch village intend petitioning the legislature of the province at the next session for an act to incorporate the said village." This occurred in Sept. 1858, and the first Council met in Jan. 1859 in the schoolhouse. Councillors were R. D. Rogers, Samuel Dickson, Lewis Glover, and Henry Bennett, and Capt. D. Sutherland was elected Reeve. T. Menzies was appointed clerk; D. McDonald, treasurer; R. Moore, tax collector.

The future looked rosy, with long lines of wagons bringing lumber and other products from the district to the Ashburnham station, and leaving plenty of cash in local pockets. In 1859, Charles, George and A. E. Curtis started a Brick Company northeast of the village, which is still operating. By 1860 John Maniece, Sam Detcher, G. McGregor and Henry Morgan were keeping hotels on Elizabeth St., and John Fisher had a saloon near the station for the teamsters. Wm. Dobbin was making sash and blinds; J. & J. Stevenson made stoves; Wm. Emerson made saddles and harness; Jos. Levenbrick made augers; Wm. McGregor and H. Bennett were coopers; P. Sargent, A. Gow, Wm. Graham and D. Taylor were carpenters; S. Clancey was a blacksmith, Wm. Taylor, Wm. McKelvie, J. Kempt and F. Armstrong had grocery stores, in addition to the other beforementioned.

With the P.H. & P. Railway reaching Peterborough in 1858, and particularly with the closing of the C. & P. Railway (north section) in 1860, Ashburnham settled back to a slower and more solid growth. In 1861 the population was 993, of whom 557 were Canadian-born, 257 Irish, 62 English, 59 Scots, 33 Americans. 174 families lived in 163 houses; 2 brick, 3 stone, 128 frame, 30 log. One of the brick houses was Rev. Beck's home, built 1859-69 on the site of St. Joseph's Hospital, with a fine view over the river valley:

There were 544 acres owned, and 196 cows, 127 horses, 122 pigs, 70 sheep, and 57 carriages kept for pleasure. Most of the carriages were used to convey the 323 Roman Catholics, 280 Anglicans, 229 Presbyterians, and 152 Methodists across the river to church. There were 211 children from 5 to 15 years old, of whom 165 (97 boys, 68 girls) were attending School; even if some of these went to the separate schools, there must have been overcrowding in the one-room frame school on Mark just north of Elizabeth St. The teachers, Mr. Robinson and later Mr. McDougall, certainly earned their salary which was $400 per annum.

CORRECTION: In Article XXXVII, paragraph 11, sentence three should have read: 'For this purpose, when Peterborough's total assets were $59,537.57 the town borrowed $120,000 etc.' The word should have been assets instead of assessment. In fact, Peterborough's total assessment in 1857 was $987,768.

Chignons At Hairdressers? Not Even A Wig For 10 Years

By COLLETTE FERGUSON

Women's hairdo's are always in a state of flux and at the present time hair styles have taken a new twist. Deciding to stem the tide of hair clipping that has taken North American women by storm, the hair stylists in the United States have come up with a new, yet old, hair gadget known as a chignon.

"What is a chignon?" all Peterborough hairdressers asked who were approached for their opinion about this latest addition to hair styles. They didn't know a chignon from a chincilla! Does this mean that Peterborough is behind the fashions as dictated by American hair stylists?

Time magazine describes a chignon as "a trayful of Danish pastries. It can be the lady's own hair if she's grown it long enough, or someone else's carefully matched and pinned in place."

Well if chignons are unknown in Peterborough, how about wigs? An inquiry into this subject was a little more successful. Although a great number of the city's hairdressers claimed that they had little if any demand for artificial hair, one beauty expert was able to offer some information.

It seems that only men wear wigs. Women who need to substitute for lack of hair buy "transformations." A transformation is dressed hair; that is, hair that has been styled (curled and waved). Every time that washing is required, it must be taken to a hairdresser to be redressed.

"There has been little demand for wigs or transformations during the past 10 years," our source of information contended. "Women seem to be taking better care of their hair these days."

"Well what happened 11 years ago, if someone wanted a wig or transformation?"

"We would send a sample of the customer's hair (if he had any) to a company in Toronto that did this type of work. A representative would come down to take measurements and decide on becoming style. Then the wig or transformation would be made and sent down. It was quite an elaborate process. In fact representatives used to come to the city at regular intervals, for the purpose of taking orders."

"How much does a wig cost?"

"Well, 10 years ago, about $70. Now they would probably cost twice that amount."

Well there you have the hair situation in this city. People grow their own in Peterborough.

The Family Save-All (1862 Edition)

Old Book Told How To Cut Family Budget One-Fourth

Some Britons were just beginning to cook with gas when "The Family Save-All" was published. A member of the Examiner staff has in his possession a copy from the Tenth Thousand impression, published in 1862, the year after the death of the Prince Consort, 25 years before Queen Victoria's first Jubilee, and five years before Canada became a federated country.

The Family Save-All is subtitled. "A System of Secondary Cooking supplying Excellent Dishes for Breakfast, Luncheon, Dinner and Supper, from Cold and other Fragments" together with invaluable hints for Economy in the Use of Every Article of Household Consumption."

The book had a very large sale and many editions. No wonder. It was sold at sixpence. It was the British (and earlier) 'Boston Cook Book.' And it was more. The editor or writer of the book (he is known only as 'by the editor of "Enquire Within Upon Everything," "The Reason Why," "The Dictionary of Daily Wants," says in the Preface:

Save One-quarter

"We do not hesitate to say, that, if the Hints that will be found in the work are generally acted upon in any Household, the expenditure upon the total consumption that Household will be reduced by ONE FOURTH."

It is this practical value of the book, how to reduce household expenditures by ONE FOURTH, which should appeal to all readers in this day and age. He (or they) further elaborate upon the savings possible: "If Two Hundred Pounds a Year have hitherto been expended, the general adoption of the Frugal Hints here given will effect a Saving of Fifty Pounds annually, and yet yield a great increase in Comfort."

This was not the first Cook Book in the English language, by any manner of means. But it was among the first, and more popular, of cook books, which aimed at the lower middle class purse and at "improving" British meals while at the same time making them cheaper. Thousands of these books must have found their way to Canada, with young brides.

By 1862 the majority of people in England—that is, more than half of them—were getting a smattering of reading and writing. The golden age of British commerce was in full surge. What could be more successful and worthy in such an age than a plain cook-book, telling people how to make their meals attractive yet cheap? What to do with left-overs. How to trim the family budget.

Before this time, the art of cooking was handed down by word of mouth, from mother to daughter. This book made it possible for an up-and-coming young wife of an office clerk who knew only homely country recipes, to acquire a new and broader repertoire. It made it possible for wives who had no mothers to speak of, to prepare attractive meals within the husband's income. It game them the uplift they needed and the economical way of doing their household tasks.

Here is what the 'Athenaeum' had to say about it. The Athenaeum was a review founded in 1828 which rose to eminence in the middle of the nineteenth century and had many of the greatest writers of the time as contributors. It has been carried on since, now being part of the ancestry of the excellent New Statesman and Nation weekly.

Cold Mutton Relieved

"We recommend this work for keeping the promise of its Titlepage. The demon of Cold Mutton is effectually exorcised from the domestic table; and if the Wife has only the genius for following good advice, no Husband can henceforth have an excuse for dining at his Club—nor will the wife, even on a washing day, have any plea for not producing a good dinner. The Family Receipts are garnished with sippets of wise apopthegms, or seasoned with the salt of lively anecdote; and there is an Appendix of instruction how to repair or obviate every damage that may attaint the perfectness of the household goods, from chipped mantel-pieces to broken china or faded curtains; whilst there is abundant comfort prepared for other small evils. 'The Family Save-all' will be an invaluable work, if it meets with an intelligent reader."

Because the Examiner is certain that its intelligent readers will want to meet with this 'Family Save-all' we shall, beginning next week, from time to time, as space permits, give items from the book.

The receipts were tried and tested in 1862; if the hints were good then they should be useful today; and the odd bits of moralizing and joking are interesting.

Such things are in store for our readers as the following listed in the index in the book.

Five-Year Ham

ACORNS, a good substitute for coffee. (Who would not be interested in that, at the present price of coffee?) ANTS: Methods of Destroying. APPLES: Ham that will keep Five Years. ARSENIC in Paper Hangings. BADGERS: Hints About. BATHS, Turkish, upon a Small Scale. BEANS: juice of, pods good for warts. BEEF: Hashed, with or without Bones. BEER, French, Small, as a Substitute for Eggs.

So the index goes, and only fragments from the A's and B's have been indicated above.

The Examiner feels that this new series on its Feature Page will be both interesting and valuable. The recipes and hints our grandmothers and great-grandmothers used are not entirely valueless today. For instance, how few modern housewives know: "BRAINS, Various Methods of Cooking and Serving"; how to destroy mites and jumpers in cheese," that Port Wine sediment is excellent as a flavoring to coffee, that "Old Shoes make excellent slippers, and being occasionally polished look very well," or that ashes and soap-suds are good manure for shrubs and young plants? We sincerely believe the many of the recipes and hints are as good today as they were in 1862.

The Examiner suggests that our readers clip this preface to the new series, and the subsequent articles, and keep them in a scrap-book; not only for their antiquarian flavou., but also because of their practical use.

Deer Season Closes Today, Season Opens On Venison

By Examiner Staff Cuisinier

As the deer season closes today, the season on venison opens in earnest. Housewives will belabor their brains and their cookbooks, seeking some recipe to tenderize the big buck that hubby shot.

Reports from the deer camps indicate that the hunting was good. Plenty of deer came into the city, say freezer operators, and much of it will be consumed here.

The number of hunters was greater this year, and in the city there are a few score of housewives who will be cooking venison for the first time.

That Wild Taste

To most cooks, the problem with venison is to take some of the wild taste away from it. For roasts, one way to do this is make a paste of mustard, flour and water, and slap it on the roast the night before it will be cooked. The theory behind this is that the flavor of the mustard will domesticate at least a part of that gamey taste.

The really large deer are the toughest to cook, and if you cook a roast from one of these, you probably won't even be able to chew the gravy.

The best method of handling the big ones is to skin them out, send the skin to a tanner and have a vest made of it. The head can be mounted, and the horns (if it is a buck) will look fine, but chances are nothing can be done with the meat.

Here are a few recipes scrounged from cookbooks, outdoor columns, and the crannies of the minds of cooks who have met venison and conquered.

Recipe For Toughies

For the less tender cuts, braised venison may be the answer. Here's the recipe:

3 pounds venison
3 slices salt pork
Salt, pepper, flour
¼ cup fat
¼ cup hot water
½ tablespoon vinegar
½ cup chopped celery
1 carrot, diced
1 tart apple, chopped
½ tablespoon lemon juice

Lard the venison with salt pork, then rub with salt, pepper and flour. Brown pieces well in hot fat, turning them often. Add the hot water and vinegar, and cook covered until tender, adding water as it evaporates.

About half an hour before it is done, add the rest of the ingredients, and cook until the vegetables are tender. Serve with a tart jelly to four or five.

Broiled or Roasted

Broiled venison steak is another suggestion. Take two pounds of venison steak, one inch thick, rub both sides with a cut clove of garlic, brush with fat, and broil about five minutes for each side.

While the steaks are doing, also broil four large mushroom caps and garnish the steaks with these, adding watercress and/or parsley, and season with salt and pepper.

For a roast leg of venison, allow about a half pound for each serving. Wipe the leg with a wet cloth, sprinkle with salt and pepper and dredge with flour. If the meat is not fat, lard it with strips of salt pork, and roast uncovered at about 300 degrees F., allowing 20 to 22 minutes a pound.

Or you can make the less-tender parts into sausage, with the aid of a meat grinder. Grind up the venison with fat pork, and mix in equal parts. Season with six ounces of salt, once ounce of pepper and a pinch of ground sage, for each 20 pounds of ground meat.

If you're going to freeze the sausage, pack it unseasoned in waxed containers, and thaw and season just before using.

Corned Venison

Corned venison is another way of doing it, and you can use a boned shoulder cut for this. Mix 1½ pounds of salt, ½ pound brown sugar, 1 ounce cream of tartar, 1 ounce baking soda, and 1 ounce pickling spice in a gallon of hot water.

Let the brine cool before adding the meat, which all this time has been waiting in a stone crock. Make enough pickle to cover the meat and weigh it down with a rock on a clean board.

A cut of about three to four pounds will cure within three weeks, but the meat may be removed before and used. After the three weeks, boil the venison, eat it hot, and you can use the rest of it for sandwiches.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Speculation continues as to possibilities for the Big Four football clubs going out-and-out pro next year. Their payroll is tremendous now and most clubs lose money, yet as so-called amateurs they haven't much actual say in running things. For instance, they were allowed but five imports by the CRU in Grey Cup playdowns. If the Big Four and the western group turned professional, they could get a hookup with the pro conference across the line, arrange working agreements on players, set a salary limit and in general run their own show. And let the senior ORFU, a similar setup in the west, and mayhap the Intercollegiate, rule the amateur gridiron—perhaps even playing off for the Grey Cup.

* * * * * *

Jack Park of the London Free Press feels the idea is sound and thinks there's a movement underway now to have the Big Four become a minor affiliate of the National Pro Football League of the USA. He points out that Montreal had Filchock re-instated by the Americans. However, as long as the Big Four clubs feel they can finance the heavy freight in top football as it is run today in Canada, why should they turn out-and-out pro? They're supplying fine football to huge crowds, and the Grey Cup final is like the Rose Bowl game in the States. A national attraction. The senior ORFU isn't nearly as good, and the Intercollegiate won't mix.

Timothy Meets Mask

A mighty broth of a man by the name of Timothy Geohagen will be wrestling the Masked Marvel in the main pro mat bout Tuesday eve in the emporium on Brock Avenoo. There's an Irish name in each of the three bouts, too. Pat Flanagan (proud of his showing against huge Hi Lee) tackles another behemoth in Wee Willie Davis during the semi-final melee. The prelim pits Dan O'Connor against a newcomer to these parts, Tony Lanza. A card which sounds plenty attractive and should fill the place again. Geohagen is a powerful and popular grappler but meets a mean opponent in the Mask, aided by his hooded manager.

Puck fans can set aside Monday evening for some lively play in Civic Arena. It's an OHA senior "B" fixture betwixt Queen's University of Kingston and the local Eagles. Their first clash here this campaign and it ought to be right interesting inasmuch as Queen's are improving every time out and nearly took the Petes on local ice last game. Johnny Carr-Harris in action makes a lot of difference to the big students. But then they're facing a fast-stepping and scrappy squad in Mick Magee's Eagles, a team striving hard to take over undisputed possession of top spot in the senior grouping. Yeah, we look for a rather hectic hockey fray.

* * * * * *

A Mighty Tight Fit, Eh?

Eagles nosed out the Petes 5-4 here last e'en and it was closer-thanthis, no fooling. Another dandy fast fray, even the ref being tuckered out before the finish. Just a tossup all the way, with a third-period drive by the Magee men paying off by a very narrow margin. The Jopling bunch came right back to pelt Ross Nicholls in the dying minutes but he kept kicking 'em out. He and Ray Harding had a busy night and both were good. Petes missed the Leonards (especially Gus) who were called home owing to the illness of their dad. A big crowd again and the fans certainly are getting their money's worth when these teams tangle. Fairly clean, but rugged and tight all the way.

* * * * * *

Besides the goalies; we liked the work of Al Burns, Dootch Vitarelli and Doug Mortimer of the Eagles. And Freddy Garvey, Arn Dugan and several others—who were swell in spots—of the Petes. Fryia and Wade for instance. And Crowley for the other side. But then they were all hustling every minute and some of them were dragging at the finish. Showing how keenly they felt, Davison and Vitarelli drew misconducts for hurling insults at Referee Jim Crombie over what they figured were unjust penalties. The newcomers are starting to fit nicely into the pattern and should help both teams plenty from here on in. It's good and fast hockey for this time of year. Ice was a bit heavy, though.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Connie Mack says he intends to return next spring to a love of his earlier days—golf.

Just how important the 87-year-old "Mr. Baseball" who retired recently as manager of Philadelphia Athletics, considers this decision was shown by the fact he himself called The Associated Press to break the news. Except on rare occasions, Connie heretofore has spoken through an intermediary.

"I'd like folks to know," he asserted, "that I don't want to settle down in a rocking chair yet, not by a long shot.

"Naturally," he went on, "I'll continue to be quite active with the Athletics. Why shouldn't I be? My life has been baseball and it still is baseball. But golf comes second. It's great, too."

"What this retirement will do," he said, "is give me a chance to go back and do the things I did before I retired. It will give me more time for them. Everybody knows I'm not the kind of person who'd be satisfied to sit back and go to seed. Not me."

One of the first stops on his way to this new stage of his illustrious life in sports will be Hollywood, he said. There he will join movie-makers in fashioning a film based on his 50-year career in baseball. The script, he said, now is in the making.

Ottawa's Don Scott McEwen, Michigan University's star distance man, showed plenty of endurance Friday in winning his second straight big ten cross-country title, proving his dethroning last year of Wisconsin's famed Don Gehrmann was no fluke. Wisconsin took the team crown for the third straight year.

McEwen won by 150 yards over Purdue's Bob Rodibaugh in 19 minutes, 34.1 seconds which would have been a record except it was over a make-shift four-mile course at Washington Park, Chicago.

Last year McEwen was clocked in a record-breaking 19:44.5 as he defeated highly-favored Gehrmann, now graduated. But that was over a hillier course which Friday had to be abandoned because a foot bridge was out.

Flashy Kid Gavilan of Cuba avenged an old defeat and won New York State recognition as No. 1 welterweight contender Friday night by gaining a split 10-round decision over Irish Billy Graham in Madison Square Garden. Gavilan outweighed his rival 147 to 145.

Tommy Ford, former Toronto Argo halfback, was top ball carrier in the Western Senior Football Conference play-offs, records released Friday show. The Winnipeg Blue Bomber speedster carried the ball 15 times and gained 137 yards for an average gain of 8.2 in three games.

Winnipeg quarterback Jack Jacobs outshone Edmonton's Lindy Berry in the passing department. Jacobs completed 26 out of 50 for a percentage of 52 while Berry recorded 39 completions in 80 attempts for 49 per cent.

Marcel Boussac, French textile millionaire who was top money-winning race horse owner in Britain this year, aims to ruin the 1951 Festival of Britain for British owners.

He has entered 94 horses in 27 English races next year, mostly two-year-old events at Ascot and Epsom. Boussac won three English-classics—the Derby with Galcador, the Oaks with Asmena and the St. Leger with Scratch II—this year.

Welterweight champion Ray Robinson, is willing to take on any British boxer—at any weight—says his manager. Fighters Ray would like to meet are Jack Gardner, newly-crowned heavyweight champion of Britain, light-heavyweight champion Don Cockell, middleweight king Randolph Turpin or welter ruler Eddie Thomas. Manager Jack Gainford issued the mass challenge on Friday as the liner Liberte passed at Plymouth en route to France where Robinson will meet French champion Jean Stock in Paris Nov. 27.

Dave (Sweeney) Schriner, coach of North Sydney Victorias, last-place Cape Breton major series hockey league team, is through with coaching. He said in Sydney last night after his team was defeated 11-2 by Sydney Millionaires he is heading for his home in Calgary tonight.

Schriner, former National Hockey League star, said he has no other coaching offers in view, and isn't interested.

Major league clubs Friday drafted two more players from the minors, St. Louis Browns taking John Bero of Toledo of the American Association and New York Yankees taking Gene Markland from Buffalo of the International League. That made 27 minor leaguers so far who graduated to the big time since Thursday.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers 11 years ago today defeated Calgary Bronks 28-7 for their third straight Western senior football title, winning the two-game series by 35-20. The Blue Bombers went on to win the Grey Cup by beating Ottawa 8-7.

Eagles Edge The Petes, 5-4 In Sizzling Senior "B" Fray

Outscoring the Petes 3-2 in the last sizzling stanza at Civic Arena last night, the local Eagles edged out a 5-4 OHA senior "B" victory and handed the other local team its first loss of the season. The win kept intact the Eagles' undefeated streak to date. A crowd of 2,000 viewed another speedy, even tussle, marked with rugged checking but generally clean.

TOPS EAGLES — Dootch Vitarelli topped Eagles in scoring as they won 5-4 over Petes here last night in OHA play, being in on three markers and going well throughout.

LED PETES—Freddy Garvey led the Petes in sniping last night as they dropped a 5-4 senior puck tilt to Eagles, Garvey having three assists in a good showing.

PAT FLANAGAN, above, who tangles with Wee Willie Davis in the semi-final bout of next Tuesday's wrestling card at the Brock Arena. Flanagan showed that he could handle the big fellows when he went to a 30-minute draw with Hi Lee a couple of weeks ago. The opener has a newcomer, Tony Lanza against tough Dan O'Connor. Chief interest will be in the main event which brings together Timothy Geohagen and the hated Masked Marvel.

The Jopling squad had a 2-1 margin in the first frame and earned it on the play. Eagles got the only goal of an even middle heat. The Petes pressed at the start of the third and again near the close, but Eagles came up for a space with a furious drive to take the lead, and they held onto it. They drew seven of the 12 penalties handed out, both Davison of Petes and Vitarelli of the Magee bunch drawing 10-minute misconducts for criticizing the referee too strongly.

Goalies Good

Both goalies again shone in a hot, even scrap, Harding and Nicholls in turn repeatedly robbing incoming forwards who piled up on their doorsteps to finish off combination plays. Eagles had an edge defensively as they checked harder throughout. The Petes for a good part of the game looked better on the attack but couldn't finish off most of their plays when inside. Fred Garvey led them with three points as Arn Dugan and Chum Fryia were in on two each, and Wade, Floyd and Tompkins one apiece. Dootch Vitarelli topped the winners with three points, Doug. Mortimer having a pair, as Parnall, Hill, Milne, Burns and Crowley had one each. The two Leonards were away, owing to the sickness of their father.

Burns went off early for tripping and Fryia cashed in on it for a goal in a scramble, aided by Tompkins and Garvey. Godfrey got the finger later for high-sticking but was back when Doug Mortimer blasted a hot angle drive home from Vitarelli. Dugan got it next for interference and Horton followed for charging but the Petes checked neatly and no damage resulted. Dugan returned to make it 2-1 with Garvey's pass on a breakaway, finishing it off smartly.

Tied the Score

Parnall tied the counter early in the second on nifty teamplay with Milne. It was fast, exciting and even hockey with not a penalty this period. Rochetta was winded once, and a lady suffered a cut as players checked by the boards. Munroe drew an early penalty in the third for elbowing, with Wade following for high-sticking. Jake was off when Vitarelli scored in a scramble from Doug Mortimer after coming out of the corner. Horton was chased for elbowing and Davison went, too, for arguing. Milne got it then for holding. All were back when Hill scored on a breakaway with Burns' pass. Dugan got that one back from Floyd on a corner passout, but Vitarelli raced in fast to tally from Crowley Parnall was off for holding when Wade banged one home with Fryia and Garvey aiding. D. Mortimer went over for interference and Vitarelli for arguing just before the gong.

Petes—Goal, Harding; defence, Davison and Horton; centre, Dugan; wings, Floyd and Mason; alts., Wade, Fryia, Tompkins, West, Collins, Garvey, Millar and Jopling.

Eagles: Goal, Nicholls; defence, Burns and Godfrey; centre, Rochetta; wings, Vitarelli and Crowley; alts., Parnall, F. Mortimer, Milne, Hill, Lalonde, Munroe, D. Mortimer and Montgomery.

11 U.S. Imports On Big Four All-Star Team

By JACK MITCHELL.

TORONTO, Nov. 18 (CP). — The Big Four Football League's 1950 all-star team looks more like an all-American, with only one Canadian crashing the lineup alongside 11 United States imports.

The only Canadian given all-star status by the football writers and coaches in the league's four cities, who select the team annually for The Canadian Press, was Rod Pantages of Montreal Alouettes.

With the voting weighted to give equal voting strength to each city, they selected five players from Hamilton Tiger-Cats and four from Alouettes. The champion Toronto Argonauts gained only two positions and Ottawa Rough Riders one.

There was a big shakeup in team personnel. Nine are newcomers to Big Four all-stardom—eight of them Americans playing their first Canadian season.

Three Repeaters

The three repeaters are the Alouettes' Frankie Filchock and Herb Trawick and Tiger-Cats' inside Vince Scott. The 33-year-old Filchock, who joined Baltimore Colts for the remainder of the season following elimination of Alouettes, edged out Argo Al Dekdebrun by nine points to seven.

Ray Cicia, Alouettes inside who last season was high up in The Associated Press all-American poll, was the only unanimous choice, with 16 points.

Pantages, who kept the Canadians from being shut out, was chosen at flying wing. The 23-year-old, 200-pound product of Vancouver junior ranks played with Calgary Stampeders for two years before joining Alouettes this season.

Three Dropped

The three Canadians dropped from last season's all-stars were snap Don Loney of Rough Riders, who had been chosen for five successive seasons, end Ralph Toohy of Alouettes and halfback Royal Copeland, who left Argos for Calgary this season.

The 1950 all-star team:

Flying wing—Rod Pantages, Montreal.
Half—Bill Gregus, Hamilton.
Half—Ulysses Curtis, Toronto.
Half (Secondary)—Edgar (Special Delivery) Jones.
Quarter — Frankie Filchock, Montreal.
Snap (Ed (Buckets) Hirsch, Toronto.
Inside—Ray Cicia, Montreal.
Inside—Vince Scott, Hamilton.
Middle—Herb Trawick, Montreal.
Middle—Ralph Sazio, Hamilton.
Outside—Vince Mazza, Hamilton.
Outside—Bill Stanton, Ottawa.

Grads-Nurses Win In Cage Loop

Lindsay Grads continued to breeze through the Girls' City Cage League last night in the YWCA when they pulverized the Blacks' entry 30-12. In the other half of the weekly doubleheader the Senior Nurses won over their Juniors with a 36-28 victory.

A dizzy first half for the nurses juniors gave the seniors the verdict. The younger lasses failed to match the passing and shooting of the seniors and dropped behind 21-7 as Shirley Langdon, Anita Davis and Joan Plunkett sent home scores. The seven points for the juniors was scattered.

Driving back with a quick-passing brand of basketball, Jean Bell and Barbara Jex were fed continually by the junior Nurses in the second half as they outpointed the seniors 21-15. Anita Davis kept up her first half scoring pace to keep the seniors out in front.

Anita Davis edged Jean Bell in the scoring 19 points to 16. Shirley Langdon and Joan Plunkett each had six for the seniors while Barbara Jex and Mary Braund came through with four each for the juniors.

Shooting Off.

Poor shooting throughout and spotty teamwork by Blacks' enabled Grads, the Lindsay entry, to pick up their second straight win. S. Meath whipped home eight points in the first half for Grads as they worked in 14 against Blacks' three.

S. Alger, M. Owen, R. Beard and S. Meath sailed in the second half for the Grads as Blacks continued to falter until late in the fourth quarter. They then began to find the range but were still weak on loose balls. Carol Ferguson, Rosie McInroy and Marjie Laing sent in baskets as Blacks added only nine points to the first half score.

S. Meath easily led the scoring with 13 points while teammates M. Owen had seven and S. Alger five. Carol Ferguson sent home five of Blacks' 12 points.

Line-ups:

First game, Nurses Juniors — Favelle 1, Braund 4, Bell 16, Hannam, Stackhouse 2, Hogg, Luther, Chestnut 1, Armitage, Jex 4.

Nurses Seniors — Plunkett 6, Smith, Davis 19, Langdon 6, Deyell 2, Martyn 3.

Second Game, Blacks' — Ferguson 5, McInroy 3, Vint, McIlvena, Hickling, Naylor, McKee, Nice, Laing 2, McGill 2.

Grads—Copp, Craine, Alger 5, Owen 7, Beard 3, Huston, Meath 13, Cullis, Carmichael, Jordon, Hilson, Green 2.

Childs Kicks Out 45 Shots Holds Dutchmen To Tie

By The Canadian Press

Art Childs has been around hockey for a long time, but age doesn't seem to have taken the edge off his goal-tending ability.

He demonstrated that Friday night when he spent a warm 70 minutes kicking out 45 shots for Hamilton Tigers in a scoreless draw with Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen in a scheduled Ontario Hockey Association major contest at Waterloo.

Childs, called up earlier this week as a temporary replacement for injured Bruce Dale, had a tough night compared to the work handled by Boat Hurley who had to stop 24 shots.

The tie gave Hamilton a single point, enough to lift them into sole possession of first place ahead of the two Toronto teams, St. Michael's and Marlboros. The Dutchmen are one point back of them in last place.

There were three junior games, Barrie Flyers increasing their first-place margin by defeating Windsor Spitfires 7-2; Galt Black Hawks vaulting from sixth to second place by beating Stratford Kroehlers 4-2, and Guelph Biltmores stopping Toronto St Michael's 7-0.

Clean Game

The game at Stratford was a clean one. Only two penalties were handed out, both in the final period.

Don Hogan was the big scorer for Galt, with two goals. The final one was pushed into an empty net after Stratford goalie Al Bennett was lifted in a last-minute drive to tie the score. Poeta and Gosselin scored the other Black Hawk's goals while McFarlane and Wood tallied for the losers.

The game at Barrie was marked by the arrest of Jimmy Skinner, coach of Windsor, accused of breaking an usher's nose. The usher, Harry French, was reported to have told Skinner to tone down his language. Skinner hit French, who suffered the broken nose and a cut requiring five stitches. A fan who went to the usher's assistance also was hurt, not seriously.

The game was tied 1-1 at the end of the first period on goals by Wood for Barrie and Zorica of Windsor. The Spits took the lead temporarily in the second period but Barrie answered with four goals, adding another two in the last period. Labine had two for the winners, while Chevrefils, Emms, Barber and Topnazzini goth the others. Offidani tallied Windsor's second goal.

Deeper In Cellar

The game in Guelph shoved St Mike's deeper into ninth place while helping the Bilts in their fight to get out of eighth. Ken Laufman, centre of a recent dispute between Guelph and St. Mike's, proved that Guelph might have got the better of the deal after all. He potted three goals and set up two others. Dean Prentice got two, Kulik and Murphy one apiece.

Repercussions On Wild Bill Ezinicki Trade, Toronto Maple Leafs Fear

By The Canadian Press.

Hockey observers in Toronto envisage possible repercussions from the player trade that returned William (Wild Bill) Ezinicki to the National Hockey League—in the livery of Boston Bruins.

Already there is talk that if the Maple Leafs ex-muscle man from Winnipeg should draw blood from a former team-mate, Toronto fans will be after the scalp of general manager Conn Smythe.

One observer recalled that Smythe once said of the right-winger: "people tell me he's no good to the team. But if I let him go he'd be back with some other club, knocking off our players."

Then there's the observer who recalled a remark credited to bashing Bill during pre-season talk that he might be traded after he failed to report for training: "if I'm traded, I'll make Toronto remember me on Saturday night."

Not Too Alarmed

Speculation on Smythe's decision to part with Ezinicki has covered several angles, including these posers: has Smythe decided that the Leafs, who did well enough without Ezzy, can take care of themselves? Does he figure Bill no longer is the devastating wrecker he once was?

Whatever the answer is, Toronto fans are inclined to view the Leafs' engagement at home tonight with the psychologically-treated New York Rangers with less trepidation than their Sunday meeting in Boston with the Bruins.

That Leaf-Bruin tilt will give an indication of how Ezzy will perform against his former mates. Another ex-Leaf in Bruins' livery will be forward Vic Lynn, who once teamed with Ezinicki and Howie Meeker.

In other weekend games, the recently-rejuvenated Montreal Canadiens play a home-and-home series with Chicago Black Hawks starting tonight in Montreal. A double win would give the Canadiens third place and drop the Hawks to fourth.

The second-place Detroit Red Wings, will be out to stretch their unbeaten streak, to eight games, in meetings tonight with the Bruins in Boston and at home Sunday with Rangers.

Conventions And Prejudices No Part In Christ's Life

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

One of the most remarkable stories in the Bible is that of the meeting of Jesus and the "woman of Samaria," at Jacob's Well, near the Samaritan city of Sychar. It is recorded in the fourth chapter of John.

It is remarkable for various things besides its major declaration of the Messiahship of Jesus, and His words concerning worship. It was remarkable that the meeting should have occurred at all, for it was contrary to custom and the assumed proprieties of the time that a man and woman should have thus been conversing in a public place. When the man was a Jew and the woman a Samaritan, it was all the more amazing, as the woman herself indicated in her question to Jesus.

This aspect of the incident is important as it revealed how Jesus lived above the conventions and prejudices of His day, practising in His relationships the principles of the kingdom of love that He had come to establish.

But the great importance of the incident was in the statement of Jesus concerning worship in spirit and in truth. Nowhere else, except it be in later chapters of John, is the statement concerning God as a spirit, and true worship, quite so clearly enunciated. How did it come that so great a declaration should have been made to a woman, whose questionable character Jesus mildly but pointedly brought out

Was it that he saw in this woman, beneath her unconventional "sex life," as one might call it today, the elements and possibilities of a nobler character, which seemed to emerge as she went in to the city?

Be that as it may, here is set down the greatest declaration concerning God and worship. Later translation omit the "a," saying only "God is spirit." This is conformable with God's being everywhere. In an age of radio, which has taught us to know that physical vibrations are everywhere present, we can comprehend more easily the mystery of God as Spirit, everywhere manifest, and everywhere to be worshipped.

The woman's question concerning Jerusalem and "this mountain" was historically apt. The tendency had been, as to some extent it is today, to localize worship in certain sacred places. At one period of reform in the religion of Israel a definite effort had been made to centre all worship in Jerusalem, as a barrier against the idolatrous worship in the "high places." But the worship of God in spirit and in truth is the natural outcome of the recognition of God's spiritual presence everywhere.

What does it mean to worship God in spirit and in truth? It means that worship is something more than bowing down, and performing certain rites. It means a perception of God as the One supremely good, the source of righteousness and truth and it means the yielding of the heart and mind to the quest of the knowledge of God and of the divine will.

As a friend used to say to me, "No religion is true that is not as broad as a man's whole life." The spirit of man controls his whole being, and worship in spirit is the whole man reaching out toward God. That worship can, and must, be wherever man is; and holy places are holy only as they help in that omnipresent quest of the omnipresent God.

Knox United Church Marks 40th Anniversary On Sunday

Knox United Church is celebrating its 40th anniversary Sunday and Monday with special services and a musical program.

Guest speaker at the services Sunday will be Rev. Bruce Millar, BA, BD, of Toronto.

Featured at both services will be specially prepared music by both the Senior and Junior choirs. Alice Rourke, soprano, associated with the Toronto Conservatory of Music, will be guest soloist.

Knox Church minister, Rev. N. G. Douglas, said that a very fine musical recital will be presented Monday night in the church at 8 p.m.

Charles Peaker, organist of St. Paul's Church in Toronto, who was Knox Church's organist 30 years ago, will play several selections, among them works of Handel.

Miss Rourke will also take part in the music program along with the church choirs.

Several former ministers of Knox Church will also be on hand including Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt, Omemee, and Rev. William McDonald, now retired.

The music will include selections by Bach, Peter Britton, Peter Warlock and others.

PETERBOROUGH'S PROPOSED second Collegiate Institute is shown above in a drawing by the architects, John B. Parkin Associates. It will be a two-storey building facing Monaghan Road and south of McKellar St. To the LEFT in the drawing is the proposed gymnasium while the building at the RIGHT is the Collegiate proper. On the first floor will be the administration offices, general shop, household economics room, cafeteria and library. On the second floor will be the classrooms and the science rooms. When required, the auditorium will be built immediately in front of the gymnasium and the corridor now shown on the plan leading to the gymnasium and the balcony will also lead to the auditorium. The ratepayers are being asked to provide the $585,000 at the December 4 election.

With 14 Patients in Hospitals TB Record Lowest in Years

"The excellent work and projects of the Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association have been instrumental in greatly reducing the threat of tuberculosis in this community," stated Dr. R. A. Kelly, medical officer of health, today. "At present there are fewer patients from Peterborough in tuberculosis sanitoriums than ever before — total of 14," Dr. Kelly reported.

November 20 is the opening of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association Christmas Seal Campaign. The Peterborough association will mail Christmas seals to citizens who have shown interest in tuberculosis work in the past and to all the newcomers whom they have been able to locate.

905 X-Rays

During the past year a total of 905 x-rays have been paid for by the Peterborough association. Bi-monthly X-ray clinics have been held for expectant mothers, referred cases and follow-up cases. Visits have been paid to the sanitoriums at Kingston, Weston and Gravenhurst and gift boxes have been distributed to these three sanitoriums and also the sanitorium at Halifax, Nova Scotia.

In this fight to stamp out TB the association in co-operation with the county inspectors and teachers are carrying out an educational program in all the rural schools The literature for these classes is purchased by the Peterborough association.

Rehabilitation Project

The money raised in this year's campaign will be used to carry on these projects and rehabilitation projects.

The Department of Health of the Ontario government has been contacted to see if arrangements can be made for county-wide X-rays in the near future. Plans are proceeding for the financing of rehabilitation programs in the sanitoriums in Weston and Gravenhurst. Through vocational guidance and occupational therapy it is hoped that various types of training can be made available for patients.

The city firemen are doing their part in this year's seals campaign. For the past two months they have been placing seals and pamphlets in envelopes, stamping the envelopes so that they will be ready for mailing on November 20.

The plea of the Peterborough Tuberculosis Association is on these pamphlets, "Will you help us to wipe out tuberculosis in the city and county of Peterborough."

Street Lighting Feared Costly

"It's all right, but—," was the remark of Ald. Doug Miller in looking over a Utilities plan of street lighting for the area between Reid, Park and Rubidge Streets, north of Wolfe St., at the fire and light committee meeting Friday afternoon.

The "but" was a hesitant expression about the cost of the amplified illumination, resulting from the placing of 51 new 300-watt lamps, minus the removal of 14, for a net of 37. Apparently the area extended all the way north to McDonnel St.

"There's a lot of through traffic on Reid St.," said Ald. J. E. Gillespie, "especially south of Charlotte St., past Campbell's Dairy."

Ald. J. A. Dewart said the city's standard of street lighting had been improved during the last few years.

Committee sentiment approved the increase in candlepower, but Ald. Miller was instructed to discuss with R. L. Dobbin the element of cost which the council would have to take into account.

Ald. Gillespie's motion was approving, "if the chairman is satisfied all those lights are necessary and proper."

Ald. Miller presided with Aldermen Burrows, Dewart and Gillespie present.

License Men Who Instal Oil Burners

Control and inspection of the installation of oil-burning equipment is the purpose of a bylaw which the fire and light committee will likely submit in final draft to the council Monday night.

Men engaged in the installing of oil burners will be required to pay a license fee of $10 a year. Installation permits are to be issued by the building inspector to the owner or his contracting agent. They are to be in duplicate, one copy going to the Fire Department.

The Fire Department is to be notified when a job is completed, and the Department becomes responsible for inspection of the oil burner unit and equipment. First inspection will be without charge, but for each subsequent inspection there will be a charge of one dollar payable to the city.

If the operation is satisfactory, a certificate of inspection will be issued, and will be posted near the burner. The certificate shall not relieve the installer from responsibility of efficiency of operation. It was understood that the usual guarantee is for one year.

Ald. Miller and City Clerk Outram were instructed Friday to redraft the proposed bylaw for presentation to the council. This form of regulation has been established in certain other cities, and was said to be endorsed by the firms installing burners.

LIEUT. GENERAL SIMONDS

General Simonds Institute Guest

Lieut. General G. G. Simonds, CB, CBE, DSO, Commandant of the National Defence College, will be the speaker at the United Services Institute, Tuesday, Dec. 21, in the officers' mess at the Armouries. His subject presents a view of the world strategic situation.

An honor graduate of Royal Military College in June, 1925, General Simonds eventually went overseas with the First Contingent in 1939 as G.2 Operations 1st Canadian Division. In 1943 he was attached to the Eighth Army in North Africa during the battles of the Mareth Line and Wadi Akarit. He commanded the 1st Canadian Division during the assault and conquest of Sicily, and first assault on Italy, and was later transferred to command the Fifth Armoured Division. In 1944 he was promoted to command of the 2nd Canadian Corps through operations in northwest Europe from Normandy to the end of hostilities.

General Simonds commanded the 1st Canadian Army throughout the battles to clear the Scheldt approaches to Antwerp, during the absence of General Crerar. At the end of the war he assumed command of the Canadian forces in The Netherlands until the army was repatriated.

United Services Institute was recently organized to co-ordinate local military inter-relations and also connections with headquarters in regard to new information relating to advances in military affairs and affiliated science, now recognized as an integral auxiliary.

Traffic Guards Go On Duty Bad Crossings

Six traffic guards will start Monday morning shepherding public school children across busy corners.

The men, paid 75 cents an hour, were given their instructions and provided with a large black and white stop sign and armband each Friday afternoon. They will work two hours a day.

Must Cross Where Guard Is

The men will take the children across the intersections where traffic is heaviest near the school Children will be expected to cross where there is a guard even if they have to go a short distance out of their way to make the crossing.

Guards were requested by the Board of Education and appointed by Chief Constable John Thompson on the authority of the Police Commission after it had been voted the money by the city council.

The men and their posts are: John Londerville, Sherbrooke and Park Sts.; John Ridyard, Lock and Lansdowne Sts.; Walter Suddards, Sherbrooke St. and Monaghan Rd.; Frank Mumby, Lansdowne St. at May's School; Michael Lucano, George and Water Sts. at Murray St.; and Arthur Riddell, Weller St. and Monaghan Rd.

They will be on duty from 8.30 a.m. to 9 a.m.; 11.30 a.m. to 12 noon; 1 p.m. to 1.30 p.m., and 3.30 p.m. to 4 p.m. If it becomes apparent a slight shift in times will meet the demands of any particular intersection, that will be done.

Married Women Affected By Insurance Act Change

Changes in the regulations affecting married women drawing unemployment insurance went into effect this week William Mellis manager of the service in Peterborough said today that 24 women were effected in the first two days and that more will come under the regulations.

These changes are designed to prevent a drain on the unemployment insurance fund by married women and have been approved recommendation by the Unemployment Insurance advisory committee. This body is charged with the responsibility of reviewing and reporting on the unemployment insurance fund.

The committee, it was stated, reviewed the situation following representations that claims were being made by married women who registered as unplaced job applicants, but who were not interested in employment. One of the basic requirements of the Act is that the claimant shall be in the employment field.

Not Out of Field

These regulations do not place married women out of the field of unemployment insurance, nor alter the principles of the act. The changes do not apply to a married woman who: (1) has lost her employment because of a layoff; (2) who has lost her employment within two weeks prior to her marriage or at any time following her marriage solely by reason of her employer's rule against retaining married women in his employ; (3) whose husband has died, or has become permanently and wholly incapacitated, or has deserted her, or has been permanently separated from her.

Mr. Mellis explained that Peterborough companies at present frown on hiring married women but added that if they are married while in their employ, they retain their positions. The cost of teaching a new employee is heavy and companies prefer to keep the employee even though she is married.

Only One

Only one factory in Peterborough will hire married women at present, said Mr. Mellis. Then, they have to have experience and be willing to take the night shift.

A married woman, if not exempted, is now disqualified from receiving benefits during the two years following her marriage, said Mr. Mellis, unless she requalifies by showing proof of further attachment to the employment market.

She may do this by working for an aggregate of at least 90 days in employment under a contract of service, in either insurable or non-insurable employment. If she was not employed at the time of her marriage, the 90 days may commence with any such employment that she obtains following her marriage. If she was employed at the time of her marriage, the 90 days may commence immediately following her first separation from employment subsequent to her marriage, Mr. Mellis said.

The total effect on the unemployment claims in the Peterborough district will not be known until next week.

Blame Accidents On Bad Roadway

A foot-deep hole in Park St. south caused two accidents within an hour on Park near McGill St. early today.

Left front tires on vehicles driven by Mrs. Phoebe Pemberthy, Toronto, and Charles White, 759 Duffus St., blew when the vehicles ran over the hole.

Mrs. Pemberthy's car, a small English model, was being driven south on Park and had just passed the intersection of McGill when it hit the hole, and the left front tire blew.

Mr. White was driving a panel truck south shortly after, while the tire was being changed on the Toronto woman's auto. His left front tire hit the hole and blew.

Police said the hole had resulted from sewer work done on Park St., and that lights and barricades marked part of the hole, but that it extended into the travelled portion of Park St. on the east side.

A hole in the Charlotte St. parking lot about six feet wide and one foot deep was run into Friday night by Len Titus, 194 Hunter St. Mr. Titus was driving north on Louis St., and turned into the lot, striking the hole.

The impact thrust the fan forward into the radiator, piercing it. All the anti-freeze ran out.

Have No Diphtheria

BRANTFORD, Nov. 18 (CP).—This western Ontario city will set a world record Saturday—no diphtheria in 20 years.

The Brant County Health Unit has plugged for two decades in an immunization campaign instituted at a time when such campaigns were looked down on by many parents.

The last death from diphtheria occurred here in 1929. The last case to develop here came on Nov. 18, 1930.

Richard Hooper Injured Struck By Car

Richard Hooper, 64, 475 Bolivar St., suffered a possible fractured skull, severe cuts to his scalp and concussion Friday evening when he was struck by an auto driven by Melville Foy, 344 McDonnel St.

The accident occurred on McDonnel St. near Stewart St. just after Mr. Hooper left a barber shop on the south side of McDonnel.

An eyewitness, Donald Willison, 266 McDonnel St., said the injured man stepped out from behind a parked car into the path of Mr. Foy's auto, and that the driver of the car did not have a chance to stop.

Mr. Hooper was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he spent a "fairly comfortable night," according to hospital officials. X-rays have not yet been taken to determine the extent of his injuries.

PC Gordon Trennum investigated.

Chest X-Ray For Patients

Every patient over 12 years who now enters Civic Hospital automatically gets a chest X-ray. This is shown by comparative figures for the number of X-rays taken this October and last.

In October 1949 the number was 338, and in October 1950, 721.

For the same month a year ago there were 1,799 laboratory examinations compared with 2,789 this October.

Other statistics reported by the Medical and Surgical Advisory Committee show the number of patients discharged during October: recovered, 272; improved, 1499; not improved, 1; transferred, 1; diagnosis only, 3; deaths under 48 hours, 1; deaths over 48 hours, 10; and stillborn births, 2. Ttotal 439.

Young World Wheat Champion Prefers Seeing Good Horse Sh ow To Hockey Game

TORONTO, Nov. 18 — A few days ago, Ricky Sharp, 13, from Munson, Alberta, created history when he won the Canadian National Railways' wheat trophy, emblematic of the world's championship in wheat growing, at the Royal Winter Fair. As he, with his mum and dad passed through Winnipeg en route to Toronto, where he will officially receive the trophy on Saturday afternoon, he created a new record—maybe for the world, but certainly not for western Canada. He became the only young lad ever heard of who did not want to see the Toronto Maple Leafs play hockey—providing he could see some farm horses.

Ricky is a good hockey fan and likes the Maple Leafs, but he has a love for a good horse. When asked just before the train left Winnipeg whether he would like to go to the hockey match here on Saturday night, or see the horse show, the youngster said, "I'd sure like to see the Leafs play, but gosh, if there are any good horses at the fair, that's where I'll be." With apologies to Conny Smythe and Hap Day, Ricky wrote a new page in western Canadian history.

Kinsey Involved In Row With Customs

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 18 — (AP)— The author of books on human sex behavior and the United States customs offices in Indianapolis and Washington were at odds Friday over what is scientific in art and literature.

Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey, Indiana University author whose best seller, "Sexual Behavior in the Human Male," won great acclaim and almost as much criticism, struck another impasse yesterday in his quest for research material. He is writing a similar book on women.

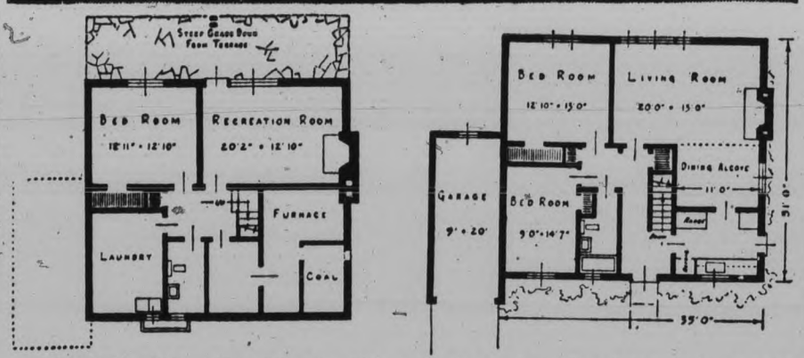
Alden H. Baker, collector of customs at Indianapolis, said he received yesterday a shipment of material addressed to Dr. Kinsey. He said it included books, photographs and etchings.

"I wouldn't want to describe it over the phone," Baker said.

Last week, Baker sent to Washington a package of material addressed to Dr. Kinsey. Baker asked for a ruling on whether it could be admitted to the US. The material was from correspondents in Europe.

"It was d— dirty stuff," said Baker. "I felt there was no need to send this through the mail. There was nothing scientific about it."

Dr. Kinsey has protested a 1933 revenue code ruling which makes inadmissible much material of nude embraces or sexy literature.



He has maintained the law grants exceptions to scientists and medical men in matters of this sort.

W. R. Johnson, Washington customs officer, said that is appeared little could be done about Dr. Kinsey's protests. The revenue code strictly bans "lewd, immoral or obscene" matter of any kind, he explained.

LENGTHY LABOR

The first of the 12 panels in Queen Mary's carpet is dated 1941; the border is dated 1950.

HOUSE No. 357—Edmund Peachey Ltd., builders, of Islington, Ontario, have a 75-acre development in West Toronto known as "Chestnut Hills." All homes are architect designed and many have large ravine lots. This fine buff brick house was specifically designed by Architect MacDonic for a site sloping sharply to the rear. While to passers-by this appears to be a handsome little bungalow, a glance at the floor plans will reveal that the house is much larger. Living quarters are chiefly at the rear of the house, permitting large windows on the southern exposure; which also faces the view. Notice that the recreation room is on the same level as the big terrace. This room rivals the living room in attractiveness and livability. Don't overlook the fact that both rooms have open fireplaces! Thanks to the architect, the exterior is simple and devoid of embellishment. Time will not dim its attractiveness. For further information, write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Extra Game Or Party Room Essential In Most Homes

What wouldn't most of us give for an additional living-room—and a very usable informal living-room at that—one that does not have to conform to the usual formal standards of what such a room should be

Not always, without discomfort, to someone, can the diverse interest, of a family be carried on in a common living-room. Perhaps Dad wants the radio on, while son or daughter is doing homework. Perhaps son and daughter want to dance to the radio while mother is reading her favorite magazine and dad an interesting book. The fact is that most homes need an extra game or party room very badly indeed.

The real solution to the problem lies in a basement recreation room. With a minimum of expense, your daryq, dusty basement can be transformed into an attractive room for all the family. These recreation rooms, or "rumpus rooms" as they are popularly called, are becoming more and more popular as a means of home-renewing. And a rumpus room is not the only possibility — basements these days are being transformed into model laundries or entire service units, into playrooms, dens, gymnasiums, extra bedrooms, and sometimes even garages.

Where the space in your basement is sufficient only for a child's playroom, a laundry, or a gymnasium, the effort and money spent will be more than justified. Every child needs a playroom, where a network of train tracks may be laid and remain indefinitely, where doll-houses continue to be occupied by their doll tenants, and where little girls may cut out dolls to their hearts' content. Such a playroom is not only a boon to the child, but to the mother as well. This is likewise true of the workshop or laboratory for the growing boy, or the man of the house, who longs to tinker and experiment.

Automatic heating has done much to direct attention to the excellent living space available in the basement. Of course, reclaiming the cellar is not entirely dependent upon automatic heating, but having it does tremendously reduce the problem of renovation and cleanliness. For another thing, automatic heating releases the space otherwise needed for the coal bin and eleminates the need for erecting dust-proof partitions. But barring this, no matter what kind of heating is used, if there is willingness to spend time, effort, and a little money, the basement can be transformed into an attractive living portion of your home.

If your furnace is set in a large room like an oasis in a desert, you can probably enclose it in a fraction of the space allotted to it and of the rest make your recreation room.

It is needless to say that such a room must be properly waterproofed, lighted, insulated, and ventilated. Walls may be easily and satisfactorily achieved by the use of one of the many varieties if insulating board, or the foundation walls may be freshened up by a coat or two of cement paint. The insulating board may be papered or painted in good light reflecting colors. Floors, if the young people want to dance frequently, might be constructed of hardwood. Otherwise, one of the new inlaid linoleum patterns can be cemented directly to the good, dry basement floor or to rough flooring laid over the cement. When composition flooring is used, it should be heavy enough to prevent the cold of the concrete from coming through.

You will want to build in plenty of shelves and cupboards to hold books, toys, games and a case for your sporting gear if you hunt or fish.

For this purpose, you could use plywood to good advantage. Plywood is light and strong and will not split. It is excellent for ping pong tables and other games tables for recreation rooms, and is unexcelled as a product to use in making closets, cupboards, and drawers.

Movie Premieres Lack Interest In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 18 (AP)— At the risk of sounding like an old codger, I might point out that the movie premiere ain't what it used to be.

Once they were thrilling affairs. They were held for only the two or three biggest pictures of the year. There were bands to sound fanfares as the stars stepped out of their limousines in their best finery.

But look what happens now. The events are no longer premieres. They are called preview-premieres, because they are given for publicity purposes long before the picture is released. Too often they are held to lend prestige to pictures which should be great, but aren't.

They are cut-and-dried affairs. The same stars appear, wearing the same gowns and tuxedos. Many of them arrive in sport clothes. Even the fans are getting as blase as the stars. Crowd figures have been slight compared with other days.

Saturday Stew

The week brought some unsetting labor news to add to Hollywood's troubles. The Screen Actors Guild, headed by Ronald Reagan, made some strong statements about unemployment among actors. And the Screen Writers Guild, now negotiating a contract with the producers, was issuing strike talk...

Columbia registered the title "Mr. Show Business" and was coy about suggestions it was for another Al Jolson sequel. But no one in Hollywood doubted that Larry Parks would again be down on his knees for the last (and perhaps most dramatic) of the Jolson epics...

Council Meets

WARKWORTH, Nov. 18 (ENS) —The muncipal council of the Township of Percy met in the Town Hall for their November session, with Reeve Arthur Wartman in the chair. Other members present were George Broadworth, deputy reeve, and R. B. Nelson, Cecil Grills and Ambrose English, councillors.

It was moved and seconded by Grills and Broadworth that the Council grant the Federation of Agriculture the sum of $50.

Moved by C. Grills and seconded by R. B. Nelson, that the council charge $1.50 per day for Town Hall when used for showers, dances and banquets.

The reeve and clerk were instructed to sign cheques to the amount of $4,800.

Warkworth WA Meets

WARKWORTH, Nov. 18 (ENS) —The Women's Association of St. Paul's United Church met in the Sunday School rooms for a pot luck supper Thursday evening.

67 New Fascists Held In Bombing

NAPLES, Italy, Nov. 18 (Reuters)—Sixty-seven "New Fascists" were held in jail Friday after two bomb attacks in Rome and a big demonstration in Naples Thursday.

Police seized 300 Fascists when the bombs wrecked the Rome offices of the Italian Republican party and the Socialist Unity party, youngest of Italy's three Socialist parties. They later released all but 30.

In Naples, where 10 persons including several police were hurt, police arrested 37 of the hundreds of young Fascists who demonstrated in the centre of the city. All were members of the Italian Social movement which the government had threatened to outlaw as promising resurgence of Mussolini's Fascism.

In Rome, the offices of the Republican and Centre Socialist parties were shattered by home-made cardboard bombs filled with explosive.

Police have linked the explosions with a series of attempts against the offices of right-wing and centre parties in Rome recently which they believe to be part of an Italian social movement protest campaign against the threat to outlaw their party.

WARKWORTH, Nov. 18 (ENS) The Guild of St. John's Anglican Church met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wm. Mowat.

It was decided to order new hymn books and prayer books. A highlight of the afternoon came when the guests enjoyed popping corn at the fireplace.

At the close of the meeting two minutes silence was observed in memory of our war heroes. Mrs. Mowat served lunch assisted by Mrs. McKibbon.

Scots Quaff Danish America Gets Scotch

LONDON —(CP)— Britain is importing Danish whisky while Scotland sends the real stuff to Canada and the United States.

The imported liquor goes principally to Scotland, where it sells for 37s 6d. ($5.30) a bottle.

Stoical Scots, slightly baffled by this state of affairs, reluctantly admit that even Danish whisky is better than none at all.

OTTAWA, Nov. 18 (CP)—Five high-ranking officers of the Royal Thai Navy will visit Canada next week to tour naval establishments, industrial firms working on defence contracts and other military operations. They will arrive in Ottawa Sunday from Washington and return to the U.S. capital Monday, Nov. 27.

China Rejects Indian Protest Of Tibet Invasion

NEW DELHI, India, Nov. 18—(AP)—Communist China has brusquely rejected a second Indian protest at the military invasion of Tibet, an official government spokesman said Friday.

Peiping's reply to an Indian note calling the use of force against peaceful Tibetans an unwarranted act further endangering world peace was received today.

Red China declared India had no right to "interfere" in what the Communists consider an internal Chinese affair.

The answer placed before Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's government a tough decision —whether to firmly support the Tibetan neighbor's charges of Red Chinese aggression now before the United Nations, or try to sidestep the issue in an effort to cling to a neutral position in east-west world politics.

The spokesman said the Peiping note still was being studied. But informed sources said it was "difficult to understand how India could now fail to join in support of Tibet's plea for help from the United Nations."

Anglicans Stingy Rector Tough

ELY, England —(CP)— The average Anglican church-goer is not dropping enough into the collection plate to suit the Rev. Arthur Beale, rector of Coveney, Cambridgeshire.

He told the Ely diocesan conference: "The whole standard of giving in the Church of England is disgusting. The attitude of the average member seems to be one of stingy meanness beyond belief."

A half a crown (37 cents) dropped into the plate, he said, was usually regarded as a good amount. But it only bought a seat for a movie or 20 cigarettes.

Mr. Beale, whose net annual income is around $1,200, said it was time the laity was told that if the Christian religion was worth having, it was worth paying for.

"If the Germans had not poked my eye out at Dunkerque, I could not live on my present income," he added. "And why should I subsidize my benefice with a pension?"

Have Roads Downhill

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Nov. 18 (AP).—All roads in Uruguay will run downhill and free milk will be piped into every home if Domingo Tortorelli is elected president. He is one of 10 candidates running for this country's presidency in the Nov. 26 elections. In his radio speeches he has promised jobs for everyone at high salaries and retirement at full pension at 40. He wants all roads to run downhill in order to save gasoline and wants the milk pipeline to improve the health of Uruguay's citizenry.

"KING'S BARBER" RETIRES — Paul E. (Red) Tasse, often called the King's barber, has retired as head barber in Ottawa's swank Chateau Laurier Hotel. He served on the Royal Train which carried King George and Queen Elizabeth across Canada in 1939. But the 65-year-old barber is proudest of his long association with two of Canada's prime ministers — Rt. Hon. W. L Mackenzie King and R. B. Bennett — both of whom went to him for haircuts and sometimes advice. Each of them gave him autographed photographs and he attended Mr. King's funeral at the willed request of the late prime minister.

Canadian History Tourist Attraction

SIMCOE, Nov. 18 — (CP). — Travel Minister Cecile of Ontario said Friday night it was hard to convince Canadians that the country's history has an attraction for tourists.

He told the Lake Erie International Vacationland Association that the restored Fort Henry at Kingston ranked as one of Ontario's major tourist atractions. Thousands of visitors also had visited archaeological excavations made in the last few years near Midland.

"In spite of these evidences," the minister said, "many communities are still unconvinced of the importance of historical attractions and, indeed, in some parts of Ontario we are still faced with the necessity of proving the importance of the tourist trade itself."

Buying TV Sets

OTTAWA, Nov. 18 — (CP) — Canadians, still without any television service of their own, are buying a large number of television receiving sets. A Bureau of Statistics report Friday showed that 10,951 sets—10,850 of them in Ontario—were sold in the first eight months of this year. The Bureau gave no reason for the heavy sales in Ontario. However, many Ontario points, particularly those near the border, obtain excellent reception of television broadcasts from United States stations.

Open To Discovery

BOSTON, Nov. 18 (CP)—Resources Minister Winters said Friday that the days of discovery in Canada's vast northwest territories "are by no means passed." In a speech to the Canadian Club of Boston, Mr. Winters said there are "numerous rich prospects" in the north, once considered a barren, desolate and worthless wasteland.

Robs Cigar Store

TORONTO, Nov. 18—(CP)—A downtown cigar store was robbed of $2,500 Friday by a gunman who threatened to shoot children playing outside if proprietor Albert Rocket spread an alarm. The thug, Rocket said, pretended a pay telephone was out of order and asked to use a private telephone behind the counter. He pulled a pair of clippers from his clothing, cut the telephone wires, then opened a lunchpail and produced a pistol. The bandit grabbed Rocket's money, stuffed it in the lunchpail and walked from the store.

Prince Makes Home On Prairie Ranch

KISBEY, Sask. —(CP)— A ranch nestling in wooded hills in southeastern Saskatchewan is taking the place of a castle for Poland's Prince Peter Czartoyski and his wife Countess Ann Mary Joanna Zamoyski.

The Prince brought his wife and three children to Canada in 1949. The Polish aristocrats said they thought about leaving Poland when Hitler moved in. When Stalin took over they moved out, leaving behind their huge mansion and all their fortunes.

On the cattle ranch, the Prince is an ordinary cowboy. The fair-haired Countess, slim, vivacious and 30 years old, shares the housework in the nine-room ranchhouse with her sister, Countess Sophia.

They have 200 head of Hereford cattle on the 8,300-acre ranch. The Prince prior to the war managed the farms and forestry reserves of his family's estate.

Want To Keep Title

MONTREAL, Nov. 18—(CP)—Action to keep Toronto from taking away Montreal's title of "The Canadian Metropolis" is the platform of the newly-formed Metropolitan Party which will run a field of 44 candidates in the Dec. 11 municipal elections here. The party is seeking to incorporate all municipalities on the Island of Montreal into one city or to make the adjoining towns part of a borough system.

N.C.O. COMMENDED—L. Cpl. Michael Chimko, of Kelvington, Ont., has been commended by the army chief of staff, Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes, for his courage and initiative in a plane crash in the Yukon last February. When a U.S.A.F. Dakota cracked up on a mountainside while searching for a C-54 missing with 44 persons aboard, Cpl. Chimko took command, even to supervising the building of a protective cave for the injured. This army photo shows him stepping from a rescue plane after the five-day ordeal.

Test Tax Case Goes To Court

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 18 (CP). —Test case on an Ontario Supreme Court decision which has upset a 50-year-old municipal assessment procedure will go before County Court here Tuesday.

The city is suing Wright Flowers Ltd. for three years' business tax. The firm is assessed as a business by the City Assessor's Department. The company claims it comes under a section of the Assessment Act which states that farms, nurseries, and market gardens shall not be assessed as a business.

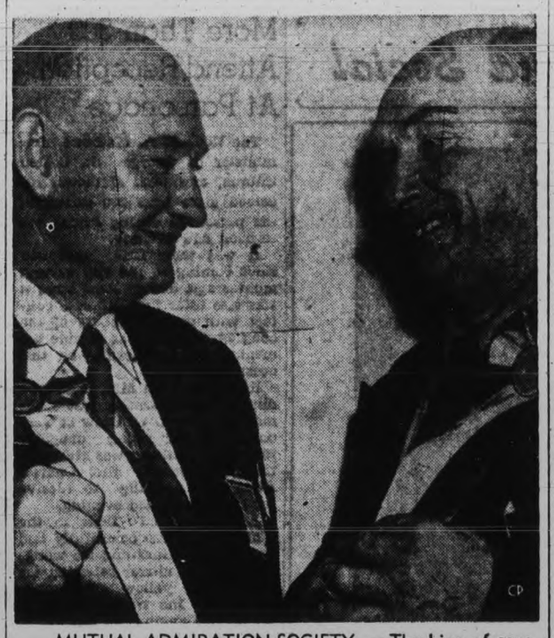
In an Ontario Supreme Court ruling earlier this year the Court of Revision, the County Court, and the Ontario Municipal Board were stated to have no authority to rule whether any person or business was assessable.

This upset the order of appeal procedure for the past 50 years. Appeals against business tax assessment went first to the Court of Revision, then to the County Court, the OMB, and finally to the Supreme Court.

Engineers Help Ontario Gov't

TORONTO, Nov. 18 (CP). — Provincial Secretary Welsh said Friday the Ontario government has accepted the offer of professional engineers to help with civil defence planning.

Some time ago, Mr. Welsh said, the Association of Professional Engineers, which represents 12,000 professional and student engineers in Ontario, asked if it could do anything to help.



The Provincial Secretary said that at his suggestion the association formed a central advisory committee of nine men under chairmanship of Dean K. F. Tupper of the University of Toronto faculty applied science and engineering. The committee will meet with Mr. Welsh to determine how the engineers can best help with the civil defence programs of the municipalities.

Doubet, left, Hannon City, Ill., won the world championship in corn at the big agricultural fair. Albert Kessel of Rosetown, Sask., was head man in the barley competition. Mr. Kessel who was rye king last year, also won the grand championship in flax and was reserve rye champion this year.

Trichinosis Spreading Among Sudbury Folk

SUDBURY, Nov. 18 — (CP).—Trichinosis, a disease caused by eating undercooked pork, is spreading in Sudbury and no trace has been found at its source, Dr. J. B. Cook, Medical Health Officer, told the Board of Health Wednesday. Twelve persons have contracted the disease, which is characterized by retching and extreme swelling of the eyelids, he said.

Numerous samples of hog diaphragms have been sent to Toronto for anaylsis, but all reports so far have been negative. Killing stations here have been under constant supervision.

Trichinosis is caused by parasites which remain active in undercooked pork and a few other meats.

Meets Future Farmers

OTTAWA, Nov. 18 — (CP) — Canada's Governor-General, Viscount Alexander, shook hands with 116 future farmers Friday—the pick of 54,081 members of boys' and girls' farm clubs across Canada. The noon-hour reception at Rideau Hall was the high spot of National Club Week for the youngsters who have spent the last week at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto. They took sidetrips to Niagara Falls and Hamilton before coming here.

Blames Home Life

WINDSOR, Nov. 18 — (CP) — Problem children are no longer thought of only in terms of juvenile delinquency, Federal Health Minister Paul Martin said Friday at the formal opening of Windsor's child guidance clinic. Mr. Martin said "emotional tensions that so often lead to mental disaster usually have their beginnings in disordered home life."

Wild Animals Menace Road

CHIPINGA, Northern Rhodesia —(CP)— Motoring about his parish in the still half-wild corner of Africa, the Rev. A. M. de V. Esterhuysen, Dutch Reformed minister for the local Afrikaans population, has become accustomed to wild animals holding up his car.

Recently he had trouble clearing a big Koodoo cow—a variety of large buck—out of the road.

The next day he met a Koodoo bull, which stalked slowly away only after Mr. Esterhuysen had sounded the horn of his car several times.

Some months ago Mr. Esterhuysen had to stop to avoid running down two lions and a leopard. The leopard cat-footed up to the car and then rolled over like a kitten. All in the day's work are basking pythons and deadly black mambas.

Mr. Esterhuysen regrets one accident in which he ran down and killed a huge, bronze eagle.

Hit All-Time High

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP) —Wholesale prices hit an all-time high during the week ended Nov. 14, the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics reported Friday. The wholesale price index kept by the Bureau hit 171.1 per cent of the 1926 average, (equal to 100), 0.5 per cent above the previous peak in August, 1948.

Woman Candidate Much Interested In Education

MRS. BLAKE BELL

Interest in educational matters has prompted Mrs. Blake Bell to offer herself as a candidate for election to the Peterborough Board of Education on December 4. If she is supported by the women voters, their interests will be doubly represented in the next year with two women on the 11-member Board.

Said Mrs. Bell in an interview by the Examiner Friday, "I feel there is a place for women on the Board of Education, because as mothers they have closer contact with the children's problems and may have a different angle than men on some matters this body deals with."

Since coming to Peterborough six years ago, from Ottawa, Mrs. Bell has been active in the King George Home and School Association, serving as vice-president and for a two-year term as president. She is presently without office in any organization and therefore feels she has time to devote to Board of Education work. "I am extremely interested and I am willing to give the time necessary," she said.

Mrs. Bell's own public and high school education was gained in Toronto and extended to College training. She is a graduate of Victoria College, University of Toronto.

Her two children have now reached ages where they do not require so much of her attention, the boy in Grade 10 at PCVS, and her 10-year-old daughter in Grade 6 at King George School.

WRITER'S COMEBACK

After financial difficulties, Charles Dickens earned enough on his second American tour in 1867 to live comfortably.

NAMED DISEASE

Diphtheria was first specifically described and named by P. Bretonneau in France in 1826.

Formerly Paralyzed Legs Now Move In Water Enough To Pass Rigid Test

Polio victims may take new hope and courage from the demonstration that has been made here in Peterborough. With water therapy treatment leg muscles that were completely paralyzed a year ago have been strengthened so they can walk across the YWCA pool.

The exercises devised by Miss Audrey Hustwitt, swimming instructor, have done more than that. They have put 20-year-old Joan Fitzgerald, who is severely handicapped, in a position of glory no normal girl her age in his district has yet attained.

Last week Joan passed with honours a rigid Intermediate Red Cross swimming examination. One year ago she was unable to control either leg from the hip down and had never swam in her life. Now she has beautiful form in the water, can swim and dive various styles, do somersaults and advanced tricks.

The test included propelling herself for 80 feet using legs only, treading water for five minutes, 40 yards each of breast stroke back stroke and front crawl swimming and other feats.

Everyone connected with Joan is delighted and amazed. Miss Hustwitt who has been constantly thinking up ways to bring more muscles into action, says "I never thought this could happen in a year."

Wants to Walk

"It is only because Joan wants so much to walk and has worked so hard that she has reached this stage" is a statement Audrey repeats whenever questioned about her part. It is Joan who will tell you that her teacher spends hours sorting out her own muscles to find what sort of movement will bring them into play and then demonstrate the routine for her.

When stricken in September 1948 Joan was a prettier-than-average, healthy girl, brought up in the country where horseback riding was her favori sport. She was just nicely embarked on a career as a stenographer in a city office, but she is preparing herself to return to that as soon as possible by attending classes.

The Red Cross car has been at her disposal for the past year, taking her three morning a week to the YWCA and the driver is another of the surprised and happy people contributing to the recovery.

MISS AUDREY HUSTWITT

They all believe Joan will walk again and they are supported by the fact that, when in Toronto a few days ago, it was decided to shorten the steel braces she wears on each leg. At present one leg is stronger than the other and she has been able to stand on it for several minutes without any support.

Requires Effort

Miss Hustwitt has recently been receiving a number of calls from paralytics asking for her help. She is a busy girl with a full schedule of Y work to do and this is an added burden for which she receives no extra remuneration. So, it is hoped that any who may go to her will put their utmost concentration and effort into following her instructions.

Etiquette for Teen-agers Tips for Their Elders

NEW YORK —(AP)— Checked your manners lately? Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts in the United States in their first joint publishing venture, are now policing teen-age etiquette—or lack thereof—in a breezy, illustrated booklet called "Your Ticket to Popularity—Good Manners."

Actually it's the story of Sally Mariner and Sam Ranger, a couple of high school students just setting out on the treacherous sea of social life.

Sam and Sally learn it is bad manners to snap bubble gum and yell back and forth in movie theatres; that it's rude to linger in a cafeteria line deciding between two desserts; that girls don't stand up when introduced to boys, but they do when introduced to their elders.

The whole knotty problem of a restaurant date is threshed out: Girls order less expensive items on the menu and they keep their handbags and gloves on their laps, not on the table. When the bill comes, the proper tip is 15 cents—and if any flat silver is dropped, let the waiter retrieve it.

On The Telephone

Good telephone manners involve short calls—particularly when its a party line. A girl doesn't telephone a boy unless she has a real reason.

At a tea party, guests may stay a half-hour or longer, should never wear gloves while drinking tea, or try to handle more china and silverware than is easy. Boys serve older guests—and both girls and boys, even if shy, smile and carry on a conversation with strangers, if it's no more than a discussion of how pretty the flowers are.

When it's a dance, a girl is wise to suggest sitting one out when she can't follow her partner, and, although never declining a "cut-in," can discourage it by looking past him or shutting her eyes. If a girl refuses a dance to one boy, she can't accept another boy—but must sit it out. She shouldn't suggest a stroll, or encourage romantic conversation unless she expects her escort to turn wolf. With the exception of the bubble-gum advice, there's nothing in the book which does not apply as well to Sam and Sally's older relatives.

OLD HABIT

The custom of wearing earrings was common to both sexes in olden times.

RELIGIOUS SHRINE

The first church at Canterbury, England, was already being built when St. Augustine reached there in 597.

Logical Design Is Aim Says Modern Architec

"Draw a line somewhat to the left of centre and you will perhaps be able to determine what the modern architect is trying to do," said Mr. John B. Parkin of Toronto Friday as he gave the Peterborough Women's Art Association his reasons for being a "modern architect."

"We are not extremely radical or outlandish," he said. "It is honesty of design and construction we are trying to bring about, to have buildings which express readily to those who see them what is inside."

"The architect of the new generation must be a scientific planner and a business man," Mr. Parkin declared. "He is not trying to build up a Canadian architectural style—just trying to solve problems in a logical way."

Like the modern artists, modern architects do not expect their ideas to be unanimously approved, but seem to enjoy the fact that there are many who disagree and question them on where there is any beauty in what they are producing. Differences of opinion also exist in the profession, Mr. Parkin remarked.

Ontario Schools Tops

This young architect's particular fort is schools, having been on a committee which made extensive trips in the United States to find out what ideas they had developed. He declared the modernly designed schools now in Ontario are second to none. The new part of Queen Mary School and the addition now being put to Prince of Wales School are his work and are an example also of the progress made in the last several years.

Policy of the modern architect is "If it proves wrong, it should not be done again" and so, where it is seen that the child's health and welfare can be improved, something is done about it, regardless of the appearance of the building. Natural lighting and some sunlight during the day are foremost requisites so classrooms are put on the east and west and the entrance is wherever it can be fitted in. Classrooms of the future may be walled in and have artificial lighting and ventilation throughout, he said.

Favor Flat Roof

When the customer is after a "modern" house, Mr. Parkin questions his thoroughly. First, will there be a basement? It is sometimes hard to convince that the heating unit can be anywhere from the cellar to the attic and still efficient. The flat roof is another problem but the designer is all for it because it leaves him free to work without figuring out the waste spaces a pitched roof creates, and "anything can be added to it."

Circumstances at present force Mr. Parkin to live in an apartment after having his own modernly designed home and he is realizing the value of "lots of storage space," something all modern houses contain. He pointed out the trend is now to have the work centre (fancy name for kitchen) enlarged to include some sitting space," so that humans may live in a human sort of way."

President Mrs. N. D. Seaton expressed her views on modern architecture to the speaker privately and an argument ensued, neither giving any ground. Several members questioned Mr. Parkin on points of modern styling.

St. Joseph's Aux. Now Operating Patients' Library

The Ladies' Auxilairy of St. Joseph's Hospital held their regular meeting on Thursday evening in the nurses' residence. Mrs. J. V. Gallivan, president was chairman.

Miss B. Malane, in reporting for the library committee, stated that this new project is under way and being received with enthusiasm. Reading matter in the form of books and magazines is distributed twice a week, and is greatly appreciated by the patients.

Reports were received from the sewing, visiting, St. Joseph's cupboard, nurses-in-training and membership committees.

Mrs. Gallivan, who attended the Ontario Hospital Association convention with Mrs. A. E. Cauley, gave a comprehensive report of the proceedings. She told of the fine work being done throughout the province by hospital auxiliaries. Mrs. Gallivan explained the many systems used for the securing of funds for carrying on this work, together with the assistance which an auxiliary can be to a hospital.

A Christmas tea on December 17 will be at the nurses' residence and the arrangements were left with a committee convened by Mrs. C. Wolff.

Miss Lillian Hurley asked the co-operation of the ways and means committee with respect to the supplying of favors to hospital patients for Christmas. This will be done in a similar manner to last year.

The annual meeting and election of officers will be held in January 1951, and a nominating committee of Mrs. J. E. Sullivan, Mrs. M. J. Roche, Mrs. H. J. Connelly and Mrs. George Maloney was appointed.

Following the meeting refreshments were served by the Sisters.

New Zealanders Seeking National Dish

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKLAND, N.Z. — (CP) — Complaints of poor cooking standards in New Zealand have led to a search for a national dish. So far little originality has been shown. Nearly half of a large number of people preferred roast lamb, mint sauce, new potatoes and green peas.

Restaurant proprietors declared sourly that steak and eggs was about as far as the average New Zealand imagination would go.

Search for unusual New Zealand dishes has produced three candidates — toheroa soup, muttonbirds, and whitebait fritters

The toheroa is a shellfish which was a favorite with the Maoris. It produces a soup which is rather an acquired taste but which has won unstinted praise from many overseas visitors. There is a regular demand for canned toheroa soup from enthusiasts abroad who have tasted it in New Zealand, but the shellfish occur in only a limited number of places and are not plentiful enough to permit of a large trade.

Muttonbirds are another delicacy favored by the Maoris which has been taken up by Europeans. The birds are a species of petrel. The fat young birds are captured by the Maoris in burrows used as nests. They are smoked and preserved and make a very tasty dish when well cooked to eliminate the fat.

Whitebait, tiny fish about an inch long, are netted from large shoals in the rivers. They are said to be a different species from whitebait sold in other countries and to have a distinctive flavor. Whitebait fritters are a favored delicacy with large numbers of New Zealanders.

Four Reasons Why Divorce Should Be the Last Resort

A correspondent asks why I always advise women not to rush headlong into divorce when they find that marriage has not come up to their expectations, or they are disillusioned or bored or have lost their taste for their husbands or even when they have some serious grievance against the men to whom they are married.

There are four reasons why I urge women to regard divorce as the last desperate remedy in domestic troubles, instead of as first aid to injured feelings. The first of these is that divorce seldom comes up to what is expected of it. It rarely brings happiness. It is not a panacea for a hurt heart or broken dreams or lost illusions, as women believe it to be. The one who thinks that, if she were only rid of the husband who gets upon her nerves or of whom she is tired or who is grouchy and hard to live with, she would be a gay, laughing, carefree, young girl again makes a fatal mistake.

Dorothy Dix

None of us can retrace the journey we have come in life. The woman who has been married, who has been at the head of her own house, cannot go back and take her old place in her parents' home. She is an alien in it. She has lost her social status and fits in nowhere. Her family considers her a burden. Nine times out of ten her last estate is worse than her first and she finds it harder to be bossed by her mother than she did to be bossed by her husband.

No Marriage is Hopeless

Moreover, in the great majority of cases no marriage is hopeless as long as it is a going concern. It can always be salvaged. So many marriages that look on the verge of bankruptcy turn into successes. So many husbands and wives who quarreled like cat and dog during their honeymoon learn to live in peace together and iron out their difficulties. Husbands settle down and turn domestic. Wives acquire tact. And their golden weddings are happier than their first ones were.

My second reason for urging women to think long and carefully before they buy tickets to Reno is because divorce is such a bad bargain for most women. A husband has ways that his wife fels she cannot stand another minute without screaming. Or he is stolid and commonplace and she is emotional and craves the gestures of affection he does not make. Or it may be that he is a philanderer and some kind friend tells her of his little affairs. Her first impulse is to jam on her hat and run to the divorce court. But what does divorce get her?

It breaks up her home. It half-orphans her children and tears them away from the father they adore, for many a poor husband is a good father. Unless her husband is rich it forces her to a lower scale of living on a little grudgingly given alimony, and deprives the children of the education and start in the world their father could have given them. As she was, even if her husband was unsatisfactory in many ways, she had a lot of consolation prizes in her nice home, her good car, her social position, her circle of pleasant friends, all of which she forfeited for a divorce that has not stilled one single heartache or made life one whit happier or brighter. All that the average woman gets out of her divorce is a decree to get out and earn her own living.

Consider Husband

The third reason why I urge women not to be in a hurry to divorce their husbands is for the sake of the husbands themselves. I urge them not to give their husbands divorces even when they ask for them until they have had time to find out if their husbands have really found their soulmates at last, or are just suffering from a passing attack of juvenilitis that they will get over without serious results if given a little time.

A lot of men are afflicted with this along towards middle age. Suddenly they realize that youth is about over and it brings with it an irresistable desire to have one last fling. Then they are ready for any fast-working schemer who comes their way and it is no trick at all for her to persuade a man in this frame of mind that his wife is too old for him and that what he wants to do is to play around with her; instead of sitting at home and nursing his rheumatism.

The most pathetic letters that ever come to this column are from men who have swapped old wives for new and who ask: "Why didn't my wife save me from this tragedy? Why didn't she know that I was suffering from a temporary madness and refuse to give me a divorce? If she had only had a little more patience with me."

And fourth reason why I urge women to bear almost anything before they get a divorce is for the sake of the children. They are the innocent victims who are buried under the debris of every wrecked home. None come out of it without being maimed and crippled, distorted in soul and character for life. A woman owes her children a better deal than that.

Saturday's Enquiry Column For Mary Moore's Readers

QUESTION: (Helen H. asks for "more ideas for fat free diets" and finds it impossible to stay on them while cooking for her hungry family and gives her recipe for French Dressing.)

Zee's French Dressing (contributed by Helen H.)

(Helen says: "I have changed a few things in this to suit us. For example, I always keep a can of salad oil with a whole bud of garlic chopped in it. As I use garlic in a great deal of my cooking I always have it on hand for frying meat etc., as well as flavoring salad dressings. Oil should set at least 24 hours after adding garlic before using. So, of course, I skip the clove of garlic.)

One clove garlic (chopped to a fine pulp), 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon paprika, ¼ teaspoon white pepper (I use black), 1 cup sugar. Mix dry ingredients and add 2 cups malt vinegar (I use cider if I haven't malt), and 2 cups salad oil (or olive oil is better—the best virgin oil). (We prefer the salad oil.) Shake well and add few drops of Worcestershire Sauce. (This gives it a good flavor but too much makes it too "hot.")

Shake well and keep in cool place.

Helen also says: "This makes quite a bit even for my family so I always just make one-half of this recipe at a time. This is good on just greens or vegetable salad raw. I add cauliflower, carrots, and every raw vegetable, sliced very thin, that I have in the house." Helen H.

Rayon, Nylon Aid Britain to Fight High Wool Prices

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON —(CP)— Britain's new "cost-of-living" clothing materials, the wholesale manufacturer's answer to rising wool prices, will be on the market soon.

Wool and worsted mixtures carrying as much as 50 per cent of rayon or nylon, they will lower considerably the average cost of new clothes. For instance, a low-price man's suit will cost just under £7 ($21) compared with nearly £10, present cost of the same suit in an all-wool material.

The new materials are claimed to be harder-wearing than wool, less "scratchy" and of equal warmth. Those with a nylon content, the manufacturers say, will wear three times as well, and all are uncrushable.

Harold Wilson, president of the Board of Trade, viewing the materials at the British Rayon Federation Exhibition, said that the cost of living would be higher now but for striking developments in the substitution of rayon for cotton and wool.

"Prices of natural fibres have risen greatly," he said. "Raw wool is nearly nine times and raw cotton 7½ times pre-war."

To Revise Controls

Manufacturers predict that the increased use of rayon and other yarns and the rising cost of all-wool textiles will result in the greatest change in government price controls since their inauguration in July, 1941.

Price-control revisions, to be announced in December are expected to remove government restrictions on prices of wearing apparel. Instead, control will be levied on textile prices.

In other words, instead of present price controls on finished articles, restrictions would be on textiles in the unprocessed stage.

This would give the greatest price flexibility since pre-war days, say manufacturers. Instead of specific prices there would be a minimum price that could be varied upwards according to the cut quality and finish of the goods.

Wilson declined to confirm these forecasts of revised controls. He said he intends to hold full discussions with the clothing industry to see what can be done about the rise in wool prices.

6—In Memoriams

BUSBY—In fond and loving memory of my dear husband, Thomas Busby, who died Nov. 18, 1948.
In the garden of memories
We meet every day.
—Always remembered by his wife.

LOUCKS—In loving memory of William John Loucks, who passed away suddenly Nov. 18, 1949.
Thy will be done seems hard to say
When one we loved has passed away,
Some day, perhaps, we'll understand,
When we meet again in that better land.
—Ever remembered by brother Doug and sister-in-law Shirley.

LOUCKS—In loving memory of William John Loucks, who died suddenly November 18, 1949.
He is gone but not forgotten,
And as dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of him are always near.
Days of sadness still comes o'er us
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow,
That lies within the heart concealed.
—Always remembered by mother and father.

LOUCKS—In loving memory of William John Loucks, who passed away suddenly November 18, 1949.
Beside your grave I often stand
With heart both crushed and sore,
But in the gloom the sweet words come
Not lost but gone before.
God knows how much I miss him,
He counts the tears I shed,
And whispers "he only sleeps,
Your loved one is not dead."
So we'll be brave dear brother,
And pray to God each day,
And when He calls us home to you,
Your smile will guide the way.
—Sadly missed by sister Margaret.

LOUCKS—In loving memory of my brother, Wm. John Loucks, who died Nov. 18, 1949.
Deep in my heart lies a picture,
Of a loved one laid to rest;
In memory's frame I shall keep it,
Because he was one of the best.
—Ever remembered by sister Jean, brother-in-law Lynne Phillips and family.

LOUCKS—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, William Jack Loucks, who passed away one year ago, Nov. 18, 1949.
Time speeds on, one year has passed,
Since death its gloom, its shadows cast,
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light, and ever will
His vacant place there's none to fill,
Down here we mourn, but not in vain
For up in heaven we will meet again.
—Always remembered by his wife Kitty and family Rickey, Mickey and Roxy.

MORCOMBE—In loving memory of Mrs. Leta Morcombe, who passed away one year ago, November 19th.
Dear mother you are not forgotten.
Though on earth you are no more.
Still in memory you are with us
As you always were before.
—Ever remembered by husband and daughters.

Council-Manager Gov't Plan Widely Adopted

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

CHICAGO (CP). — The fast-travelling city manager plan is headed for a milestone marked 1000.

The manager form of local government has been adopted by 986 communities in the United States and Canada—345 of them in the last five years.

Clarence E. Ridley director of the International City Managers Association says:

"I wouldn't be surprised if it reached the 100,000 mark late this year or early in 1951."

The manager plan in its bid for public favor has been competing against two older types of municipal government. One is the familiar mayor-council type. It dates back to colonial times.

Other System

The second is the commission system. Under this setup a city is run by a group of men—usually five—elected by the voters. It was introduced in 1900.

The council-manager plan, as it is formally known, usually works this way:

Citizens elect a city council on a non-partisan basis. The council hires an experienced administrator as city manager. The council sets up the budget, enacts laws, and determines the policies to be followed.

The manager takes it from there. He appoints department heads, supervises city employees and directs the day-to-day operations of the city government.

First "Manager"

The first municipal use of the title "manager" was in Staunton, Va. The office of "general manager" was created here in 1908. Sumter, S.C., adopted the manager system in 1912 and it began to spread.

Among the larger centres that have had managers for 15 years or more are San Diego, Miami, Kansas City, Mo., Cincinnati, Rochester, N.Y., Dayton, Oklahoma City, Fort Worth, Dallas, Norfolk, Va., Oakland, Sacramento and Grand Rapids, Mich.

"Cities grew during the 20th century," Ridley says. "Activities of local governments have more than doubled. Government became big business. The many actitivies of cities required co-ordination. The manager system offered a simple method of bringing about this co-ordination."

The National Municipal League says that at latest count—July 28—986 places had the council-manager form of government. The total includes villages, towns, cities and counties in the U.S and 42 communities in Canada, Alaska and Puerto Rico.

(The International City Managers Association is an organization of city managers. The National Municipal League is an organization of cities which advocates the manager plan).

There have been losses as well as gains. So far, the council-manager system has bee abandoned by 46 cities. Among them are Cleveland and Akron, O., Houston, Tex., Hot Springs, Ark., and Tampa, Fla.

Canadian-Born Cyrus Ching To Guide US Wage Controls

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Canadian-born Cyrus S. Ching is one of the biggest men in the United States government.

Sucking on a pipe, his iron-grey hair mussed, he's 74, weighs 230 pounds, stands six feet, seven inches.

President Truman recently appointed him chairman of the new Wage Stabilization Board, a spot not likely to be very amusing for a man whose huge face always wears an amused and happy look.

Need Plenty of Savvy

Although he has plenty of savvy in labor relations, he'll probably need all of it if the government starts slapping controls on wages.

(Before it went home this year, Congress set up an economic program to combat inflation. This calls for an economic stabilization administrator and a wage stabilization board.

(If price controls are imposed by the government, wage controls have to be applied at the same time. Ching will be key man in wage controls.)

Ching was born at Red Point, P.E.I., but didn't like digging potatoes on his father's farm.

At 19 he headed west to make his fortune as a buyer for a fellow Islander handling farm productions. His duties carried him back and forth between Calgary and Edmonton. But he made no fortune.

In 1900 he was in Boston, driving a street-car. He began learning some labor lessons there, watching relations between the car men and the company.

He seemed to do all right. He drove cars by day, studied law by night, got a law degree from Northeastern University, was made an assistant to the president of the company in charge of personnel problems.

He became a US citizen in 1909, but he loves Canada's Maritimes provinces. Every summer he spends some time with fellow Americans of the Tobique River Salmon Club in northern New Brunswick and visits boyhood cronies at a lodge founded many years ago on the Murray River in Prince Edward Island.

In 1919 he went to work for the US Rubber Company. Did pretty well there, too. Started in on labor relations, in time became director of labor and public relations, and kept the job till 1947.

Government Jobs

Meanwhile he filled a lot of jobs for the government.

While in one of these government jobs—as a member of a special board investigating the coal dispute in 1948—Ching received special attention from that well known acid-penman, John L. Lewis.

Said Lewis of Ching: "In attendance is Ching, a truly remarkable man, who sees through the eyes of United States Rubber."

This seems not to have wiped the grin off Ching's face. Not all labor leaders have the same acid feeling towards him, so it's said.

From 1925 to 1931, and since 1940, he has been a member of the Advisory Council on Industrial Relations of the National Industrial Conference Board.

In the 1933 depression year he was a business member of the National Regional Labor Board of the National Recovery Administration.

President Roosevelt in 1941 appointed him a member of the National Defence Mediation Board.

In 1942 and 1943 he was a member of the National War Labor Board. (Among other things, as a member of the National Association of Manufacturers, he was on the NAM's immigration committee in 1933.)

Not all his jobs for the government—while he still retained his connections with US Rubber—are listed here.

But in August, 1947, President Truman made him director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, which has the job of trying to get management and labor to settle their disputes without strikes or lockouts.

And in that job he has had to pour oil on some of the most troubled waters in America's labor-management history.

When labor trouble started, they had to ring for Ching.

Now in his new job he has a new chance to rise—although, sitting down, he seems later than most men standing up—and shine.

Mrs. Joseph Hickson

Funeral service for the late Mrs. Joseph Hickson was held from the McArthur Funeral Home Lindsay. The Rev. Hesketh, of St. Paul's Anglican Church, officiated, assisted by the Rev. B. Heywood of Bailieboro.

The pall-bearers were R. J. Morris, Harold Jackson, Robert Dawson, Melville Sluggett, Hillard Hickson, George Shea. The flower-bearers were her grandsons, Murry Shea, Douglas Hickson, Joe Bradshaw, and Grant Thorne. Burial was made in Riverside Cemetery, Lindsay.

The late Mrs. Hickson was in her 82nd year. She was born and resided on the 14th Concession of Manvers until July, 1926, when she and her husband moved to Lindsay and lived there till her husband's death 16 months ago. Since then she has made her home with her daughter.

She was a daughter of the late John Porter and Ann Morton, and is survived by a son Arnold of Janetville and a daughter Pauline) Mrs. Harold Thorne of South Monaghan. Six grandchildren, Mrs. Murry Shea (Helen), Douglas, Jean and Ruth Hickson, June Bradshaw, and Grant Thorne, and one great-granddaughter Mary Shea, also four sisters, Mrs. Charlotte Deyell, Mrs. William Davidson, Mrs. Edith Irvine, all of Lindsay, Mrs. Charles Armstong of Janetville. Two brothers Wellington of Lindsay, Harvey of Mount Horeb, one sister Susan and two brothers James and Albert predeceased her.

2 Detectives Plead Shooting "Coincidence"

TORONTO, Nov. 18 (CP)—Two detectives who opened fire on a car carrying an innocent couple who happened into trap set for an extortionist pleaded Friday it was the result of an "incredible" coincidence.

The Police Commission, hearing the case of the two officers, suspended and charged with careless use of firearms, reserved decision.

Detective John Gillespie and Acting Detective William McNeeley fired shots at the back of a car occupied by C. B. Gillespie and Miss Edna Cairncross early Nov. 12.

The two officers said they had been assigned to track down a fur thief who telephoned his victim to tell him that if he wanted his furs back he should leave $300 in a trash contained at the corner of Gerrard and Sherbrooke Street in Toronto's east end.

Miss Cairncross and Mr. Gillespie pulled up at the trash can shortly before midnight to get rid of a small package of garbage, Miss Cairncross told the Commission Friday.

Thought Holdup

She said she had just reentered the car when a man she thought was a thug came running out with a gun, yelling "Stop, stop!" Mr. Gillespie thought it was a holdup and drove off.

McNeeley said that "under the circumstances I had absolutely no doubt they were the people we were after. I did not fire until it appeared that the driver was going to run me down. Then I aimed at the back of the car rather than at its occupants."

Neither of the occupants was injured by the gunfire although one bullet entered the body of the car.

The extortionist was not captured.

Marmora Institute Visits Wellman's

MARMORA, Nov. 18—(ENS)—About a dozen members of Marmora Women's Intstitute motored to Wellman's Corners on Wednesday afternoon to participate with the Institute of that community in celebration of their 45th anniversary. The church wherein it was held was filled with visitors. A number from each visiting Institute contributed to the program. Mrs. Percy Gray, the Marmora president, contributed a humorous reading. Miss L. R. Green, also of the Marmora branch and district president, gave the address. At the close of the program, lunch was served.

Collins Given Six Months On Seven Counts

COBOURG, Nov. 18 (ENS) — Gerald Collins, 27, of Campbellford, whose offenses varied from torturing and butchering a dog to assaulting a man and his wife and daughter, was sent to the reformatory by Magistrate R. B. Baxter Friday for concurrent terms of six months definite and three indefinite plus a fine of $20 or 30 days additional on the common assault charge.

The list of charges against Collins was unlawfully killing a dog last June, breaking and entering the dwelling of Manson Shaw of Campbellford on August 6, assault causing actual bodily harm to Joseph Brethour, age 52, of Campbellford on August 6, common assault of Brethour's wife and their 15-year-old daughter on the same date and theft of a bicycle owned by Brethour's son also on August 6. Collins was arrested two weeks ago in Montreal.

Collins came to Brethour's home at 6.00 a.m. August 6 and asked to use the phone, the evidence revealed. He had been drinking and was using offensive language over the phone and Brethour asked him to leave. Collins turned on him and in the ensuing assault broke two of Brethour's ribs. During the row, Collins hit both Brethour's wife and daughter. Brethour finally subdued him and put him out.

In connection with the dog incident Chief Hardy said that Collins enticed the dog on his property and then cut its throat and nose and threw it in the river. Collins claimed the dog had bitten him. 'The man's record shows that this is not the first time he has been convicted for assault he seems to be addicted to assault" commented Crown Attorney Harry Deyman.

"Well, frankly," said the magistrate, "I don't know the explanation of your behaviour, your record is mostly for assault and drunkenness, you act like a man with something wrong with his mind."

Marmora WI Honors Mrs. Warden Chrysler

MARMORA, Nov. 18 (ENS)—The home of Mrs. Frank Sweet was the scene of a pleasing gathering on Friday evening when members of the Women's Institute tendered a surprise party to Mrs. Warden (Pearl) Chrysler on the eve of her departure for Peterborough. The honored member has given valued service to the local branch of the institute serving for a while as its secretary-treasurer.

Following a sing song, with Mrs. Marshall McCoy at the piano, and a story telling period, on behalf of the members President Mrs. Percy Gray presented Mrs. Chrysler with an electric table lamp expressing regret of the members at losing one who had given such service and extending wishes for a continuance of her WI activities in her new sphere.

The recipient, taken by surprise, expressed thanks for the gift and said she had ever enjoyed her association with the institute. Refreshments were served by Mesdames W. D. Lavender and G. Sabine.

SARNIA, Nov. 18 (CP). — Dow Chemical of Canada, Ltd., announced Friday an immediate expansion of the Sarnia plant to include an anhydrous ammonia unit to cost more than $1,000,000. The disclosure was made by vice-president and works manager, L. D. Smithers.

New Zealand's Korean Force In Training, Raised In Week

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKLAND, NZ —(CP)— Although volunteers for New Zealand's force for Korea are in camp and training, there is still a great deal about the force and its role that has not been announced, presumably for security reasons.

It has been announced by defence minister T. L. MacDonald that the New Zealand unit will be the artillery component of a British Commonwealth brigade, and will include, in addition to artillery, signals, electrical and mechanical engineers and other ancillary units. The original statement of its size was that it would probably be from 1,500 to 2,000 men.

5,982 Volunteers

There were 5,982 volunteers for the force when recruiting was closed after little more than a week. Preference was given to single men between 21 and 27, though some outside these limits were accepted because of previous experience or qualification in specialist roles.

It has still not been revealed except by implication what type of artillery formation the unit will be. The minister has said that it will not have an anti-tank or anti-aircraft component, so presumably it is a field or medium artillery unit, and it probably will use 25-pounders.

Five Week's Training

Brig. K. R. Parks, a First World War soldier who was chief New Zealand liaison officer in London in the Second World War, has been appointed overall commander of the force. He will be concerned with administration duties and will not have operational command. Lt.-Col. J. W. Moodie will command the artillery unit.

The volunteers entered camps at three centres on Aug. 29 to begin five weeks' basic training. Later the forces will be concentrated at a single camp to complete its artillery training.

Many Inexperienced

A proportion of the men are ex-servicemen but, as a large number have had no previous experience, a full training program is needed. No announcement has been made on the length of the course or of the likely date of departure.

Fortunately New Zealand has a ready-made training organization available. Under the dominion's conscription scheme, a keen and enthusiastic training cadre has been built up. A draft of 18-year-olds had just vacated the training camps, to that all facilities were immediately available to start the Korean force men on a proved and up-to-date training schedule.

LINEMAN RISKS DEATH TO FREE CO-WORKER FROM LIVE WIRE

Roy E. Archer, of Toronto, Ont., gambles with electrocution as he rescues fellow lineman from live circuit

1. At the top of a pole on Toronto's Eglinton Avenue, Grade "A" Lineman Roy E. Archer and co-worker J. H. Osborn were hard at work repairing lines for the York Township Hydro System. Both men are top-flight linemen and know their jobs, but accidents can happen — even with experts. Somehow or other, Osborn's left elbow and right leg came in contact with the 4160 volt circuits!

2. Osborn was almost completely paralysed and incapable of moving. Roy Archer knew that in a few seconds his friend would be dead . . . and that if he touched him he, himself, would also take the chance of being fatally burned. But he did not waste time worrying about his own safety. He struck Osborn on the shoulder. It didn't work . . . but the shock he received didn't deter him. Next time, he kicked . . . and he was successful!

3. Osborn was severely burned and suffered from shock. But he was alive — although destined to stay in a hospital for several months — thanks to the daring, quick action of his comrade. To Roy E. Archer, Grade "A" Lineman, whose unselfish bravery saved the life of a fellow Canadian, we are indeed proud to pay tribute through the presentation of THE DOW AWARD.

Two-Buck Bet Is Tops At Greyhound Race Tracks

By JACK SCOTT

Dog racing in the States seems to have become a kind of poor man's sport of kings.

Here in Phoenix, Arizona, the greyhounds race nightly except Monday, admission is 30 cents, there's no such thing as a clubhouse set and the two-buck bet reigns supreme.

As a sport, it's not be compared with horse racing. There's no cry of "They're off!" no thundering of hooves, none of the changing positions throughout the running.

The races are 550 yards and 600 yards and since a greyhound will go over the 600 yards in about 35 seconds it's all over—zzzzt!—like that.

If you bend down to light a cigarette you're apt to miss a whole race. Because of this there's no cheering. By the time you've located your hound and decided to urge him on he's out of sight.

The dogs usually run in a tight pack, although occasionally a dog will take an early lead and stretch it. Most races are decided by photo. Unless you're standing at the finish line you seldom know for sure that your mutt lost until the result is put on the board.

The greyhounds are beautiful to watch. At first you are apt to feel that it's a dog's life, and there's a strong feeling against the sport in SPCA circles, but the dogs seem to enjoy it.

A few become over-excited in the mechanized starting box, but dogs who have raced any length of time get pretty blase about it. I noticed a couple of aristocrats last night who seemed to be counting the house.

The really frustrating part of the sport is that the dogs aren't permitted to catch the flop-eared mechanical rabbit.

Some trainers are said to allow their racers to catch the quarry in training so that they'll know it can be done, but if a dog catches or passes the lure in an actual race it's declared no contest. Almost never happens.

With Color

Perhaps because the races themselves are inclined to be dull, the tracks put an a very colorful show.

Washington Park here at Phoenix, where there's an average nightly attendance of a couple of thousand, is a very attractive layout.

Gay awnings cover the parimutuel windows. A ring of palm trees, floodlit by yellow lights from below girdle the track. The infield is bright with tropical plants. The "paddock" and kennels are made of gleaming aluminum.

A public address system keeps up a permanent program of music, searchlights revolve overhead, the streamliners of the Southern Pacific flash by and planes from nearby Phoenix airport thunder overhead. A very lively place indeed.

The stewards are dressed in scarlet tunics with blue, long-peaked jockey caps and are under control of an Adonis who seems to be wearing the summer uniform of a full admiral of the navy.

In the parade about the track this fellow prances along to martial airs. When the stewards move from the starting gate to the point where they will pick up the dogs after the race they do so in jig time to the tune of "In The Mood."

The tracks itself is narrow, about 15 feet across, and this makes the greyhounds seem larger than the are (60 pounds is an average weight). The tracks I'd seen in London are much wider and because of this the British dogs often look like Chihuahuas.

A piquant feature of the London tracks is the little man in white who follows the parade about wielding a broom and dust pan. The Americans presumably can't find a man with poise for this job. Or perhaps it's just because nobody needs the money that badly.

Greyhounds of both sexes run and are described in various shades of brindle, fawn, red, blue and black. They wear heavy muzzles and silks with the color of the "stable."

In the earlier days, apparently, there were few widely publicized cases of dogs being drugged or hopped-up and this particular track goes to almost ludicruous extremes to keep the dogs from being tampered with before race time.

If a greyhound quits in a race for no logical reason he's barred from the track. The operators make a big thing of the fact that a greyhound is unable to read an odds board, a rather unkind libel on the honesty of jockeys.

The One-Two

Betting is strictly by parimutuel. On English dog tracks you may bet with a bookie and get paid at the odds he'll give you. Here the tote machine looks after that. Odds run about the same as in horse racing except that there are rarely any long shots at over 20 to one.

Handicapping the hounds seems about as perilous as picking winners in a horse race. In the past two days I've been looking over the newspaper selectors and find that two of them picked only four winners in 20 races.

The lingo is pretty much the same as it is with horses — "momentary pacemaker," "outnodded for place," "broke slowly," etc.—and the form chart is similar, too—"Delchanty moved up handily to take an easy victory," etc.

Bettors may wager on win, place or show, a daily double, or across the board, but most of the wagering is on the one-two or quiniela (as they spell it down here) and a $200 return for two bucks is not unusual.

A great many bettors, I'm told, bet each of the 10 races on dogs with post positions one and two, a combination that offers the best odds. In the current meeting in Phoenix this has paid off 47 times while the seven-and-eight quiniela came up only nine times.

We stuck to our old reliable system of picking the dog with the most interesting personality. And took the old reliable licking.

Three-Hour Fire Wrecks Cafe

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 18 (CP)—Damage expected to run into several thousands of dollars was caused by a three-hour fire which left the interior of a downtown restaurant a twisted, smoke-blackened shambles and forced occupants of 10 apartments to flee into the street early Friday.

Cause of the fire which gutted a Richmond street cafe, has not yet been determined but it appeared to have started in the vicinity of a gas heater in the basement, Fire Chief Robert C. McDonald said.

The outbreak was discovered at 1:10 a.m. by City Constable Fred Bruce while patrolling the downtown business block.

After summoning firemen, Constable Bruce returned to the apartments over the restaurant to assist occupants already roused by the dense clouds of smoke.

Firemen feared for a time that the flames might touch off an explosion if they reached the gas meters in the cellars. Firemen donned masks and made repeated attempts to fight their way into the cellar. Several firemen were nearly overcome and were forced to withdraw.

Says Winter Fair Has Become National Show

TORONTO, Nov. 18 —(CP)—The Royal Winter Fair is turning out to be a "real national show," a Western Canada cattle man said Friday.

Charlie Yule, managing director of the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede, said in an interview that the competition at the Royal, founded in 1922, has been improving steadily from an East-West standpoint.

"And this year is the biggest year for the West in the history of the Royal," he said. The prestige of the eight-day agricultural fair would go up considerably as a result of this year's competitions.

Stars of the show today are horses and sheep. Eastern Canada may sweep the awards, but until now the westerners have given them a ding-dong battle.

The West has pretty well cleaned up in beef cattle, while the East has done equally well in dairy classes.

Alberta cattle paced the West's wins in the market division with Killearn Seal II, shown by the University of Alberta, taking the grand championship award for steers. Ed Noad's Hunters Compress II, from Claresholm, Alta., took the reserve grand championship.

Strictly Eastern

The dairy classes were strictly an Ontario and Quebec show. Western dairy entries don't show up in large numbers at the Royal because of the distance more arduous for dairy than beef cattle.

Another one of the western champions who is having a particularly good year here is 13-year-old Ricky Sharpe, the boy wheat king from Munson, Alta.

It was probably the sensation of the show when the youngster was named Tuesday as the world wheat champion. And farmers were equaly amazed that he could win this prized award with Thatcher Wheat as fair officials said Ricky had. Thatcher, a popular rust-resistant Spring wheat has never won a major wehat championship.

Yesterday N. F. Bell Alberta agriculture representaitve at Drumheller, explained that Ricky championship sample is not Thatcher after all but Marquis. Mr. Bell had labelled the sample incorrectly. The Marquis variety is a consistent title-winning wheat.

A fair official announced that the mistake sa no effect on Ricky's standing. He's still the king—Marquis or Thatcher—because his sample was the best at the fair.

Patient Revenue At Hospital Below Estimate

Delay in opening up the new hospital is the chief reason for the operating loss of $37,901 by the end of October. That was the explanation given the Civic Hospital Board of Governors Thursday night by T. T. Rodger, treasurer.

Mr. Rodger described as "disappointing" the further operating loss of $11,580 incurred during October.

Patient revenue for the current year is down $30,000 from the budget estimate. Mr. Rodger pointed out that this estimate was "surprisingly accurate".

Had the 45 beds on the third floor been in use during August, September and October the Board would probably have received their anticipated revenue. These 45 beds, which had been sent away to be reconditioned were available this week for the first time.

"A decline in sundry revenue of $10,000 during the 10 months period is entirely contained in cafeteria estimated revenue," the treasurer told Board members. "In this situation we have the time lost in delayed entry to the new hospital and its impact upon operating revenue sources without any important compensatory effect by reduction in revenue."

Expenditures Down

"Total expenditures to October 31 are actually $4,562 below our budget estimate."

James L. Welsh said he thought cafeteria meals too cheap and patient meals too expensive.

John L. Marshall, chairman, said a careful eye would be kept on the menus but he didn't advocate raising the price of meals at the cafeteria. Meals there are not being sold at a loss, he said, and if prices were raised it would drive away student nurses. Either that or they would ask the Board for more money.

Cancer Fund Requires $10,000

Steward, field secretary, and Jack Jones, assistant field secretary of the Ontario Division of the Canadian Cancer Society, were guest speakers at the meeting and helped to formulate plans for the spring campaign.

A luncheon will be held on November 21 to organize a steering committee for the campaign.

Mrs. Maurice E. Holt reported that material for dressings had been purchased and would be distributed to interested women's groups.

Police Investigating Threat To Councillor

Opinions Differ In City On Lifting of Rent Control

Opinion on the effect of lifting rent controls next April is divided in Peterborough. Predictions had rents going up and down with the ease of an elevator. About half said they didn't think rents would go up much, and the rest predicted rents shooting up as much as 50 per cent., or at least "as high as the traffic will bear."

Still under controls are shared accommodation, and self-contained apartments and separate houses.

Find Own Level

Said one real estate broker: "I don't think rents will go up too much. They might go up for a month after controls are off, but they'll find their own level soon after."

"Their own level", he said, was not much higher than the present one. People just couldn't afford to pay much more than they are paying now.

For another thing, houses can be bought with small down payments now—about $1500 — and can be handled for about $40 a month. People who could buy just wouldn't want to pay the high rents that might come.

Low rental accommodation might go up as much as 50 per cent, he said, but that was because rent for such accommodation is too low at present.

Another predicted "definitely large increases, as high as the traffic will bear." He said increases might go as high as 50 per cent.

House Supply Only Fair

As for buying houses, he said, the supply is only fair, and there is already a heavy demand for those on the market.

What was more, it is becoming more difficult to develop property "with the attitude the city is taking." He said owners of newly developed property are not just paying for improvements made on their own property and in their own district, but for improvements made over all the city over a period of some months.

"Sure, rents will go up," remarked a salesman. "Building material prices have increased from 10 to 20 per cent and labor has increased as much as 30 per cent.

"I don't think rents will go sky high, but they'll certainly go up 20 to 25 per cent."

Taking a more cautious view, another remarked that he thought rents would not be raised very much. Rents in most cases are as high as the tenant can afford to pay. "I think the whole thing will level out without too much disruption."

$65 to $80 a Month

The top rents in the city are from $65 to $80 a month, and this broker didn't think people could afford to pay any more.

Hole In Road Blamed For Two-Car Collision

A hole in the road was given as the reason for two cars colliding Thursday afternoon at Lock and Lansdowne Sts.

Blake C. Bebee, 58 Montgomery St., told police he was driving east on Lansdowne St. He made a right turn into Lock St. He saw a hole in the road, and swerved to the east side of the street to avoid it.

Wilbert Hayes, 81 Howden Ave., following Bebee, saw Bebee turn to the left and started to pass on Bebee's right side.

Bebee turned back to the west side and the cars collided. About $14 damage was done to Hayes' car and about $20 to Bebee's car. Constable Donald P. Jones investigated.

Seek Verification Salary Raise Rumor

Peterborough police constables through their association asked the Police Commission Thursday if it could verify rumors that police officers were to be given a raise of $150 a year.

"We don't know anything about it," was the attitude of the Commission members. However, Mayor Max J. Swanston, a member of the Commission intimated that that was the thinking of members of the city council's finance committee.

The constables' letter was forwarded to the committee for its answer.

Special Award Presented Y's Men's Club

An international award to the Peterborough Y's Men's Club was made Thursday night on behalf of Y's Men's International. Four clubs, Peterborough, Laoag, Illocos Norte of the Pnilippines, Fresno of California and Omi-Hachiman of Japan, received the awards for outstanding work amongst boys last year.

Larry Buck, governor of Y's Men's Eastern Ontario district, made the presentation. He briefly went over the club's achievements last year: $2,000 spent on boys' work; 4,000 man hours on camp; five new cabins erected; $100 for boys' memberships in the YMCA (35 boys); two members helped form Neighbour-YMCA clubs and four members served on the boys' work committee of the YMCA. Besides these the club operated its annual soap box derby.

Camp chairman Jack Stuart in accepting the award from club president Jack Richardson reminded the club that when chartered they agreed to carry to a conclusion anything started. The camp, he said, has not reached a conclusion and will be carried on successfully.

Operated For Nine Years

The boys' camp on Clear Lake has been operated by the Peterborough club for nine years. With a capacity of 60, Mr. Stuart said that 396 boys enrolled this year for the six weeks of camp.

This year the club showed a camp bank balance of $87.79. The food cost $2,800 and the wages $750.

Congratulations were received from John Kerr of Orillia (district governor last year), from the Rotary Club which owns the camp, from Lavern Herbert, liaison between the YMCA and the Y's Men's Clubs, and from David Johnson, Ontario regional director.

The pallbearers were Billy Hunt, Joan Mongraw, Billy Rogers and Jim Rogers. Burial was in St. Peter's cemetery.

Taking Course In Accounting While In Prison

Aubrey S. Hancock, serving a three year sentence in the Kingston penitentiary, on 12 charges of forgery and 13 of false pretenses involving what police described as a $100,000 car finance swindle, is not wasting his time in prison.

He is reported to have completed his senior matriculation since being sentenced May 4 and now is taking a correspondence course from Queen's University in accounting.

The charges to which he pleaded guilty and was convicted on involved complicated bookkeeping to keep track of a large number of used car phoney sales.

Leonard McNeill Wins At Royal

Leonard McNeill, Cavan township, won first prize in the swine class for Yorkshire boars from 12 to 15 months at the Royal Winter Fair.

John Bracken, former national leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, was awarded the Palomino stallion championship, senior and grand. He won the class of ten four-year-olds and went on to the major titles.

In the judging of Holstein cattle, "Elmcroft Dewdrop M," shown by George R. McLaughlin of Oshawa, placed second to "Spring Farm Juliette," from the herd of J. M. Fraser, Streetsville, in class for cows five years old or over, in milk.

The Elmcroft Farms cow was the senior and grand champion at the Central Ontario district show in Peterborough last month.

In the class for cows five years and up, not in milk, the winner was from British Columbia. Ontario interest was largely directed toward "Ravenglen Senatora Triune" owned by Albert Seiling of Elmira, that placed second. He paid $6,700 for this cow at the dispersal sale of the Sunny Hill herd of Lawrence Armour, Antioch, Ill. She is the dam of Ravenglen Hartog Triune, bought last May by G. R. McLaughlin, at $9,000 top price at the Antioch sale. This three-year-old bull was senior and grand champion at the Central Ontario Holstein show here.

Grand champion Holstein bull was the Cerswell-McCague Montvic R. A. Marksman, and reserve was Rockwood Rocket Tone owned by the Quinte District Cattle Breeders Association of Belleville.

Premier Ayrshire breeder and also exhibitor was R. R. Ness and Sons of Howick, Que.

Quebec Ayrshire Society won the provincial award with Ontario Ayrshire Cattle Club second.

Say Hockey Hours Too Early Or Too Late

"When youngsters have to be up for hockey practice at 6 a.m., and the next hour they get is at 11 p.m., is should be evident to everybody that our hockey and skating facilities are still lagging behind Peterborough's needs."

That was the comment today of a young grandfather, long active in sport, and now interested in his grandchildren.

Someone recently suggested that another arena should be built in the north end of the city to relieve congestion at the Park St. rink.

Probably Armar Butcher, parks head, would support that proposal after the disappointment of last winter's fiasco of natural, outdoor rinks. Money that was wasted would have paid much of the interest charge on money borrowed for such a rink.

The grandsire's question was partly a suggestion that late and early hours of practice should not be assigned by the rink management to the youngest of the hockey fraternity, at least not all the time. Some rotary plan might help, he said.

The buses were promised that Monaghan Road surfacing would be completed today, and that the Byersville line would be re-opened by way of Chamberlain St. However, work was held up yesterday and the spreading and rolling of the asphalt top was still going on this morning. Only 2 Wars and Depression Aided Collegiate Problems

Lack of secondary school accommodation is no new problem in Peterborough, G. Wilson Craw, chairman of the Board of Education's accommodations committee, told the Kiwanis Club Thursday noon.

The entire ratepaying population in the city—whether public or separate school supporters—have a vital interest in the problem of secondary school education, said Mr. Craw. And they will be called upon at the coming city elections to say "yes" or "no" to a debenture issue of $585,000 covering the cost of a second collegiate.

Oshawa, a city much smaller than Peterborough, already has two collegiates. And Brantford this year is asking the ratepayers for $960,000 to build a second.

Secondary School History

Mr. Craw reviewed the history of secondary school expansion in Peterborough.

For 60 years prior to 1908 one of the two Central school buildings on Murray St. had been used as a collegiate. Lack of accommodation forced the ratepayers in 1903 to authorize debentures for $50,000 for a collegiate. While it was still being talked about the cost rose to $69,700; city council refused to pass the additional debenture bylaw, and the ratepayers also turned thumbs down on the project.

The Board of Education altered its plans and in 1907 council authorized an additional $21,000. By the time the collegiate was completed in 1908 a total of $71,000 was needed. It was smaller than the original which could have been completed a couple of years before for $69,700.

The First World War eased the attendance situation somewhat but by 1920 the Collegiate could not accommodate all its students and the commercial department was moved to South Central school. This meant four buildings were being used for secondary education.

There was some talk at the beginning of the 1920s about building a vocational wing on the collegiate. The city council refused a bylaw for $357,000, despite the fact the province would have granted 40.25 per cent subsidy, and the Board did not ask that it be put to the people.

Original plans were revised and scaled down, and in 1927 city council approved a bylaw for $275,000.

"The new school was designed to accommodate 950 students," said Mr. Craw, "and by 1932 there were 1,050 enrolled. It was hardly opened before the motor mechanics department had to be transferred to the South Central building. But for the first time we had a gymnasium and sufficient laboratories and other rooms."

During the next five years enrolment held fairly steady and the pre-war high for attendance was 1,132. Once again a war eased the situation and in 1943 there was a low of 895.

As soon as the Second World War ended attendance began to creep up toward the point of overcrowding. The cadet room at the collegiate was converted into a classroom, two temporary classrooms were added, additional classes were moved to the old South Central, and there were a number of other make-shift adjustments.

This September PCVS opened with an all-time high of 1,295 students.

OBITUARIES

MISS LAVINIA WINNIE BAILEY

After a sudden illness, Miss Lavinia Winnie Bailey, 228 Park St. N., died Thursday in Civic Hospital. Miss Bailey, who was in her 79th year, recently suffered a severe fall at her home.

Miss Bailey was born in Norham township, daughter of the late William and Lavinia Bailey. She was educated in Norham, and before coming here, she lived in Norwood. For the last 42 years she was a resident of Peterborough.

Miss Bailey was a member of All Saints' Anglican Church.

Left are two nephews, Walter J. Bailey, of Scarboro, and Lionel G. Bailey, Mason Ave. She was a sister of the late Walter H. Bailey.

The funeral will be Saturday, 2.30 p.m., at the Kaye Funera' Home, the Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite, All Saints' Church, officiating. Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

GEORGE STANLEY JAMES

George Stanley James, 179 Aylmer St., a punch press operator at the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Co. for 24 years, died Thursday at his home after an illness of five years.

Husband of the former Nellie May Reaner, he was born in London, England, the son of the late Edward John James and Mary Ellen Stanley. He has lived in Peterborough for the past 26 years, coming here from Hamilton.

He was a member of the Salvation Army Temple.

Funeral will be Monday at the Belleghem Funeral home at 2 p.m. Major Cyril Everitt of the Salvation Army will conduct the service, and burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

Found Not Guilty Of Speeding Charge

Arguing that at the time he was charged as speeding on Lansdowne St. in Peterborough, he was actually in Lindsay, Arthur Reynolds, 732 Hurley St., was found not guilty in police court today.

Traffic Officer Gordon Trennum testified he clocked Reynolds car doing about 40 miles an hour.

Asked by Reynolds if he had ever made a mistake in his work the officer said, "I have the odd time, the same as everyone else."

Reynolds produced a card which he sent into his company's head office advising where he was and what time he arrived in Lindsay. He said he filled out a similar card each time he left the city to tell his company where it could reach him.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, said such evidence wasn't as strong as his swearing in the witness box that he was in Lindsay that day.

"I'm giving you the benefit of the doubt," the magistrate said.

Quick Action Confines Fire

Quick thinking by Frank E. Simmons, 273 Dalhousie St., was largely responsible for preventing spread of a flash fire that broke out in his kitchen Thursday night. Loss is estimated at $500.

A jar of fuel oil fell out of the hands of Grant Simmons, his son, who was replacing an empty jar. The oil ignited on the hot oil stove and the flaming liquid rolled over the kitchen floor.

Mr. Simmons immediately shut the doors leading to the kitchen to cut off all draughts and thus dampen the flames. Damage was confined to the one room. The stove was just about ruined; both the wall behind the stove and the floor were badly scorched, and the ceiling and walls were blackened.

A complete redecorating job is required.

"Nobody was hurt," Mrs. Violet Simmons told the Examiner. "But Grant was certainly lucky he wasn't burned; the flames shot up in his face. All eight of us were home here at the time. We took my daughter's two babies out of the house just to be on the safe side."

Firemen soon extinguished the fire. The alarm was turned in at 7.36 p.m.

Child Sets Afire Bedroom Curtain

Three-year-old Allan Walsh hasn't yet recovered from the fright he got Thursday afternoon when he nearly set his home on fire.

Allan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Walsh, 716 Ross St., was playing in a bedroom when he discovered some matches. He started a flash fire that swept up the window demolishing the blind and curtains.

His mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Walsh, was waxing the floor just outside the bedroom door. She wondered why the door was shut, pushed it open, and saw the flames.

With the help of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Richard H. Walsh she doused the blaze with water, and it was out when city firemen arrived. The loss included the curtains and blinds, and a large burn on a bed-blanket — in all about $25 damage.

Allan was not hurt.

Taxi Operators To Dec. 14 To Meet Bylaw

When only about three or four of the city's 60 taxi owners made applications for licences under the new taxi bylaw including copies of their insurance policies as the bylaw demanded, the Police Commission hesitated and then decided to give them until the next meeting due Dec. 14 to comply with the bylaw.

By then, the commission advised Chief Constable John Thompson, taxi owners who had complied with the bylaw would be granted a licence and the rest were to be prosecuted.

Judge S. L. Smoke's first reaction to the news very few had made out applications as demanded by the bylaw was unyielding.

Instruct Prosecution

"Grant licences to those in conformity with the bylaw and instruct the chief to prosecute the rest of them," was his opinion.

Mayor Max Swanston suggested that all the applications be sent back to the police department with instructions to Chief Thompson to tell the taxi owners to make proper applications.

Many of the taxi owners' applications were accompanied by letters from local insurance agencies stating that the taxi man had applied for insurance. Others contained letters saying that the man making the application was covered by $5,000, $10,000 and $1,000 policies.

But the new bylaw demands that the taxi owners must have each of their cabs covered by $10,000 and $20,000 personal liability and $1,000 property damage.

Some of the applications contained no reference to insurance at all. The bylaw states that the owners are to file their policies with the city clerk's office.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, asked whether or not the commission had been told at its last meeting by taxi owner Vince Donnelly that it usually took a month or two for a man to get his insurance policy after making an application.

Extension Given

Other members of the commission said that was why the commission had given the taxi owners an extension of time until Nov. 6.

Percy Johnston, taxi owner, appeared before the commission and complained that the insurance premium he would have to pay would put him out of business. He said his insurance company was asking a premium of $780.45 a year for his two cabs. Last year he said he had paid $710 for two cabs, but cancelled his insurance Aug. 31 because he couldn't afford it.

Judge Smoke said "I don't like to put a man out of business. But I don't know how we could make any exception."

"If any exception were made here we might as well tear up the bylaw," said Magistrate Philp.

National Club Week Assembles 116 Representatives Of Canada's Rural Youth — Total Membership This Year 54,081, From Coast To Coast — Peterborough Milk Producers Meet Friday, Nov. 24 — Farm Forum Monday, Nov. 20 Is Review Night.

National Club Week at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto brings together annually a cross-section of the rural youth of Canada.

The 1950 national enrolment of 54,081 young men and women who participated in the organized club projects common to the nine provinces (Newfoundland has not yet come into the membership) comprises a splendid body of the Junior Farmers of this country.

In 1940 their estimated enrolment was 18,000; in 1940 it had grown to 47,047, and in 1945 at the close of World War II the number of members had declined to 35,280. This year the national membership has mounted to a new record total of 54,081.

This rural enterprise presents an amalgam of the farm young people of Canada, recognized and supported by government departments, industries and other organizations as for example, the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, and various livestock associations. It has become soundly established as a great institution.

Club work in its programs and projects, and also in its personal scope, and its actual and potential value as a medium of fusing Canadian citizenship, alert, informed and intelligent, is vastly more than its thrills and memorable experiences of this week in November.

Those 58 teams of young people, two members to a team, who competed for national honors and titles last Monday, are the representatives of a great company of the youth of this land. To appreciate its background, one should scan the names of the 58 provincial champion teams who qualified for the contests at the Royal, and try to imagine their background of communities whose racial origins are indicated by the names of these young folks.

The champion potato team was Bob Bose and Sargit Singh of the Surrey Potato Club, British Columbia, plainly tracing to family origin in India.

Winners of the beef cattle title, in which two Otonabee boys, Murray Pimmett and Francis Walsh, represented Ontario, were Donald Dyck and Algar Thiessen of Borden, Saskatchewan.

Arnold Brackenridge of Cavan and Harold Hammond, Bowmanville RR 2 won the grain championship; and the garden project honors went to Jean Paul Cote and Jean-Guy Cote of Neuville, Portneuf county, Quebec.

Opal Keller and Norma Stephenson of Cayley, Alberta, won the clothing section of the girls' club work; and of the nine competing clubs, the one from British Columbia was composed of Mae and Rachael Unterschultz of the "Busy Beavers" Sewing Club, Salmon Arm, B. C.

These are names to conjure with in trying to peer into the future of the citizenship of Canada and its nationhood.

In that same girls' competition were: Fred and Gwen McCulloch of RR 4, Campbellford; and Bertha and Vyna Stagman of Carrot River, Sask.

In almost every class farm young people from Prince Edward Island were meeting and mingling with their maritime counterparts from British Columbia, and the groups from the other provinces across the continent.

All these are rural young people whose homes are designated by post office addresses in so many of the little places of Canada.

Thomas Windt of Quesnel, RR 1 and Patricia Webster of Narcosli Creek, members of the Alexandria Beef Calf Club, British Columbia; Fred Kitson of North Wiltshire and John Sanderson of North River, representing the North River Beef Calf Club of Prince Edward Island.

Jennie Geddes and Eva Pineo of the Shubenacadie (Girls) Food Club, Nova Scotia; Firmin Michiels and Jack Bullied of Holland, Manitoba, members of the Holland Grain Club.

They are names indicating the personal aspect of these clubs of young farmers across Canada, and it is particularly interesting to know that James D. Moore, formerly of Peterborough club membership, is the Public Relations Officer of the Canadian Council on Boys' and Girls' Club Work.

It is trite to say that of such is the future of Canadian agriculture, and the citizenship of Canada, but the fact is also reassuring and stimulating.

The second series opens Monday, Nov. 27 with discussion of the question: "What's happened to the country doctor?", first subject under the general heading "Health and Social Security". The others are: Dec. 4 "A Pension For Everyone", and Dec. 11 "Security For Farm Labor."

✦ ✦ ✦

WESTWOOD FORUM

The federal government should be asked to regulate tree-cutting, and provincial and municipal laws should be passed to prohibit the felling of trees under a certain diameter. That was the opinion of Westwood Farm Radio Forum after discussing last Monday night the question of forest and woodlot resources. "Forests—Slash or Save?" was the striking title of the broadcast.

Municipal bylaws would deal with local and special mismanagements, and federal and provincial regulations would improve the over-all picture. That was a little elaboration of the Westwood conclusion on that phase of the subject as to directed supervision of cutting.

Westwood group endorsed the assertion of the Ontario Royal Commission on Forestry that: "there is a pitifully small minority of woodlot owners who manage their forests wisely and well and are reaping a rich harvest from them." A secondary question was: "How could farmers improve their woodlot management?" The condensed answer was: "We feel that if farmers had more information on the marketing of timber and better marketing facilities, they might be encouraged to consult first and then cut, rather than cut first then have to search for a profitable market. This would be an incentive to better woodlot management. Woodlots can be improved by exclusion of livestock, proper thinning and replanting of desirable trees."

The meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert W. Graham.

✦ ✦ ✦

GREATEST OF PROFESSIONS

The good farmer has become very definitely a professional like the lawyer, the engineer and the doctor, writes Louis Bromfield in The Rural New-Yorker.

"The only difference is that the good farmer must know more about more things than any man in any other profession. He must be part business man, part specialist, part veterinarian, part agronomist, part mechanic, chemist, meteorologist, and part a great many other things besides, since no profession covers so broad a field or reaches into so many compartments of science, and even the universe as agriculture.

This is a long way from the pioneer who armed perhaps only with a rifle a team a plow and harrow, set out to subdue the land and then raise upon it virtually everything needed for the food and even the clothing of his family.

Mr. Bromfield discusses effects of new scientific and technological advances, and then concludes: "Of course, the one fundamental that has remained unchanged and is eternal is the farmer's soil. His use of it and its productivity determines his prosperity and even his human dignity, for a prosperous and successful farmer is always a more respected and dignified and important man than his unsuccessful and backward neighbor. Each day his importance to our society and to the stability of our economy becomes more evident, and more and more this fact is being recognized among bankers and industrialists.

In our knowledge of soil we have advanced more in the past generation than in the whole history of the world before. We know today how to maintain good soils and even to create out of inferior or worn-out soils, land which is as good or better than most good virgin land. It is up to the individual himself.

There is less excuse than ever before for bad agriculture, or for a bad farmer, or indeed even for an unsuccessful one. Successful farming has become one of the greatest, if not the greatest, and most important of all professions."

Original directors of the Maple Cattle Breeders Association, and members of its bull purchasing committee are shown with Orchard Vale Laura Texal, two-year-old heifer of Maple breeding that has set a new world record. She is owned by Cecil Atkinson & Son, of Schomberg, York.

Sired By First Maple Bull Heifer Sets World Record

A world record for two-year-old heifers has been broken by Orchard Vale Laura Texal, a Holstein owned by Cecil Atkinson & Son of Schomberg. Her sire was Lonelm Texal Ideal, the first bull purchased after the Maple Cattle Breeders Association organized its artificial insemination unit in 1945.

Orchard Vale Laura Texal graded Good Plus three days before the completion of her 365 days' record on twice-a-day milking. She piled up the remarkable production of 22,005 lbs. of milk, with 787 lbs. of fat, equivalent to 275 cans or 8,800 quarts of milk.

Responding to tributes in connection with the new world's record, Mr. Cecil Atkinson said that his son Glen, who graduated from Calf Club work last year and is now a director of York County Holstein Club, was responsible for feeding Laura Texal throughout the test period.

While Laura's record is nearly 9,000 lbs. more than her dam's at the same age, this cannot be considered as a flash in the pan. Three other two-year-olds in the herd sired by Lonelm Texal Antony, second Holstein bull used by the Maple unit, and still in service, have an average of 16,556 lbs. of milk and 586 lbs. of fat on twice-a-day milking.

From the original ten-mile radius served by the Maple Cattle Breeders Association, which is headed by R. J. Darlington of Maple, with G. W. Keffer, also of Maple, as secretary-manager; the insemination unit has expanded until it now serves the counties of Halton, Peel, York, Ontario, Victoria, Peterborough, Simcoe, Dufferin, and since October 1st, Grey and two districts south and east of North Bay.

To the original Holstein breed have been added Ayrshire, Jersey, Guernsey, and Shorthorn batteries, making a total of 34 bulls available to members of the unit.

THESE WORLD champion Holstein sisters have between them established four world records for butterfat production on twice-a-day milking. They are bred and owned by J. W. Greenwood, Maple, Ont. At the right is Roeland Rag Apple Lilly who has just completed a new world record for 365 day production in the senior four-year-old class of 1,055 lbs. fat from 23,767 lbs. milk, average test 4.4 per cent butterfat. Lilly was the former world champion junior two-year-old with 827 lbs. fat in 365 days. She is the only Holstein cow in Canada and probably in the world to complete three records each above 800 lbs. fat and all started at less than mature age (5 years). Centre is Roeland Cherry Re-Echo Rag Apple, former world champion in the senior four-year-old class of the 365 day division with 821 lbs. fat from 17,436 lbs. milk, a record that is now held by Roeland Rag Apple Daisy, (left) with 841 lbs. fat from 18,727 lbs. milk. In her recent lactation Lilly was bred to qualify for the 305 day division but missed calving within the 400 day limit by a few days. If she had calved in time she would have replaced Daisy as the champion. All three sisters are good type animals as well as champion producers, Cherry and Lilly having been classified as Excellent and Daisy as Very Good, the two top classifications for conformation.

The annals of the Holstein breed do not provide a parallel case, where so many records have been established by sisters.

HOW Is The Egg Percentage In Your Flock?

If it isn't what it should be, perhaps you have too many hens crowded into your henhouse. Perhaps the feed you are feeding hasn't the proper nutrients.

HERE'S WHAT TO DO:

1. Cull your flock. Keep only birds that will lay and make you money.

Give Pocket Prayer Books To Canada's Special Force

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, Nov. 17 (CP)—The 11,000 members of Canada's special force, both Protestant and Roman Catholic, are being issued pocket-sized books of prayer to help them in their hours of trial, and in religious devotion.

First batch of copies of a small, blue book entitled "Divine Service Book for the Armed Forces" will be distributed shortly to Protestant members of the force.

Roman Catholic members of the force are being issued their own book, a standard prayer book widely used in various parts of the world. It is entitled "My Sunday Missal."

Both types of book will also go in time to members of the regular forces.

The 183-page Protestant book has been approved by the Canadian Council of Churches for use by all Protestant padres, and the Very Rev. J. W. Woodside, of Ottawa, president of the council, in a foreword says it "breathes the spirit of ecumenicity' or broad, all-embracing Christianity.

Carefully Prepared

Dr. Woodside, in his forword, adds:

"It has been most carefuly prepared, having in mind always the values attached to both ancient and modern expressions of religion and offering a happy combination of both free and liturgical forms of public worship . . . it helps to make visible the common ground where we may worship together."

Veterans will find it a considerable advance from the Second World War prayer book and hymnal, mainly in that it is considerably larger and covers far more ground. For instance, it has 250 hymns compared to 56 in the wartime books.

It contains a large treasury of prayers—for pardon, for courage, for unity, for home and loved ones. There were only half a dozen prayers in the wartime version.

The new book contains such variations as the order of service for drumhead and church services, military funerals and two communion services. Despite its scope, however, it will not eliminate other books entirely for the chaplains.

Anglican padres, for instance, would use their own prayer books for communion. United Church chaplains would use their own book of common order for burials.

The Roman Catholic book, "My Sunday Missal," was prepared and edited by Msgr. Joseph F. Stedman, director of the Confraternity of the Precious Blood in Brooklyn, N.Y. Copies in English or French are available.

Different Prayers

The 350-page English version contains the prayers of the mass, with special gospels for each Sunday; a brief lesson in catechism at the end of each mass; an explanation of the theme of the mass for each Sunday and feast day, and miscellaneous prayers for different occasions.

With the illustrated book, it is possible to follow the priest through the mass in Latin or English. The prayers said by the priest are in Latin on one page in the book and in English on the opposite page.

The 500-page French version is similar, but contains prayers for some ceremonies not included in the English version.

Both Sides Commit Atrocities

Report South Koreans As Bad As Reds

By DAVE McINTOSH.

PUSAN, Korea, Nov. 17 (AP) —Canada's two military observers in Korea say that after looking at mutilated bodies for four months, they've had more than enough.

Lt.-Col. Frank White of Montreal and Wing Cmdr. Harry Malkin of Ottawa are members of a UN committee that has been investigating atrocities since the outbreak of the Korean War.

Col. White took a day off from his grim job to meet the Canadian advance party landing here Neither of the two observers can make statements of any kind. All their information must be channelled through UN.

However, here is a small, ghastly picture of the atrocities:

The Koreans are the most cruel of all Asiatics. The South Koreans are as bad as those in the north.

The underlying reason for the mass murders is political—eliminate as many opposition votes as possible. But murder is carried far beyond this. Two-and-three-month-old babies are slain with their parents.

There is not always time for torture. If there is, the victims are burned alive For a rush job the bayonet, rifle and club are used.

It was the North Koreans' turn first. Now the southerners are having their innings.

A Canadian in Tokyo, not a UN observer, said: "It's all very well to fight the Communists but let's not fool ourselves about what's going on over here.

"After the break-through and Inchon landing and the quick push forward, there was, and is, a political vacuum.

"Rhee (President Syngman Rhee of South Korea) put his strong arm boys in there and they're doing the dirty work.

"Rhee is handin-glove with Chiang Kai-shek. If the Allies win all of North Korea and the Americans continue to let Rhee's boys take over, you can imagine how the Chinese Communists would feel."

Law, Order Keeps Formosa Placid

By FRED HAMPSON

TAIPEI, Formosa, Nov. 17 — (AP)—For all its perils and politics, Formosa is going about its business with singular placidity.

Except for official circles in its capital, Taipei, Formosa seems unworried about a Communist invasion and unaware that it is a bone of contention in the United Nations.

The National government of China, pushed from the mainland by the Chinese Reds, is making its last stand on this big, rich island a hundred-odd miles off China's coast.

It seems to be doing a good job generally, despite the fact that it has saddled the island with thousands of refugees and an army of more than 500,000 men.

Law and Order

One thing specially noticeable is law and order. Here you can wander safely in back streets or countryside day or night—more safely, in fact, than in Hong Kong, where armed robbery is becoming uncomfortably frequent.

This law-abiding condition in Formosa seems to give the lie to occasional reports that there is great unrest among native Formosans, who are not supposed to like their govenors fom the mainland any better than they liked their old Japanese masters. The heavily-handed exploitation that caused the 1947 uprisings and the resulting "blood bath" appear to have been eliminated.

No Terror Reign

You hear little about the Formosa independence movement. This doubtless is due in part to stern control measures against anything judged subversive by the Nationalist government. There have been vigorous round-ups of Reds, mostly in the ranks of the army and the government itself, with hundreds of jailings and many executions. Some leaders of the Taiwan independence movement undoubtedly have been lumped with Communists.

But there certainly is not the tight, nervous air of a terror reign here. No furtive and fearful faces, no reluctance to talk, no sullen silence in the presence of soldiers or policemen, no darkened windows at sundown, no heavy boots or cringing coolies. Those who have reason to fear are not among the common populace.

Insofar as I can read the face of Formosa, it seems to be a happy island. At least it is a whole lot happier than Communist Shanghai was when I left last December.

STOCKHOLM (CP).—Officers from one Soviet vessel while in Stockholm bought more than 400 Norwegian and 300 Danish coastal charts. The Norwegian Journal of Commerce and Shipping linked this with an Oslo report that Russians in the Norwegian capital long ago purchased all available copies of Norwegian charts.

Teacher Shortage Easing Up Across Ontario

TORONTO, Nov. 17 (CP)—The shortage of teachers in Ontario is easing up despite a continuing increase in the number of students.

Figures compiled by the Department of Education indicate that the prospects of an adequate supply of teachers are brighter than at any time since the war.

At present there are 1,704 teacher candidates studying at Ontario's eight normal schools, compared with 1,481 a year ago. Enrolment at emergency summer schools for teachers is also up by 268.

The department summed up the situation this way:

Public schools—The general situation seems to be considerably better than it was a year ago, and more qualified teachers seem to be available. So far as is known, no school is closed because of the inability of the board to obtain a teacher.

Secondary schools—The situation has improved considerably since last year; the supply of secondary school teachers almost meets demand.

Ontario has 6,600 elementary schools with 20,000 teachers, and 412 secondary schools with 5,400 teachers. There are 600,000 elementary school students and 127,000 secondary school students.

Enrolments at the normal schools this year were: Hamilton 246; London 232; North Bay 141; Ottawa 186; Peterborough 130; Stratford 132; Toronto 484; University of Ottawa 153.

Prairie Frost Cuts Quality of Wheat Crop

OTTAWA, Nov. 17— (CP). — One of Canada's best wheat crops is almost one of its worst.

The Bureau of Statistics estimates this year's crop at 461,730,000 bushels. It's higher by 94,000,000 bushels than the 367,400,000 bushels produced last year. And the 10-year average is 394,000,000.

But the prairie frost cut into the heart of the bread-basket. An early estimate of 544,000,000 bushels of wheat was chilled by 80,000,000 bushels, and the remainder of the expected, near-record crop was knocked down in quality—and in price.

It still isn't known how much of the 1950 crop is low quality—below milling grade — but it is likely, according to inspections by the Board of Grain Commissioners, that only half of the new wheat graded No. 4 Northern or better, compared with 87.2 per cent last year.

Some Bright Spots

But the grain picture was bright in some respects. Unusually- high crop estimates were given for coarse grains. In other fields, records were reported for sugar beets and soybeans, both Ontario crops. A high potato yield was estimated, but this probably would be offset by the ravages of late blight which hit the Maritimes.

Though the all-Canada oats crop, at 420,328,000 bushels, was down from the previous estimate of 433,000,000, it was more than 17,000,000 bushels higher than the 10-year average.

Barley, at 171,328,000, was down from the 184,400,000 early estimate, but some 10,000,000 bushels above the 10-year average.

Rye, at 13,346,000, was below the early estimate of 15,300,000.

Well-Cared-For Wallpaper Lasts Longer

By BOB SCHARFF

Has junior left a smudgy reproduction of his fingerprints on your wallpapered walls? Or have you had an unfortunate accident, when moving furniture around, that gouged a piece out of your wallpaper? Don't worry. These and other wallpaper difficulties can be simply remedied.

Most of the modern wallpapers being washable, are easily cleaned with a mild solution of soap flakes and warm water. First of all, make sure that all loose dust and dirt have been removed by going over the entire surface with a soft cloth.

Wet both the dirty spot and surrounding area with the soap solution and wash with free, easy strokes. Then, immediately rinse thoroughly with clear, cold water.

Many of the inexpensive papers are not washable and so great care should be exercised when a cleaning job is done. There are many cleaners on the market, the most popular of which is a putty-like substance that can be purchased in paint or hardware stores.

It is used by taking fair-sized mass in the hands and working it until it is warm and plastic. Then, the wallpaper is simply wiped with the cleaner in long, even strokes, all in the same direction.

Because the outside of this cleanser constantly gets dirty, the mass should be constantly worked in the hands, so that the fresh clean parts are brought to the surface.

To remove grease or oil spots from wallpaper, press a piece of white blotting paper against the spot with a hot iron for several minutes. Most of the grease will melt and will be soaked up by the blotter. Another method makes use of a thick paste of Fuller's earth and benzine or carbon tetrachloride, applied in a thin coat over the spot. After it is dried it is brushed off.

Ink spots can be removed with ink remover, a liquid obtainable in stationery stores. This will probably remove the pattern in the wallpaper, too, but, if the spot is small, the paper can be repainted with water-color paint such as children use. With a little care and an eye to matching color, even patterns can be restored to the paper.

Whenever wallpaper becomes loosened at the edges it is a simple matter to stick it back into place with ordinary library paste. Press down tightly, using a clean blotter to protect the paper.

When bulges occur in paper, a slit made through the bulge with a razor edge will allow paste to be forced behind the paper. Then, press the paper carefully with a soft cloth.

If wallpaper has become badly torn or defaced, it will be necessary to apply a patch and if this is done carefully the defect should be practically invisible.

When there is an extra piece of the wallpaper on hand, select a portion to match the pattern and tear off; tearing being from the back to leave edges that are thin and feathery. The paper should not be cut because sharp edges cannot be concealed. The patch is then covered with paste and applied to the wall in match with the pattern, the edges being lightly brushed and rubbed into contact. By using enough paste, the patch can be slid to the exact matching position.

To match the paper that is faded, place the new piece directly in the sun and leave it till it has faded to exactly the wall's paleness. Then match the patch carefully as it is put on.

Only 2 Wars

"In our five top grades in our public schools we have 1,800 pupils registered," said Mr. Craw, "and there is another 2,300 in the three lowest grades. At least 90 per cent of these will enter collegiate. Thus by 1955 we expect 1,800 in our collegiates.

City Has Grown

"Peterborough has grown. In 1928 when the new addition to the collegiate was opened we had a population of 22,000. Today there is 36,700. But with the exception of a few changes, and two rooms being added, we have still the same secondary school accommodation."

"You might ask why we have waited so long. Well, I'm sure you've all heard of the Royal Commission; Boards of Education all over Ontario have waited for publication of that report. We can wait no longer in Peterborough."

Right now at PCVS there are 39 classes crowded into 26½ classrooms. One of the makeshift arrangements is the enforced use of the auditorium as a study hall. A student there is unable to make the most satisfactory use of his study period because there are no desks, the light for studying is poor and it is impossible to have absolute quiet when 200 students are in one room.

"Our shops and special rooms are being used for classrooms," continued the speaker. One-third of the home-room teachers have to meet ther classes in shops, art rooms and laboratories instead of classrooms. Lack of enough laboratories makes it necessary to teach science 40 times a week in the classrooms".

"We cannot offer the number of options we should to the boys and girls. Our shops are operating from 8 o'clock in the morning. We can give only two gymnasium periods a week to students instead of the three required by the Department. New courses are being recommended but we have no place to teach them. The motor mechanics and drafting classes are in South Central school and the whole PCVS building is lacking in proper administration space and special rooms."

What was the solution?

"As an addition to present school was entirely out of the question, the only alternative was the construction of a new school to carry part of the load. It was agreed that it should be in the south end of the city, since the greatest growth is in that direction, and since it was found that almost half our school population came from south of Sherbrooke St."

The city agreed to reserve the McKellar St. site, west of Monaghan Rd., for a second collegiate," said Mr. Craw. "The land is level and its area of 14 acres is large enough to provide the playing fields which every school should have".

The Board's original proposal was for a school of 15 standard classrooms, a general shop, a home economics room and a gymnasium. It was hoped that it could be built for $520,000, on an estimated cost of $10 a square foot. But the Department of Education suggested some revisions and authorized an expenditure of $660,000.

The present plans are a compromise. There will be 16 rooms —nine classrooms, a general shop, household economics room, two gymnasiums. Science laboratories will be used as classrooms for the first few years.

The revised cost including furniture, equipment and architect's fees brings the estimated total up to $585,000, based on $11.50 a square foot.

Yearly payments on debentures will be about $38,000, or somewhat less than a mill on the total assessment. And the Department will pay 25 per cent of that figure. Rural pupils also pay their share of the capital cost.

If the money bylaw is not approved by the ratepayers it will mean the staggered system; operating two schools classes running from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

"School life and extra-curricular life for the students will be at an end," said Mr. Craw. Homes will be disrupted and finally, I am quite sure, the auditorium will have to become classrooms."

The speaker pointed out that Oshawa was forced into the staggered system when the ratepayers turned down a money bylaw for a second collegiate. But the ratepayers approved it at the next elections and Oshawa now has two collegiates.

"Secondary school accommodation is the responsibility of both the Board of Education and the ratepayers," concluded Mr. Craw. "The children, many of them approaching secondary school age, are already in the public schools. What are we as parents going to do about it?"

Mr. Craw was introduced to the Kiwanis Club by Bill Garner, and thanked by Vince McCabe. President Al. Plaskett was in the chair.

Greek Parents Searching For Children Taken by Reds

ATHENS —(Reuters)— Red-eyed Greek mothers in mourning, in every village and hamlet along Greece's border, ask the same question: "Do you know where our children are?"

Their children were taken from them years ago by Communists who marched them in thousands across the frontier, scattering them in Communist countries whose names mean nothing to these poor, illiterate peasants.

The parents have no doubt that, whatever the Communist may say, their children were taken to build a future core of fanatic servants of the Communist cause.

According to the Greek Red Cross, 23,304 Greek children between the ages of 4 and 18 were carried off behind the iron curtain. More than 7,000 applications for the return of some 10,000 children have been submitted by relatives to the International Red Cross; a further 5,000 requests were collected during October by Greek Red Cross nurses touring the villages of western Macedonia.

So far, despite two United Nations resolutions, the Communists have not sent a single child back to its family.

Organized Plan

The Greek army general staff claims to have proof that these children were kidnapped for the sole purpose of converting them into convinced Communists, and for using them later to carry out a plan to make Greece a Soviet satellite.

Many of the older boys and girls, for example, have already returned to Greece to fight with the Communist guerrilla bands after receiving a brief military training.

Most of them surrendered or were captured by the Greek troops. They have been sent for vocational training and national re-education.

Some foreign correspondents travelling in the Balkans have also had the opportunity of visiting Greek children in their camps, mainly in Yogoslavia. Generally, they report that the children are well-trained and well-fed, but also intensively educated in Communist theories. Usually they have Greek school-teachers who have been Communist guerrillas.

MAJORETTE BARRED — Ealine Harris, high-stepping drum majorette in spangled shorts, was asked to withdraw from the U.S. group in the armed forces Remembrance Day parade as it neared the cenotaph in Vancouver. She complied immediately after the parade marshal explained only women actually in the services could take part.

MOVIE COLUMN

Disney Making Film For Television

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 17 (AP)— For the first time, a top-notch movie producer is making a film for television.

The movie maker is Walt Disney, whose career includes a large number of "firsts." Not only is he making a picture for television, but he is appearing in it himself.

"I've got as much ham as anyone," he confessed on the set at his studio, while having his make-up applied.

He emphasized that the TV venture does not mean a merger with the new industry.

"Our business is still making pictures for theatres," he said. "But we are not afraid of television. I think we can use television the same as we used radio —to get people interested in seeing our pictures.

"I don't think television presents much more danger to the movie business than radio did. Hollywood was just as much afraid of radio as it is of TV today. Somehow we survived.

"I think if you have a good picture, people are going to want to see it. And we should use radio and television to let them know about our pictures."

The first Disney TV splash will be a one-hour show with Edgar Bergen on Christmas day. Some of the famed Disney characters will be seen on TV screens for the first time.

Capsule Review

"Born Yesterday," is a faithful adaptation of the play about the junk dealer's babe who gets educated by a newspaperman. The show comes off as one of the best comedies in recent seasons. This is largely due to a sparkling portrayal of Judy Holliday as the dumb blonde. She is wonderfully funny. Only drawback is that her lines are sometimes inaudible. Broderick Crawford plays the junk man with full voice all the way and William Holden is a newspaperman.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Favorite Chicken Salad For Christmas Company

If you tackle this chicken salad and can turn out a first rate edition, such a feat is worthy of a party.

What I hope will happen is that many of you who are planning pre-Christmas entertainments will practise making this favorite and fashionable salad.

Then, when that awful what-shall-I-serve problem rears its head you crush it with one fell swoop. With your happy decision to make hot rolls (or finish baking underbaked bakery rolls)—and serve tea.

...and friends, one average-sized chicken will provide at least four cups, well-packed, of chicken meat. With the other ingredients I am mentioning, this quantity will serve twelve people adequately.

I am hungry, so I am cutting this preamble short, so I can get on with the food.

✧ ✧ ✧

Recommendable Chicken Salad

To serve six people you must have two cups chicken carefully cut in ⅜-inch cubes. Do not turn through this cutting job, as the finesse of the salad depends on such little details. Add 1 cup carefully cut celery, using inner stalks and cutting pieces same size as the chicken cubes. (Any time you are making a similar type of salad remember to use 2 cups meat to each 1 cup celery. This rule holds for tuna, shrimp, lobster, salmon.) Now some of you may skip the next step. Marinate the chicken and celery in French dressing, in refrigerator, for 1 hour. Drain well.

Mix the salad ingredients with enough genuine mayonnaise to make it fairly moist. When ready to serve, fill lettuce cups with the salad, top with a little mayonnaise, garnish with some perfect slices of hard-cooked egg and a little shape of green pepper and sprig of parsley or cress. Green pepper or canned pimiento are effective if cut with vegetable cutter with scalloped edge.

If you would like to make this more substantial and different add a stick of canned pineapple or a crescent, and flank that with ripe olives. Colors are all effective together.

Follows a special recipe for homemade hot rolls.

✧ ✧ ✧

Homemade Hot Rolls

Over low but direct head scald ¾ cup milk—but do not let it boil over. Pour into large bowl with 2½ tablespoons good quality soft shortening or margarine, 1 tablespoon sugar and 1 teaspoon salt. Stir and let cool to lukewarm. In one-quarter cup of lukewarm water dissolve 2 yeast cakes or 2 envelopes of granular yeast. When dissolved add to the milk mix and stir. Add one well-beaten egg, then stir in bread flour to make a stiff dough—by that I mean a dough that when stirred comes away from the sides of the bowl but is not too heavy—this is about 2½ cups bread flour. Knead for 2 minutes. Then cover and let rise in buttered bowl, until twice the bulk. Turn out on floured board, roll out and make into desired shapes, but to go with chicken salad these should be small. Make Parkerhouse rolls of them or clover leaves in muffin tins, greased. Cover, let rise, to double their size and bake at 375 deg. Fahr. Serve hot with the best butter—that is unsalted butter if you have the nerve.

THE EXPERTS SAY

Housewife Should Be Ready Treat Accidents In Home

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, Nov. 17 —(CP)— Those who think they can stay clear of accidents by remaining at home had better think again. The Bureau of Statistics reports that in 1948 more than 25 per cent of the accidental deaths resulted from accidents in the home—a total of 2,398.

Of this figure deaths from falls totalled 1,147 and 192 from burns.

That's why every housewife should be prepared for emergencies, particularly if there are children in the home. She should have some knowledge of first aid and keep supplies on hand.

In its book on home nursing the Canadian Red Cross Society has listed supplies with which every home should be equipped. These include: a stimulant such as aromatic spirits of ammonia for fainting or shock; a tube of sterile vaseline for use primarily on burns; adhesive tape; adhesive compresses; absorbent cotton; sterile gauze, a thermometer.

Outline Treatment

The book gives instructions for treatment of various injuries from insect bites to burns.

Even a small burn should be covered with a sterile gauze dressing and bandaged firmly. Sterile vaseline may be applied to the dressing to prevent it from clinging to the wound.

When it's a severe burn, medical aid should be sought promptly. While waiting for the doctor the burned area may be covered with sterile gauze or soft white freshly laundered cloth. The patient should be kept warm and comfortable in a reclining position.

He should be given plenty of fluids.

Fainting Spells

The Red Cross book describes fainting as "a partial or total loss of consciousness due to a diminished supply of blood to the brain."

If the patient is in a sitting position, put his head down between his knees.

If he loses consciousness place him full length on the floor with no pillow under his head.

Loosen the clothing around his neck and chest. If necessary open a window to provide fresh air.

Cold clothes may be applied to his face.

When he regains consciousness give him a hot cup of tea or coffee and allow him to rest.

If he doesn't recover in a few minutes, call a doctor.

Health Department experts warn never to move an injured person until it is certain he has no broken bones. By thoughtless moving of an accident victim a simple fracture can easily become compound.

Women Satisfied With Conditions In Peterborough

Conveneriships in the Local Council of Women cover the phases of daily life and interests from health and welfare to United Nations study groups. Annual reports under 12 headings presented at the regular meeting on Thursday indicate the women are satisfied Peterborough is a healthy, well-governed and progressive city.

Some conveners frankly stated they had not carried out the duties of their office as well as should have been done. None made recommendations for improvement, but rather tended to praise as they outlined what has been going on.

United Nations convener reported getting very little cooperation in her efforts to interest Council members in the United Nations study group which has now developed into a branch Association. In view of present world conditions she evidently feels a civic group such as the Local Council would do well to support this cause.

Economics and taxation convener who had direction from national convener to interest Council in having price control resumed reported having found it very difficult to form a committee and thus concluded the women did not want to be bothered with these matters. She was not present to read her report.

Some personal fact finding was done by the radio committee which conducted a listening panel on a round-the-clock basis of the local station. They found that it is providing fare for the women of the community and that it has a large listening audience. The material covers a wide range and every type of music and they found that it is mood and circumstance, rather than type of person which determines what is best liked.

The chairman of citizenship and the chairman of laws went into action jointly to investigate reports and rumors of discrimination and found there was no truth in either.

Convener of moral standards had this to say: "Taking a bird's eye view over the various activities in our city brings the happy assurance that the welfare of youth, the children and the needy is receiving the most thoughtful warm-hearted attention and planning."

In the interest of mental hygiene, the convener reported "Some of the undesirable comics have been banned to the public. We also urge every effort be put forth to improve films being shown in the theatres, especially those affecting children and young people."

Some new information was contained in a report on rural education sent in by the convener, which was read by President Mrs. W. C. Steinkrauss.

During a business session a motion was passed whereby the Council will subscribe $10. to the United Nations Association, entitling it to send a representation up to 20 members to meetings.

AFTER INITIATION into the Canada Packers Quarter Century Club and presentation of gold pins and cheques at the annual dinner party Thursday evening, the five new members were pictured as above, (seated), Miss L. Burgess and Mr. Harley Weir, (standing) Mr. John Buchan, Mr. Lionel Browne and Mr. James Goldie.

Juniors Celebrate One Year As Mission Circle

Junior Mission Circle of St. James United Church celebrated the first anniversary with a party held in the Junior Room on Wednesday.

The tea table was tastefully decorated with yellow marigolds and pink candles. The centre of attraction was the birthday cake with one large white candle, to show that the Circle is now one year old.

Welcome was extended by the president, Beverley Gibson. Miss Constance Wagar and Mrs. H. T. Rehill sent cards of best wishes but were unable to attend.

Study book for the coming year was introduced by Mrs. Mabel Booth, assisted by Bev. Gibson and Joan Munro who were dressed in Japanese costumes.

Congratulations and best wishes for future accomplishments were brought by Mrs. G. Hill, President of the Peterborough Presbytery Mission Circles and Miss M. Bowers, president of St. James WMS.

Mrs. F. W. Craik poured tea and lunch was served by Shirley Anderson and Sylvia Moynes.

Five of Packers Served 25 Years

Quarter Century Club of the Canada Packers added five new members on Thursday evening when the eighth annual dinner party was held at the Kawartha Country Club.

Miss L. Burgess of the office staff, Mr. Lionel Browne, assistant manager, Mr. James Buchan of the plant, Mr. James Goldie of the superintendent staff and Mr. Harley Weir of the sales staff have now completed 25 years service and their names bring the total membership list to 61.

It is now estimated that one in every five employees in the plant is a member of this club. Forty three were able to attend the dinner and their total service amounted to 1,471 years, an average of 34.

Chairman for this occasion was Mr. A. Wade and the initiation was conducted by Messrs. T. Pritchard, C. Porter and F. Storey. In the absence of Mr. G. S. Matthews, words of welcome were spoken by Lionel Browne and Mrs. Matthews presented the gold pins and cheques.

Wives and other guests brought the number present to 82. For their entertainment a floor show was presented by a Toronto team. Each lady received a corsage of roses.

New Christmas Trappings Contrast Gypsy Tea Room In Trinity Church Parlours

Spotlight of interest Thursday afternoon was on the Trinity bazaar and tea where a romantically candlelit "gypsy tea room" and the gay, glimmering symbols of Christmastide vied for attention. A startling backdrop of white elephants marching on a green field brought antiques and notions into the limelight.

To confirm the rumors that some unique and altogether different ideas had been expended for this event brought 250 ladies out in spite of damp footing and a sullen sky. Of these, 85 had not purchased their tickets previously —possibly the largest number of unsolicited guests at such an event where ticket selling has been carried on.

Rare Atmosphere

With an exciting, old world atmosphere the rare treat for its customers, the tea room took top billing.

Eastern tapestries and hammered brass plates enclosed the tete-a-tete tables, each with a single small candle in a glass globe throwing interesting shadows on the faces with reflection from the checked table covers.

Waitresses, as dangling with ear-rings and beads and as colorfully dressed as any modern gypsy, glided noiselessly between the tables, filling tea cups from brass and silver pitchers and serving tasty bread slices and cookies.

The buffet sideboard had a centrepiece of bulrushes and wheat surrounded with fern-like stems of bright tinsel that glamed in the candlelight. The background was a most interesting tapestry brought from Guatemala revealing the Central American's love for colors. An authentic Chinese wall tapestry, less vivid in hues, was distinguishable by the characteristic pattern.

Romance and history entered the scene in a very old shawl of black silk with heavily embroidered flowers in soft shades and finished with a wide silk fringe. This was given a prominent place in the wall display set off with copper pitchers and vases.

Tea room conversation was covered with a background of haunting gypsy music.

About Face Setting

With a complete about-face the bazaar room was collection of the modern trappings with large-size Christmas decorations for doorways and mantels, tinselled Christmas stockings, candy canes and stars the big features.

For the "white elephant" table there had been some most interesting donations and one proved to be a collector's item which brought $15. instead of the expected $2. This was a very old doll in its original dress with a huge shawl collar and flounced skirt and it had pierced ears in which were tiny drop earrings.

The home-cooking table conveners had invaded the vegetable kingdom and they also offered nice golden pumpkins, rosy apples and canned fruit.

Aprons, and embroidery were for sale at the sewing table. A very useful hand-made notion is the "ironing mitt" of which a supply was made up by enterprising members and they were displayed as a feature of the white elephant table.

Five Groups Handle

Trinity WA is divided in five groups and each had a part in this tea. Group A with Mrs. W. B. Gordon as leader looked after the tea room, assisted by the Young Womens Federation, a newly formed group which plans to assist both senior organizations. Mrs. V. Skitch of the latter was convener of the tea room decorating assisted by Mrs. S. Johnson, Mrs. D. Hamilton, Mrs. J. Nicholls, Mrs. C. Huffman Jr. and Mrs. J. Allen. Mrs. David White ushered guests to the tea room and Mrs. F. C. Neal and Mrs. T. Barrie of Group A were tea room hostesses.

Costumed servers included the decorating committee and Mesdames R. Clayton, M. Latimer, S. Heard, O. Jamieson, J. Clark, T. Stanley, J. Braithwaite, J. Miles, C. McIntyre, J. R. Turnbull, E. McGee, J. E. Girven, H. Moebus, J. Davern, B. R. Till, M. McVeety, T. Cheetle, B. Bogle, J. Gregg, W. R. Philp and N. Elliott.

Bazaar room hostesses were vice presidents Mrs. F. Paterson and Mrs. C. H. Marrs, assisted by Mrs. R. Allen and Mrs. S. L. Smoke.

President Mrs. N. D. Seaton received, assisted by Mrs D. B. Gordon and Miss E. Morrow was at the treasurer's table.

The Christmas decorations were planned and made up by a committee of Group B members with Mrs. Burrell Moore and Mrs. M. Stackhouse as conveners.

Group C had the white elephant table which was convened by Mrs. Robert Allen.

Mrs. H. A. Mitchell and a committee from Group D looked after the home cooking table. Mrs. W. A. Davern of Group E was convener of the sewing table with members assisting.

DOROTHY DIX

Girl Should Discard Fiance Always Demands Own Way

DEAR MISS DIX: I would be the happiest girl in the world if my fiance were not so stubborn. His will is law and nothing that I can do or say changes him. If he wants to stay at home, we stay at home, no matter what a delightful invitation we may have for the evening nor how I long to go. If there is a movie that I am crazy to see and anther that he prefers we go to the one he likes. If there is a thing I want to do and he wants to do something else, we do his way. In all other respects he is a fine man. I love him and I believe he loves me, and he proves his affection for me in many other ways. But when I think about a lifetime of dealing with this stubbornness I wonder if I wouldn't be better off without him. MISS X.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Stubbornness is not the to describe your fiance's character. What ails him is just colossal selfishness. He is just so self-centered that he is utterly indifferent to the pleasures or welfare of anyone else, and provided he can do what he pleases and have what he wants it is of no concern to him how much it may hurt others. He should worry about other peoples' feelings.

Loves Only Himself

That kind of a man is incapable of loving anyone but himself. He is an egotist who will always put himself first. He will consider his happiness before his wife's, his pleasure before hers. He will take the best of everything for himself and any girl who marries him will make a sorry bargain, for she will be nothing but a slave who will have to spend her life kowtowing before him.

The very worst fault that any husband or wife can have is selfishness, but a woman suffers more from a selfish husband than a man does from a selfish wife, because the man has always avenues of escape from his domineering wife, while the wife is at her husband's mercy and under his thumb.

This man has shown you what you can expect if you marry him. You will never have a wish considered, nor a desire gratified unless it happens to be something that he also wants to have and do. You would always have to be a yes-yes woman and never have any liberty of thought or action. Men put their best foot foremost in courtship, and if your fiance is so selfish that even when he is trying to win you he does not consider your pleasure nor your happiness, he will be far more dictatorial and tyrannical after you are married.

You have had your warning. If you refuse to heed it, you have brought your fate down on your own head.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a boy of age and will finish high school this year. My parents with to send me off to college, but I want to attend a college here in my home city. What should be done in a case like this? B. L. R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your parents must have some good reason for wishing to send you away to college, or else they would not insist upon it when you prefer your home town. Perhaps the college they have in mind offers better educational advantages. Perhaps they realize that you need to be thrown upon your own.

There are exceptions to every rule, of course, but, generally speaking, it is a good thing for every young boy and girl to be sent away from home to school, because, in the first place, it gets them through the adolescent period among strangers and so saves the conflicts between them and their parents that are sure to occur when they stay at home, and that often makes life miserable for all parties.

Then it broadens young people's vision for them to get out into the world and to be brought in contact with new people, new ways of living, new points of view, new customs and habits.

It teaches them self-confidence to have to rely upon themselves and no longer to have mother to cater to their whims about what they eat, or to pick their clothes up for them when they drop them on the floor. I have known more than one boy and girl who were regenerated by being sent off to college.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: For the last few years I have been having an affair with a young man. At first he promised to marry me, but now he changes the subject when matrimony is mentioned, and lately I have reason to know that he is no longer true to me. I feel sometimes that he should marry me because of our relationship, but I doubt if we would be happy. He is selfish and we quarrel about everything. What shall I do? SADLY PUZZLED

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: There is nothing that you can do that will save the situation because you can't force a man who is tired of you and whose fancy has strayed to some other girl to marry you. Futhermore, you would be perfectly miserable if you did marry him when he was an unwilling bridegroom. You can, however, save your face by taking the initiative in breaking off the relationship instead of letting the man discard you.

Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in heaven we will meet again.
